

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

PREFACE.

It was the aim of Professor Hadley in his Greek Grammar (founded on the Griechische Schulgrammatik of GEORG CURTIUS) to furnish a manual which should be sufficient for the use of college students in their most advanced study of the language. It was hoped, however, that the book would be found at the same time not ill adapted to the purposes of elementary instruction; that the teacher, aided by the differences in type, would find it easy to distinguish those leading facts and principles which should engage the first attention of the learner. Many teachers have expressed the conviction, founded on their own experience, that the book could be used in this way with satisfactory results. From others, however, the publishers have had communications expressing their desire for an abridged grammar, as being in their judgment better suited to the wants of the beginner. It has seemed just that those who entertain this latter view should have a textbook such as they desire. Accordingly they will find in the following pages a very carefully prepared Abridgment of Professor Hadley's Grammar.

In reducing the size of the work, it has often appeared necessary, or at least convenient, to modify its phraseology. Cases will also be found, in which it has been thought expedient, for one reason or another, to change more than the mere form of expression. But the instances are few in which the mode of treatment has been essentially altered.

It has been presumed that, in general, the student would pass from the smaller to the larger Grammar, before entering on the study of Ionic or poetic writers. As this, however, may not always be convenient, it has seemed best to add, in an Appendix, a synopsis of the most important forms of dialect, and a brief account of the principal kinds of verse.

INTRODUCTORY STATEMENT.

1. The Greek language, as it was spoken and written by the inhabitants of Attica, is called the ATTIC DIALECT. It is seen in the works of Thucydides, Xenophon, Plato, Isocrates, Aeschines, Demosthenes, and other Athenian writers. From about the time of Alexander the Great, it was used as a common literary language by all the Greeks. Hence it is found in the works of Polybius, Strabo, Plutarch, Arrian, Lucian, and many others, who were not of Attic birth. As used by such writers, with more or less variation from the pure Athenian idiom, it is called the Common Dialect. Of the prose literature of Greece, all but a small fraction belongs either to the Attic, strictly so called, or to the Common dialect. It must be the object, therefore, of an elementary Greek grammar to describe the ATTIC GREEK, especially in its genuine form, as seen in the prose-writers of Athens.

a. The works of the Athenian poets (the tragedies of Aeschylus, Sophocles, Euripides, the comedies of Aristophanes) present many peculiarities of language. In their lyric parts, they show some Doric forms. The poets of all dialects make more or less use of Epic forms.

2. Among the other dialects the most important are — a. The Old Ionic or Epic, used by Homer, Hesiod, and the later epic writers. — b. The New Ionic, used by the historian Herodotus. — c. The Doric, used by lyric poets, as Pindar, and by bucolic (or pastoral) poets, as Theocritus.

Beside these, may be named — d. The Aeolic (of Lesbos), seen in the lyric fragments of Alcaeus and Sappho. — e. The Hellenistic, a form of the Common dialect, seen in the New Testament, and in the LXX. or Septuagint version of the Old Testament. — f. The Romaic, or Modern Greek, the popular idiom for the last thousand years, found in written works since about 1160 A. D.

NOTE TO THE LEARNER.—In the following pages, Hm. stands for Homer, Hd. for Herodotus; —cf. is used for Latin confer (compare), —sc. for scilicet (to wit), —i. e. for id est (that is), —e. g. for exempli gratia (for example), —etc. for et cetera (and so forth). Other abbreviations will explain themselves. The alphabetical lists of verbs (in sections 300 and 740) contain some special abbreviations, which are described at the beginning of section 300.

The sign of equality (=) is sometimes placed between words, to show that they are substantially the same in form or meaning.

The stems of words (see 71 and 196) are given without accents; and so, generally, are words the existence of which is merely supposed, not proved by the use of Greek authors.

PART FIRST.

ORTHOGRAPHY AND EUPHONY.

Alphabet.

3. The Greek is written with twenty-four letters, viz.

Form.		Name.		Roman.
A	α	*Αλφα	Alpha	a
B	β	Βῆτα	Beta	b
Γ	γ	Γάμμα	Gamma	g
Δ	δ	Δέλτα	Delta	d
E	ε	*Ε ψιλόν	Epsilon	δ
Z	ζ	Ζῆτα	Zeta	z
H	η	*Ητα	Eta	ē
Θ	θ	Θῆτα	Theta	th
I	ι	*Ιῶτα	Iota	i
K	κ	Κάππα	Kappa	o
Λ	λ	Λάμβδα	Lambda	l
M	μ	Μῶ	Mu	m
N	ν	Νῶ	Nu	n
Ξ	ξ	Ξῖ	Xi	x
O	ο	*Ο μικρόν	Omicron	δ
Π	π	Πῖ	Pi	p
P	ρ	*Ρῶ	Rho	r
Σ	σ s	Σίγμα	Sigma	s
T	τ	Ταῦ	Tau	t
Υ	υ	*Υ ψιλόν	Upsilon	y
Φ	φ	Φῖ	Phi	ph
X	χ	Χῖ	Chi	ch
Ψ	ψ	Ψῖ	Psi	ps
Ω	ω	*Ω μέγα	Omega	ō

a. Sigma at the end of a word has the form ς ; in any other place, the form σ : thus $\sigma\acute{\alpha}\varsigma\iota\varsigma$ faction.

b. Some editors write ς in the middle of a compound word, when the first part of the compound is a word that ends in ς : thus $\epsilon\iota\varsigma\pi\lambda\acute{\epsilon}\omega$ to sail into, compounded of $\epsilon\iota\varsigma$ into and $\pi\lambda\acute{\epsilon}\omega$ to sail.

c. Various other signs, beside the letters of the alphabet, are used in writing Greek. Such are the breathings (6), the corōnis (39) and the apostrophē (40), the accents (52. 62) and the marks of punctuation (70).

Vowels.

4. The vowels are α , ϵ , η , ι , \omicron , ω , υ .

Of these, ϵ , \omicron are always short,

η , ω , always long,

α , ι , υ , short in some words, long in others, and hence called doubtful vowels.

a. The short sounds of α , ι , υ are indicated in the grammar by $\check{\alpha}$, $\check{\iota}$, $\check{\upsilon}$; the long sounds by $\bar{\alpha}$, $\bar{\iota}$, $\bar{\upsilon}$. We have, then, the short vowels, $\check{\alpha}$, ϵ , $\check{\iota}$, \omicron , $\check{\upsilon}$, and the long vowels, $\bar{\alpha}$, η , $\bar{\iota}$, ω , $\bar{\upsilon}$.

b. The long vowels were originally sounded as α , e , i , o , u , in the English words par, prey, caprice, prone, prune, slowly and fully uttered. The short vowels had the same sounds, only less prolonged in utterance, —a little different, therefore, from the English short sounds in the words pat, pet, pit, pot, put.

c. The vowels (sounded as above) are close or open. The most open vowel is α ; less open are ϵ , η , \omicron , ω ; the close vowels are ι , υ . Thus we have the open short vowels, $\check{\alpha}$, ϵ , \omicron , the open long vowels, $\bar{\alpha}$, η , ω , the close vowels, ι , υ .

Diphthongs.

5. The diphthongs unite two vowels in one syllable. They are a. $\alpha\eta$, $\eta\upsilon$, $\omega\upsilon$ are called improper diphthongs: their second vowel is written below the first, and is therefore called iota subscript.

b. When the first vowel of an improper diphthong is written as a capital letter, ι stands upon the line: thus $\omega\delta\grave{\eta}$ to a song is written with capitals $\Omega\delta\grave{\eta}$ or $\Omega\Delta\eta\iota$.

c. The diphthongs all end with a close vowel, and all but $\upsilon\iota$ begin with an open vowel. Originally both vowels were heard, though without break between them. But the improper diphthongs (α, η, φ) early lost the sound of ι, and were pronounced like ā, η, ω. Of the other diphthongs, αι was sounded like Eng. ay affirmative; αυ, like ow in how; ει, ευ, οι, ου, υι, somewhat like the English diphthongs in height, feud, foil, youth, quit; ηυ, like η followed closely by a short υ.

d. In Roman letters the diphthongs were represented, αι,	ει,	οι,	αυ,	ευ,	ου,	υι,	φ,	η,	φ,

by ae,	ē or ī,	oe,	au,	eu,	ū,	yi,	ā,	ē,	ō.

e. A double dot (diaerësis), written over ι or υ, shows that it does not form a diphthong with the vowel before it: thus προῦπάρχω (pronounced προ-υπάρχω) to be before.

Breathings.

6. A vowel at the beginning of a word always takes either the rough breathing ['] or the smooth [']. The rough breathing shows that h was sounded before the vowel: thus ὄρων (pronounced "hōrōn") seeing. The smooth breathing shows that the vowel was sounded without h: thus ὄρων ("ōrōn") of mountains.

a. A diphthong at the beginning of a word takes the breathing over its second vowel: thus αἰοῦ of himself, αἰοῦ of him. But this does not apply to the improper diphthongs.

b. All words which begin with υ have the rough breathing.

c. The consonant ρ at the beginning of a word is always written ρ (Roman rh): thus ῥήτωρ (rhetor orator). And in the middle of a word ρρ is, by most editors, written ρρ (Roman rrh): thus Πύρρος Pyrrhus.

Consonants.

7. The consonants were sounded, for the most part, as we sound the Roman letters used to represent them (3). To c, g, s, t, we give a variety of sounds: the corresponding Greek letters, κ, γ, σ, τ, had only the sounds which are heard in Eng. coo, go, so, to: thus in Λυκία Lycia, Φρυγία Phrygia, Μυσία Mysia, Βοιωτία Boeotia. But

a. Gamma (γ) before κ, γ, χ, or ξ, had the sound of n in anger, anxious, and was represented by a Roman n: thus in ἀγκῦρα (Lat. ancōra) anchor, ἐλεγχος (elenchus) proof.

b. The letters φ, θ, χ seem to have had at first the sounds of ph, th, ch in Eng. uphill, hothouse, blockhead. But afterwards they came to sound as in Eng. graphic, pathos, and German machen (the last being a rough palatal sound no longer heard in English).

c. Every consonant was sounded: thus κ was heard in κτήμα possession, γ in γνώμη judgment, and φ in φθίσις decay. Similarly, ξένος stranger, ψεῦδος falsehood, were pronounced kseenos, pseudos, with k and p distinctly heard.

Among consonants, we distinguish semivowels, mutes, and double consonants.

8. The SEMIVOWELS are λ , μ , ν , ρ , σ ; of which σ is called a sibilant (from its hissing sound), λ , μ , ν , ρ , liquids (from their flowing sound), μ , ν , nasals (sounded with the nose).

a. To the semivowels must be added also γ nasal, that is, γ before κ , γ , χ , ξ (7 a).

9. The MUTES are of three classes:

labial mutes, π , β , ϕ , (or π -mutes,) lingual mutes, τ , δ , θ , (or τ -mutes,) palatal mutes, κ , γ , χ , (or κ -mutes.)

a. Mutes of the same class are said to be cognate. The classes are named from the organs (lips, or tongue, or palate) chiefly used in sounding them.

10. The mutes are also divided into three orders:

smooth mutes, π , τ , κ , middle mutes, β , δ , γ , rough mutes, ϕ , θ , χ .

a. Mutes of the same order are said to be co-ordinate. The rough mutes (or aspirates) are so named from the rough breathing (h), which was heard in them (7 b).

11. The DOUBLE CONSONANTS are ζ , ξ , ψ ; of which, ψ is written for $\pi\sigma$, and ξ for $\kappa\sigma$.

a. It is supposed that ζ had at first the sound of dz.

12. The relations of the consonants may be seen from the following table:

	Semivowels.		Mutes.			Double Consonants.
	Sibilant.	Liquids.	Smooth.	Middle.	Rough.
		Nasals.
Labials		μ	π	β	ϕ	ψ
Linguals	σ	λ , ρ , ν	τ	δ	θ	ζ
Palatals		(γ)	κ	γ	χ	ξ

a. The smooth and rough mutes, with σ , ψ , ξ , are surd (hushed or whispered sounds); the other consonants and all the vowels are sonant (sounded with loud voice).

13. DIGAMMA. The oldest Greek alphabet had another consonant (\digamma), which corresponded in place and form to the Latin r, but was sounded as the Latin semivowel v, or rather as the English w. This letter was named Faû Vau,—named also from its form digamma (i. e. double gamma, one placed upon another). It was unknown to the Attic Greek; yet many Attic forms can only be explained by noticing its earlier existence.

EUPHONY OF VOWELS.

Vowels Interchanged.

14. The open short vowels (α, ε, ο) are often interchanged in the inflection and formation of words.

Thus τρέφ-ω to nourish, ἐ-τρέφ-ην was nourished, τέ-τροφ-α have nourished, τροφ-ή nurture; γένος race (for γενες, compare dative γένει for γεγεσι); λύκε (for λυκο) from λύκο-ς wolf.

a. In like manner, ει (when made by lengthening ι, 213) is interchanged with οι: thus λείπ-ω (from stem λῖπ) to leave, λέ-λοιπ-α have left, λοιπ-ός left.

Other changes are less common: thus

b. αο (or ηο) to εω: ναός, also νεώς, temple; τεθνεώτες (plural) dead, for τεθνηοτες.

c. η to ω: ἐβ-ρωγ-ε is broken, from βήγ-νυμι to break.

d. ε (or η) to ι: ἴσ-θι δε ἰθου, for εσ-θι (cf. ἐσ-τί is).

e. ο (or ω) to υ: ἀν-ώνυμος nameless, from ὄνομα name.

f. ι or υ to ε: πόλε-ως, πῆχ-ε-ως, from πόλι-ς city, πῆχ-υ-ς fore-arm.

g. α or ο to ι: δν-ῖνυμι to benefit, for ον-ονημι.

Vowels Lengthened.

15. The short vowels are often lengthened in the inflection and formation of words. This is called formative protraction.

By this,	ᾱ,	ε,	ῑ,	ο,	ῡ,
become	η,	η,	ι,	ω,	υ.

a. But ᾱ after ε, ι, or ρ, becomes ᾱ̄.

Thus the verb τιμᾶ-ω to honor makes future τιμή-σω; ἔᾱ-ω to permit, ἐᾱ-σω; δηνᾶ-ω to hunt, δηνᾶ-σω; φιλέ-ω to love, φιλή-σω; τί-νω to pay, τί-σω; δηλό-ω to manifest, δηλώ-σω; φῦ-ω to make grow, φῦ-σω.

For lengthening of ι to ει, and υ to ευ, see 213.

16. A short vowel is often lengthened to make up for an omitted consonant. This is called vicarious protraction.

By this,	ᾱ,	ε,	ῑ,	ο,	ῡ,
become	ᾱ̄,	ει,	ι,	ου,	υ.

Thus we have ἀπασι to all, for ἀπα-ντ-σι; ἔσκεισα made libation, for εσπε-νδ-σα; γίνομαι to become, for γί-γ-νομαι; λύουσι they loose, for λυο-ν-σι; ἔπλυνα washed, for επλυν-σ-α.

For an exception in which α becomes η, see 253 b: for one in which ε, ο become η, ω, see 88.

Vowels Contracted.

17. Contraction unites successive vowels of different syllables into one long vowel or diphthong. Successive vowels are generally contracted when the first is short and open (ᾱ, ε, ο). Thus

18. An open short vowel, contracted

a. with a close vowel (ι, υ), gives a diphthong.

b. with α, ε, η, gives the long sound of the first

c. with ο, ω, gives ω. [vowel.]

d. But εε gives ει; εο, οε, οο, give ου. Thus,

a. ε-ι gives ει, as (πόλε-ι) πόλει.	c. α-ο gives ω, as (τιμά-ομεν) τιμῶμεν.
ο-ι οί, (πειθό-ι) πειθοί.	α-ω ω, (τιμά-ωμεν) τιμῶμεν.
b. α-α ᾱ, (γέρα-α) γέρα.	ε-ω ω, (φιλέ-ωσι) φιλῶσι.
α-ε ᾱ, (τιμά-ετε) τιμάτε.	ο-ω ω, (δηλό-ωσι) δηλῶσι.
α-η ᾱ, (τιμά-ητε) τιμάτε.	d. ε-ε ει, (φίλε-ε) φίλει.
ε-α η, (τείχε-α) τείχη.	ε-ο ου, (γένε-ος) γένους.
ε-η η, (φιλέ-ητε) φιλήτε.	ο-ε ου, (δήλο-ε) δήλου.
ο-α ω, (αἰδό-α) αἰδῶ.	ο-ο ου, (πλό-ος) πλοῦς.
ο-η ω, (δηλό-ητε) δηλῶτε.

19. Successive vowels are not generally contracted when the first is either long or close. But

20. α, ε, ι, after a close or long vowel, are sometimes absorbed.

The last vowel then disappears, and the first, if short, becomes long: thus ἰχθῦ, ἰχθύς, for ἰχθῦ-ε, ἰχθῦ-ας, fishes; ἥρω for ἥρω-α hero. — ι, after ᾱ, η, ω, becomes ι subscript: (βά-ιςτος) βᾱςτος easier, (λα-ίων) λᾱών better. — ηο is contracted to ω: (νη-οδυνος) νῶδυνος (poetic) painless.

21. A simple vowel before a diphthong is often contracted with its first vowel; the last vowel then disappears, unless it can be written as ι subscript.

a. But εοι and οοι give οι.

Thus, α-ει gives αι, as (τιμά-ει) τιμάι.	η-αι gives ηι, as (λύη-αι) λύηι.
α-η αι, (τιμά-η) τιμάη.	η-οι οι, (μεμνή-οιο) μεμνήοι.
α-οι οι, (τιμά-οι) τιμάοι.	η-ου ου, (μή οὖν) μῶν.
α-ου ου, (τιμά-ου) τιμάου.	ο-ει ει, (πλάκó-εις) πλακοῖς.
ε-αι αι, (λύε-αι) λύηι.	ο-ου ου, (δηλό-ου) δηλοῖ.
ε-ει ει, (φιλέ-ει) φιλέι.	ε-οι οι, (φιλέ-οι) φιλοῖ.
ε-η ηι, (φιλέ-η) φιλήι.	ο-οι οι, (δηλό-οι) δηλοῖ.
ε-ου ου, (φιλέ-ου) φιλοῖ.

22. In a few cases the contraction is made with the second vowel of the diphthong, and the first vowel disappears. Thus

a. εαι in the second person of verbs gives both η and ει: as λύη or λύει art loosed (for λύε-αι).

b. οει and οη, in the second and third persons of verbs in óω, give οι: as δηλοῖς (for δηλό-εις showest, and δηλό-ης mayst show).

23. Important cases of irregular contraction depend upon the following rules:

a. In contract words of the first and second declensions, a short vowel followed by α, or by any long vowel-sound, is absorbed: thus (δοτέ-α) δότᾱ (not οστῆ); (ἀργυρέ-αν) ἀργυράν; (ἀπλό-η) ἀπλή (not ἀπλω); (διπλό-αις) διπλαῖς. — Only in the singular, εα, after any consonant but ρ, is contracted to η: as (χρυσέ-α) χρυσή.

b. In the third declension, the contracted accusative plural takes the form of the contracted nominative plural: thus nom. pl. (εὐγενέ-ες) εὐγενεῖς, acc. pl. (εὐγενέ-ας) εὐγενεῖς (not ευγενης); nom. pl. μείζονες [μειζό-ες] μείζους, acc. pl. μείζονας [μειζό-ας] μείζους (not μειζως).

Vowels Omitted.

24. A short vowel between two consonants is sometimes dropped (syncopē): thus πατρός (for πατέρος) of a father, ἦλθον (for ἦλύθον) came.

25. υ at the end of a stem is often dropped between two vowels: thus βασιλέων (for βασιλευ-ων) of kings, ἀκοή (for ἀκου-ή) hearing.

In this case, υ was first changed to the kindred semivowel, the digamma (βασιλεῖων, ἀκοῖη), which afterwards went out of use (13).

a. Similarly, ι is sometimes dropped between two vowels: thus κάω (for καίω) to burn, πλέων (for πλείων) more.

EUPHONY OF CONSONANTS.

Consonant with Consonant.

26. Before a lingual mute, a labial or palatal mute must be of the same order (10).

Hence βτ and φτ become πτ,		γτ and χτ become κτ,
πδ	φδ	βδ,	κδ
πθ	φθ	βθ,	κθ χδ
			χθ

Thus τέτριπται (for τε-τριβ-ται) has been rubbed, δέδεκται (f. δε-δεχ-ται) has received, ἐλείφθη (f. ε-λειπ-θη) was left, ἐλέχθη (f. ε-λεγ-θη) was spoken.

a. Beside the combinations of mutes with mutes which come under this rule (πτ, κτ, βδ, γδ, φθ, χθ), the Greek had only the double mutes, ππ, ττ, κκ, and πφ, τθ, κχ (the last three for φφ, θθ, χχ): other combinations (such as τκ, δκ, γβ, etc.) were rejected (but see 29 a).

27. A lingual mute before another lingual mute is changed to σ.

Thus ἴσθι (for ἰδ-θι) know thou, ἴστε (f. ἰδ-τε) know ye, πείπεται (f. πε-πειθ-ται) has been persuaded, ἐπεισθη (f. ε-πειθ-θη) was persuaded. But see 28 a.

28. Before μ , a labial mute becomes μ .

Thus λέλειμμα (for λε-λειπ-μαι) have been left, δέδεγμαι (f. δε-δεχ-μαι) have received, ἴσμεν (f. ἰδ-μεν) we know. In σεμνός (for σεβ-νός) revered, a like change occurs before ν .

a. This rule and the preceding (27) apply only to cases where the first letter belongs to a stem and the second to an ending or suffix (see the examples given): they do not apply to words like τάττω to arrange, κέκηκα am tired, ρυθμός rhythm.

29. Before σ , a labial mute forms ψ (11).

a palatal mute forms ξ (11). [change.

a lingual mute is dropped without further

Thus τρίψω (for τριβ-σω) shall rub, γράψω (f. γραφ-σω) shall write, κόραξ (f. κορακ-ς) crow, φλόξ (f. φλογ-ς) flame, σώμασι (f. σωματ-σι) to bodies, ὄρνιθι (f. ορνιθ-σι) to birds.

a. The preposition ἐξ (= εκς) in composition drops s before any consonant (46), but undergoes no further change: thus ἐκβαίνω (not εγβαίνω) to go out, ἐκστρατεύω (not εξστρατεύω) to march out.

30. ν before a labial becomes μ .

ν before a palatal becomes γ nasal.

ν before σ is dropped, and the preceding vowel is lengthened (16).

Thus ἐμψυχος (for εν-ψυχος) living, ἐμμένω (f. εν-μενω) to remain in, — συγγενής (f. συν-γενης) kindred, συγχέω (f. συν-χεω) to confound, — ἐλλείπω (f. εν-λειπω) to fail, συβρέω (f. συν-ρεω) to flow together, — μέλας (f. μελαν-ς) black, εἷς (f. έν-ς) one, λύουσι (f. λυονσι) they loose. In δαλῦμι (for ολ-νυμι) to destroy, a like change occurs after λ .

a. So also ντ, νδ, νθ are dropped before σ (29), and the preceding vowel is lengthened (16).

Thus δούς (for δοντ-ς) giving, σπείσω (f. σπενδ-σω) shall make libation, πείσομαι (f. πενθ-σομαι) shall suffer.

b. Before σ of the dative plural, the vowel is not lengthened when ν alone is dropped: thus λιμένι (for λιμενσι) to harbors, δαίμοσι (f. δαιμον-σι) to divinities; but, on the other hand, πᾶσι (with \tilde{a} , f. παντ-σι) to all, λέουσι (f. λεοντ-σι) to lions.

c. Before σ in the endings of the perfect middle system, ν is not dropped; before μ , it is commonly changed to σ : thus πέφαν-σαι have appeared, πεφάσμεθα (f. πεφαν-μεθα) we have appeared.

d. In compound words, ἐν before ρ , σ , is not changed: σύν becomes συσ- before σ with a vowel, συ- before σ with a consonant and before ζ : thus έν-ρυθμος rhythmic, έν-σημαίνω to signify, συσ-σίτιον common meal, συ-ζυγείς yoked together.

31. σ in endings of the middle voice (240–43) is dropped between two consonants.

Thus δεδέχθαι (for δεδεχ-σθαι) to have received, λέλειπθε (f. λελειπ-σθε, cf. 26) ye have been left.

a. When two sigmas are brought together by inflection, one of them is dropped: thus τείχεσι (for τείχεσ-σι) to walls, ἔσπασαι (f. ἐσπασ-σαι) hast been drawn.

Consonant with Vowel.

32. A vowel and liquid are sometimes transposed (metathesis).

Thus δάρσος or δράσος courage; θαν-εῖν to die, τε-θνή-ναι to be dead; τέμ-νω to cut, perfect τέ-τμη-κα; βάλ-λω to throw, perfect βέ-βλη-κα. In the last two instances, the transposed vowel is also lengthened.

33. ρ at the beginning of a word is doubled, when, by formation or by composition, a short vowel is brought before it.

Thus ῥέω to flow, ῥ-ῥέει was flowing, κατᾶ-ῥέων flowing down.

a. ρρ occurs also in the later Attic writers, where the earlier have ρσ: thus δάρρως courage for earlier Attic δάρσος.

34. σ is often dropped between two vowels, which are then contracted.

Thus (γενεσ-ος, γενε-ος) γένους of race; (λυε-σαι, λυε-αι) λύη or λύει art loosed; (λνυι-σο) λνυι-ο mightest be loosed. In the last instance there is no contraction (19).

a. At the beginning of a word, σ before a vowel is sometimes changed to h: thus ῥς for earlier σῦς hog, ῖστημι (for σι-στη-μι) to set.

35. τ before ι is often changed to σ: thus πλούσιος (for πλουτ-ιος) wealthy, from πλούτος wealth. Rarely so before other vowels: as σήμερον for usual Attic τήμερον to-day. More complex are the following changes of

36. CONSONANTS WITH ι. Iota (followed by a vowel) is much used in forming the present system of verbs (223); also in the formation of feminines (118. 308a), and of comparatives (129). After a vowel, ι is contracted with it: thus ἡδεῖα (for ἡδε-ια) fem. of ἡδύς (genitive ἡδέ-ος) pleasant. After a consonant, it causes various changes: thus

a. ι, after κ, γ, χ, or after τ, θ, forms σσ: thus φυλάσσω (for φυλακ-ιω) to guard, τάσσω (f. ταγ-ιω) to arrange, ἐλάσσω (f. ελαχ-ιω) less, Κρήσσω (f. Κρητ-ια) Cretan woman, poetic κορύσσω (f. κορυθ-ιω) to equip. For σσ produced in this way, the later Attic has ττ: thus φυλάττω, τάττω, ἐλάττων, etc.

b. ι, after δ (sometimes after γ), forms ζ: thus φράζω (for φραδ-ιω) to tell, κράζω (f. κραγ-ιω) to cry.

c. ι, after λ, forms λλ: thus βάλλω (f. βαλ-ιω) to throw, μᾶλλον (f. μαλ-ιον) more.

d. ι, after ν and ρ, changes place with the liquid, and is then contracted with the vowel before it: thus μέλαινα (for μελαν-ια) fem. of μέλας (gen. μέλαν-ος) black, σπείρω (f. σπερ-ιω) to sow, κρίνω (f. κρίν-ιω) to distinguish, ἀμύνω (f. αμύν-ιω) to defend (20).

Consonants with Vowel between.

37. The Greeks disliked to hear rough mutes—especially the same rough mute repeated—before and after the same vowel. Hence

a. Reduplications change a rough mute to the cognate smooth.

Thus $\pi\acute{\epsilon}\text{-}\phi\upsilon\text{-}\kappa\alpha$ (for $\phi\epsilon\text{-}\phi\upsilon\text{-}\kappa\alpha$) am by nature, $\tau\acute{\iota}\text{-}\theta\eta\text{-}\mu\iota$ (f. $\theta\iota\text{-}\theta\eta\text{-}\mu\iota$) to put, $\acute{\epsilon}\text{-}\kappa\acute{\epsilon}\text{-}\chi\upsilon\text{-}\tau\omicron$ (f. $\epsilon\text{-}\chi\epsilon\text{-}\chi\upsilon\text{-}\tau\omicron$) had been poured.

b. The imperative ending $\theta\iota$ becomes $\tau\iota$ after $\theta\eta$ in the first aorist passive: thus $\lambda\acute{\upsilon}\text{-}\theta\eta\text{-}\tau\iota$ (for $\lambda\upsilon\text{-}\theta\eta\text{-}\theta\iota$) be loosed.

c. A few stems which end in ϕ or χ change initial θ to τ : thus $\tau\rho\acute{\epsilon}\phi\text{-}\omega$ (for $\delta\rho\epsilon\phi\text{-}\omega$) to nourish, $\tau\rho\iota\chi\text{-}\acute{o}\varsigma$ (f. $\delta\rho\iota\chi\text{-}\acute{o}\varsigma$) of hair. But not so, if ϕ or χ is affected by a rule of euphony: thus $\delta\rho\acute{\iota}\xi$ (i. e. $\delta\rho\iota\kappa\text{-}\varsigma$, f. $\delta\rho\iota\chi\text{-}\varsigma$, by 29) hair, $\delta\rho\acute{\epsilon}\mu\mu\alpha$ (f. $\delta\rho\epsilon\phi\text{-}\mu\alpha$, by 28) nursling, and so $\acute{\epsilon}\text{-}\theta\rho\acute{\epsilon}\phi\text{-}\theta\eta\nu$ (see 26) was nourished. See also 129. 300 fa. fx. nf. nn.

d. For a similar reason, h was dropped at the beginning of $\acute{\epsilon}\chi\text{-}\omega$ to have, $h\acute{o}\lambda\delta$ (f. $\acute{\epsilon}\chi\text{-}\omega$, originally $\sigma\epsilon\chi\text{-}\omega$) and of $\iota\sigma\chi\omega$ (f. $\iota\sigma\chi\omega$, orig. $\sigma\iota\text{-}\sigma\chi\omega$) another form of $\acute{\epsilon}\chi\omega$: cf. 34 a.

SPECIAL EUPHONY OF FINAL SOUNDS.

38. HIATUS. When a vowel at the end of a word is followed immediately by a vowel in the next word, the result is a hiatus. This, though not agreeable to the Attic ear, was often endured in prose: often, however, it was avoided by crasis, or elision, or the addition of a movable consonant. Crasis and elision occur especially when the first of the two words is short and unimportant, or when the two words are often used together.

Crasis.

39. Crasis is the contraction of a vowel at the end of a word with a vowel at the beginning of the next word. The two words are then written as one, with a corōnis ['] over the vowel in which they join.

Thus $\tau\omicron\upsilon\acute{\nu}\alpha\nu\tau\acute{\iota}\omicron\nu$ (for $\tau\acute{o}\ \acute{\epsilon}\nu\alpha\nu\tau\acute{\iota}\omicron\nu$) the contrary, $\acute{\omega}\gamma\alpha\theta\acute{\epsilon}$ (not in Att. prose, f. $\acute{\omega}\ \acute{\alpha}\gamma\alpha\theta\acute{\epsilon}$) O good (sir). The first word is generally a form of the article, the neuter δ or $\acute{\alpha}$ of the relative pronoun, the preposition $\pi\rho\acute{o}$, the conjunction $\kappa\alpha\acute{\iota}$, or the interjection $\acute{\omega}$. For the rules of contraction, see 18–21.

a. If the first word ends in a diphthong, its last vowel disappears in crasis; if the second begins with a diphthong, its last vowel remains (as ι subscript or υ): thus $\kappa\acute{\alpha}\nu$ (for $\kappa\alpha\iota\ \acute{\epsilon}\nu$), $\kappa\acute{\alpha}\nu$ (f. $\kappa\alpha\iota\ \acute{\alpha}\nu$ or $\kappa\alpha\iota\ \acute{\epsilon}\acute{\alpha}\nu$), $\kappa\acute{\alpha}\tau\alpha$ (f. $\kappa\alpha\iota\ \acute{\epsilon}\tau\alpha$) and then, $\kappa\alpha\upsilon\tau\eta\varsigma$ (poetic, f. $\kappa\alpha\iota\ \alpha\upsilon\tau\eta\varsigma$) and of her, $\acute{\epsilon}\gamma\phi\mu\alpha\iota$ (f. $\acute{\epsilon}\gamma\acute{\omega}\ \acute{\alpha}\mu\alpha\iota$) I think.

b. The rough breathing of the article or relative pronoun, if these stand first, is retained, and takes the place of a coronis: thus $\acute{\alpha}\nu$ (for $\acute{\alpha}\ \acute{\alpha}\nu$.)

c. In crasis of the article, its final vowel or diphthong, when followed by initial α, disappears in it: thus ἀνὴρ (ā) for ὁ ἀνὴρ (ā) the man, τὰνδρὶ (f. τῷ ἀνδρὶ); ταὐτό, ταὐτά, ταὐτοῦ (f. τὸ αὐτό, τὰ αὐτά, τοῦ αὐτοῦ) the same. — The particle τοί follows the same rule: thus μεντῶν (f. μέντοι ἔν). — ἕτερος other enters into crasis under the form ἄτερος: thus ἄτερος (ā, f. ὁ ἕτερος), δᾶτερον (42 a), δᾶτέρου (f. τὸ ἕτερον, τοῦ ἑτέρου).

Elision.

40. Elision is the omission of a short vowel at the end of a word, when the next word begins with a vowel. The place of the omitted vowel is marked by an apostrophe ['].

Thus ἀλλ' εὐθύς (for ἀλλὰ εὐθύς) but! immediat'ely, ἐπ' αὐτῷ (f. ἐπὶ αὐτῷ) on him, ὑπ' ἐμοῦ (f. ὑπὸ ἐμοῦ) by me. Elision is most frequent in

a. Words of one syllable in ε, as γέ, δέ, τέ.

b. Prepositions and conjunctions of two syllables; except περί, ἄχρι, μέχρι, ὅτι.

c. A few adverbs in common use, such as ἔτι, ἅμα, εἴτα, μάλα, τάχα.

41. Elision occurs also in the formation of compound words, but then without the apostrophe to mark it.

Thus ἀπάγω (from ἀπό and ἄγω) to lead away, οὐδείς (from οὐδέ and εἷς) no one, διέφερον (from διά and ἔφερον) they differed, ἀμείχω (from ἀμφί and ἔχω, cf. 37) to surround.

42. A smooth mute and rough breathing, brought together by elision, give the cognate rough mute.

Thus ἀφ' ὧν (for ἀπὸ ὧν) from whom, καθ' ἑαυτόν (f. κατὰ ἑαυτόν) by himself, νύχθ' ὅλην (f. νύκτα ὅλην) all night (cf. 26). So too in compound words: ἀφαιρέω (from ἀπό and αἰρέω) to take away, καθίημι (from κατὰ and ἵημι) to send down, δεχήμερος (from δέκα and ἡμέρα) lasting ten days.

a. The same effect is seen also in crasis: δᾶτερον (for τὸ ἕτερον) the other, δοιμάτιον (for τὸ ἱμάτιον) the outer garment.

b. A like change of mute takes place, in spite of an intervening ρ, in the compounds φροῦδος (not in Att. prose; from πρό and ὀδός) gone away, φρουρά (from πρό and ὀράω) look-out, watch, τέθριππος (from τέτταρ-ες and ἵππος) four-horse.

Movable Consonants.

43. N MOVABLE. To words which end in σῖ, and to verbs of the third person in ε, ν is added when the next word begins with a vowel.

Thus πᾶσι δίδωμι I give to all, but πᾶσιν ἔδωκα I gave to all; δίδωσί μοι or δίδωσιν ἐμοί he gives to me; ἔδωκέ μοι or ἔδωκεν ἐμοί he gave to me. — ν movable is added also to ἐστί is.

a. In some editions of prose writers, ν is added to these words whenever they stand at the end of a sentence. In poetry, they take it, generally, at the end of a line or verse; often, also, before a consonant in the same verse, making the final short syllable long by position (49 b).

44. The particle οὐ not, before a vowel, becomes οὐκ, but before the rough breathing, οὐχ (cf. 42): thus οὐ λέγω I say not, οὐκ αὐτῷ not to him, οὐχ οὕτως not so. — Μή not follows the same analogy in μηκέτι (from μή and ἐτι), like οὐκέτι, no longer.

45. Ἐξ (εξς) from and οὕτως thus drop s before consonants: ἐξ ἀκροπόλεως from the citadel, but ἐκ πόλεως from the city; οὕτως ἔδοξε so it appeared, but οὕτω δοκεῖ so it appears.

Final Consonants.

46. The only consonants allowed to stand at the end of a word are ν, ρ, ς.

Words which end in ξ or ψ (i. e. κς or πς) are not exceptions to the rule. For ἐκ, and οὐκ or οὐχ, see 44–5.

47. Other consonants at the end of a word are dropped.

Thus	σῶμα body ,	for σωματ ,	genitive σώματ-ος ,
	μέλι honey ,	μελιτ ,	μέλιτ-ος ,
	γάλα milk ,	γαλακτ ,	γάλακτ-ος ,
	λυθέν loosed ,	λυθεντ ,	λυθέντ-ος ,
	παῖ O boy ,	παιδ ,	παιδ-ός ,
	γύναι O woman ,	γυναικ ,	γυναικ-ός .

a. But sometimes τ or θ at the end of a word is changed to ς: thus τέρας (for τερατ, gen. τερατ-ος) prodigy, δός (for δοθ, from δο-θι) give.

b. ν at the end of a word after α, is sometimes dropped: thus νύκτα (for νυκταν, accusative) night, έλυσα (for ελυσαν) I loosed. Here ν was the primitive ending, which in Greek is changed to ν.

SYLLABLES.

48. The last syllable of a word is called the ultima; the one next to the last, penult (penultima); the one before the penult, antepenult (antepenultima).

Quantity.

49. a. A syllable is long by nature, when it has a long vowel or diphthong; as in πνί-γοί-μην might be choked. —

b. A syllable is long by position, when its vowel is followed by two consonants or a double consonant; as in ὄρ-τυξ quail.

c. The consonants which make a final syllable long by position may be partly or wholly in the following word: thus the second syllable in ἄλλοι τόποι other place, ἄλλο στόμα other mouth, is long by position.

d. In a syllable long by position, the vowel was sounded long or short, according to its natural quantity, without reference to the following consonants. Thus the first vowel was sounded short in λέξω shall speak, κάλλος beauty, πίπτε fall, long in λήξω shall cease, μάλλον more, ρίπτε throw, though the first syllable in all these words was long.

50. When a vowel naturally short is followed by a mute and liquid, the syllable is common, that is, it may be used as long or short at pleasure.

Thus in τέκνον child, τυφλός blind, τί δρᾷς what doest thou, the first syllable is common. But ἐκ from, before a liquid,—as in ἐκλέγω (for ἐξλέγω, 29 a) to pick out—is never short. — a. Middle mutes before μ and ν always make a long syllable, and generally so before λ: thus in δόγμα decree, ἔδνα (poetic) nuptial gifts, βιβλίον book, the first syllable is long.

51. The quantity of most syllables is obvious at once. Thus, syllables

- a. with η, ω, or a diphthong, are always long.
- b. with ε, ο, before a vowel or single cons't, are short.
- c. with ε, ο, before two consonants or a double consonant, are long.
- d. with α, ι, υ, before two consonants or a double consonant, are long.

Rules c. and d. are liable to the exception in 50. There remain, then, subject to uncertainty, only syllables with α, ι, υ, before a vowel or single consonant. As to these, we observe that

Syllables with α, ι, υ, are long

- e. when they have the circumflex accent: πνίγε.
- f. when they arise from a contraction: (ἄέκων) ἄκων.
- g. when ν or ντ is dropped after the vowel: cf. 30 b.

On the other hand,

- h. α, ι, υ are short in case-endings, personal endings, prepositions and particles.
- i. α as connecting vowel and alpha privative are short.

j. In other cases, the quantity of α, ι, υ may be learned by consulting the lexicon, or by observing the usage of Greek poets.

Accent.

52. There are two accents, the acute ['], and the circumflex [^]. The acute may stand on one of the last three syllables of a word; the circumflex, on one of the last two. The circumflex can only stand on a syllable which is long by nature (49 a).

a. The accents are written over the second vowel of a diphthong, as αἰρούς them, αἰροῖς to them; but over the first of an improper diphthong, as αὐτῷ to him.

For the GRAVE accent [˘], used instead of the acute, see 62.

53. A word which has the acute on the ultima is called oxytone: as βασιλεύς.
 on the penult " paroxytone: as βασιλεῶν.
 on the antepenult " proparoxytohe: as βασιλεύοντος.

A word which has the circumflex on the ultima is called perispomenon: as ἀγαγεῖν.
 on the penult " properispomenon: as ἀγαγούσα.

A word which has no accent on the ultima is called barytone. This name, of course, belongs alike to paroxytones, proparoxytones, and properispomena.

54. a. Syllables which precede the antepenult are never accented.

b. The antepenult, if accented, takes the acute, as ἥλιος sun; but if the ultima is long, the antepenult is never accented: ἡλίου (not ἥλιου) of a sun.

c. The penult, if accented, takes the circumflex, when it has a long vowel, and the ultima at the same time has a short one: thus τοιοῦτος such.

d. The penult, if accented, takes the acute, when either it has a short vowel, or the ultima has a long one: thus ἡλίου of a sun, τοιαύτη such.

55. Final αι and οι have the effect of short vowels on the accent of the penult and antepenult: as λύνται, λυόμενοι (54 b), τοιοῦτοι, τοιαῦται (54 c).

a. Not so, however, in the optative mode, as παιδεύοι, παιδεύσαι, might train; and in the adverb οἴκοι at home.

56. Final ξ and ψ, after a short vowel, exclude the acute from the antepenult, but not the circumflex from the penult: thus διῶρυξ (for διωρυχ-ς) canal, not διωρυξ or διάρυξ.

57. a. Some words which have ω, lengthened from ο, in the ultima, with ε in the penult, are accented on the antepenult (contrary to 54 b): as πόλεως of a city, δύσεως love-sick. — b. Some apparent exceptions to 54 c (such as ἔστε, ἦδε, etc.) are explained by the rules for enclitics (68).

58. The accent of words must be learned, to a great extent, from the lexicon, or by observation in reading. In the majority of words it recedes as far from the end as the foregoing rules allow; when thus placed, it may be called RECESSIVE accent. It is the accent of verbs, almost uniformly, in the finite modes; also of most compound substantives and adjectives.

ACCENT AS AFFECTED BY VOWEL-CHANGES.

59. When two vowels are CONTRACTED, the contract syllable

- a. takes the circumflex, if the first vowel had an acute.
 b. takes the acute, if the last vowel had an acute.

c. takes no accent, if neither vowel had one.

Thus (τιμᾶ-εσθαι) τιμᾶσθαι to be honored, (τιμᾶ-ει) τιμᾶ he honors,—(φιλε-όμενος) φιλούμενος loved, (δηλο-οίμην) δηλοοίμην might be manifested, (ἔστα-ώς) ἔστώς standing,—(φιλε-ομένη) φιλουμένη loved, (τίμα-ε) τίμα honor thou.

60. In CRASIS, the accent of the first word disappears; that of the last retains its place: thus τὰγαθὰ (for τὰ ἀγαθὰ) the good things, τὰλλα (for τὰ ἄλλα, cf. 54 c) the other things.

61. In ELISION, oxytone prepositions and conjunctions lose their accent; other oxytone words throw it back on the penult: ἐπ' αὐτῷ (ἐπί) on him, οὐδ' ἐδυνάμην (οὐδέ) neither could I, ἀλλ' εἰμ' ἄνθρωπος (ἀλλά, εἰμί) but I am a man, ἔπ' ἦσαν (ἐπτά) there were seven.

ACCENT AS AFFECTED BY CONNECTION IN DISCOURSE.

62. GRAVE ACCENT. When an oxytone (53) is followed by other words in close connection, its accent takes a different form [`], and is called grave.

Thus ἀπό from, but ἀπό τούτου from this; βασιλεὺς king, but βασιλεὺς ἐγένετο he became king.

63. The preposition περί is written πέρι when it follows the genitive which it belongs to: as κακῶν πέρι concerning evils. This change is called ANASTRÖPHE (i. e. turning back of the accent). In poetry its use is much more extended.

64. PROCLITICS are words which attach themselves so closely to a following word as not to have a separate accent. They are

- a. The forms δ, ἡ, οἱ, αἱ, of the article.
- b. The prepositions ἐν in, εἰς (or ἐς) into, ἐξ (ἐκ) from.
- c. The conjunctions εἰ if, ὥς as, that, (also as prepos. to.)
- d. The negative οὐ (οὐκ, οὐχ, 44) not. — οὐχί, a more emphatic οὐ, is always accented.
- e. These words are accented when they are not closely connected in sense with a following word; thus at the end of a sentence: φῆς, ἦ οὐ sayest thou so, or not?

65. ENCLITICS are words which attach themselves so closely to a preceding word as to give up their separate accent. They are

- a. The pronouns of the first person, μοῦ, μοί, μέ; of the second, σοῦ, σοί, σέ; of the third, οὗ, οἱ, ξ, and σφίσι.
- b. The indefinite pronoun τις, τι, in all its forms (including τοῦ, τῷ, for τινός, τινί); and the indefinite adverbs ποῦ, πῇ, ποί, ποθέν, ποτέ, πῶ, πῶς. Used as interrogatives, these words are orthotone (i. e. accented): τις, τί, ποῦ, πῇ, ποί, πόθεν, πότε, πῶς.
- c. The present indicative of εἶμι to be and φημί to say, except the second person singular, εἶ, φῆς.
- d. The particles γέ, τέ, τοί, πέρ, νύν, and the inseparable δε (not the conjunction δέ but, and).

66. The word before an enclitic

a. preserves its proper accent and never changes an acute to grave: ἀγαθόν τι something good, ἄλλο τι something else, καλῶς φησι he says well.

b. if proparoxytone or properispomenon, adds an acute on the ultima: ἀνθρωπός τις some man, παῖδες τινες some boys.

c. if proclitic, takes an acute: εἴ τις if any one, οὐ φησι he denies.

67. Of several enclitics in succession, each one takes an acute from the succeeding, only the last appearing without accent: εἴ τις μοί φησί ποτε if any one ever says to me.

68. In some cases, a word is combined so often with a following enclitic, that the two are regarded as one word: thus ὥστε for ὥς τε, εἴτε, μήτε, οἴστε, ὅστις, ἥτοι, καίτοι. The enclitic δε is always treated thus: ὅδε, τοῦςδε, οἴκαδε. So πέρ, in prose, almost always: ὥςπερ. Most of these are apparent exceptions to 54 c.

a. Εἴθε, ναίχι, from εἰ, ναί, are accented as if θε and χί were enclitic particles.

69. The enclitics in some cases retain their accent: thus

a. when an enclitic of two syllables follows a paroxytone: οὕτω φησί so he says.

b. when there is an emphasis on the enclitic: ἀλλὰ σέ λέγω but thee I mean (no other). For the personal pronouns, cf. 133 c; for ἔστι, 277 c.

c. when the enclitic stands at the beginning of a sentence: φημι δὲ χρῆναι but I say it is proper;—also, when the vowel which would receive its accent is elided (40): μανία τοῦτ' ἐστὶ (for τοῦτ' ἐστι) this is madness.

PUNCTUATION.

70. The comma and period are the same as in English. The colon, a point above the line [·], takes the place of our colon and semicolon. The mark of interrogation has the form of an English semicolon [;].

PART SECOND.

INFLECTION.

NOUNS.

71. Inflection belongs to nouns (both substantive and adjective), pronouns, and verbs. It gives to the same word different forms according to its different relations in the sentence. These forms have a common stem, followed by different endings.

a. The inflection of nouns and pronouns is called declension. Their endings, since they mark the different cases, are called case-endings.

b. The Greek distinguishes in its declension

three NUMBERS: the singular in reference to one object, the plural to more than one, the dual to two only.

five CASES: nominative, genitive, dative, accusative, and vocative. In the singular, the vocative is often like the nominative; in the plural, it is always so. In neuter words, the nominative and vocative are always like the accusative, and in the plural always end in a. The dual has but two forms, one for the nominative, accusative, and vocative, the other for the genitive and dative.

c. The nominative singular is not to be confounded with the stem. Often they are alike: thus χώρα place, country is at once the stem and the nom. sing. But oftener they are different: thus ἄνθρωπος man is the nom. sing. of the stem ἄνθρωπο. — d. The genitive, dative, and accusative are called OBLIQUE cases, in distinction from the nominative and vocative.

e. Some masculine words are also used as feminine, and vice versa; such words are said to be of COMMON gender: thus ἄνθρωπος man, human being, masc. and fem.

72. ARTICLE. Forms of the article ὁ, ἡ, τό, the, are often used with nouns in the grammar to mark the genders and cases. We therefore give here the inflection of the article.

Sing. masc. fem. neut.	Dual. masc. fem. neut.	Plur. masc. fem. neut.
Nom. ὁ ἡ τό	N. A. τὼ τὰ τῶ	Nom. οἱ αἱ τὰ
Gen. τοῦ τῆς τοῦ	G. D. τοῖν ταῖν τοῖν	Gen. τῶν τῶν τῶν
Dat. τῷ τῇ τῷ		Dat. τοῖς ταῖς τοῖς
Acc. τόν τήν τό		Acc. τοὺς τὰς τὰ

For τῶ, τοῖν, used instead of τὰ, ταῖν, see 371. — For the interjection δ used with the vocative, see 388.

73. ACCENT. The accent of a noun remains, in all the forms, on the same syllable as in the nominative singular, or as near that syllable as the general laws of accent allow.

Thus ἄνθρωπος man, acc. sing. ἄνθρωπον, nom. plur. ἄνθρωποι; but gen. sing. ἀνθρώπου (54 b), dat. plur. ἀνθρώποις: ὄνομα name, gen. sing. ὀνόματος (54 a), gen. plur. ὀνομάτων (54 b).

a. An accented ultima, in general, takes the acute; but

b. In the genitive and dative of all numbers, a long ultima, if accented, takes the circumflex.

Thus ποταμός river, gen. sing. ποταμοῦ; τιμὴ honor, dat. sing. τιμῇ; πός foot, gen. plur. ποδῶν, gen. and dat. dual ποδοῖν.

74. DECLENSIONS. Nouns are declined in two principal ways, viz.:—1. The Consonant-Declenſion, for stems ending in a consonant or close vowel; and—2. The Vowel-Declenſion, for stems ending in an open vowel.—The vowel-declension divides itself into two forms, according as the stem ends in o or a. Hence we have

I. The Vowel-Declenſion, including

The A-Declenſion, commonly called First Decl., and

The O-Declenſion, commonly called Second Decl.

II. The Consonant-Decl., commonly called Third Decl.

FIRST DECLENSION (A-Declenſion).

75. To this declension belong stems (both masculine and feminine) that end in a; but a in the singular is often changed to η. The nominative singular of feminines ends in a or η; of masculines, in as or ης.

a. The a or η of the stem is closely united with the case-endings: it is given with them in the following list of TERMINATIONS.

	Sing.		Dual.
	Fem.	Masc.	M. & F.	Plur.
Nom.	α, η	ās, ης	ᾱ	αι
Gen.	ās, ης	ου	αιν	ων
Dat.	α, η	ας, η	αιν	αις
Acc.	αν, ην	ᾱν, ην	ᾱ	ᾱς
Voc.	α, η	α, η	ᾱ	αι

b. The above terminations are all long, except a and av in the nom., acc., and voc. sing.: even these are long after a vowel or ρ, if the word is oxytone or paroxytone: for examples, see 76.

FEMININES.

Example. Stem.	ἡ χώρα country χώρα	ἡ γλῶσσα tongue γλῶσσα	ἡ τιμή honor τιμα
Sing. Nom.	χώρα	γλῶσσᾱ	τιμή
Gen.	χώρας	γλώσσης	τιμῆς
Dat.	χώρα	γλώσση	τιμῇ
Acc.	χώραν	γλῶσσαν	τιμὴν
Voc.	χώρα	γλῶσσᾱ	τιμή
Du. N. A. V.	χώρα	γλῶσσᾱ	τιμά
G. D.	χώραιν	γλώσσαιν	τιμαῖν
Plur. Nom.	χῶραι	γλῶσσαι	τιμαί
Gen.	χωρῶν	γλωσσῶν	τιμῶν
Dat.	χωραῖς	γλώσσαις	τιμαῖς
Acc.	χώρας	γλώσδας	τιμάς
Voc.	χῶραι	γλῶσσαι	τιμαί

Other examples: φίλᾱ friendship, γενεά generation, βασιλείᾱ kingdom, βασιλειᾱ queen, ἡμέρᾱ day, μοῖρᾱ portion, (like χώρα,)—Μοῦσᾱ Muse, δόξᾱ opinion, τράπε(α table, (like γλῶσσα,)—ἐπὶ ga'e, γνώμη judgment, διαθήκη testament, (like τιμή.)

For accent, see 54–5. 73 a, b.

a. Words which end in a after a vowel or ρ, have a in all the cases: other words in a have η in the genitive and dative singular.

For examples, see above. A few proper names—like Ἀθήδᾱ, gen. Ἀθήδᾱς, dat. Ἀθήδα—are exceptions.

b. In the genitive plural of this declension, ων is the contracted form for d-ων, and therefore always takes the circumflex accent (59 a).

MASCULINES.

Example. Stem.	ὁ νεᾱνίας young man νεᾱνία	ὁ πολίτης citizen πολίτα
Sing. Nom.	νεανιά-s	πολίτη-s
Gen.	νεανίου	πολίτου
Dat.	νεανία	πολίτη
Acc.	νεανιά-ν	πολίτη-ν
Voc.	νεανιά	πολίτᾱ
Du. N. A. V.	νεανιά	πολίτᾱ
G. D.	νεανίαιν	πολίταιν

Example. Stem.	ὁ νεάνις young man νεάνια	ὁ πολίτης citizen πολίτα
Plur. Nom.	νεανίαι	πολίται
Gen.	νεανιῶν	πολιτῶν
Dat.	νεανίαις	πολίταις
Acc.	νεανίᾱς	πολίτᾱς
Voc.	νεανίαι	πολίται

So ταμίας steward, μανδραγόρας mandrake, — δικαστής juror, στρατιώτης soldier, παιδοτρίβης gymnastic-master.

a. In the singular of masculines, the final α of the stem remains unchanged after a vowel or ρ; and is always long. After other letters it is changed to η. But

b. The vocative singular takes α short, when the nominative ends in της: see πολίτης.

So too in names of nations and compound words, which make the nom. in ης: Πέρσᾱ (nom. Πέρσης Persian), γεωμέτρᾱ (nom. γεωμέτρης land-measurer). Other words in ης have η in the voc.: Ἀτρείδῃ (nom. Ἀτρείδης son of Atreus). — Ἑρμῆς (for Ἑρμῆ-ας) the god Hermes, gen. Ἑρμοῦ, etc., has voc. Ἑρμῇ (for Ἑρμῆ-α, 23 a).

c. The declension of masculines differs in only two points from that of feminines: — ca. The nom. sing. takes the case-ending s. — cb. The gen. sing. terminates in ον. Here the proper ending is ο, which with α of the stem makes αο; whence by change of vowel (14) comes εο, and by contraction (18 d) ον. A few words have ᾱ (by Doric contraction of αο): as βορρᾱ, gen. of βορρᾱς (for βορέ-ας north-wind).

SECOND DECLENSION (O-Declension).

78. To this declension belong stems that end in ο. They are chiefly masculine and neuter, with some feminines. The masculines and feminines have ος in the nom. sing., the neuters ον. The feminines are declined like the masculines; the neuters differ from them in two respects: — a. the nominative and vocative singular take ν, the accusative-ending; — b. the nominative, accusative, and vocative plural end in ᾶ (71 b).

79. The ο of the stem is closely united with the case-endings: it is given with them in the following list of TERMINATIONS.

	Sing.		Dual.		Plur.
	M. F.	N.	M. F. N.		M. F.	N.
Nom.	ος	ον	ω		οι	ᾶ
Gen.	ου	ου	οιν		ων	ων
Dat.	φ	φ	οιν		οις	οις
Acc.	ον	ον	ω		ους	ᾶ
Voc.	ε	ον	ω		οι	ᾶ

80.

Example. Stem.	ὁ ἄνθρωπος man ἄνθρωπο	ἡ ὁδός way ὁδο	τὸ δῶρον gift δωρο
Sing. Nom.	ἄνθρωπο-ς	ὁδός-ς	δῶρο-ν
Ger.	ἄνθρώπου	ὁδοῦ	δῶρου
Dat.	ἀνθρώπῳ	ὁδῷ	δῶρι
Acc.	ἄνθρωπο-ν	ὁδό-ν	δῶρο-ν
Voc.	ἄνθρωπε	ὁδέ	δῶρο-ν
Du. N. A. V.	ἄνθρώπῳ	ὁδώ	δῶρῳ
G. D.	ἄνθρώποιν	ὁδοῖν	δῶροι
Plur. N. V.	ἄνθρωποι	ὁδοί	δῶρα
Gen.	ἄνθρώπων	ὁδῶν	δῶρων
Dat.	ἀνθρώποις	ὁδοῖς	δῶροις
Acc.	ἄνθρώπους	ὁδοῦς	δῶρα

So masc. νόμος law, ταῦρος bull, θάνατος death, ποταμός river, — fem. νῆσος island, — neut. μέτρον measure, σῦκον fig, ἱμάτιον outer garment, ζυγόν yoke.

a. In the genitive singular, the proper ending is ο, which by contraction with ο of the stem gives ου: cf. 77 cb. — b. In the vocative singular of masculines and feminines, ο of the stem becomes ε (14). But the nominative is often used in place of the vocative (886); in θεός god, it is always so: thus ὦ θεός (Lat. O deus). — c. In the genitive plural, ων is for ο-ων, but does not (as in the A-declension, 76 b) require the accent.

81. CONTRACT SUBSTANTIVES AND ADJECTIVES. Words which have stems in εο, οο, suffer contraction. This takes place according to the rules in 18, 21, and 23 a.

Example. Stem.	ὁ νοῦς mind νοο	τὸ ὄστούν bone οστέο
Sing. Nom.	(νόο-ς) νοῦ-ς	(ὀστέο-ν) ὀστοῦ-ν
Gen.	(νόου) νοῦ	(ὀστέου) ὀστοῦ
Dat.	(νόῳ) νοῷ	(ὀστέῳ) ὀστέῳ
Acc.	(νόο-ν) νοῦ-ν	(ὀστέο-ν) ὀστοῦ-ν
Voc.	(νόε) νοῦ	(ὀστέο-ν) ὀστοῦ-ν
Du. N. A. V.	(νόῳ) νόῳ	(ὀστέῳ) ὀστέῳ
G. D.	(νόοιν) νοῖν	(ὀστέοιν) ὀστοῖν
Plur. N. V.	(νόοι) νοῖ	(ὀστέα) ὀστέα
Gen.	(νόων) νόων	(ὀστέων) ὀστέων
Dat.	(νόοις) νοῖς	(ὀστέοις) ὀστοῖς
Acc.	(νόους) νοῦς	(ὀστέα) ὀστέα

So πλοῦς (from πλόος) sailing, περίπλους (περίπλοος) sailing round (81 b), ῥοῦς (ῥόος) stream, κανοῦν (from κάνειον, cf. 81 c) basket (of cane).

The accent of the contract forms is, in some points, inconsistent with the rules in 59: — a. The nom. (acc., voc.) dual, when accented on the ultima, is oxytone: ὀστώ (from ὀστέῳ) instead of ὀστώ. — b. Compounds keep the accent on the same syllable as in the contract nom. sing.:

thus περίπλους (from περίπλοος) dat. περίπλω (from περίπλω) instead of περίπλω. — c. Contracts are made in οὖς from proparoxytone adjectives of material in εὖς: thus ἀργυροῦς (not ἀργύρους, from ἀργύρεος) of silver; cf. 116. 322 a.

Attic Second Declension.

82. The O-Declension includes a few stems ending in ω. This ω appears in all the cases; but takes ι subscript where the common ending has ι. This form of the O-Declension, though not confined to the Attic writers, is known as the Attic Second Declension. Thus ὁ νεώ-ς temple is declined as follows:

	Sing.		Dual.		Plur.
Nom. Voc.	νεώ-ς	N. A. V.	νεῶ	N. V.	νεῶ
Gen.	νεῶ	G. D.	νεῶν	G.	νεῶν
Dat.	νεῶ			D.	νεῶς
Acc.	νεῶν			A.	νεῶς

So λεῶς people, κάλως cable. For neuter forms, see inflection of ἱλεως, 117. — a. Some of these words appear under a double form, with ο and with ω in the stem: νεῶς and ναός (14 b), λεῶς and λαός.

b. Some words have ω or ων in the acc. sing.: λαγῶ or λαγών, acc. of λαγῶς hare. So the proper names Ἄθως, Κῶς, Μίνως. Ἔως dawn has only ἔω.

The accent of these words is peculiar in two respects: — c. The long ω of the ultima does not exclude the accent from the antepenult (57 a): ἱλεως, ἱλεων (from ἱλαος, ἱλαον, 14 b) propitious. — d. The gen. and dat., when accented on the ultima, are oxytone (cf. 73 b); yet most editions give the circumflex, except in the gen. sing.

83. COMPARISON OF THE FIRST AND SECOND DECLENSIONS. The A- and O- Declensions, the two branches of the Vowel-Declension (74), have the following points in common:

- Sing. Nom. Masculines have s as ending.
 Gen. Masculines have ο (77 c. 80 a).
 Dat. All genders have ι subscript.
 Acc. All genders have ν.
 Du. N. A. V. All genders close with the stem-vowel (lengthened, if short).
 G. D. All genders have ιν.
 Plur. Gen. All genders have ων.
 Dat. All genders have ς (orig. σι) with ι before it.
 Nom. Masculines and feminines have ι.
 Acc. Masculines and feminines have ς (originally νς), and lengthen a preceding short vowel on account of the omitted ν (30).
 a. On the other hand, the two declensions differ from each other in the formation of the nom. and gen. sing. of feminines, and in the accent of the gen. plur.

THIRD DECLENSION (Consonant-Declension).

84. To this declension belong, not only stems ending in a consonant, but also those which end in a close vowel (ι, υ).

a. In this declension, the form of the nominative singular is not sufficient to determine the other cases. It is often necessary to have also the stem of the word, or the genitive singular, from which the stem may generally be found by dropping ος the ending.

85. The GENDER may be known in many cases by the last letters of the stem.

The following rules relate only to substantive stems, and where a stem is contracted, they apply only to the primitive or uncontracted form.

Neuter are stems ending in

a. ατ: as κέρας (stem κερατ) horn, ὕδωρ (ὕδατ) water.

b. αρ: as νέκταρ nectar.

c. ασ, εσ: as γένος (γενεσ) race, γῆρας old age.

d. ι, υ, if σ is not added in the nom.: as ἄστυ city.

Feminine are those ending in

e. τητ: as ταχυτής (ταχυτητ) swiftness.

f. δ, θ: as ἄσπίς (ασπιδ) shield, poet. κόρυς (κορυθ) helmet.

g. γον, δον: as σταγών (σταγον) drop, χελιδών (χελιδον) swallow.

h. οι: as πειθώ (πειθοι) persuasion.

i. ι, υ: as πόλις city, ὄφρυς brow, ναῦς ship.

Except those under d. and j.

Masculine are those ending in

j. ευ: as ἵππεύς horseman, ἀμπορεύς jar.

k. ντ: as ὀδούς (οδοντ) tooth, τένων (τενοντ) tendon.

l. ητ, ωτ: as κέλης (κελητ) courser, ἔρωτ (ερωτ) love.

m. ν: as αὔχην (αυχεν) neck, χιτῶν tunic. Exc. those in γον, δον.

n. ρ: as κράτηρ mixing-bowl. Except those in αρ.

o. Stems ending in a labial or palatal (π, β, φ, κ, γ, χ) are never neuter, but whether they are masculine or feminine cannot be determined by general rules.

p. Of the exceptions to these rules (those to i. and m. being the most numerous), some are evident from the meaning: as θυγάτηρ (θυγατερ) daughter, fem., παῖς (παῖδ) of common gender, viz. δ παῖς boy, ἡ παῖς girl.

86. The CASE-ENDINGS are as follows:

	Masc. and Fem.	Neut.
Sing. Nom.	ς (or vowel lengthened)	—
Gen.	ος	ος
Dat.	ϊ	ϊ
Acc.	ᾱ or υ	—
Voc.	none (or like nom.)	—

	Masc. and Fem.	Neut.
Du. N. A. V.	ε	ε
G. D.	οιν	οιν
Plur. N. V.	ες	ᾶ
Gen.	ων	ων
Dat.	σῖ	σῖ
Acc.	ᾶς	ᾶ

87. The nominative, accusative, and vocative singular of NEUTER words are like the stem.

a. Final τ of the stem is either dropped (47), or changed to σ (47 a):
 ας σώμα (for σωματ) body, τέρας (for τερατ) prodigy.

88. The NOMINATIVE SINGULAR of masculines and feminines adds σ to the stem. But stems in ν, ρ, σ, οι, οτ, οντ, reject σ, and lengthen ε, ο of the last syllable to η, ω.

Thus λιμήν (λιμεν) harbor, ῥήτωρ (ρητορ) orator, τριήρης (τριρεσ) trireme, πειθῶ (for πειθω, st. πειθοι) persuasion, λευκῶς (for λευκωτ 47 a, st. λευκοτ) having loosed, λέων (for λεωντ 47, st. λεοντ) lion. — For euphonic changes caused by σ, see 29. 80.

a. Stems in ν take σ: as δελφίς (later δελφίν) dolphin. — b. Participles in οντ take σ when ο belongs to the verb-stem: as δούς (= δο-ντ-ς) giving. — c. σ appears also in μέλας black, τάλᾶς wretched, εἷς one, κτεῖς comb, ὀδοῦς toolh, from the stems μελᾶν, ταλᾶν, ἐν, κτεν, οδοντ.

89. The ACCUS'E SINGULAR of masculines and feminines adds α to stems ending in a consonant: ποῦς foot, acc. πόδ-α. ν to stems ending in a vowel: πόλι-ς city, acc. πόλι-ν.

a. Stems in ευ take α: as βασιλεύ-ς king, acc. βασιλέ-α (104 d). So also stems in οι, see 105. For ν in the acc. sing. of certain stems in τ, δ, θ, see 97 a.

90. The VOCATIVE SINGULAR of masculines and feminines is regularly like the stem.

For dropping of a final consonant (not ν, ρ, or σ), see 47. But many words make the vocative singular like the nominative: thus

a. Words of one syllable with simple vowel: nom. voc. μῦ-ς mouse.

b. Oxytone words of which the stem ends in a liquid: ας ποιμήν (ποι-μεν) shepherd.

c. All words of which the stem ends in a mute: ας φύλαξ (φυλακ) watchman. This includes all participles of the 3d declension. But we must except barytone substantives and adjectives with stems in ντ: ας λέων (λεοντ) lion, voc. λέον. Except also a few words from stems in ιδ, including παῖς (παιδ, orig. παιδ) boy, voc. παῖ (47).

For other irregularities, see 98 a. 99. 101 c.

91. The DATIVE PLURAL of all genders adds σῖ to the stem. For the euphonic changes, see 29, 30, and cf. 43.

92. ACCENT. In the accent of this declension, we have the following special rule, contrary to 73.

Stems of one syllable, in the genitive and dative of all numbers, throw the accent on the case-ending: if the case-ending is long, it receives the circumflex (73 b).

Thus πούς (ποδ) foot, acc. sing. πόδ-α, nom. pl. πόδ-ες; but genitives ποδ-ός, ποδ-οῖν, ποδ-ῶν, datives ποδ-ὶ, ποδ-οῖν, πο-σὶ. Except, however, — a. All genitives and datives of participles: ὄν being, gen. ὄντος, ὄντων, dat. ὄντι, ὄντοιν, ὄσοι; and of the interrogative τίς (141). — b. The gen. and dat. pl. of πᾶς all, every: πάντων, πᾶσι. — c. The gen. dual and plural of οὖς ear, φῶς light, φῆς blister, δάς torch, παῖς boy, Τρώς Trojan, δαῖς jackal, δμῶς (poetic) slave, σῆς moth: ὧτων, φῶτων, φῆδων, δάδων, παίδων, Τρώων, δάων, δμῶων, σέων. — d. Some words in which a stem of two syllables is contracted to one: ἐαρ spring, gen. ἐαρος or ἤρος, dat. ἐαρι or ἤρι.

93. QUANTITY. Several stems lengthen a short vowel in forms of one syllable: thus st. ποδ, nom. sing. πούς (for ποδ-ς) foot; st. παντ, neuter πάν all; st. πῦρ, nom. sing. πῦρ fire; st. σῦ, nom. sing. σῦ-ς hog.

94. The PARADIGMS of this declension are arranged as follows:

1. Stems ending in a labial or palatal (π, β, φ, κ, γ, χ).
2. a lingual mute (τ, δ, θ).
3. a liquid (λ, ν, ρ).
4. a sibilant (σ).
5. a simple close vowel (ι, υ).
6. a diphthong (ευ, αυ, ου, οι).

95. I. Stems ending in a Labial or Palatal.

II. Stems ending in a Lingual Mute (τ, δ, θ).

96. A. Neuter Stems.

	τὸ σῶμα body (σωμάτ)	τὸ ἥπαρ liver (ἥπατ)	τὸ τέρας prodigy (τεράτ)

So στόμα (στομάτ) mouth, ὄνομα (ονομάτ) name, γάλα (γάλακτ) milk, μέλι (μελίτ) honey, φῶς (φωτ) light (92 c). — δέλεαρ (δελεάτ) baile, — κέρας (κεράτ) horn, wing of army (also declined like κρέας, 102). — a. In such words as ἥπαρ, the stem ended originally in αρτ, from which τ is dropped (47) in the nom. acc. voc. sing., but ρ in all the other cases.

97. B. Masculine and Feminine Stems.

	ὁ Ζῆς (Ζητ) hired man	ἡ ἐλπίς (ελπίδ) hope	ἡ ἔρις (ερίδ) strife	ὁ ἦ ὄρνις (ορνίθ) bird	ὁ γέρον (γεροντ) old man

So ἡ νύξ (νυκτ) night, ὁ πούς (ποδ, 93) foot, ἡ λαμπάς (λαμπάδ) torch, ἡ χάρις (χαρίτ) favor (97 a), ὁ ἀνδριάς (ανδριάτ) statue, ὁ λέων (λεοντ) lion. For some irregular forms of ὄρνις, see 112 a.

a. In the accusative singular, barytone words in ις, υς, reject the final consonant of the stem, and annex ν to the close vowel: thus χάρις (χαρίτ) favor, acc. χάριν, rarely χάριτ-α; but κρηπίς (κρηπίδ) base, oxytone, acc. κρηπίδ-α, never κρηπιν.

98. III. Stems ending in a Liquid.

	ὁ ποιμήν (ποιμεν) shepherd	ὁ δαίμων (δαιμον) divinity	ὁ αἰών (αιων) age	ὁ θῆρ (θηρ) beast	ὁ ῥήτωρ (ρητορ) orator

So ὁ μὴν (μην) month, ὁ ἡγεμὼν (ἡγεμον) leader (90 b), ὁ παιὼν (παιων) paean, ὁ αἰθήρ (αιθερ) aether, ὁ κρᾶτήρ (κράτηρ) mixing-bowl, ὁ φῶρ (φωρ) thief. — a. In the voc. sing., some compound proper names throw the accent back on the antepenult: as Ἀγαμέμνων, voc. Ἀγάμεμνον.

99. Syncopated Stems in ερ.

Πατήρ (πατερ) father, in the gen. and dat. sing., drops ε of the stem, and accents the last syllable. In the other cases, it retains ε and accents it; but in the voc. sing., it accents the first syllable. In the dat. plur., it changes -έρ to -ρά. The same peculiarities are found in μήτηρ mother, θυγάτηρ daughter, γαστήρ belly: ἀνὴρ man syncopates most of the cases, and inserts δ between ν and ρ. Thus ὁ πατήρ (πατερ) father	ἡ μήτηρ (μητερ) mother	ἡ θυγάτηρ (θυγατερ) daughter	ὁ ἀνὴρ (ανερ) man

Sing. Nom.	πατήρ	μήτηρ	θυγάτηρ	ἀνὴρ

Acc.	πατέρ-α	μητέρ-α	θυγατέρ-α	ἄνδρα
Voc.	πάτερ	μητερ	θύγατερ	ἄνερ
Du. N. A. V.	πατέρ-ε	μητέρ-ε	θυγατέρ-ε	ἄνδρε

Dat.	πατράσι	μητράσι	θυγατράσι	ἀνδράσι
Acc.	πατέρ-ας	μητέρ-ας	θυγατέρ-ας	ἄνδρας

100. Comparative Stems in ον.

Adjectives of the comparative degree in ων (from stems in ov) drop ν in certain forms, and then contract the vowels that come together.

Sing. Nom. Gen. Dat. Acc. Voc.	Masculine and Feminine.		Neuter.
	μείζων greater		μείζον

	μείζοσι		μείζοσι
	μείζον-ας [μειζο-ας] μείζους		μείζον-α [μειζο-α] μείζω

So βελτίων better, αίσχίων more shameful, ἀλγίων more painful. The accent is recessive (58); hence in neut. βέλτιον, αἰσχίον, ἄλγιον.

IV. Stems ending in σ.

101. A. Stems in εσ.

	τὸ γένος race (γενεσ)	M. F. εὐγενής N. εὐγενές well-born (ευγενεσ)
S. N.	γένος	M. F. εὐγενής N. εὐγενές

G.	(γενέ-ων) γενῶν	(εὐγενέ-ων) εὐγενῶν
D.	γένεσι	εὐγενέσι
A.	(γένε-α) γένῃ	(εὐγενέ-ας) εὐγενεῖς N. (εὐγενέ-α) εὐγενῇ

So τὸ εἶδος form, κάλλος beauty, μέλος song. Adjectives, σαφής (neut. σαφές) clear, ἀκριβής (ἀκριβές) exact, εὐθύς (εὐθύς) simple.

a. The stems in εσ are very numerous. The substantive stems are neuter, and change εσ to ος in the nom. sing. (14). The adjective stems retain εσ in the neuter, but change it to ης in the nom. masc. and fem. (88). Ἡ τριήρης (τριηρεσ) trireme, and some others in ήρης, though used as substantives, are properly adjectives, belonging to an implied ναὺς ship.

b. Before all case-endings, σ falls away (84). The vowels which come together are then contracted. — εε in the dual gives η (contrary to 18 d). — εα coming after a vowel gives ᾱ (contrary to 18 b): as ὑγιής (ὕγιεσ) healthy, acc. ὑγιᾶ (but also ὑγιῇ), χρεός (χρεεσ) debt, neut., pl. χρεᾶ. — For contraction of εας to εις in the acc. pl., see 23 b.

c. Barytone words in ης have recessive accent (58) everywhere, even in contract forms: as Σωκράτης, voc. Σώκρατες (not Σωκράτες, 73), αὐτάρκης self-sufficing, neuter αὐταρκες, gen. pl. (αὐταρκέων) αὐτάρκων (not αὐταρκῶν, 59 a). — The neuter ἀληθές (M. F. ἀληθής) true throws back the accent when used as a question: ἀληθές; really?

d. Proper names in κλης, — compounded with κλέος (κλεος) fame, — have in the dative a double contraction: thus nom. (Περικλῆς) Περικλῆς, gen. (Περικλεος) Περικλέους, dat. (Περικλεεῖ, Περικλέει) Περικλεί, acc. (Περικλεα) Περικλέα, voc. (Περικλεες) Περικλείς 102. B. Stems in ασ, ος, ως.

	τὸ κρέας flesh (κρεας)	ἡ αἰδώς shame (αιδωσ)	ὁ ἥρως hero
Sing. Nom.	κρέας	αἰδώς	ἥρως
Gen.	(κρέα-ος) κρέως	(αἰδό-ος) αἰδοῦς	ἥρω-ος
Dat.	(κρέα-ϊ) κρέα	(αἰδό-ϊ) αἰδοῖ	ἥρω-ϊ
Acc.	κρέας	(αἰδύ-α) αἰδῶ	ἥρω-α
Voc.	κρέας	αἰδώς	ἥρως
Du. N. A. V.	(κρέα-ε) κρέα		ἥρω-ε
G. D.	(κρεά-οιν) κρεῶν		ἥρώ-οιν
Plur. N. V.	(κρέα-α) κρέα		ἥρω-ες
Gen.	(κρεά-ων) κρεῶν		ἥρώ-ων
Dat.	κρέασι		ἥρω-σι
Acc.	(κρέα-α) κρέα		ἥρω-ας

a. These stems are few in number, and all of them substantives. Those in ασ are neuter: τὸ γέρας honorary gift, γῆρας old age, κνέφας darkness; for κρέας horn, wing of army, inflected also like τέρας, see 96. Those in ωσ are masculine: ὁ θῶς jackal, μήτρως mother's brother. The only stem in ος is that of αἰδώς (88).

b. These all drop σ before a case-ending, like stems in εσ. In the dat. sing., αι is contracted to α: as γῆρα (for γῆραι). — The quantity of α in the contracted nom. acc. pl. is variable. — From ἥρως contracted forms are sometimes found, ἥρω (for ἥρωι), ἥρω (for ἥρωα).

103. V. Stems in ι and υ (simple close vowels).

	ἡ πόλις (πολι) city	ὁ πῆχυς (πηχυ) fore-arm	τὸ ἄστυ (αστυ) city	ὁ μῦς (μυ) mouse	ὁ ἰχθύς (ιχθυ) fish
Sing. Nom.	πόλι-ς	πῆχυ-ς	ἄστυ	μῦ-ς	ἰχθύ-ς
Gen.	πόλε-ως	πήχε-ως	ἄστε-ος	μυ-ός	ἰχθύ-ος
Dat.	(πόλε-ϊ) πόλει	(πήχε-ϊ) πήχει	(ἄστε-ϊ) ἄστει	μυ-ϊ	ἰχθύ-ϊ
Acc.	πόλι-ν	πῆχυ-ν	ἄστυ	μῦ-ν	ἰχθύ-ν
Voc.	πολι	πῆχυ	ἄστυ	μῦ-ς	ἰχθύ
Du. N. A. V.	πόλε-ε	πήχε-ε	ἄστε-ε	μύ-ε	ἰχθύ-ε (υ)
G. D.	πολέ-οιν	πηχέ-οιν	ἄστε-οιν	μυ-οῖν	ἰχθύ-οιν

	ἡ πόλις (πολι) city	ὁ πῆχυς (πηχῦ) fore-arm	τὸ ἄστυ (αστυ) city	ὁ μῦς (μῦ) mouse	ὁ ἰχθύς (ιχθυ) fish
Plur. N. V.	(πόλε-ες) πόλεις	(πήχε-ες) πήχεις	(ἄστε-α) ἄστη	μῦ-ες	ἰχθύ-ες
Gen.	πόλε-ων	πήχε-ων	ἄστε-ων	μυ-ῶν	ἰχθύ-ων
Dat.	πόλε-σι	πήχε-σι	ἄστε-σι	μυ-σί	ἰχθύ-σι
Acc.	(πόλε-ας) πόλεις	(πήχε-ας) πήχεις	(ἄστε-α) ἄστη	(μύ-ας) μῦς	(ιχθύ-ας) ἰχθύς

So ἡ δύναμις power, ἡ στάσις faction, ὁ πέλεκυς axe (like πῆχυς), ὁ ἡ σῦς (or ὕς, 34 a) hog (like μῦς), ὁ βότρυς cluster of grapes (like ἰχθύς).

a. The final i or u of the stem always appears in the nom., acc. and voc. sing. Elsewhere, it is generally changed to ε. Contraction then occurs in the dat. sing. and in the nom. and acc. pl. For εας contracted to εις in the acc. pl., see 23 b. The nom. and acc. dual are seldom contracted (εε to η, cf. 101 b): as πόλη. After ε the gen. sing. takes ως, the so-called Attic ending, which, however, does not prevent the accent from standing on the antepenult (57 a): πόλεως, πήχεως. The gen. pl. follows the accent of the gen. sing.: πόλεων, πήχεων. The neuter ἄστυ has gen. sing. ἄστεος, less often ἄστεως.

b. Most stems in i follow the formation just described. So too all adjective stems in u: these, however, take ος in the gen. sing., and have no contraction in the neuter plural: as γλυκύς sweet, γλυκέ-ος, γλυκέ-α.

c. Most substantive stems in u preserve this vowel through all the cases. The dual has also υ for νε; the acc. pl. has υς for νας (20).

d. The stem οι, contracted οι, retains i throughout, and is thus declined: sing. ἡ ὀϊς sheep, οἰ-ός, οἰ-ί, οἰ-ν; pl. οἰ-ες, οἰ-ᾶν, οἰ-σί, οἰ-ας.

104. VI. Stems ending in a Diphthong.

	ὁ βασιλεύς king	ὁ ἡ βοῦς ox, cow	ἡ γραῦς old woman	ἡ ναῦς ship
Sing. Nom.	βασιλεύς	βοῦς	γραῦς	ναῦς
Gen.	βασιλέ-ως	βο-ός	γρᾶ-ός	νε-ός
Dat.	(βασιλέ-ϊ) βασιλεῖ	βο-ϊ	γρᾶ-ϊ	νη-ϊ
Acc.	βασιλέ-α	βοῦ-ν	γραῦ-ν	ναῦ-ν
Voc.	βασιλεῦ	βοῦ	γραῦ	ναῦ
Du. N. A. V.	βασιλέ-ε	βό-ε	γρᾶ-ε	νῆ-ε
G. D.	βασιλέ-οιν	βο-οῖν	γρᾶ-οῖν	νε-οῖν
Plur. N. V.	(βασιλέ-ες) βασιλεῖς	βό-ες	γρᾶ-ες	νῆ-ες
Gen.	βασιλέ-ων	βο-ῶν	γρᾶ-ῶν	νε-ῶν
Dat.	βασιλεῦ-σι	βου-σί	γραυ-σί	ναυ-σί
Acc.	βασιλέ-ας	βοῦ-ς	γραῦ-ς	ναῦ-ς

So ὁ γονεύς parent, ὁ ἱερεὺς priest, Ἀχιλλεύς, Ὀδυσσεύς.

a. The final υ of the diphthong disappears before all vowels, according to 25. — The stem ναυ, after dropping υ, becomes νη before a short vowel-sound, νε before a long one.

In regard to stems in ευ, observe that

- b. the gen. sing. has ως instead of ος, cf. 103 a.
- c. the dat. sing. always contracts εἰ to εῖ.
- d. the acc. sing. and acc. pl. have ᾱ, and remain uncontracted.
- e. the contract nom. pl. has ῆς in the older Attic writers: βασιλῆς instead of βασιλεῖς.
- f. when ευ follows a vowel, contraction may occur in the gen. and the acc.: as Πειραιεύς Piræeus, gen. Πειραιῶς, acc. Πειραιᾶ (cf. 101 b).
- g. Some compounds of πούς (ποδ) foot form the acc. sing. as if from a stem in ου: τρίπους (τριποδ) three-footed, acc. τρίπουν (but in the sense tripod, acc. τρίποδα). Οἰδίπους Oedipus makes Οἰδίποδος and Οἰδίπουν, Οἰδίποδι, Οἰδίποδα and Οἰδίπουν, Οἰδίπους and Οἰδίπον.

105. Stems ending in ου. These are all feminine, and are thus declined:

Sing. Nom.	πειθῶ	persuasion .
Gen.	(πειθό-ος)	πειθοῦς
Dat.	(πειθό-ι)	πειθοῖ
Acc.	(πειθό-α)	πειθῶ
Voc.	πειθοῖ

So ἡχώ (ηχοί) echo, Καλυψῶ, Λητώ. — a. In the nom. sing. πειθῶ is for πειθω (88). The oblique cases drop ι (25 a) and are contracted: the contract acc. sing. is oxytone like the nom. (contrary to 59 a). The rare dual and plural are formed as if the stem ended in ο (79).

106. DECLENSIONS COMPARED. The Consonant-Declension (Decl. III.) and the Vowel-Declension (Decl. I., II.) agree in the following points:

In all genders,

- a. the D. S. ends in ι (in the vowel-decl., ι subscript).
- b. the G. D. dual ends in ιν (αιν, οιν)
- c. the G. P. ends in ων.
- d. the D. P. ended originally in σι.

In the neuter (e.) the N. A. V. P. end in α.

In the masculine and feminine,

- f. the N. S. takes ς (or an equivalent for it); except in feminines of
- g. the A. S. takes ν after a vowel-stem. [the A-Decl.
- h. the A. P. takes ς (originally νς).
- i. In the acc. of consonant-stems, a connecting ᾱ was inserted before ν and νς: thus πατέρα and πατέρας are for πατερ-ᾱ-ν (orig. πατερ-ᾱ-μ, 47 b) and πατερ-ᾱ-νς (cf. 30).

107. The principal differences of ending are found

- a. in the G. S. of all genders, where the Cons.-Decl. has ος (ως).
- b. in the N. P. masc. and fem., where the Cons.-Decl. has ες.
- c. in the N. A. V. S. neuter, where the Cons.-Decl. does not take ν.

Irregular Declension.

108. In some instances, a word has forms belonging to two different stems. Such words are called heteroclites, when the nominative singular can be formed alike from either stem (ἑτερόκλητα differently declined).

Thus N. S. σκότος darkness (stem σκοτο Decl. II., or σκοτεσ Decl. III.), G. S. σκότου or σκότους.

a. Thus proper names in ης of the 3d decl. often have forms belonging to the 1st decl., especially in the acc. sing.: thus Σωκράτης (stem Σωκρατεσ), acc. Σωκράτην (as if from a stem Σωκρατα), together with the regular acc. Σωκράτη. But proper names in κλης (101 d) have only forms of the third declension.

109. But usually the nom. sing. can be formed from only one of the two stems. Then forms belonging to the other stem are called ΜΕΤΑΠΛΑΣΤΙΚ (from μεταπλασμός change of formation). Thus τὸ δένδρον tree, D. P. δένδρεσι (as if from stem δενδρεσ); τὸ δάκρυον tear, D. P. δάκρυ-σι (poetic N. S. δάκρυ); τὸ πῦρ fire, plur. τὰ πυρά (2d decl.) watch-fires, dat. πυροῖς; ὁ ὕπνους dream (2d decl.), but also G. S. ὀνειράτ-ος, plur. ὀνειράτ-α, etc. (3d decl.).

110. In some words, the sing. and plur. are of different genders (ΗΤΕΡΟΓΕΝΕΟΥΣ), though alike in stem. Thus ὁ σίτος corn, pl. τὰ σῖτα; ὁ σταθμός station, stall, pl. often τὰ σταθμά (in the sense of weights, always so); ὁ δεσμός band, pl. often τὰ δεσμά; τὸ στάδιον stade (furlong), pl. commonly οἱ στάδιοι.

111 a. Many words are DEFECTIVE in NUMBER, often from the nature of their meaning. Thus αἰθήρ aether only in the sing.; οἱ ἔτησια annual winds, τὰ Διονύσια festival of Dionysus, only in the plural.

b. Other words are DEFECTIVE in CASE. Thus ὕπας dream, ὕπας waking view, ὕπελος use, all neuter and used only in the nom. and acc.; μάλη arm-pit used only in the phrase ὑπὸ μάλης.

112. The most important irregularities of declension, which have not been noticed already, will be found in the following ALPHABETICAL LIST:

a. ἀδελφός-ς, ὁ, brother: accent irreg. in V. S. ἀδελφε.

b. ἀλώπηξ (αλωπεκ), ἡ, fox: N. V. S. irreg. (for αλωπεξ).

c. Ἀπόλλων (-ων), ὁ, Apollo: A. Ἀπόλλωνα or Ἀπόλλω, V. Ἀπολλων.

d. Ἄρης (Ares), ὁ, Ares: G. Ἀρεως or Ἀρεος, Ἀρην or Ἀρη.

e. αρν, λαμβ, stem without N. S.: hence (του, τῆς) ἀρνός, ἀρνί, ἔρνα; ἄρνες, ἀρνῶν, ἀρνάσι, ἔρνας. The N. S. is supplied by ἀρνός, 2d declension, regular.

f. ἀστήρ (αστερ), ὁ, star: irreg. D. P. ἀστράσι (cf. 99).

 ae. χρώς (χρωτ), ὁ, skin: only irreg. in ἐν χροῖ (for ἐν χρωτί) close by.

Local Endings.

113. For some words we find an old Locative case, denoting the place where, with the ending ι for the sing., and for the plural σι (43) without ι before it (cf. 83): thus οἶκοι at home, Πυθοῖ at Pytho, Ἴσθμοῖ at the Isthmus, Ἀθήνη-σι at Athens, Πλαταιῶ-σι at Plataea, θύρα-σι (at the doors) abroad.

114. Other local endings, which closely resemble case-endings, are

-θι, for the place where.

-θεν, for the place whence (less often where).

-δε (also -ζε or -σε), for the place whither.

Thus ἄλλο-θι in another place, ἄλλο-θεν from another place, ἄλλο-σε to another place; Ἀθήνη-θεν from Athens; θύρα-θεν from without; πάντ-ο-θεν from every side, πάντ-ο-σε to every side, (with connective ο after a consonant-stem).—a. The ending -δε is applied (as an enclitic, 65 d) to the accusative case: thus Μέγαρά-δε toward Megara, Ἐλευσινά-δε toward Eleusis, Ἀθήναζε (for Ἀθηνas-δε) toward Athens, poetic θύραζε (for θύpas-δε) out; irregular is οἶκα-δε (for οἰκόν-δε) homeward.

For peculiarities of contraction, see 23 a. For irregular accent in the contract forms, see 81.

117. Many adjectives of this class have but two endings, the masculine form being used also for the feminine: thus M. F. ἡσυχος, N. ἡσυχον, quiet; M. F. ἱεως, N. ἱεων, propitious. This is the case with most compound adjectives: as M. F. ἀ-γραφος unwritten, M. F. καρπο-φόρος fruit-bearing.

a. In many adjectives of three endings, the fem. is sometimes found like the masc.; and conversely, some adjectives of two endings have occasionally a distinct form for the feminine. These exceptional cases are especially frequent in poetry.

S. N.	M. F. ἡσυχος	N. ἡσυχον	M. F. ἱεως	N. ἱεων

D.	ἡσύχοις		ἱεφς
A.	ἡσύχους	ἡσυχαι	ἱεως	ἱεω

b. ἱεως is a specimen of the few adjectives which follow the Attic Second Declension. — Πλέως full is declined thus in the masculine and neuter; but has neuter plural πλέα: its feminine is πλέα of the A-Declension. — The defective adjective M. F. σῶς, N. σῶν, (formed from σαος safe,) has A. S. σῶν, A. P. σῶς; also σᾶ as nominative singular feminine and neuter plural. The kindred σῶος, σῶα, σῶον, is also confined to the nominative and accusative.

B. ADJECTIVES OF THE CONSONANT-DECLENSION.

118. The FEMININE of these, when it differs from the masculine, follows the A-Declension: it is formed from the stem of the masculine by adding ιᾶ; but this addition causes various changes (36).

119. Stems in v. The masculine and neuter have ε instead of υ in most of the cases (cf. 103 b). The feminine has ε-ια contracted into εια.

So βαθύς deep, βαρύς heavy, βραδύς slow, βραχύς short, γλυκύς sweet, εὐρύς wide, ταχύς (for θαχ-υ-ς, 129) swift.

120. A few stems in ν — those of μέλας black, τάλᾱς unhappy, τέρην (poetic) tender — take ια as feminine ending: thus feminine μέλαινα, τάλαινα, τέρεινα, for μελαν-ια, ταλαν-ια, τερεν-ια (36 d). For full inflection of μέλας, see 119.

121. Stems in ντ. In these ντ-ια of the feminine becomes -σα, and the preceding vowel is lengthened. They are mostly participles. Adjective-stems in εντ have εσσα, not εισα, in the feminine.

a. The fem. adj. χαρίεσσα arose probably from a form without ν, χαριετ-ια (86 a), and so the dat. pl. χαρίεσι from χαριετ-σι (29); while the fem. part. λυθείσα arose from λυθεντ-ια, λυθεν(σ)σα (30), λύουσα from λυοντ-ια, λυον(σ)σα, etc.

122. Participles which have οντ after α, ε, ο, are contracted: as τιμών (τιμαοντ) honoring, φιλέων (φιλεοντ) loving. The uncontracted forms are like those of λύων (121); the contract forms are as follows:

a. ἑστός is contracted from ἑσταως, and is irregular in the formation of the fem. The neuter ἑστός is also irregular. — b. The fem. υια appears to be for υσια (34), and that for υτια (35), a variation of στ-ια.

124. Adjectives of Two Endings. In many adjectives of the consonant-declension, the masculine form is used also for the feminine (cf. 117). Here belong a. Stems in σ (101): M. F. ἀληθής (αληθεσ) true, N. ἀληθές.

b. Most stems in ν : as M. F. εὐδαίμων (ευδαιμον) happy, N. εὐδαιμον; M. F. ἄρρην (= ἄρσην, st. αρσεν) male, N. ἄρρην (cf. 33 a).

c. Some in other letters, chiefly compounds of substantives: as M. F. ἀπάτωρ (α-πατωρ) fatherless, N. ἄπατωρ; εὐελπίς (ευ-ελπιδ) of good hope, N. εὐελπί; δίπους (δι-ποδ) two-footed, N. (irreg.) δῖπουν, A. S. δῖπουν or δῖποδα.

So εὐγενής well-born (101), δυσμενής hostile, ἀσφαλής safe, ψευδής false, πλήρης full, — πέπων ripe, σάφρων discreet, μνήμων mindful, ἐπιλήσμων forgetful, πολυπράγμων busy.

125. Adjectives of One Ending. These make the feminine like the masculine; while, owing either to their meaning or their form (85 o), they have no neuter.

Thus ἄρπαξ (ἄρπαγ) ravenous, φυγὰς (φυγαδ) fugitive, ἄπαις (απαιδ) childless, πένης (πενητ) poor. Some are only used in the masc., as ἐθελοντής (gen. ἐθελοντοῦ) volunteer.

126. IRREGULAR ADJECTIVES. Some adj's are irregular, their forms being derived from different stems. So μέγας (μεγα and μεγαλο) great, πολὺς (πολυ and πολλο) much, many.

S. N.	μέγας	μεγάλη	μέγα	πολύς	πολλή	πολύ
G.	μεγάλου	μεγάλης	μεγάλου	πολλοῦ	πολλῆς	πολλοῦ

a. πρᾶς mild makes fem. πραΐα, πραΐας, etc., as if from a stem πρᾶς (119); and this stem sometimes appears in the plur. masc. and neut., as πραΐα, πραΐων, πραΐσι.

Comparison of Adjectives.

127. A. By τερος and τατος. The Comparative and Superlative are generally formed by adding τερος and τατος to the masculine stem of the Positive. Thus Positive.	Comparative.	Superlative.

κῡφός (κουφός) light	κουφότερος, α, ον	κουφότατος, η, ον
ἰσχυρός (ισχυρός) strong	ἰσχυρότερος	ἰσχυρότατος γλυκύς (γλυκύ) sweet	γλυκυτέρος	γλυκυτάτος σαφής (σαφής) clear	σαφέστερος	σαφέστατος χαρίεις (χαριεντ) pleasing	χαριέστερος	χαριέστατος
πένης (πενητ) poor	πενέστερος	πενέστατος

a. In χαριέστερος and πενέστερος (for χαριετ-τερος [121 a] and πενητ-τερος), τ is changed to σ (27), and η shortened.

128. a. Stems in ο with short penult lengthen ο to ω.

Thus σοφώ-τερος wiser, ἀξιό-τατος worthiest, from σοφός, ἄξιος. But if the penult is long or common (50), ο is not changed: as πονηρό-τατος wickedest, λεπτό-τερος finer, πικρό-τατος bitterest.

b. A few change ο to αι, as μεσαί-τατος from μέσος middle: ἡσυχος quiet has ἡσυχάι-τερος or ἡσυχώ-τερος. Γεραῖος old drops ο, as γεραί-τερος: often so do παλαιός ancient, σχολαῖος leisurely. Προῦργου (for πρὸ ἔργου advantageous) makes comp. πρὸυργιαι-τερος. Φίλος dear has φίλ-τερος, -τατος, rarely φιλαί-τερος, -τατος.

c. Stems in ον take εστερος and εστατος.

Thus σωφρονέστερος from σώφρων (σωφρον) discreet, εὐδαιμονέστατος from εὐδαίμων (ευδαιμον) happy. Irreg. are πίων fat, πύ-τερος, -τατος, πέπων ripe, πεπαί-τερος, -τατος.

d. A few adjectives in ος have εστερος, εστατος; especially contracts in (οος) ους: as εὐνούστατος (for ευνοεστατος) from (εὔνοος) εὔνους well-disposed. And a few adjectives have ιστερος, ιστατος, as λαλίστερος from λάλος talkative.

129. B. By ων and ιστος. The Comparative and Superlative are sometimes made in ων and ιστος. These endings are applied, not to the stem of the positive, but to the root of the word. Hence a final vowel in the stem of the positive disappears.

Positive.	Comparative.	Superlative.
ἡδ-ύς pleasant	ἡδ-ίων	ἡδ-ιστος
ταχ-ύς swift	δάσσω (for δαχ-ίων)	τάχ-ιστος
μέγ-ας great	μείζω (for μεγ-ίων)	μέγ-ιστος

Similarly οο in the stem of the positive disappears:

ἐχθ-ρός hostile	- ἐχθ-ίων	ἐχθ-ιστος
αἰσχ-ρός shameful	αἰσχ-ίων	αἰσχ-ιστος

For euphonic changes in δάσων and μείζων, see 36 a, b. 37 c. For inflection of comparatives in ων, see 100. From ἐχθρός come also ἐχρότερος, -τατος.

130. In the following words, this mode of formation is found connected with various peculiarities, especially the euphonic changes described in 36.

Positive.	Comparative.	Superlative.
a. ἀγαθός good	ἀμείνων (for ἀμεν-ίων) βελτίων κρείσων (κρείττων) λῦων	ἄριστος βέλτιστος κράτιστος λῦστος.
aa. Of these, ἀμείνων, ἄριστος (cf. ἀρετή virtue), refer more to excellence or worth : κρείσων, κράτιστος (cf. κράτος power), more to power or superiority . The opposite of κρείσων is ἥσων.
b. κακός bad	κακίων χείρων ἥσων (ἥττων) μικρότερος μείων	κάκιστος χείριστος ἥκιστα, adv., least of all μικρότατος
c. μικρός small
d. ὀλίγος little, few	ἐλάσσων (ἐλάττων) πλείων or πλέων (25 a)	ὀλίγιστος ἐλάχιστος πλείστος.
e. πολὺς much, many	καλλίων	κάλλιστος
f. καλός beautiful	ῥάων	ῥάστος
g. ῥάδιος easy	ἀλγεινότερος	ἀλγεινότατος
h. ἀλγεινός painful	ἀλγίων	ἄλγιστος

131. Defective comparison is seen in (πρὸ before) πρότερος former	πρῶτος first ὑστερος later, latter	ὑστατος latest, last

a. A superlative ending -ατος is seen in πρῶτος (for προ-ατος), as also in ἔσχατος (for ἐξ-ατος) outmost, extreme.

Formation and Comparison of Adverbs.

132. Adverbs are formed from adjectives by adding ως to the stem: they are like the genitive plural in all but the last letter.

Thus σοφός wise (G. P. σοφῶν), adv. σοφῶς wisely, δίκαιος just (δικαίων), δικαίως justly, πᾶς whole, all (πάντων), πάντως wholly, ταχύς quick (ταχέων), ταχέως quickly, σαφής clear (σαφῶν, contracted from σαφέων), σαφῶς contracted from σαφέως.

a. Very often, the accusative neuter of the adjective, either singular or plural, is used as an adverb.

Thus μέγας great, adv. μέγα or μεγάλα, as well as μεγάλως, greatly; πολὺς much, adv. πολύ (or πολλά), never πολλως.

b. Adverbs from comparatives and superlatives are generally formed in this way, the singular being used for the comparative, the plural for the superlative.

Thus pos. σοφῶς wisely, ταχέως quickly, comp. σοφώτερον more wisely, δᾶσσον (δᾶττον) more quickly, sup. σοφώτατα most wisely, τάχιστα most quickly.

c. An earlier form for adverbs ends in ᾶ : thus τάχα quickly, in Attic prose perhaps ; ἅμα at the same time ; μάλα very, much, makes comp. μᾶλλον (for μάλ-ιον, 36 c) more, rather, sup. μάλιστα most. For ἀγαθός good, we have the adv. εὖ well.

d. Adverbs in ω derived from prepositions (such as ἄνω above, κάτω below, ἔσω within, ἔξω without) make the comp. and sup. in ω : thus κατωτέρω, ἐξωτάτω. So also ἀπωτέρω further from prep. ἀπό from, περαιτέρω further from πέρα beyond, ἐγγύς near, ἐγγυτέρω, ἐγγυτάτω (or ἐγγύτερον, ἐγγύτατα), and a few others.

PRONOUNS.

133. The PERSONAL PRONOUNS are thus declined :

	First Person.	Second Person.	Third Person.
Sing. Nom.	ἐγώ I	σύ thou
Gen.	ἐμοῦ, μοῦ	σοῦ	οὗ (of him, her, it)
Dat.	ἐμοί, μοί	σοί	οἱ
Acc.	ἐμέ, μέ	σέ	ἐ
Du. N. A. V.	(νῶϊ) νῶ	(σφῶϊ) σφῶ	(σφῶϊ)
G. D.	(νῶϊν) νῶν	(σφῶϊν) σφῶν	(σφῶϊν)
Plur. Nom.	ἡμεῖς we	ὑμεῖς you	σφεῖς (N. σφέα)
Gen.	ἡμῶν	ὑμῶν	σφῶν
Dat.	ἡμῖν	ὑμῖν	σφίσι
Acc.	ἡμᾶς	ὑμᾶς	σφᾶς (N. σφέα)

a. The forms in parenthesis are not found in Attic prose ; in which, also, οὗ and ἐ are rare, and the whole pronoun of the third person is used only in a reflexive sense (135) : its place as a personal pronoun is supplied by the oblique cases of αὐτός (134), as αὐτόν him, αὐτῇ to her, αὐτῶν of them, etc.

b. The stems of the singular are εμε, σε, ἐ (Lat. me, te, se) : σε is a later form of τε, and ἐ of σφε ; the F of σφε became φ in the plural. The nom. is of peculiar formation (ἐγώ, σύ), and in the 3d person is wholly wanting. The stems of the dual are νω (Lat. no-s), σφω, σφω. Those of the plural are ἡμε, ὑμε, σφε : ε is contracted with the endings, and hence the circumflex accent (59 a).

c. The forms mentioned in the list of enclitics (65 a) lose their accent when there is no emphasis upon the pronoun ; and in the first person sing., the shorter forms (μοῦ, μοί, μέ) are then used. But if the pronoun is emphatic, it retains its accent, and the longer forms (ἐμοῦ, ἐμοί, ἐμέ) are used in the 1st person. So also, in general, after prepositions. Thus δοκεῖ μοι it seems to me, ἐμοί οὐ σοὶ τοῦτο ἀρέσκει this pleases me, not thee ; παρ' ἐμοῦ from me, not παρὰ μου, ἐπὶ σοὶ upon thee, not ἐπὶ σοί ; yet πρὸς με to me frequently occurs.

134. The INTENSIVE PRONOUN αὐτό-s, αὐτή, αὐτό, self (Lat. ipse) is declined like ἀγαθός (115). But, like some other pronouns (ὁ the, ὅς which, οὗτος this, ἐκεῖνος that, ἄλλος other), it does not take ν in the neuter nom. and acc. singular.

a. Preceded by the article, — ὁ αὐτός (αὐτός, 39 c), ἡ αὐτή (αὐτή), τὸ αὐτό (ταυτό, also ταυτόν), — it signifies the same (Lat. idem). The neuter plural ταυτά (for τὰ αὐτά) must not be confounded with ταῦτα these (138).

135. The REFLEXIVE PRONOUNS are formed from the stems of the personal pronouns, compounded with αὐτός.

1.	myself		ourselves
Gen.	M. ἐμαυτοῦ	F. ἐμαυτῆς	M. ἡμῶν αὐτῶν	F. ἡμῶν αὐτῶν
Dat.	ἐμαυτῷ	ἐμαυτῇ	ἡμῖν αὐτοῖς	ἡμῖν αὐταῖς
Acc.	ἐμαυτόν	ἐμαυτήν	ἡμᾶς αὐτούς	ἡμᾶς αὐτάς
2.	thyself		yourselves
Gen.	M. σεαυτοῦ	F. σεαυτῆς	M. ὑμῶν αὐτῶν	F. ὑμῶν αὐτῶν
Dat.	σεαυτῷ	σεαυτῇ	ὑμῖν αὐτοῖς	ὑμῖν αὐταῖς
Acc.	σεαυτόν	σεαυτήν	ὑμᾶς αὐτούς	ὑμᾶς αὐτάς
3.	himself herself itself			themselves
Gen.	M. ἐαυτοῦ	F. ἐαυτῆς	N. ἐαυτοῦ	M. ἐαυτῶν	F. ἐαυτῶν	N. ἐαυτῶν
Dat.	ἐαυτῷ	ἐαυτῇ	ἐαυτῷ	ἐαυτοῖς	ἐαυταῖς	ἐαυτοῖς
Acc.	ἐαυτόν	ἐαυτήν	ἐαυτό	ἐαυτούς	ἐαυτάς	ἐαυτά

a. In the 2d and 3d persons, εαυ is often contracted to αυ (as it always is in the 1st person): thus σαντοῦ, σαντῆς, σαντῷ, etc.; αὐτοῦ, αὐτῆς, αὐτῷ, etc. The latter forms are distinguished by the rough breathing from those of αὐτός (134). — b. The plural of the 3d person is also made as in the 1st and 2d: thus σφῶν αὐτῶν, σφίσιν αὐτοῖς, σφίσιν αὐταῖς, etc.

136. The RECIPROCAL PRONOUN is formed from the stem of ἄλλος other (134), compounded with itself, ἀλλ-ηλο (for ἀλλ-αλλο) one another. It is, of course, used only in the dual and plural.

Du. G. D.	M. ἀλλήλοιν	F. ἀλλήλαιν	N. ἀλλήλοιν
A.	ἀλλήλω	ἀλλήλα	ἀλλήλω
Plur. G.	M. ἀλλήλων	ἀλλήλων	ἀλλήλων
D.	ἀλλήλοισ	ἀλλήλαις	ἀλλήλοισ
A.	ἀλλήλους	ἀλλήλας	ἀλλήλα

137. The POSSESSIVE PRONOUNS are formed from the stems of the personal pronouns (133 b): they are ἐμός, ἡ, ὃν my, mine,

σός, ἡ, ὃν thy, thine, ὅς, ἡ, ὃν his, her, its,

ἡμέτερος, α, ὃν our, ours,

ὑμέτερος, α, ὃν your, yours,

σφέτερος, α, ὃν their, theirs.

a. ὅς is never used in Attic prose; σφέτερος only in reflexive sense, their own. Their place is supplied by the genitive of αὐτός (133 a): αὐτοῦ his, αὐτῆς her, αὐτοῦ its, αὐτῶν their.

138. DEMONSTRATIVE PRONOUNS. The most important are οὗτος, αὕτη, τοῦτο, this, that, ὅδε, ἥδε, τόδε, this (this here), ἐκεῖνος, ἐκείνη, ἐκεῖνο, that (there, yonder).

a. ὅδε is formed from the article and the demonstrative ending δέ (enclitic): it is declined like the article with δε added to each form. —

b. οὗτος follows the article in respect to the h or t at the beginning. It takes av in the penult, wherever the article has an A-sound (α, η); but ou, where the article has an O-sound (ο, ω).

S. N.	ὁ	ἡ	τό	ὅδε	ἥδε	τόδε	οὗτος	αὕτη	τοῦτο
G.	τοῦ	τῆς	τοῦ	τοῦδε	τῆςδε	τοῦδε	τούτου	ταύτης	τούτου
D.	τῷ	τῇ	τῷ	τῷδε	τῇδε	τῷδε	τούτῳ	ταύτῃ	τούτῳ
A.	τόν	τήν	τό	τόνδε	τήνδε	τόδε	τούτον	ταύτην	τούτο
Dual	τῷ	τά	τῷ	τῷδε	τάδε	τῷδε	τούτῳ	ταῦτα	τούτῳ
	τοῖν	ταῖν	τοῖν	τοῖνδε	ταῖνδε	τοῖνδε	τούτοις	ταύταις	τούτοις
P. N.	οἱ	αἱ	τά	οἷδε	αἷδε	τάδε	οὗτοι	αὗται	ταῦτα
G.	τῶν	τῶν	τῶν	τῶνδε	τῶνδε	τῶνδε	τούτων	ταύτων	τούτων
D.	τοῖς	ταῖς	τοῖς	τοῖςδε	ταῖςδε	τοῖςδε	τούτοις	ταύταις	τούτοις
A.	τούς	τάς	τά	τούςδε	τάςδε	τάδε	τούτους	ταύτας	ταῦτα

139. DEMONSTRATIVES OF QUANTITY, QUALITY, AND AGE. These were τόσος, τοῖος, τηλίκος, which occur often in poetry. In place of them, the Attic prose uses the strengthened forms:

τοσοῦτος, τοσαύτη, τοσοῦτο(ν), such (in quantity or number), τοιοῦτος, τοιαύτη, τοιοῦτο(ν), such (in quality), τηλικούτος, τηλικαύτη, τηλικούτο(ν), such (in age or size).

a. These may be declined like οὗτος, by putting τος-, τοί-, τηλικ-, in place of the initial h or t of οὗτος. But the neuter nom. acc. sing. has two forms, τοσοῦτο and τοσοῦτον, etc. — b. Emphatic demonstratives of similar meaning, τοσόςδε, τοιόςδε, τηλικόςδε, are made by adding the emphatic δε to the forms of τόσος, τοῖος, τηλίκος, with accent on the last syllable (cf. ὅδε, 138 a).

c. The demonstratives are sometimes rendered more emphatic by adding to the different forms a long accented ι, before which the short vowels (ἀ, ε, ο) are elided: thus οὗτοςι, αὕτηι, τουτί, ταυτί, δδῖ, τοιςδῖ, ἐκειωννί.

140. The RELATIVE PRONOUN is ὅς, ἥ, ὅ, who, which.

S. N.	ὅς	ἥ	ὅ	D. N. A.	ὃ	ἃ	ὃ	P. N.	οἷ	αῖ	ἃ
G.	οὗ	ἥς	οὗ	G. D.	οῖν	αῖν	οῖν	G.	ὧν	ῶν	ὧν
D.	ὃ	ἥ	ὃ					D.	οῖς	αῖς	οῖς
A.	ὧν	ῶν	ὧ					A.	οὖς	ᾤς	ᾤ

a. The forms ὅς, ἥ, οἷ, αῖ of the relative, are distinguished by their accent from ὅ, ἥ, οἱ, αἱ of the article. — b. ὅς is a demonstrative in the phrases καὶ ὅς ἐφη and he said, ἡ δ' ὅς but he said.

141. INTERROGATIVE AND INDEFINITE PRONOUNS.— These are alike in all but accent: interrogative τίς, τί, who? which? what? — indefinite τίς, τί, enclitic, some, any.

Sing. Nom. Gen. Dat. Acc.	Interrogative.		Indefinite.
	M. F. τίς	N. τί	M. F. τίς	N. τί
	τίνος (τοῦ)		τινός (τοῦ)
	τινί (τῷ)		τινί (τῷ)
	τίνα	τί	τινά	τί
Du. N. A. V. G. D.
	τίνε		τινέ
	τινοῖν		τινοῖν
Plur. Nom. Gen. Dat. Acc.
	τίνες	τίνα	τινές	τινά
	τινῶν		τινῶν
	τίσι		τίσι
	τίνας	τίνα	τινάς	τινά

a. τίς, τί interrog. never takes the grave accent (see 62). — b. τοῦ, τῷ are often used for τίνος, τινί, and (with enclitic accent) for τινός, τινί. They must not be confounded with τοῦ, τῷ of the article. — c. ἅττα (never enclitic) is sometimes used for the indef. neut. plur. τινά.

142. THE INDEFINITE RELATIVE PRONOUN ὅστις, ἥτις, ὅτι, who, which, is formed by uniting the relative ὅς with the indefinite τίς, each being separately declined.

Sing. N.	ὅστις	ἥτις	ὅτι	Plur.	οἵτινες	αἵτινες	ἅτινα
	οὗτινος	ἧστινος	οὗτινος		ὧντινων	ὧντινων	ὧντινων
D.	ὧτινι	ἧτινι	ὧτινι	A.	οἷστισι	αἷστισι	οἷστισι
A.	ὧτινα	ἧτινα	ὅτι		οὗστινας	ἄστινας	ἅτινα
Dual N. A.		ὧτινε	ἄτινε	ὧτινε
G. D.		οἷντινοιν	αἷντινοιν	οἷντινοιν

a. The neuter is written ὅτι (sometimes ὅ, τι) to distinguish it from the conjunction ὅτι that, because. — b. Before τοῦ, τῷ (141 b), the relative stem ὅ is used without inflection: thus gen. ὅτου, dat. ὅτῳ: so also (mostly poetic) gen. pl. ὅτων, dat. ὅτοις. These are masc. and neut., never fem. — c. The form ἅττα, used for ἅτινα, must not be confounded with ἅττα (141 c).

143. CORRELATIVE PRONOUNS. The following pronouns, corresponding to each other both in form and meaning, are called correlative.

	Interrogative.	Indefinite.	Demonstrative.	Relat., Indef. Rel.
Simple	τίς who? ἥτις which? what?	τίς some	ὅδε this (here), οὗτος this, that	ὅς, ὅστις who, which
Comparative	πότερος which of two?	πότερος one of two	ἕτερος the one or ἄλλος the other of two	ὁπότερος which of two
Quantity or Number	πόσος how much, many?	ποσός of some quan. or number	(τόσος) { so τοσόςδε { much, τοσοῦτος { many	ὅσος, ὁπόσος of which quan., num., (as much, many) as

For the ending τερος, see 127. For τόσος, τοῖος, τῆλίκος, see 139.

144. CORRELATIVE ADVERBS are also formed from the same pronoun-stems.

	Interrogative.	Indefinite.	Demonstrative.	Rel., Indef. Rel.
Place	ποῦ where?	πού somewhere	ἐνθα, ἐνθάδε, ἐνταῦθα, there	οὗ, ὅπου where πόθεν whence?	ποθεν from some place	ἐνθεν, ἐνθενδε, ἐντεῦθεν, thence	θεν, ὁπόθεν whence
	ποῦ whither?	ποί to some place	ἐνθα, ἐνθάδε, ἐνταῦθα, thither	οἶ, ὅποι whither
Time	πότε when?	ποτέ some time, ever	τότε then	ότε, ὁπότε when πῆνίκα at what time?		(τῆνίκα) { at τηνικάδε } that τηνικαῦτα } time	ἡνίκα, ὁπῆνίκα at which time

Manner	πῶς how?	πῶς somehow	ὥς, ὥδε, οὕτω(s) thus, so	ὥς, ὅπως as, that

The indefinite adverbs are all enclitic (85 b).

a. To correlative adverbs belong έως (relative) as long as, and τέως (demonstrative) so long. To ἐκεῖνος that (yonder) correspond the demonstrative adverbs of place ἐκεῖ there, ἐκεῖθεν thence, ἐκεῖσε (114) thither. — b. The demonstrative ὥς (or ὧς) — distinguished by its accent from the relative ὦς as (64 c) — is, in Attic prose, nearly confined to the phrases καὶ ὥς even thus, οὐδ' ὥς (μηδ' ὥς) not even thus. — c. Ἐνθα and ἐνθεν, in Attic prose, are often relative, ἐνθα being used instead of οὗ and οἶ, ἐνθεν instead of θεν.

145. The indefinite relatives are made more indefinite by the addition of various particles: thus ὅστις ὅν who (which, what) soever, ὅστις δῆ, ὅστις δῆ ποτε, ὅστις δῆ ποτ' ὅν; — or by adding τις, as ὁποῖός τις of what sort soever. The enclitic περ gives emphasis to relatives: thus ὅσοι περ of which number precisely, ὥσπερ just as. So from τί and ὅ τι, strengthened by ἦ, come τιῇ wherefore, ὅτι because.

146. Observe also the negative pronouns and adverbs: οὐτις, μήτις no one (poetic for οὐδεὶς, μηδεὶς, 148 a; in prose only οὐτι, μήτι not at all), οὐδέτερος, μηδέτερος neither of two, οὐδαμοῦ, μηδαμοῦ nowhere, οὐδαμῶς, μηδαμῶς in no manner, with some others of similar formation.

NUMERALS.

147. The words which express number are of various classes: the most important are given in the following table:

10,000	,ι	μύριοι, αἱ, α	μυριοστός	μυριάκις

a. The sign Ϛ (Stigma, an abbreviation of στ) is used for 6, taking the place and name of Vau (13): ϛ (Koppa) for 900, and Ϝ (Sampi) for 900, were letters of the primitive Greek alphabet. Numbers which consist of several figures are written thus: ,βτμδ' = 2344, ,αωξη' = 1868. The 24 letters are sometimes used to denote the successive numbers from 1 to 24.

148. The cardinal numbers from 1 to 4 are thus declined:

1. εἷς	μία	ἓν	2. N. A. δύο	3. τρεῖς	N. τρία	4. τέσσαρες	τέσσαρα
ἑνός	μίας	ἑνός	G. D. δυοῖν		τριῶν	τεσσάρων
ἐνί	μιά	ἐνί			τρισί	τέσσαρσι
ἓνα	μίαν	ἓν		τρεῖς	τρία	τέσσαρας	τέσσαρα

a. Like εἷς are declined οὐδεῖς, οὐδεμία, οὐδέν, and μηδεῖς, μηδεμία, μηδέν, none. These are sometimes divided, by tnesis (cutting), ἄν or a preposition being interposed: as μηδ' ἄν εἷς, οὐδὲ παρ' ἑνός. — Δύο is sometimes used without inflection. For δυοῖν there is a rare gen. δυεῖν. — For σσ in τέσσαρες and all its forms, ττ is also used. — For βοή we have a N. A. ἑμφω, G. D. ἀμφοῖν; also ἀμφοτέροι, αι, α, used in plural and dual, with neut. sing. ἀμφοτέρον used adverbially (132 a).

149. The cardinal numbers from 5 to 100 are indeclinable. Those from 200 on, and all the ordinals, are regular adjectives of three endings. The ordinals have superlative endings (129); only δεύτερος second has the ending of a comparative.

a. The forms τρεῖς καὶ δέκα, τέσσαρες καὶ δέκα, are much used for 13, 14. — 18, 19 are commonly expressed by ἑνός (or δυοῖν) δέοντες εἰκοσι twenty wanting one or two, and so 28, 29, 38, 39, etc. — If units and tens (or tens and hundreds) are connected by καὶ and, either may precede: thus for 25 we have εἰκοσι καὶ πέντε or πέντε καὶ εἰκοσι; but without καί, the larger number must precede, as εἰκοσι πέντε. The 21st is expressed by εἷς καὶ εἰκοστός or πρῶτος καὶ εἰκοστός or εἰκοστὸς πρῶτος; and so other ordinals of the same kind.

b. Μυριοί, paroxytone, has the meaning numberless. The fem. subst. μυριάδες tens of thousands is much used in expressing large numbers: as τρεῖς μυριάδες = 80,000.

150. From the numeral stems are formed Multiplicatives in (-πλός) -πλοῦς, as ἀπλοῦς simple, διπλοῦς twofold, τριπλοῦς threelfold, τετραπλοῦς fourfold, etc.; — and others in -πλάσιος, as διπλάσιος twice as many, τριπλάσιος thrice as many, etc.; — also δισσός double, τρισσός treble. — Further, Adverbs of Division, as δίχα or διχῇ in two parts, τριχῇ in three parts, etc.

a. Closely connected with numerals are such general expressions as ἐκάτερος (with comparative ending) each of two, ἕκαστος (with superlative ending) each of any number, πᾶς, πᾶσα, πᾶν (παντ) all, every, πολλάκις many times, often, πολλαχῇ in many ways, πάντη, πανταχῇ, every way.

VERBS.

151. VOICES. The Greek verb has three voices, active, middle, and passive.

a. Many verbs are used only in the active voice; and, on the other hand, many verbs — called deponent — are never used in the active, but only in the middle voice (or middle and passive).

152. MODES. Each voice has six modes:

the indicative, subjunctive, optative, and imperative;
the infinitive and participle.

a. The first four modes are called finite modes: taken together, they make up the finite verb, — that is, the whole verb, strictly so called. In their inflection they distinguish three numbers, singular, dual, and plural, with three persons, first, second, and third (183).

b. The infinitive and participle are essentially nouns, the infinitive being an indeclinable substantive, the participle an adjective of three endings; yet they both share to some extent in the properties of the verb.

c. The verbal adjectives in τός and τέος are analogous to participles, though much less clearly distinguished from ordinary adjectives.

153. TENSES. The tenses of the indicative mode are seven:

the present and imperfect (for continued action);
the aorist and future (for indefinite action);
the perfect, pluperfect, and future perfect (for completed action).

The tenses of the other modes are three:

the present (for continued action);
the aorist (for indefinite action);
the perfect (for completed action).

The subjunctive and imperative have only these three tenses. But for the optative, infinitive, and participle, there are two tenses more, — a future, and future perfect.

154. The tenses of the indicative are also distinguished as a. PRINCIPAL tenses: the present, future, perfect, and future perfect (which express present or future time).

b. HISTORICAL tenses: the imperfect, aorist, and pluperfect (which express past time).

155. a. The passive voice has a distinct form only for the aorist and future. In the other tenses, the middle form has both a middle and a passive meaning.

b. The active voice has no form for the future perfect (cf. 263 b).

156. TENSE-SYSTEMS. In the formation of its different parts, the verb divides itself into the following systems of tenses:

1. the PRESENT system: including the Present and Imperfect of all voices.
2. the FUTURE system:
Future Active and Middle.
3. the FIRST AORIST system:
First Aorist Active and Middle.
4. the SECOND AORIST system:
Second Aorist Active and Middle.
5. the FIRST PERFECT system:
First Perfect and Pluperfect Active.
6. the SECOND PERFECT system:
Second Perfect and Pluperfect Active.
7. the PERFECT MIDDLE system:
Perfect, Pluperfect, and Fut. Perf. Middle.
8. the FIRST PASSIVE system:
First Aorist and Future Passive.
9. the SECOND PASSIVE system:
Second Aorist and Future Passive.

a. The tenses called second are of earlier formation than the corresponding first tenses, and are found in comparatively few verbs. Not often does the same verb have both the first and second forms of the same tense. Hence, in general, verbs of full inflection have but six out of the nine systems. Many verbs have less than six; and some are even confined to a single system.

b. In describing a verb, it is usual to repeat the first person indicative of every system used in it: thus λύω (1) to loose, λύσω (2), ἔλυσα (3), ἔλυκα (5), ἔλυνμαι (7), ἐλύθην (8);λείπω (1) to leave, λείψω (2), ἔλιπον (4), ἔλειπα (6), ἔλειμμαι (7), ἐλείφθην (8); βούλομαι (deponent) to wish, βουλήσομαι (2), βεβούλημαι (7), ἐβουλήθην (8).

157. Verbs are divided into — 1. Verbs in ω , — which have a connecting vowel between the stem and endings in the present system. — 2. Verbs in μ , — which form the present system without connecting vowels.

a. The name in each case is taken from the last syllable of the first person singular, present indicative active: thus λύω, τίθημι. The verbs in μ are of earlier formation, and are comparatively few in number.

b. In like manner, the second aorist and the second perfect systems, which commonly have connecting vowels, are sometimes found without them. In these systems also, the forms without connecting vowels are called μi-forms, even though the present of the same words has the inflection of verbs in ω.

158. Meaning of the Voices, Modes, and Tenses. This will be explained at length in the Syntax. In the mean time, the English forms which represent their ordinary meaning are given with the annexed Synopsis of the verb λύω to loose. For the middle voice, the English forms are not given, but they are easily obtained from those of the active, by adding a reflexive pronoun, which, for this verb, must follow the preposition for: thus λύσομαι I shall loose for myself, λύου be thou loosing for thyself, λύσασθαι to loose for oneself.

a. In the present system of λύω, υ is usually long; it is always long in the future and first aorist systems; in the remaining forms it is always short.

ELEMENTARY PARTS OF THE VERB.

196. The verb is more complex than the noun. Beside the stem and endings (71), it has connecting vowels between them; also, augment and reduplication, put before the stem, and signs of voice, tense, and mode, put after it.

Augment.

197. The augment is the sign of past time. It belongs, therefore, to the historical tenses of the indicative, the imperfect, aorist, and pluperfect.

198. SYLLABIC AUGMENT. Verbs beginning with a consonant have ε prefixed.

Thus ἐ-λυον from λύω to loose, ἐ-ῥίπτον (83) from ρίπτω to throw. — a. In βούλομαι to wish, δύναμαι to be able, μέλλω to be about to, ε often takes the strengthened form η: thus ἐ-βουλόμην or ἡ-βουλόμην.

199. TEMPORAL AUGMENT. Verbs beginning with a vowel lengthen that vowel (15).

Thus ἤγγελλον from ἀγγέλλω to announce, ἤλπιζον from ἐλπίζω to hope, ἔρμυν from ὀρμύω to move, ἰκέτευν (i) from ικετεύω (i) to supplicate, ὄφαινον (ū) from ὀφαίνω (ū) to weave. — a. Long vowels remain unchanged by the augment; only ā becomes η: as ἤθλουν from ἀθλέω (ā) to contend.

b. Diphthongs have their first vowel lengthened: thus ἤρουν from αἰρέω to take, ἤκτειρον from οἰκτεῖρω to pity, ἤξουν from αἰξέω to increase. But in αυ, οι, the first vowel sometimes remains unchanged; it is usually so in ευ, and regularly so in ει, ου.

200. The augment of the pluperfect is applied to the reduplicated stem of the perfect. But if the reduplicated stem begins with a vowel, it remains unchanged in the pluperfect.

Thus perf. λέλυκα, plup. ἐ-λελύκειν (often, also, with augment omitted, λελύκειν): perf. ἔσταλκα, from στέλλω to send, pluperf. ἔστάλκειν (not ἡστάλκειν). But ἀκούω to hear, perf. ἤκῃκα, has ἤκηκέν or ἤκηκέν in the pluperfect.

201. A few verbs beginning with a vowel take ε as augment. This, with a following ε, is contracted to ει.

Thus ἄγνυμι, aor. ἔαξα; ἔρπω, impf. εἶρπον (for ε-ἔρπον). So ἐάω to permit, ἐθίζω to accustom, ἐλίσσω to wind, ἐλκω to draw, ἐργάζομαι to work, ἔρπω to creep, ἐστιάω to entertain, — ὀύρῃω, ὠθέω to push, ὠνέομαι to buy: — in the impf., ἔπομαι to follow, ἔχω to have, hold: — in the aor., ἄγνυμι to break, ἄλίσκομαι to be taken. Add 2 aor. of αἰρέω to take, ἔημι to send.

a. ὀράω to see and ἀν-οίγω to open have both syllabic and temporal augment at the same time: thus ἐ-ὄρων, ἀν-έ-φθα.

b. These verbs appear to have begun originally with a consonant, digamma (13) or σ (34 a): hence ἔα for ε-ῥα from ῥαγνυμι, εἶπον (ε-ἔρπον) for ε-σερπον from σερπω.

AUGMENT OF COMPOUND VERBS.

202. Compounds, consisting of a preposition and a verb, take the augment after the preposition.

Thus εἰσφέρω to bring in, εἰσέφερον; προσάγω to lead to, προσῆγον. — a. Prepositions ending in a vowel lose it before ε (41): as ἀποφέρω to bear away, ἀπέφερον. But περί and πρό retain the vowel; and πρό is often contracted with ε: as προβαίνω to advance, προέβαινον or προύβαινον.

b. Ἐξ, ἐν, and σύν have their proper forms before ε (29 a. 30. 30 d): as ἐκτείνω to extend, ἐξέτεινον; συλλέγω to collect, συνέλεγον.

c. A few verbs have the augment before the preposition: as καθεύδω to sleep, ἐκάθευδον (but also καθηῦδον): see also 273 aa. 278. 300 ei. gb. —

d. And a few have it at once before and after the prep.: as ἀνέχομαι to endure, ἠνειχόμην.

203. Other compound verbs are augmented at the beginning.

Thus οικοδομέω to build, οἰκοδόμουν; δυστυχέω to be unfortunate, ἐδυστύχουν. — a. But after εὖ-well or δυσ-ill, a short vowel is sometimes augmented: as εὐεργετέω to do good, aor. εὐηργέτησα or εὐεργέτησα.

b. Many verbs which begin with a preposition do not consist of a preposition and a verb (333 a). Thus ἐναντιόομαι to oppose is not a compound of ἐν and ἀντιόομαι, but is derived from the compound adjective ἐναντίος opposite. Such verbs, though properly augmented at the beginning, — as ἠναντιόομην (not ἐνηντιόομην), — are more commonly augmented after the prep.: as ἐκδημέω to be abroad (from ἐκδημος abroad), ἐξεδήμουν (not ηκδημουν); κατηγορέω to accuse (from κατήγορος accuser), κατηγόρουν (not εκατηγόρουν).

Reduplication.

204. The reduplication is the sign of completed action. It belongs, therefore, to the perfect, pluperfect, and future perfect, throughout all the modes.

205. Verbs beginning with a consonant repeat that consonant with ε. Thus λύω, perf. λέ-λυκα; θύω to offer, τέ-θυκα (37 a).

But — a. When the reduplication-syllable is long by position (49 b), it omits the consonant, and consists of ε only.

Thus στέλλω to send, ἔ-σταλκα (not σε-σταλκα); ψεύδομαι to lie, ἔ-ψευσμαι (not πε-ψευσμαι); ρίπτω to throw, ἔ-βριφα (33, not ρε-βριφα). The perfects κέ-κτημαι possesses and μέ-μνημαι remember (300 hk. il.) are irregular: see also 300 kc. kk.

b. But before a mute and liquid (50) the reduplication has its full form: thus πλέω to sail, πέ-πλευκα; γράφω to write, γέ-γραφα. But γι-γνώσκω (γνο) to know, ἔ-γνώκα (50 a).

c. Instead of the reduplication we find ει in a few perfects, such as εἴληφα from λαμβάνω (st. λαβ) to take: see 300 eo. hq. hu. hv. ig.

206. Verbs beginning with a vowel lengthen that vowel.

The reduplication in these verbs has the same form as the temporal augment (199): thus ἀγγέλλω, ἡγγέλκα; ἐλπίζω, ἡλπικα; ὀρμᾶω, ὠρμηκα; αἰρέω, ῥρηκα.

207. Some verbs beginning with α, ε, ο, followed by a single consonant, prefix that vowel and consonant: the vowel of the second syllable is then lengthened. This is called ATTIC REDUPLICATION.

Thus ἀλείφω (αλίφ) to anoint, ἀλ-ῆλῖφα, ἀλ-ῆλιμμαι; ὀρύσσω (ορύχ) to dig, ὀρ-ῶρυχα, ὀρ-ῶρυγμαι; — ἐγείρω to wake has ἐγρ-ῆγορα (for εγ-ῆγορα), but ἐγ-ῆγεμαι.

208. Most of the verbs named in 201 have ε for the reduplication also: thus ἔγ-νυμι, ἔαγα (orig. FeFαγα); ἐθίζω, εἶθικα (for ε-εθικα); — ὀράω, ἐώρακα; ἀνολίγω, ἀνέωχα. Add the defective perf. ἔ-οικα (st. εικ) am like, appear, plup. ἐφικειν, and perf. εἶωθα (st. εθ or ηθ) am accustomed.

209. In compound verbs, the reduplication has the same place as the augment.

Stem and Changes of Stem.

210. Stems are named according to their final letters, vowel-stems, consonant-stems, mute-stems, liquid-stems, etc. Verbs are named according to their stems: thus mute verbs, liquid verbs. Those which have vowel-stems are commonly called pure verbs.

In some verbs the stem remains unaltered through the whole inflection; but usually it receives some change of form. The changes of the stem are as follows:

I. INTERCHANGE (of vowels, 14).

211. α, ε, ο are often interchanged.

Thus τρέφ-ω to nourish, 2 aor. p. ἐ-τρέφ-ην, 2 perf. τέ-τροφ-α. This occurs chiefly in consonant-stems of one syllable which have a liquid before or after the stem-vowel. α is seen in the 2 aor. of all voices, ο in the 2 perf. For α in the 1 perf. and perf. mid. of liquid verbs, see 256 c.

a. ει (from ι) is exchanged for οι in the 2 perf.: see 257 b.

b. η is sometimes exchanged for ω: see 300 fn. ld. nk.

c. ε is rarely exchanged for ι: see 300 lr.

II. LENGTHENING (of vowels. Protraction, 15).

212. Vowel-stems lengthen a final short vowel wherever it is followed by a consonant.

Thus τιμή-σω, ἐ-θήρᾱ-σα, πε-φίλη-κα, ἐ-δηλώ-θην, from τιμά-ω, δηρά-ω, φιλέ-ω, δηλό-ω. The stems of χρᾶ-μαι to use, τι-τρά-ω to bore, πίμπρημι (πρά) to burn, ἀκροᾶ-μαι to hear, are irregularly lengthened to χρη, τρη, πρη, ακροᾶ.

a. In many verbs (NON-PROTRACTING VERBS: cf. 291 b) the final vowel of the stem remains short before consonants: thus ἐ-τέλε-σα, τε-τέλε-κα, etc., from τελέ-ω. In some (cf. 291 ba), different tenses vary in this respect.

b. Mi-forms follow a rule of their own: see 270.

213. Some mute-stems lengthen ᾱ, ι, υ, to η, ει, ευ, respectively.

Thus λαμβάνω (λάβ) to take, fut. λήψομαι (for ληβ-σομαι); ἔρχομαι (ερχ, ελῦθ) to come, fut. ἐλεύσομαι (for ελευθ-σομαι). These are called VOWEL-STRENGTHENING VERBS. Cf. 221.

a. Consonant-stems often lengthen ᾱ in the 2d perf.: see 257 b, c.

b. Liquid-stems lengthen a short vowel in the first aorist system: see 253 b.

214. III. OMISSION (of vowels, 24-5).

Thus γίγνομαι (for γι-γεν-ομαι) to become, χέω (for χευ-ω) to pour.

215. IV. TRANSPOSITION (of vowel and liquid. Metathesis, 32).

Thus st. δαν, 2 aor. ἔ-θαν-ον, 2 perf. inf. τε-θνᾶ-ναι, pres. θνή-σκω (212).

216. V. ASPIRATION (of labial or palatal mute). See 257 e.

217. VI. ADDITION OF ε (to a consonant-stem).

Thus μάχ-ομαι to fight, aor. ἐ-μαχε-σάμην; χαίρ-ω (χαρ, χαίρ by 223 f, then χαιρε) to rejoice, fut. χαιρή-σω (212). So also, to a few vowel-stems: οἶ-ομαι to think, fut. οἰή-σομαι. These are called E-VERBS: cf. 226. 291 d. — a. Similarly a few stems annex ο or ᾱ: as δυν-υμι to swear, aor. inf. ὀμό-σαι; πέτ-ομαι to fly, 2 aor. ἐ-πτά-μην (214).

218. VII. ADDITION OF σ (to a vowel-stem).

This occurs in the perfect middle and first passive systems, especially of non-protracting verbs (212 a): thus τελέ-ω, τε-τέλεσ-μαι; ἀκού-ω to hear, ἠκούσ-θην. These are called S-VERBS: cf. 291 c.

219. But the changes of the stem are especially numerous and important in the present system. With reference to these we distinguish the following

CLASSES OF VERBS.

220. FIRST CLASS (Stem-Class). The stem appears without change in the present.

Thus μέν-ω to remain, ἄγ-ω to lead, — τιμῶ (for τιμα-ω), where the stem appears in the uncontracted form, — φημί (see 270 a), where most forms of the present show the stem φα. A few verbs which have ι or υ short in the stem, but long in the present, — as λύω (λύ), τρῖβω (τρῖβ), — are referred to this class. But for liquid verbs like κρῖνω (κρῖν), ἀμύνω (αμύν), see 223 f.

221. SECOND CLASS (Lengthening Class). Short α, ι, υ of the stem are lengthened to η, ει, ευ, respectively. In general, the short stem appears only in 2 aor. and 2 fut.

Here belong some mute verbs, as τήκ-ω (τάκ) to melt, λείπ-ω (λίπ) to leave, φεύγ-ω (φύγ) to flee, — also, a few verbs in έω from stems in υ, as χέ-ω (for χευ-ω, 214, st. χύ) to pour.

222. THIRD CLASS (Tau Class). The stem assumes τ in the present.

Here belong verbs in πτω, from labial stems (26): thus τύπ-τω to strike, καλύπτ-ω (καλυβ) to cover, βάπτ-ω (βαφ) to dip, dye. — a. Whether the stem ends in π, or β, or φ, may be known from the 2 aor., if this is in use, as ἐτύπ-ην, ἐβάφ-ην; — or from some derived word, as καλύβ-η cabin.

223. FOURTH CLASS (Iota Class). The stem assumes ι in the present, with various euphonic changes (36). Here belong a. Verbs in σσω (or ττω) from palatal stems: thus πρᾶσσω (πᾶρ) to do, ταρασσω (ταραχ) to disturb. These have ξω in the fut. act. Whether the stem ends in κ, or γ, or χ, may be known as in 222 a. — b. A few verbs in σσω have lingual stems, with σω in the fut. act. (294 a).

c. Verbs in ζω from stems in δ or γ: thus φράζω (φραδ) to tell, κράζω (κραγ) to cry. — d. The stems κλαγγ, πλαγγ, σαλπιγγ drop the nasal before ζ: as κλάζω to make a noise.

e. Verbs in λλω from stems in λ: thus βάλλω to throw. — δφείλω (οφελ) to owe follows the analogy of f.

f. Verbs in νω, ρω, with preceding αι, ει, ι, υ: thus φαίνω (φαν) to show, σύρω (σύρ) to drag.

g. Here belong καίω (for καυ-ι-ω, 25) to burn, and κλαίω (for κλαυ-ι-ω) to weep, in Attic often κάω, κλάω, uncontracted.

224. FIFTH CLASS (Nu Class). The stem assumes ν in the present, or a syllable containing ν.

a. ν, as φθάνω to anticipate, κáμ-ν-ω to tire.

b. αν, as ἀμαρτάνω to err. — c. If the stem is a short syllable with final mute, it is made long by inserting a cognate nasal: thus λαμβάνω (λάβ) to take, μαρθάνω (μάθ) to learn, λαγχάνω (λάχ) to get by lot.

d. νε, as ἐκνέομαι to come.

e. νν, as δεικνύμι to show; after a vowel, ννν, as σβένννμι to extinguish.

225. SIXTH CLASS (Sigma-Kappa Class). The stem assumes σκ in the present, sometimes with a connecting ι.

Thus ἀρέσκω to please, εύρίσκω to find.

226. SEVENTH CLASS (Epsilon Class). The stem assumes ε in the present.

Thus δοκέω to seem, think, fut. δόξω (= δοκ-σω).

227. EIGHTH CLASS (Reduplicating Class). The stem assumes a reduplication in the present: the first consonant is repeated with i.

Consonant-stems then omit the stem-vowel: thus πίπτω (for πι-πετ-ω) to fall. Nearly all vowel-stems have the μι-form. In ἵημι (ῆ) to send, the breathing is repeated like a consonant. ἵστημι (στα) is for σι-στη-μι (34 a). ἴσχω (σεχ) to hold is for ισχω (37 d), and that for σι-σχ-ω (34 a). δίνημι (for ον-ονη-μι, 14 g, st. ονα) to benefit repeats the first two letters (cf. 207).

228. NINTH CLASS (Residual Class). This includes the only remaining verbs, — those in which stems are found that form no present.

Here belong — a. Defective verbs (such as aor. ἔτλην, st. τλα to endure), which have no present. — b. Mixed verbs, such as φέρω to bear, in which fut. οἰ-σω, aor. ἤνεγκ-ον show stems wholly different from that found in the present.

229. Some verbs have the signs of more than one class: thus πλάσσω (πλάγ) to strike, cl. 4, has the protraction of cl. 2; βαίνω (βα) to go, cl. 5, has the added i of cl. 4; γινώσκω (γνω) to know, cl. 6, has the reduplication of cl. 8. The class here is determined by the affix (added after the stem), or if there are two, by the last of them.

Signs of Voice, Tense, and Mode.

230. The active and middle voices have no special voice-sign, being distinguished from each other by their different endings. But the passive voice adds to the stem a passive-sign, θε in the first passive system, η in the second.

In both systems, the ε is contracted with a following mode-sign: thus λυθῶμεν for λυ-θε-ω-μεν, σταλείην for σταλ-ε-ιην. And in both, the ε becomes η when a single consonant follows it: thus ἐλύ-θη-ν, ἐλύ-θη (originally ελυ-θη-τ), σταλ-ή-σομαι; but Impv. 3 plur. λυθέ-ντων, part. fem. σταλ-εῖσα (for σταλ-ε-νσα), part. neut. λυθέ-ν (for λυ-θε-ντ).

231. In some of the tenses, κ and σ are used as tense-signs: thus κ in the first perfect system, as ἔλυ-κ-α, ἐλελύ-κ-ειν.

σ in the first aorist system, as ἔλυ-σ-α, ἐλυ-σ-άμην.

σ in the future of all voices, as λύ-σ-ω, λύ-σ-ομαι, λυθή-σ-ομαι.

But liquid verbs reject σ, and

a. take ε as tense-sign in the future system (252).

b. lengthen the stem-vowel in the first aorist system (253).

232. Of the elements thus far described (except the augment), those which appear in any tense are common to all parts of it, and make its TENSE-STEM. In the same tense, the different modes are distinguished by their endings. Only the subjunctive and optative, which have the same endings as the indicative, are distinguished by mode-signs.

233. The mode-sign of the subjunctive is η , but before a nasal (μ, ν) it is ω .

Thus $\lambda\acute{\upsilon}-\omega$ (for $\lambda\upsilon-\omega-\mu\iota$), $\lambda\acute{\iota}-\omega-\sigma\iota$ (for $\lambda\upsilon-\omega-\nu\sigma\iota$), $\lambda\acute{\upsilon}\sigma-\eta-\sigma\theta\omicron\nu$, $\lambda\epsilon\lambda\acute{\upsilon}\kappa-\eta-\tau\epsilon$. The 2, 3 sing. of the act. have η for η , as $\lambda\acute{\upsilon}\sigma-\eta-s$: cf. 235 c. For η in the 2 sing. mid., see 245 b.

234. The mode-sign of the optative is ι . This is usually joined to the tense-stem by a connecting vowel.

Thus $\lambda\acute{\upsilon}-\omicron-\iota-\mu\iota$, $\iota\sigma\tau\alpha-\iota-\mu\eta\nu$. A connecting vowel is always used, if the tense-stem ends in a consonant: as $\lambda\epsilon\lambda\acute{\upsilon}\kappa-\omicron-\iota-\mu\iota$, $\lambda\upsilon\sigma-\alpha-\iota-\mu\eta\nu$. The ι forms a diphthong with the vowel before it.

a. Before active endings, $\iota\eta$ is often used instead of ι . This is always the case in the singular of the passive aorists and of μι-forms, and frequently in their dual and plural: thus $\lambda\upsilon\theta\epsilon\iota\eta-\nu$, $\delta\iota\delta\omicron\iota\eta$, $\sigma\tau\alpha\lambda\epsilon\iota\tau\epsilon$ or $\sigma\tau\alpha\lambda\epsilon\iota\eta-\tau\epsilon$. Often also in contract forms, as $\tau\iota\mu\alpha\sigma\iota\eta-\nu$, contr. $\tau\iota\mu\acute{\phi}\eta-\nu$; in the perfect active (as $\tau\epsilon\pi\omicron\iota\theta\alpha\iota\eta-\nu$) it is mostly poetic. — b. Before ν in the 3 plur. act., $\iota\epsilon$ is always used, as $\lambda\acute{\upsilon}-\omicron-\iota\epsilon-\nu$.

Connecting Vowels.

235. The tense-stem is followed in most forms by a connecting vowel. This is commonly ϵ ; but before μ, ν , or ι , it is \omicron . But — a. In the indicative active, present and future, the 1 sing. has ω , the 2, 3 sing. have $\epsilon\iota$. — b. The infinitive active has ϵ in the perfect, and $\epsilon\iota$ in the present, future, and 2 aorist.

Thus, indic. $\lambda\acute{\upsilon}-\epsilon-\tau\epsilon$, $\lambda\acute{\upsilon}-\epsilon-\sigma\theta\omicron\nu$, $\epsilon\lambda\upsilon-\omicron-\mu\epsilon\theta\alpha$, $\lambda\acute{\upsilon}\sigma-\omicron\upsilon-\sigma\iota$ (for $\lambda\upsilon\sigma-\omicron-\nu\sigma\iota$), — $\lambda\acute{\upsilon}-\omega$, $\lambda\acute{\upsilon}\sigma-\epsilon\iota-s$; opt. $\lambda\acute{\upsilon}\sigma-\omicron-\iota-\mu\iota$, $\lambda\epsilon\lambda\upsilon\sigma-\omicron-\iota-\mu\eta\nu$; impv. $\lambda\acute{\upsilon}-\epsilon-\sigma\theta\epsilon$, $\lambda\upsilon-\omicron-\gamma\tau\omega\nu$; infin. $\lambda\upsilon\theta\eta\sigma-\epsilon-\sigma\theta\alpha\iota$, — $\lambda\epsilon\lambda\upsilon\kappa-\acute{\epsilon}-\nu\alpha\iota$, $\lambda\acute{\upsilon}\sigma-\epsilon\iota-\nu$, $\lambda\iota\pi-\epsilon\iota-\nu$; part. $\lambda\upsilon\sigma-\omicron-\mu\epsilon\nu\omicron\varsigma$, $\lambda\acute{\upsilon}-\omicron\upsilon-\sigma\alpha\iota$ (for $\lambda\upsilon-\omicron-\nu\sigma\alpha\iota$). — c. In $\lambda\acute{\upsilon}-\omega$ (for $\lambda\upsilon-\omicron-\mu\iota$), \omicron was perhaps lengthened on account of the omitted $\mu\iota$. In $\lambda\acute{\upsilon}-\epsilon\iota-s$, $\lambda\acute{\upsilon}-\epsilon\iota-\nu$, the ι may perhaps be traced to the primitive endings, $\sigma\iota$, $\tau\iota$, $\nu\alpha\iota$.

236. The first aorist system has α as connecting vowel; but in the indicative active 3 sing., it has ϵ .

Thus $\xi\lambda\upsilon\sigma-\alpha-s$, $\lambda\acute{\upsilon}\sigma-\alpha-\iota\mu\iota$, $\lambda\acute{\upsilon}\sigma-\alpha-\sigma\theta\alpha\iota$, $\xi\lambda\upsilon\sigma-\epsilon$. — a. In the forms $\lambda\acute{\upsilon}\sigma-\epsilon-\iota\alpha-s$, $\lambda\acute{\upsilon}\sigma-\epsilon-\iota\epsilon$, $\lambda\acute{\upsilon}\sigma-\epsilon-\iota\alpha-\nu$, of the opt. act., ϵ is the connecting vowel, and $\iota\alpha$ or $\iota\epsilon$ an irregular mode-sign. For other exceptions, see 245 e.

237. The perfect active indicative has α , but in the 3 sing. ϵ : the pluperfect active has $\epsilon\iota$, but in the 3 plur. commonly ϵ .

Thus $\lambda\epsilon\lambda\acute{\upsilon}\kappa-\alpha-\mu\epsilon\nu$, $\lambda\acute{\epsilon}\lambda\upsilon\kappa-\epsilon$, $\epsilon\lambda\epsilon\lambda\acute{\upsilon}\kappa-\epsilon\iota-\tau\epsilon$, $\epsilon\lambda\epsilon\lambda\acute{\upsilon}\kappa-\epsilon-\sigma\alpha\nu$ oftener than $\epsilon\lambda\epsilon\lambda\acute{\upsilon}\kappa-\epsilon\iota-\sigma\alpha\nu$.

238. There are no connecting vowels

a. in the subjunctive mode.

b. in the perfect and pluperfect middle, the aorist passive, and the perfect participle active.

c. in the μι-forms (of the present, second aorist, and second perfect systems).

Endings.

239. There are two series of endings, one for the active voice, the other for the middle. The passive aorist has the endings of the active; the passive future, those of the middle.

The endings of the finite modes are called personal endings, because they have different forms for the three persons.

240. The personal endings of the INDICATIVE are

		Active.		Middle.
		Principal tenses.	Historical.	Principal.	Historical.
S.	1.	μι	ν	μαι	μην
	2.	ς	ς	σαι	σο
	3.	σι	—	ται	το
D.	2.	τον	τον	σθον	σθον
	3.	τον	την	σθον	σθην
P.	1.	μεν	μεν	μεθα	μεθα
	2.	τε	τε	σθε	σθε
	3.	νσι	ν	νται	ντο

OR σαν

a. The original endings in the sing. and the 3 plur. were μι, σι, τι, ντι (for change of τι, ντι, to σι, νσι, see 35). In the historical tenses, ι was dropped, making μ, σ, τ, ντ (for ν instead of μ, cf. 47 b; for final τ omitted, see 47). In the middle, μι, σι, τι, ντι were extended to μαι, σαι, ται, νται, which in the historical tenses were changed to μην, σο, το, ντο.

For σθα instead of ς in the 2 sing., see 267 i.

b. The endings μεν and μεθα are used for the dual as well as the plural: thus λυό-μεθα we two are loosed. For the dual μεθα there is a rare poetic ending μεθον. Rare, also, is the use of την, σθην in the 2 dual of the historical tenses.

c. The ending σαν is found in the pluperf. act. and aor. pass.; also in μι-forms: thus ἐλελύκε-σαν, ἐλύθη-σαν, ἐτίθε-σαν.

241. The SUBJUNCTIVE and OPTATIVE take the personal endings of the indicative, the subj. those of the principal tenses, the opt. those of the historical tenses.

a. The opt. act. in the 1 sing. has ν only after ιη, elsewhere μι: thus (τιμασι-ν) τιμή-ν, λυθεί-ν, λύσαι-μι.

242. The personal endings of the IMPERATIVE are

	Active.			Middle.
	Sing.	Dual.	Plur.	Sing.	Dual.	Plur.
2.	θι	τον	τε	σο	σθον	σθε
3.	τω	των	τωσαν	σθω	σθων	σθωσαν
			ΟΙ ΝΤΩΝ			ΟΙ ΣΘΩΝ

243. The INFINITIVE-ENDINGS are: in the active, ν after ει, elsewhere ναι; in the middle, σθαι.

Thus λύει-ν, λελυκέ-ναι, λυθῆ-ναι; λύσα-σθαι, λυθήσε-σθαι.

244. The PARTICIPLE-ENDINGS are: in the active, ντ, feminine νσα; but in the perfect active, στ, fem. νια; in the middle, μενο, fem. μενα (sing. μενη).

To these are added CASE-ENDINGS, by which the participle is declined like an adjective. Thus λύων (for λυο-ντ-ς, 88), λυο-ντ-ος, λύουσιν (for λυο-νσα-ν); λελυκώς (for λελυκ-στ-ς, 88), λελυκ-ότ-α, λελυκ-νία-ς; λυό-μενο-ς, λυο-μένα-ς. In analyzing forms of the 1st and 2d declensions, the student may give (instead of case-endings) the terminations in 75 and 79.

Endings Omitted or Altered.

245. After a connecting vowel or mode-sign,

a. the endings μι, σι, θι are dropped.

b. the endings σαι and σο drop σ.

Thus — a. λύσ-ω (for λυσ-ο-μι and λυσ-ω-μι), λέλυκ-ε (for λελυκ-ε-σι), λῦ-ε (for λυ-ε-θι). But μι is retained in the optative, as λύοι-μι. For θι in μι-forms, see 267 b, g.

b. αι and ο are contracted with the preceding vowel: thus λύσ-η or λύσ-ει (for λυσ-ε-[σ]αι), λύσ-η (for λυσ-η-[σ]αι), ἐλύ-ου (for ελυ-ε-[σ]ο), λύοι-ο (for λυοι-[σ]ο, cf. 19). For σαι and σο in μι-forms, see 267 c, h. —

c. From ε-[σ]αι are formed both η and ει (22 a): η is the usual form; but the Attic, especially the older Attic, has also ει: βούλομαι to wish and οἶμαι (οἶμαι) to think have only βούλει, οἶει in the 2 sing.

d. The personal ending νσι and the participle ending νσα always drop ν before σ: the preceding vowel is then lengthened in compensation, see 30.

e. The first aorist system omits the endings in the 1 sing. indic. act., the 2 sing. impv. act. and mid., and the infin. act. Thus ἔλυσ-α (for ελυσ-α-ν, 47 b), λῦσ-ον (for λυσ-α-θι), λῦσ-αι (for λυσ-α-σο), λῦσ-αι (for λυσ-α-ναι). In λῦσον, ν is a euphonic addition, before which the connective α becomes ο: in λῦσ-αι, the α becomes αι.

Accent.

246. In general, the accent of the verb stands as far as possible from the end of the form (recessive accent, 58).

For final αι and οι, see 55. For accent of contracted forms, see 59.

247. The FINITE VERB shows only the following exception:—The 2 aor. impv. 2 sing. accents the connecting vowel,

a. regularly, in the middle: as λιπ-ού (245 b), from λιπ-ε-(σ)ο.

b. in the following active forms: εἰπ-έ say, ἐλθ-έ come, εὗρ-έ find, ἰδ-έ see, λαβ-έ take; but not in their compounds, as ἄπ-ειπ-ε.

248. The INFINITIVE and PARTICIPLE (which are essentially nouns) present numerous exceptions.

a. In the 2 aor. act. and mid., they accent the connecting vowel: inf. act. (always perispom.) λιπ-εῖ-ν, part. act. (always oxytone) λιπ-ώ-ν, inf. mid. λιπ-έ-σθαι, part. mid. λιπ-ό-μενος (as by the general rule).

b. In the 1 aor. act. and perf. mid., they accent the penult: perf. inf. τετιμῆσθαι, part. τετιμῆμενος; 1 aor. inf. τιμῆσαι, part. τιμῆσās (as by the general rule).

c. All infinitives in ναι accent the penult: as τιθέναι, λελυκέναι, λυθῆναι.

d. All participles of the third declension, formed without connecting vowels, are oxytone: as διδούς, λελυκώς, λυθείς, σταθείς.

e. In the 1 aor., three forms which have the same letters, are often distinguished by the accent, viz.

3 sing. opt. act.	γράφαι	παύσαι	τελέσαι	δηλώσαι
inf. act.	γράφαι	παῦσαι	τελέσαι	δηλώσαι
2 sing. impv. mid.	γράφαι	παῦσαι	τέλεισαι	δήλωσαι

These examples are taken from γράφ-ω to write, παύ-ω to make cease, τελέ-ω (178), δηλό-ω (179), and are to be explained by 246. 248 b, with 55. 54 c, d.

249. COMPOUND VERBS follow the same rules. But—a. The accent cannot stand before the augment or reduplication: thus ἀπ-ῆλθε (not ἄπηλθε) went away, ἀφ-ἵκται has arrived, παρ-ῆν was present, ὑπ-εἶκε was yielding (but ὑπ-εἶκε, pres. impv., be yielding).—b. The accent cannot stand before a simple infinitive or participle: καθ-ῆσθαι (not κἀθησθαι) to sit down, παρ-ών present.—c. Final -s (for -θι) of the imperative (267 g) affects the accent like a distinct syllable: ἐπί-σχεs (not ἐπισχες) hold on.

FORMATION AND INFLECTION OF TENSE-SYSTEMS.

PRESENT SYSTEM, or

Present and Imperfect.

250. The present and imperfect have the stem, either unaltered, or with various changes, according to the class of the verb (220–29). [Paradigm, 160.]

Thus from the stems λν, λιπ, βαφ, φαν, λαβ, εὗρ, δοκ, τρα, come the presents λύ-ω, λείπ-ω, βάπτ-ω, φαίν-ω, λαμβάν-ω, εὕρισκ-ω, δοκέ-ω, τιτρά-ω. — INFLECTION. The elements of which the forms consist are generally obvious. For λύω, λύει, λύη, λύε, see 245 a; for λύουσι and λύουσα, see 245 d; for the middle λύη, λύει, ἐλύου, λύοιο, and λύου, see 245 b, c. — For the present system without connecting vowels (μi-form), see 266-.

251. In CONTRACT VERBS, final α , ϵ , \omicron of the tense-stem are contracted with the connecting vowels of the present system. [Paradigms, 169–71.]

For the rules of contraction, see 18–22. In reading the paradigms, the uncontracted form will be seen by omitting the syllable next after the parenthesis; the contract form, by omitting the letters in the parenthesis itself: thus in $\tau\iota\mu(\acute{\alpha}\epsilon\iota)\tilde{\alpha}$, $\tau\iota\mu(\acute{\alpha}\omicron\upsilon)\tilde{\omega}\sigma\iota$, the uncontracted forms are $\tau\iota\mu\acute{\alpha}\epsilon\iota$, $\tau\iota\mu\acute{\alpha}\omicron\upsilon\sigma\iota$; the contract forms, $\tau\iota\mu\tilde{\alpha}$, $\tau\iota\mu\tilde{\omega}\sigma\iota$.

a. The inf. of $\tau\iota\mu\tilde{\omega}$ is commonly written $\tau\iota\mu\tilde{\alpha}\nu$ (not $\tau\iota\mu\tilde{\alpha}\nu$) and is supposed to come from a form $\tau\iota\mu\alpha\epsilon\upsilon$, with ϵ as connecting vowel. In like manner, we have $\delta\eta\lambda\omicron\tilde{\upsilon}\nu$ (not $\delta\eta\lambda\omicron\tilde{\iota}\nu$) from $\delta\eta\lambda\omicron\epsilon\upsilon$.

b. Stems of one syllable in ϵ admit only the contraction into $\epsilon\iota$. Hence, from $\pi\lambda\acute{\epsilon}\omega$ to sail, we find $\pi\lambda\epsilon\iota\varsigma$, $\pi\lambda\epsilon\iota$, $\pi\lambda\epsilon\iota\tau\omicron\nu$, $\pi\lambda\epsilon\iota\tau\epsilon$, $\pi\lambda\epsilon\iota\nu$, etc., contracted; but $\pi\lambda\acute{\epsilon}\omicron\mu\epsilon\nu$, $\pi\lambda\acute{\epsilon}\omicron\upsilon\sigma\iota$, $\pi\lambda\acute{\epsilon}\eta\tau\epsilon$, $\pi\lambda\acute{\epsilon}\omicron\mu\iota$, $\pi\lambda\acute{\epsilon}\omega\nu$, etc., uncontracted. Yet $\delta\acute{\epsilon}\omega$ to bind (not $\delta\acute{\epsilon}\omega$ to want) admits other contractions.

c. A few stems in α take η instead of $\tilde{\alpha}$ in the contract forms: thus $\zeta\acute{\alpha}\omega$ to live, $\zeta\tilde{\eta}$ (not $\zeta\alpha\varsigma$), $\zeta\tilde{\eta}$, $\zeta\tilde{\eta}\tau\epsilon$, $\zeta\tilde{\eta}\nu$, etc. So also $\pi\epsilon\iota\acute{\alpha}\omega$ to hunger, $\delta\iota\psi\acute{\alpha}\omega$ to thirst, $\kappa\acute{\nu}\alpha\omega$ to scratch, $\sigma\mu\acute{\alpha}\omega$ to anoint, $\psi\acute{\alpha}\omega$ to rub, and $\chi\rho\acute{\alpha}\omicron\mu\alpha\iota$ to use.

FUTURE SYSTEM, OR

Future Active and Middle.

252. The future active and middle adds the tense-sign σ to the stem, and is inflected like the present. [Paradigm, 161.] But in liquid verbs, ϵ is used as tense-sign, and is contracted with the connecting vowels. [Paradigm, 172.]

a. MUTE VERBS (for euphonic changes, see 29):

$\kappa\lambda\acute{\epsilon}\psi\omega$ from $\kappa\lambda\acute{\epsilon}\pi\tau\omega$ to steal	$\tau\acute{\alpha}\xi\omega$ from $\tau\acute{\alpha}\sigma\sigma\omega$ ($\tau\alpha\gamma$) to arrange
$\tau\rho\acute{\iota}\psi\omega$ $\tau\rho\acute{\iota}\beta\omega$ to rub	$\delta\rho\acute{\upsilon}\xi\omega$ $\delta\rho\acute{\upsilon}\sigma\sigma\omega$ ($\omicron\rho\upsilon\chi$) to dig
$\gamma\rho\acute{\alpha}\psi\omega$ $\gamma\rho\acute{\alpha}\phi\omega$ to write	$\phi\rho\acute{\alpha}\sigma\omega$ $\phi\rho\acute{\alpha}\zeta\omega$ ($\phi\rho\alpha\delta$) to tell
$\pi\lambda\acute{\epsilon}\xi\omega$ $\pi\lambda\acute{\epsilon}\kappa\omega$ to twist	$\sigma\pi\acute{\epsilon}\iota\sigma\omega$ $\sigma\pi\acute{\epsilon}\nu\delta\omega$ to pour

For $\delta\rho\acute{\epsilon}\psi\omega$ from $\tau\rho\acute{\epsilon}\psi\omega$ ($\delta\rho\epsilon\psi$), and the like, see 37 c.

b. PURE VERBS (for short vowel lengthened, see 212):

$\tau\iota\mu\acute{\eta}\sigma\omega$ from $\tau\iota\mu\acute{\alpha}\omega$ to honor	$\delta\eta\rho\acute{\alpha}\sigma\omega$ from $\delta\eta\rho\acute{\alpha}\omega$ to hunt
$\phi\iota\lambda\acute{\eta}\sigma\omega$ $\phi\iota\lambda\acute{\epsilon}\omega$ to love	$\tau\epsilon\lambda\acute{\epsilon}\sigma\omega$ ($\tau\epsilon\lambda\tilde{\omega}$) $\tau\epsilon\lambda\acute{\epsilon}\omega$ to complete
$\delta\eta\lambda\acute{\omega}\sigma\omega$ $\delta\eta\lambda\acute{\alpha}\omega$ to manifest

c. Verbs of the SECOND CLASS have the lengthened stem in the fut.: thus $\pi\epsilon\acute{\iota}\sigma\omega$ (not $\pi\acute{\iota}\sigma\omega$) from $\pi\epsilon\iota\theta\omega$ ($\pi\acute{\iota}\theta$) to persuade, $\pi\acute{\nu}\epsilon\upsilon\sigma\omicron\mu\alpha\iota$ (not $\pi\acute{\nu}\sigma\omicron\mu\alpha\iota$) from $\pi\acute{\nu}\epsilon\omega$ ($\pi\acute{\nu}\upsilon$) to breathe.

d. LIQUID VERBS (with contraction as in the present of $\phi\iota\lambda\acute{\epsilon}\omega$): thus $\phi\alpha\acute{\nu}\tilde{\omega}$ (for $\phi\alpha\acute{\nu}\epsilon\omega$) from $\phi\alpha\acute{\iota}\nu\omega$ ($\phi\alpha\nu$) to show, $\sigma\tau\epsilon\lambda\tilde{\omega}$ (for $\sigma\tau\epsilon\lambda\acute{\epsilon}\omega$) from $\sigma\tau\epsilon\lambda\lambda\omega$ to send.

e. Some futures in $\tilde{\alpha}\omega$, $\epsilon\omega$ drop σ and contract: thus $\tau\epsilon\lambda\tilde{\omega}$, for $\tau\epsilon\lambda\acute{\epsilon}(\sigma)\omega$, from $\tau\epsilon\lambda\acute{\epsilon}\omega$ to complete; $\epsilon\lambda\tilde{\omega}$, for $\epsilon\lambda\acute{\alpha}(\sigma)\omega$, from $\epsilon\lambda\alpha\acute{\nu}\omega$ ($\epsilon\lambda\alpha$) to drive.

f. Futures in $\tilde{\iota}\omega$ often drop σ , but then insert ϵ and contract (Attic future): thus $\kappa\omicron\mu\tilde{\iota}\omega$, for $\kappa\omicron\mu\iota(\sigma)\epsilon\omega$, from $\kappa\omicron\mu\acute{\iota}\zeta\omega$ ($\kappa\omicron\mu\iota\delta$) to convey, fut. mid. $\kappa\omicron\mu\iota\omicron\mu\alpha\iota$, for $\kappa\omicron\mu\iota(\sigma)\epsilon\omicron\mu\alpha\iota$. The real tense-sign here is $\sigma\epsilon$ (cf. g).

g. Some futures of the middle voice add σε, instead of σ, to the stem (Doric future): thus πνευσούμαι, for πνευ-σε-ομαι, from πνέω (πνῦ, πνευ) to breathe; φευξοῦμαι, for φευγ-σε-ομαι, from φεύγ-ω (φῦγ) to flee: πνεύσομαι, φεύξομαι are also used.

h. A few verbs form the future without any tense-sign: thus χέω (mid. χέομαι) fut. of χέω (χῦ) to pour; ἔδ-ομαι, fut. of ἐσθίω to eat, πί-ομαι, fut. of πί-νω to drink.

FIRST AORIST SYSTEM, OR

First Aorist Active and Middle.

253. The first aorist active and middle adds the tense-sign σ to the stem. [Paradigm, 162.] But liquid verbs reject σ, and lengthen (16) the last vowel of the stem. [Paradigm, 173.]

a. MUTE VERBS and PURE VERBS (with tense-stem as in the future):

ἐ-κλεψ-α from κλέπ-τω	ἔταξα from τάσσω (ταγ)	ἐτίμησα from τιμά-ω ἔτριψα	ῥριβ-ω	ῥρύσσα (ορυχ)
ἔγραψα	γράφ-ω	ἔφρασα
ἔπλεξα	πλέκ-ω	ἔθρεψα
ἔσπεισα	σπένδ-ω	ἔπεισα πέθω (πιθ) ἔδηλωσα δηλό-ω

From χέω to pour comes ἔχεα (for εχευσα) corresponding to fut. χέω (252 h). Compare irreg. εἶπα (300 eo) and ἤνεγκα from φέρω (300 nt). For three aorists in κα (ἔθηκα, ἔδωκα, ἤκα), see 271.

b. LIQUID VERBS (see 16; but for α, cf. 15):

ἔ-φην-α from φαίνω (φᾶν) to show	ἔκρινα from κρίνω (κρίν) to judge
ἐμίᾱνα	μιάνω (μιᾶν) to soil ἔστειλα	στελλω (στέλ) to send

c. A few aorists have ā for η, or η for ā, as ἐκέρδᾱνα from κερδαίνω to gain. In ἤρα from αἶρω (αρ) to take up, and ἤλαμην from ἄλ-λομαι to leap, η is due to the augment; the tense-stem, seen in the other modes, is ār, āl.

d. INFLECTION (162. 173). The connecting vowel is α; for ἔλυσε, see 236; λύσον, λύσαι, and ἔλυσα, see 245 e. For mid. ἐλύσω, λύση, λύσαιο, see 245 b. For opt. -εἰας, -εἰε, -εἰαν (Aeolic forms), see 236 a. For accent of certain forms, see 248 e.

SECOND AORIST SYSTEM, OR

Second Aorist Active and Middle.

254. The second aorist active and middle has the stem without a tense-sign. It is inflected like the present system, but has only the historical forms of the indicative. [Paradigm, 166.]

For change of ε to α in the 2 aor., see 211. For accent of impv. 2 sing., inf., and part., see 247-8. For second aorist system without connecting vowels (μῑ-form), see 266-.

a. In ἡγαγον (2 aor. of ἡγω to lead) the stem is reduplicated (αγαγ). Syncopated stems are seen in ἐ-πτ-όμην (from πέτ-ομαι to fly), ἔ-σχ-ον (for ε-σεχ-ον, from ἔχω to have), ἐ-σπ-όμην (for ε-σεπ-ομην, from ἐπομαι to follow), ἦλθον (for ἡλύθ-ον found in Hm., pres. ἐρχομαι to come), and some others: ἤνεγκον (for ἡν-ενεκ-ον, pres. φέρω to bear) has both reduplication and syncope.

PERFECT ACTIVE SYSTEMS, OR

Perfect and Pluperfect Active.

255. The two perfect active systems have the REDUPLICATION (204-9) in common, and are alike in their INFLECTION (163. 167). For connecting vowels of the indic., see 237. For λέλυκα, λέλυκε, see 245 a. For augment of plup., see 200. For -σαν in plup. 3 pl., see 240 c. For accent of inf. and part., see 248 c, d. For second perfect system without connecting vowels (μ-form), see 266-.

a. In the plup., the older Attic sometimes has η for ειν, seldom ης for εις, and η or ειν for ει; cf. 280 fa. — b. The subj., opt., and imprv. have the inflection of the present. — c. The imprv. is very rarely used, and only in perfects which have a present meaning. In place of it the perf. part. can be used with the imprv. of εἰμι to be: thus λελυκώς ἴσθι, ἔστω, etc. — d. Even the subj. and opt. are frequently made in this way: thus λελυκώς ᾧ, λελυκώς εἴην, instead of λελύκω, λελύκοιμι, which do not very often occur.

256. The first perfect and pluperfect add the tense-sign κ to the reduplicated stem. [Paradigm, 163.]

a. This is the form for nearly all pure verbs, and for most liquid verbs, and mute verbs with lingual stems: the lingual mute is dropped before κ (26 a), as κεκόμικα from κομίζω (κομιδ) to convey.

b. Pure verbs and verbs of the second class have the lengthened stem in the 1 perf.: thus τετίμηκα	from τιμά-ω	τεθήρᾱκα	from θηρά-ω	πέπεικα	from πείθω (πιθ) πεφίληκα	φιλέ-ω	(τετέλεκα	τελέ-ω)	πέπνευκα	πνέω (πνυ)

δεδήλωκα	δηλό-ω

c. Liquid stems of one syllable change ε to α: as ἔσταλκα from στέλλω to send, ἔφθαρκα from φθείρω (φθερ) to destroy. — d. A few verbs reject ν, as κέκρικα from κρίνω (κρίν) to distinguish, τέτακα from τείνω (τεν) to extend: if not rejected, it is changed to γ nasal (30), as in πέφαγκα (from φαίνω (φαν) to show). — e. Several liquid stems are changed to vowel-stems by transposition, as in βέβληκα from βάλ-λω to throw, τέτμηκα from τέμ-νω to cut.

257. The second perfect and pluperfect have the reduplicated stem without a tense-sign. [Paradigm, 167.]

a. The vowel ε in the stem becomes ο in the 2 perf. (211).

Thus ἔστροφ-α from στρέφ-ω to turn, τέτοκ-α from τίκτω (τεκ) to bring forth. — b. In vowel-strengthening verbs (213), stems of one syllable take the lengthened form, but change ει to οι (14 a): thus εἰ-ληφ-α (257 e) from λαμβάνω (λάβ) to take, λέλοιπα from λείπω (λίπ) to leave, πέφευγα from φεύγω (φύγ) to flee. — c. In all consonant-stems of one syllable, a is lengthened, unless (d.) a rough mute follows it: thus πέφθηα from φαίνω (φᾶν) to show, κέκράγα from κράω (κράγ) to cry; but (d.) γέγραφα from γράφω to write, τέταχα from τάσσω (ταγ) to arrange.

e. Some verbs aspirate a labial or palatal mute at the end of the stem, changing π or β to φ, and κ or γ to χ.

Thus κέκλοφα from κλέπ-τω to steal, ἤλλαχα from ἀλλάσσω (αλλάγ) to exchange. From πράσσω (πράγ) to do comes πέπραχα have done, but πέπραγα am doing (succeeding, well or ill); from ἀν-αίγω to open, ἀν-έφχα have opened, but ἀν-έωγα (not Attic) am open.

PERFECT MIDDLE SYSTEM, OR

Perfect, Pluperfect, Fut. Perf., Middle (Passive).

258. The perfect and pluperfect middle have the reduplicated stem, to which the endings are applied directly, without connecting vowels. [Paradigm, 164.]

a. The vowel-changes of the 1 perf. are found also in the perf. mid.:

τετίμημαι from τιμᾶ-ω τεθῆράμαι from θηρά-ω πέπεισμαι from πείθω πεφίλημαι φιλέ-ω ἔσταλμαι στέλλω βέβλημαι βάλλω δεδήλωμαι δηλό-ω ἔφθαρμαι φθείρω τέτμημαι τέμνω

b. Further, τρέφω (θρεφ) to nourish, τρέπ-ω to turn, and στρέφ-ω to turn change ε to α: τέθραμμαι (37 c), τέτραμμαι, ἔστραμμαι; cf. 260.

259. Many pure verbs add σ before the endings of the perfect middle. [Paradigm, 174.]

It is almost always added when a final stem-vowel remains short (212 a): thus τετέλε-σ-μαι from τελέ-ω to complete, ἔσπα-σ-μαι from σπά-ω to draw. But it is also added after a long vowel: thus κέ-χω-σ-μαι from χό-ω to heap up, κέκλει-σ-μαι (or κέκλειμαι) from κλεί-ω to shut. It is omitted where σ follows in the ending (31 a), as in τετελέ-σθαι.

260. Liquid Verbs and Mute Verbs are subject to euphonic changes (26–31), from the meeting of consonants in stem and endings. [Paradigm, 174.]

a. Verbs which reject ν in the perf. act. (256 d) reject it also in the perf. mid.: thus κέκρῃμαι, τέτᾱμαι. When retained, it remains unchanged, as in πέφανσαι from φαίνω, ῶξυνται from ῶξυνω to sharpen; — but before μ it is changed to μ, or, oftener, to σ: thus πέφασμαι, ῶξυμμαι.

b. When μ or γγ would be brought before μ, the first consonant is rejected: thus πέμπ-ω to send, πέ-πεμ-μαι (for πε-πεμμ-μαι), ἐλέγχ-ω to convict, ἐλ-ήλεγ-μαι (for ελ-ηλεγγ-μαι). — σπένδ-ω to pour libation makes ἔσπεισμαι (for εσπενσ-μαι, and this for εσπενδ-μαι).

261. Consonant-stems make the third person plural of the indicative by using the perfect participle with εἰσι they are and ἦσαν they were. See 174.

The endings νται, ντο could not be pronounced after a consonant. — a. The Ionic αται, ατο (before which π, β, κ, γ were aspirated) are rarely found in Attic, as τετάχεται, ἐτετάχато (for τεταγμένοι εἰσὶ, ἦσαν) from τάσσω (ταγ) to arrange.

262. The perfect subjunctive and optative are made by using the perfect participle with the subj. and opt. of εἰμί to be. See 174.

a. The verb κτά-ομαι to acquire, perf. κέκτημαι possess, makes subj. κεκτῶμαι, κεκτῇ, κεκτῆται (contracted from κεκτη-ωμαι, etc.), opt. κεκτῶμην, κεκτῷ, κεκτῷτο (from κεκτη-οιμην, etc.), or κεκτῆμην, κεκτῆ, κεκτῆτο (from κεκτη-ιμην, etc., without connecting vowel). — μμνήσκω (μνα) to remind, perf. μέμνημαι remember, makes similar forms.

263. The FUTURE PERFECT adds the tense-sign σ to the reduplicated stem. It has the inflection of the future middle, and differs from it only by the reduplication. [Paradigm, 164.]

a. It is not formed from liquid stems, and rarely from stems beginning with a vowel. — b. There are two cases of a future perfect active: ἐστήξω shall stand from perf. ἕστηκα stand (pres. ἵστημι to set), and τεθνήξω shall be dead from perf. τέθνηκα am dead (pres. θνήσκω to die).

PASSIVE SYSTEMS, OF Aorist and Future Passive.

264. The passive aorists add to the stem a passive-sign, θε for the first aorist, ε for the second: these become θη and η before a single consonant (230). The passive futures add the tense-sign σ with the passive-sign; thus θησ for the first future, ησ for the second. [Paradigms, 165. 168.]

a. Both passive aorists have the same INFLECTION. The aor. pass. takes the endings of the active, without connecting vowels, and thus resembles the μι-forms. For σαν in the 3 plur., see 240 c. For contraction in subj. and opt., see 230. For mode-sign of opt., see 234 a. For τι instead of θι in the 1 aor. impv., see 37 b. For accent of the inf. and part., see 248 c, d. — The fut. pass. has the inflection of the fut. mid.

b. The vowel-changes of the perf. mid. (258 a) appear also in the first passive system. So too the rejection of ν from liquid stems (260 a), and the addition of σ to vowel-stems (259). Thus ἐτιμήθην from τιμά-ω	ἐπέσθην from πέσθω	ἐτάθην from τείνω ἐθηράθην θηρά-ω	ἐβλήθην βάλλω	ἐκρίθην κρίνω ἐφιλήθην φιλέω	ἐτέμθην τέμνω	ἐτελέσθην τελέω

ἐδηλώθην δηλόω		ἐσπάσθην σπάω

c. Mute stems are subject to euphonic changes (26) before θ in the first passive system. [Paradigm, 174.] For ἐθρέφθην, see 37 c. — d. From τίθημι (θε) to put and δίδω to offer come ἐτέθην, ἐτόθην (37).

e. In the second passive system, the only change of stem is the change of ε to α: thus ἐστάλην from στέλλω to send. — f. πλῆσσω (πλήγ) to s'rike makes ἐπλήγην; but in composition with ἐξ and κατά, it makes -επλάγην. — g. The second passive system is seldom formed from verbs which have a 2 aor. act.

Verbal Adjectives.

265. The verbal adjectives resemble passive participles. They are formed by adding τό or τέο to the stem. Thus

a. λυ-τό-ς, λυτή, λυτόν, loosed, looseable.

b. λυ-τέο-ς, λυτέα, λυτέον, (requiring) to be loosed.

The stem has the same form as in the 1 aor. pass., except that a mute before τός and τέος must be smooth (26). Thus τιμητός, τέος fr. τιμά-ω πειστός, τέος fr. πείθω πλεκτός, τέος fr. πλέκω δηράτός, τέος δηρά-ω βλητός, τέος βάλλω τακτός, τέος τάσσω τελεστός, τέος τελέ-ω τᾱτός, τέος τείνω δρεπτός, τέος τρέφω according to the μ-form.

PRESENT, SECOND AORIST, AND SECOND PERFECT SYSTEMS,

266. Some verbs inflect the present system without connecting vowels. These are called Verbs in μ (157). — In like manner, but less often, the second aorist and second perfect systems are inflected without connecting vowels. These also are called μ-forms, though belonging for the most part to verbs in ω (157 b). — [Paradigms, 187-95.]

Further peculiarities of this formation.

267. In respect to the endings,

a. μ and σι are retained in the indic.: φη-μί, φη-σί.

b. θι is often retained in the impv.: φα-θί say.

c. σαι and σο usually retain σ: δίδο-σαι, ἵστα-σο.

d. the 3 plur. of the historical tenses has σαν: ἔφα-σαν.

e. the inf. act. has ναι (248 c): φά-ναι, θεῖ-ναι.

f. the part. act. retains ς in the nom. masc.: διδούς.

g. In the pres. impv., θι is commonly rejected, and the vowel before it lengthened: ἴστη, τίθει, δίδου, δείκνυ, (for ἰσᾱ-θι, τιθε-θι, διδο-θι, δεικνύ-θι.) In the 2 aor., θι after a short vowel loses ι: thus στῆ-θι, but δός (for δοθ, by 47 a) for δο-θι.

h. σαι and σο never retain σ in the 2 aor., nor in the subj. and opt.: ἔθου (for εθε-σο), τιθεῖο (for τιθει-σο); — and in other forms too they sometimes lose it: ἵστα-σο and ἵστω.

i. The ending σθα is sometimes used for ς in the 2 sing. indic.: ἔφη-σθα.

268. A connecting vowel α is inserted before νσι in the pres. indic. 3 plur.

Thus $\tau\iota\theta\acute{\epsilon}\text{-}\alpha\text{-}\sigma\iota$ (for $\tau\iota\theta\epsilon\text{-}\alpha\text{-}\nu\sigma\iota$), $\iota\sigma\tau\hat{\alpha}\sigma\iota$ (contracted for $\iota\sigma\tau\alpha\text{-}\alpha\text{-}\nu\sigma\iota$). So in the perf. ind. 3 plur.: $\delta\epsilon\delta\acute{\iota}\text{-}\alpha\text{-}\sigma\iota$ they are afraid, $\acute{\epsilon}\sigma\tau\hat{\alpha}\sigma\iota$ (for $\acute{\epsilon}\sigma\tau\alpha\text{-}\alpha\text{-}\nu\sigma\iota$). — a. A connecting vowel is seen also in the impf. $\acute{\epsilon}\delta\acute{\iota}\delta\omicron\upsilon\nu$, $\acute{\epsilon}\delta\acute{\iota}\delta\omicron\upsilon\varsigma$, $\acute{\epsilon}\delta\acute{\iota}\delta\omicron\upsilon$ (contracted for $\acute{\epsilon}\delta\acute{\iota}\delta\omicron\text{-}\alpha\text{-}\nu$, $\text{-}\epsilon\text{-}\varsigma$, $\text{-}\epsilon$), $\acute{\epsilon}\tau\acute{\iota}\theta\epsilon\iota\varsigma$, $\acute{\epsilon}\tau\acute{\iota}\theta\epsilon\iota$ (for $\epsilon\tau\acute{\iota}\theta\epsilon\text{-}\epsilon\text{-}\varsigma$, $\text{-}\epsilon$), which almost always take the place of $\acute{\epsilon}\delta\acute{\iota}\delta\omega\nu$, $\acute{\epsilon}\delta\acute{\iota}\delta\omega\varsigma$, $\acute{\epsilon}\delta\acute{\iota}\delta\omega$, $\acute{\epsilon}\tau\acute{\iota}\theta\eta\varsigma$, $\acute{\epsilon}\tau\acute{\iota}\theta\eta$: — further in the opt. $\tau\iota\theta\acute{\omicron}\iota\mu\eta\nu$ (for $\tau\iota\theta\epsilon\text{-}\omicron\text{-}\iota\mu\eta\nu$).

269. A final α , ϵ , \omicron of the stem is contracted with the mode-signs of the subj. and opt.

Thus $\tau\iota\theta\hat{\omega}\mu\alpha\iota$ (for $\tau\iota\theta\epsilon\text{-}\omega\text{-}\mu\alpha\iota$), $\delta\acute{\omicron}\iota\eta\nu$ (for $\delta\omicron\text{-}\iota\eta\text{-}\nu$). In the subj. $\alpha\eta$, $\alpha\rho$, $\omicron\eta$ are contracted to η , ρ , φ (not $\bar{\alpha}$, $\bar{\alpha}$, $\bar{\omicron}$, 18. 21): $\sigma\tau\hat{\eta}\varsigma$ (for $\sigma\tau\alpha\text{-}\eta\varsigma$), $\delta\hat{\varphi}$ (for $\delta\omicron\text{-}\eta$). — a. The subj. and opt. mid. are sometimes accented without reference to the contraction, as $\tau\acute{\iota}\theta\omega\mu\alpha\iota$ (for $\tau\iota\theta\hat{\omega}\mu\alpha\iota$): in some deponents, as $\delta\acute{\upsilon}\nu\alpha\mu\alpha\iota$, this is always the case.

b. If the tense-stem ends in ι or υ , the subj. and opt. are like those of verbs in ω : $\gamma\text{-}\omega$, $\delta\epsilon\iota\kappa\nu\acute{\omicron}\text{-}\omicron\iota\mu\iota$.

270. The final vowel of the tense-stem is generally short: but — a. the pres. and impf. act. make it long in the sing. of the indic. — b. the 2 aor. act. makes it long before a single consonant.

Thus — a. $\phi\eta\text{-}\mu\acute{\iota}$, $\xi\phi\eta$; but $\phi\alpha\text{-}\mu\acute{\epsilon}\nu$, $\phi\alpha\acute{\iota}\eta\nu$, $\phi\acute{\alpha}\text{-}\nu\alpha\iota$. — b. $\xi\sigma\tau\eta\text{-}\varsigma$, $\xi\sigma\tau\eta$ (for $\epsilon\sigma\tau\eta\text{-}\tau$), $\sigma\tau\hat{\eta}\text{-}\theta\iota$, $\sigma\tau\hat{\eta}\text{-}\nu\alpha\iota$; but $\sigma\tau\acute{\alpha}\iota\eta\nu$, $\sigma\tau\acute{\alpha}\text{-}\nu\tau\omega\nu$, $\sigma\tau\acute{\alpha}\nu$ (neut. part. for $\sigma\tau\alpha\text{-}\nu\tau$). — c. The 2 aor. act. of $\tau\acute{\iota}\theta\eta\mu\iota$, $\delta\acute{\iota}\delta\omega\mu\iota$, $\gamma\eta\mu\iota$ lengthens only the infinitive: $\delta\epsilon\acute{\iota}\text{-}\nu\alpha\iota$, $\delta\omicron\upsilon\text{-}\nu\alpha\iota$, $\epsilon\acute{\iota}\text{-}\nu\alpha\iota$: — indic. $\epsilon\acute{\iota}\text{-}\mu\epsilon\nu$, etc., is for $\acute{\epsilon}\text{-}\acute{\epsilon}\text{-}\mu\epsilon\nu$ (201).

271. PECULIAR FIRST AORIST IN $\kappa\alpha$. The three verbs $\gamma\eta\mu\iota$, $\tau\acute{\iota}\theta\eta\mu\iota$, $\delta\acute{\iota}\delta\omega\mu\iota$ make 1 aor. $\acute{\eta}\kappa\alpha$, $\acute{\epsilon}\theta\eta\kappa\alpha$, $\acute{\epsilon}\delta\omega\kappa\alpha$, with irreg. tense-sign κ . This is nearly confined to the indic. act., and is very common in the indic. sing., where these verbs form no 2 aor.: in the dual and plur., the 2 aor. is more common (191–2. 273 a).

272. ENUMERATION OF THE μ -FORMS. The peculiarities of this formation are such as to call for a particular statement of the verbs in which it is found. Those which have present systems of the μ -form are called Verbs in μ : they belong to the eighth, first, and fifth classes.

The following lists (273–80) give, in general, only the μ -forms of the verbs mentioned. For other forms, the student is referred to the Alphabetical List in 800.

273. Verbs in μ of the Eighth Class.

Rem. fa. In this verb and the next, the redupl. is strengthened by the nasal μ . This, however, falls away in the compounds, if the preposition has μ : $\acute{\epsilon}\mu\text{-}\pi\acute{\iota}\mu\pi\lambda\eta\mu\iota$, but impf. 3 pl. $\acute{\epsilon}\nu\text{-}\acute{\epsilon}\pi\acute{\iota}\mu\pi\lambda\alpha\sigma\alpha\nu$.

In $\acute{\alpha}\pi\delta\text{-}\chi\tau\eta$ it is enough, impf. $\acute{\alpha}\pi\acute{\epsilon}\chi\tau\eta$, inf. $\acute{\alpha}\pi\omicron\chi\tau\eta\nu$, part. $\acute{\alpha}\pi\omicron\chi\tau\acute{\omega}\nu$, (fut. $\acute{\alpha}\pi\omicron\chi\tau\eta\sigma\epsilon\iota$, aor. $\acute{\alpha}\pi\acute{\epsilon}\chi\tau\eta\sigma\epsilon$), there are no μ -forms.

C. Stems in σ .

277. εἰμί (εσ) to be.

Pr. Ind.			Impf.
εἰμί,	ἐσμέν,	ἦν or ἦ,	ἦμεν,
εἶ,	ἐσόν,	ἦσθα,	ἦστον or ἦτον,	ἦτε or ἦστε,
ἐστί,	ἐσόν,	ἦν,	ἦστην " ἦτην,	ἦσαν;
Pr. Sub.			Pr. Opt.
ῶ,	ῶμεν,	εἴην,	εἴημεν or εἴμεν,
ῆς,	ῆτον,	εἴης,	εἴητον or εἴτον,	εἴητε " εἴτε,
ῆ,	ῆτον,	εἴη,	εἴητην " εἴτην,	εἴησαν " εἴεν;
Pr. impv.	ἴσθι, ἔστω, ἔστον, ἔστων, ἔστε, ἔστωσαν or ἔστων;
inf.	εἶναι; part. ὢν, οὔσα, ὄν (οντ).
Fut. mid.	ἔσομαι (3 s. ἔσται), opt. ἐσείμην, inf. ἐσεσθαι, part. ἐσόμενος.

a. In the pres. indic. εἰμί is for $\epsilon\sigma\text{-}\mu\iota$, σ being dropped and ϵ lengthened (16): εἶ is for $\epsilon\sigma\iota$ (properly $\epsilon\sigma\text{-}\sigma\iota$): ἐσ-τί retains the original ending $\tau\iota$ (240 a): εἰσί has arisen from $\epsilon(\sigma)\text{-}\nu\sigma\iota$. In the impf. ἦν, ἦσθα (later ἦς), ἦν, are for $\eta(\sigma)\text{-}\nu$, $\eta(\sigma)\text{-}\sigma\theta\alpha$, $\eta(\sigma)\text{-}\tau$: in ἦσαν(τ), α is a connecting vowel. The subj. ῶ is for $\epsilon\omega$ (Ion.) from $\epsilon\sigma\text{-}\omega$: the opt. εἴην is for $\epsilon\sigma\text{-}\iota\eta\text{-}\nu$. The impv. 3 pl. ἔστων is for $\epsilon\sigma\text{-}\nu\tau\omega\text{-}\nu$. The inf. εἶναι is for $\epsilon\sigma\text{-}\nu\alpha\iota$: the part. ὢν is for $\epsilon\acute{\omega}\nu$ (Ion.) from $\epsilon\sigma\text{-}\omega\text{-}\nu$.

b. The forms of the pres. ind. are all enclitic, except εἶ. After a paroxytone, they have an accent on the ultima, by 69 a. — c. But the 3 sing. takes the regular accent (ἔστι),

ca. when it denotes existence or possibility:

cb. when it stands at the beginning of a sentence:

cc. when it follows οὐ (οὐκ), μή, εἰ, ὥς, καί.

Thus τοῦτο ὃ ἐστί that which exists, ἐστί μοι βουλομένῳ it is according to my wish, εἰ ἔστιν οὕτως if it is so. — d. The future form ἔσται (for $\epsilon\sigma\text{-}\epsilon\text{-}\tau\alpha\iota$) retains its accent in composition, as παρ-έσται.

Second Perfects of the μ -form.

280. In the indicative, the μ -form appears only in the dual and plural; the singular always has a connecting vowel: see paradigm, 195.

a. ἵστημι (στα) to set, 1 pf. ἔστηκα (for σε-στηκα) stand (288 a), with regular inflection: 2 pf. dual ἕστατον, etc. See paradigm, 195.

b. βαίνω (βα) to go, 1 pf. βέβηκα have gone, stand fast, regular: 2 pf. 3 pl. βεβᾶσι, subj. 3 pl. βεβῶσι, inf. βεβάναι, part. βεβῶς, βεβῶσα, gen. βεβῶτος, (contracted from βεβαῶς.)

c. γίγνομαι (γεν, also γα) to become, 2 pf. γέγονα regular: 2 pf. part. γεγώς, γεγῶσα, gen. γεγῶτος, (contracted from γεγαῶς.)

d. θνήσκω (θαν, θνα) to die, 1 pf. τέθνηκα (am dead) regular: 2 pf. du. τέθνατον, pl. τέθναμεν, τεθνᾶσι, 2 plup. 3 pl. ἐτέθνασαν, pf. opt. τεθναίην (poet.), impv. τέθναθι, inf. τεθνάναι, part. τεθνεώς, -ῶσα, -ός, gen. -ῶτος (14 b).

e. stem δι (δει 213, δοι 211 a), 1 pf. δέδουκα, 2 pf. δέδια fear: 2 pf. pl. δέδιμεν, δέδιτε, δεδίᾳσι, 2 plup. 3 pl. ἐδέδισαν, pf. subj. δεδίω, opt. δεδιείην, impv. δέδιθι, inf. δεδιέναι, part. δεδιώς. — Instead of the μ -forms, forms with connecting vowels are sometimes found: δεδίσαμεν, ἐδέδισαν.

The following have stems ending in a consonant, and are subject, therefore, to various euphonic changes:

f. stem ιδ (ειδ, οιδ), 2 pf. οἶδα know. — The original stem ιδ (i. e. Fiδ, Lat. vid-eo) appears in the pf. indic., du. and plur., and in the impv.; the strengthened ειδ (213), in the pf. part., and in the plup., which changes it to ηδ for the augment. ειδ becomes οιδ (211 a) in the sing. of the pf. ind.: in the subj., opt., and inf., it assumes ε (217), giving ειδε. The pf. indic. 3 pl. ἴσασι is wholly irregular.

Pf. Ind.	οἶδ-α, οἶσθα, οἶδε,	ἴσ-τον, ἴσ-τον,	ἴσ-μεν, ἴσ-τε, ἴσ-ᾱσι;
Plup.	ᾔδειν or ᾔδη,		ᾔδειμεν or ᾔσμεν,
	ᾔδεισθα " ᾔδησθα,	ᾔδειτον or ᾔστον,	ᾔδειτε " ᾔστε,
	ᾔδει(ν) " ᾔδη,	ᾔδείτην " ᾔστην,	ᾔδεσαν " ᾔσαν;
Pf. Sub.	εἰδῶ, εἰδῆς, εἰδῆ,	εἰδῆτον, εἰδῆτον,	εἰδῶμεν, εἰδῆτε, εἰδῶσι;
Opt.	εἰδέην, εἰδέης, εἰδέη,	etc.;
Impv.	ἴσ-θι, ἴσ-τω,	ἴσ-τον, ἴσ-των,	ἴσ-τε, ἴσ-τωσαν;
Inf.	εἰδέ-ναι; Part. εἰδώς,	εἰδύια, εἰδός,	G. εἰδότος.

Fut. εἰσομαι (281) shall know, V. ἰστέον.

Rem. fa. The forms ᾔδεις, ᾔδης are also used for ᾔδεισθα, ᾔδησθα: οἶδας for οἶσθα is rare; as also οἶδαμεν, οἶδατε, οἶδᾱσι, for ἴσμεν, etc.

g. stem ικ (εικ, οικ), 2 pf. εἵκοι am like, appear, 2 plup. ἐφίκειν: 2 pf. 1 pl. εἵλοκαμεν (poetic εἵοιμεν), 3 pl. εἵλοκᾱσι, irreg. εἵλᾱσι (cf. ἴσᾱσι fr. ιδ), inf. εἵοικέναι and εἵκέναι, part. εἵοικώς and εἵκώς, νία, ὄς. Fut. εἵξω rare.

h. κράζω (κραγ) to cry, 2 pf. κέκραγα; 2 pf. impv. κέκραχθι.

VOICES IRREGULARLY USED.

281. In many verbs the active voice has no future, the future middle being used instead: thus ἀκούω to hear, fut. ἀκούσομαι (not ακουσω) shall hear.

282. In some verbs the future middle is used also in a passive sense: thus λείπω to leave, λείβομαι (= λειφθήσομαι) shall be left.

283. In some verbs the aorist passive is used in a middle sense: thus στρέφω to turn, ἐστράφην turned (myself), φαίνω to show, ἐφάνην showed myself, appeared, (but 1 aor. ἐφάνθην was shown.)

284. In many DEPONENT VERBS (151 a) the middle voice has no aorist, the aorist passive being used instead.

Thus βούλομαι to wish, fut. βουλήσομαι shall wish, but aor. ἐβουλήθην (not ἐβουλήσαμην) wished. These are called PASSIVE DEPONENTS. — a. Some of them have a future passive, used like the future middle: thus διαλέγομαι to converse, aor. διελέχθην conversed, fut. διαλέξομαι and διαλεχθήσομαι shall converse.

285. Of middle deponents (i. e. such as have an aorist middle), some have also an aorist and future passive, used in a passive sense: thus ἰδομαι to heal, aor. ἰασάμην healed, but ἰδθην was healed. — a. Even the present and perfect systems of deponent verbs are occasionally used in a passive sense: thus βιάζεσθαι to do violence, also to suffer violence, μιμήμηναι have imitated, also have been imitated.

Transitive and intransitive senses in the same voice.

286. A verb is transitive, when the sense admits of a direct object; intransitive, when it does not.

Thus λύω to loose, γράφω to write are transitive (as in λύειν τὸν ἄνδρα to loose the man, γράφειν τὴν ἐπιστολὴν to write the letter); but ῥέω to flow, κάμνω to be weary are intransitive.

287. Some verbs in the same voice have both a transitive and intransitive meaning.

Thus ἐλαύνω trans. to drive, intrans. to ride, march; πράσσω trans. to do, intrans. (with εἶ or κακῶς) to succeed (well or ill); ἔχω trans. to have, hold, intrans. in ἔχε δὴ (hold) stop now, κακῶς ἔχει it is well. Compare the English verbs to move, turn, break, and many others.

288. In some verbs the transitive and intransitive meanings belong to different tenses. In such cases the future and first aorist are transitive, the second aorist and the perfect are intransitive. Thus — a. ἵστημι to set, place, fut. στήσω, aor. ἔστησα; but 2 aor. ἕστην stood, perf. ἕστηκα (have set myself) am standing. The compounds have the same peculiarity. — b. σβέννυμι to extinguish, σβέσω, ἔσβεσα; but ἔσβην went out, ἔσβηκα am out. — c. φύω to make grow, φύσω, ἔφουσα; but ἔφυν grew, came to be, πέφυκα am by nature. — d. δύω to pass under, sink, ἔδυν, δέδυκα; but with the sense of cause to sink, δύσω, ἔδυσα.

289. In several verbs the second perfect is the only active form which has an intransitive sense: thus ἐγνυμι to break, ἔγαγα am broken; ἐγείρω to wake trans., ἐγρήγορα am awake; ὀλλυμι to destroy, ὄλωκα am ruined (ὀλώλεκα have ruined); πείθω to persuade, πέποιθα trust (πειθομαι comply); πήγνυμι to fix, πέπηγα am fixed; ῥήγνυμι to break, ῥήρωγα am broken; σήπω to rot trans., σέσηκα am rotten; τήκω to melt, trans. τέτηκα am melted; φαίνω to show, πέφηνα have shown myself, appeared (φαίνομαι appear). — For πέπρωγα and πέπρωχα, ἀνέρωγα and ἀνέρωχα, see 257 e.

CLASSIFIED LIST OF VERBS.

290. The following list is arranged according to the nine classes (220-28). In the first and fourth classes, which are very numerous, only such verbs are given as have certain peculiarities of formation. In the other classes are given most of the (simple) verbs which belong to them. For the special formation of each verb, see the Alphabetical List in 300.

A verb is enclosed in brackets (thus [τρέω]), if its present system is not used in Attic prose. A hyphen is prefixed to a verb (thus -κλάω), if in Attic prose it is only used in composition (i. e. with a preposition prefixed to it).

291. FIRST CLASS (Stem Class).

a. For VERBS IN μι of the first class, see 274-8.

SPECIAL FORMATION OF VERBS.

Alphabetical List.

300. The following list contains a number of verbs, beside those included in the foregoing classified list: thus, especially,

a. verbs which have some irregularity in augment or reduplication:

b. verbs of which the active voice has no future, the future middle being used instead:

c. verbs without an active voice, in which the middle has no aorist, the aor. pass. being used instead (passive deponents, 284): with a few others, inserted on account of various peculiarities.

The list gives the Attic inflection (tense-systems) of the verbs included in it. But other forms are introduced to some extent. Those enclosed in [], or marked n. a. pr., are not used in Attic prose. The letters n. a. (not Attic, in prose or poetry), — r. (rare), r. a. (rare in Attic), r. a. pr. (rare in Attic prose), — po. (poetic), — l. (late, after the proper Attic period), — are added to some forms to mark the extent of their use. Forms which occur in comic dialogue are, in general, regarded as belonging to the language of Attic prose. The existence of a future in Attic is often inferred from that of a first aorist.

Where the forms are arranged in columns, the future system stands in the first column, the aorist systems in the second, the perfect systems in the third, and the passive systems in the fourth.

As to verbs not included in the list, the learner may seek for their forms in the lexicon, or construct them from the stem, by applying the rules for tense-formation (250-64).

PART THIRD.

DERIVATION AND COMPOSITION.

301. A SIMPLE word is formed from a single stem; a COMPOUND word, from two or more stems.

Thus ἀξί-ό-λογο-s worthy of mention is a compound, formed from the stems of the two simple words ἄξιο-s worthy and λόγο-s speech. The compound stem may contain a preposition, or other uninflectible word, as in ἀπο-γράφ-ω to write off; — it rarely contains an inflected form, as in νεώ-s-οικο-s ship-house, where νεώ-s is the inflected genitive of ναῦ-s.

302. VERBAL NOUNS (both substantive and adjective) are formed from verb-stems by the addition of derivative endings or SUFFIXES.

Thus τιμή (τιμᾶ) payment, value, honor, is a verbal substantive formed by adding the suffix μᾶ to the stem of τί-νω to pay. — a. A few verbals are formed without suffixes: thus φλόξ (φλογ, 806 c) flame fr. φλέγ-ω to burn.

303. A noun-stem, with its suffix, may be used in forming the stem of a new verb. Such verbs are said to be DENOMINATIVE (derived from nouns).

Thus from τι-μα, the stem of τιμή honor, comes the denominative verb τιμά-ω to honor. If the stem of a verb contains no suffix, the verb is said to be PRIMITIVE or RADICAL, and its stem is called a ROOT: thus τί-νω is a primitive verb, and τι a root. Most roots are of one syllable: originally all were so.

304. There are also DENOMINATIVE NOUNS (substantive and adjective) formed from the stems of other nouns by the addition of suffixes.

Thus ἀρχαῖος (αρχα-ιο) ancient, μετριότης (μετριο-τητ) moderation, are denominatives formed from the stems of ἀρχή beginning, μέτριο-ς moderate, by the suffixes ιο and τητ.

305. In very many cases the derivation of a word is untraceable, either because the word from which it was derived is never found in use, or because the connection between them is obscured by changes of sound or meaning.

306. EUPHONIC CHANGES. The union of stems and suffixes gives occasion to many euphonic changes. Most of them appear also in the union of stem with stem in compound words.

Thus — a. VOWELS CONTRACTED: ἀρχαῖος for ἀρχα-ιο-ς. — b. VOWELS OMITTED, before vowels or between consonants: οὐραν-ιο-ς heavenly fr. οὐρανός heaven, πατρ-ικός paternal fr. πατήρ (πατερ) father. — c. VOWELS INTERCHANGED: λόγ-ος speech fr. λέγ-ω to speak, ἀλοιφ-ή ointment fr. ἀλείφ-ω to anoint, οἰκέ-της house-servant fr. οἶκο-ς house. — d. VOWELS LENGTHENED: ποιή-μα(τ) poem, ποιή-σι-ς poetry, ποιη-τής poet, fr. ποιέ-ω to make, compose; cf. pf. mid. πε-ποίη-μαι, -σαι, -ται: [and, in like manner, compare κέλευ-σ-μα(τ) command, κελυ-σ-τή-ς commander, with pf. mid. κε-κέλευ-σ-μαι, -ται (259).] — e. VOWELS INSERTED: πιθ-α-νός persuasive fr. πείθω (πιθ) to persuade, φαρ-έ-τρα (306 c) quiver fr. φέρ-ω to bear, αἱματ-ηρός bloody fr. αἷμα(τ) blood, τεχν-ί-τη-ς (306 b) artist fr. τέχνη art, ἡδ-ο-νὴ pleasure fr. ἡδ-ομαι to be pleased, πατρῷος (for πατρ-ώ-ιο-ς) paternal fr. πατήρ father, ἐχ-υ-ρός firm fr. ἐχ-ω to hold. — f. FINAL υ, σ, OR τ, DROPPED from noun-stem (often with preceding vowel): βασιλείος (for βασιλευ-ιο-ς) and βασιλ-ικός royal fr. βασιλεύ-ς king, ἀλήθεια (for αληθεσ-ια) truth, fr. ἀληθής true, εὐτυχ-ία good fortune fr. εὐτυχής fortunate, στόμ-ιο-ν (for στοματ-ιο-ν) bit fr. στόμα(τ) mouth. — g. CONSONANT CHANGES: γράμμα (for γραφ-ματ) letter, λέξις (for λεγ-σι-ς) speaking, δικαστής (for δικαδ-τη-ς) judge fr. δικάζω to judge.

307. ACCENT OF SIMPLE WORDS. Oxytone are SUBSTANTIVES in -ιδ and -αδ, -ευ, -τηρ and -τριδ, -μο and -μα, -ων, and -ια of place. So most verbals in -τα, especially those of more than two syllables with long penult; and most verbals in -α (-η), especially those which change the vowel of the verb-stem by 306 c, or come from stems of two or more syllables. Accented on the penult are feminines in -τιδ, words of place in -ειο, diminutives in -σκο; also diminutives in -ιο of three syllables with the first one long. Of other neuters nearly all have recessive accent: so all neuters of the 3d decl. — Oxytone are ADJECTIVES in -ο, -το, -κο, -νο (except those of material), -αδ, -ιδ, -υ, most in -λο, -ρο, and most in -εσ. Accented on the penult are those in αιο, οιο, (for α-ιο, ο-ιο), -τεο, and -αλεο. — With almost all other suffixes, the accent is, generally or uniformly, recessive.

Derivation of Substantives.

308. A. From masculine stems (especially such as designate persons or peoples), FEMININES of like meaning are formed by adding — a. ια (nom. ιά), cf. 118, and — b. ιδ (nom. ις). — Many such feminines are used as adjectives.

Thus — a. ιέρεια (for ιερευ-ια, 25) priestess fr. ιερεύ-s priest, Κρήσσα (for Κρητ-ια, 36 a) fem. of Κρής (Κρητ) Cretan, Θράσσα fem. of Θραξ (Θρακ) Thracian; whence irreg. βασίλισσα queen for reg. βασίλειά fr. βασιλεύ-s king. — b. Ἑλλην-ις (-ιδ) fem. of Ἕλλην Greek, Μεγαρ-ις fem. of Μεγαρεύ-s Megarian, οικέ-τις (-τιδ) fem. of οικέ-τη-s (-τα) house-servant, μυρο-πώλ-ις (-ιδ) fem. of μυρο-πώλ-η-s (-α) ointment-seller.

c. From masculine denominatives with suffix τα (nom. τη-s) come feminines with τιδ (nom. τις, 306 b); but from masculine verbals with τα (nom. τη-s) and τηρ (nom. τηρ), the feminines are formed irregularly with τειρα (for τερ-ια, 36 d) or τρια (for τερ-ια, 24) or τριδ (for τερ-ιδ, nom. τρίς). See 310–11. Irregular also are some feminines in αινα (= αν-ια) from masc. in ων and -ος, as λέαινα fem. of λέων (λεοντ) lion.

309. B. Many verbals are formed, especially from primitive verbs, by adding to the stem the suffixes ο (nom. -ος) usually masc.: as λόγ-ος speech fr. λέγ-ω.

ᾱ (nom. ᾱ or η) fem.: as μάχ-η fight fr. μάχ-ομαι.

a. These suffixes form ABSTRACTS, denoting the action of the verb: but, like many other suffixes, — perhaps more than others, — they have much variety of use. Thus from the stem of φυλάσσω to guard comes φυλακ-ή act of guarding; but also place of guarding, watch-station; time of guarding, watch of the night; party guarding, garrison. Observe especially that — b. A few substantives denoting the AGENT, and a few adjectives, are formed by ο (nom. -ος): τροφ-ός nurse fr. τρέφ-ω to nourish, λοιπ-ός remaining fr. λείπ-ω to leave. But many such words are used only in composition; see 331 a.

310. C. Verbals denoting the AGENT are formed by — a. ευ (nom. εύ-s) masc. — b. τηρ, τορ, τᾱ, (nom. τήρ, τωρ, τη-s), masc., and τειρα, τρια, τριδ, (308 c, nom. τειρά, τριᾶ, τρίς), fem.

Thus — a. γραφ-εύ-s writer fr. γράφ-ω, γον-εύ-s (306 c) parent (genitor) fr. γίγνομαι (γεν) to be born, κουρ-εύ-s (306 c, d) barber from κείρω (κερ) to shave. — b. σω-τήρ savior, fem. σώ-τειρα, from σώζω (σω) to save, βή-τωρ (-τορ) orator fr. στ. βε to speak, ποιη-τής poet, fem. ποιή-τρια, fr. ποιέ-ω to compose, αὐλη-τής flute-player, fem. αὐλη-τρίς (-τριδ), fr. αὐλέ-ω to play the flute. Compare masc. τρο in ια-τρό-s (healer) physician fr. ιά-ομαι to heal, and masc. τι in μάν-τι-s (raver) prophet fr. μαίνομαι (μαν) to be mad. Some verbals in τηρ denote the INSTRUMENT, as κρά-τήρ (mixer) mixing-bowl fr. κερά-ννυ-μι to mix.

311. Denominatives — denoting one who has to do with some object — are formed by ευ (nom. εύ-s), and τα (nom. τη-s). For corresponding feminines, see 308.

Thus γραμματ-εύ-ς secretary fr. γράμμα(τ) letter, ἵππ-εύ-ς horseman fr. ἵππο-ς horse, ἱερ-εύ-ς priest fr. ἱερό-ς sacred, οἰκέ-της house-servant fr. οἶκο-ς house, στασι-ώ-της partisan fr. στάσι-ς party. — a. Denominatives thus formed from proper names of places are called GENTILES (as denoting the people of a place or country): thus Μεγαρ-εύ-ς Megarian fr. Μέγαρα (2d decl. plur.) Megara, Σικελι-ώ-της Sicilian fr. Σικελία Sicily.

312. D. Verbals denoting ACTION are formed by — a. τι, σι, σια, (nom. τι-ς, σι-ς, σία,) fem. — b. μο (nom. μό-ς) masc. and μᾶ (nom. μῆ) fem. — c. ια (nom. ιᾶ) fem. — Cf. 309.

Thus — a. πισ-τι-ς (for πιθ-τι-ς) faith fr. πείθω (πιθ) in 2 perf. I trust, μίμη-σι-ς (35) imitation fr. μιμέ-σθαι to imitate, γέν-ε-σι-ς origin fr. γίγνομαι (γεν) to become, δοκιμα-σία examination fr. δοκιμάζω (δ) to examine. The Ionic has also τυ, as ὀρχη-σ-τύ-ς dancing fr. ὀρχέ-σθαι to dance. — b. ὀδυρ-μό-ς wailing fr. ὀδύρ-σθαι to wail, λογισ-μό-ς calculation fr. λογίζομαι (δ) to calculate, δυ-σ-μή setting from δύ-ω to set; compare fem. μι in δύνα-μι-ς power fr. δύνα-μαι to be able. θμο, θμα, are also used: thus ρυ-θμό-ς (flowing movement) rhythm fr. ῥέ-ω (ρυ) to flow, ἰ-σ-θμό-ς passage fr. εἶμι (ι) to go. — c. often from verbs in εὔ-ω, as βασιλεῖα (for βασιλεν-ια) kingship, kingdom, fr. βασιλεύ-ω to be king (cf. 308 a); rarely from other verbs, as μαν-ία madness fr. μάλνομαι (μαν) to be mad. But see 330 a. — d. Many words of this class denote the result of an action: thus δό-σι-ς giving, but also gift. And, in like manner, words of the next class (313) sometimes denote the action itself.

313. E. Verbals denoting the RESULT of an action are formed by — a. ματ (nom. μα) neut. — b. εσ (nom. ος) neut.

Thus — a. πράγ-μα (-ματ) thing done, affair, fr. πράσσω (πράγ) to do, γράμ-μα (thing written) letter fr. γράφ-ω to write, ῥή-μα (thing spoken) word fr. stem ῥε to speak. — b. βέλ-ος (-εσ) thing thrown, missile, fr. βάλλ-ω to throw, πάθ-ος suffering from πάσχω (παθ) to suffer. Some words in -εσ (nom. ος) appear to come from adjectives: as κράτ-ος power fr. κρατύ-ς (epic) strong, μήκ-ος length fr. μακρό-ς long.

314. F. Verbals denoting the INSTRUMENT OR MEANS of an action are formed by τρο (nom. τρο-ν) neut.

Thus ἄρο-τρο-ν plough fr. ἀρό-ω to plough, λύ-τρο-ν ransom fr. λύ-ω to loose, σκήπ-τρο-ν staff, sceptre, fr. σκῆπ-τω to prop. — a. Less definite in meaning are θρο, θρα, τρα: as κλεί-θρο-ν door fr. κλείω to close, ὄλ-ε-θρο-ς destruction fr. ὄλ-λυμι to destroy, παλαι-σ-τρα wrestling-ground fr. παλαι-ω to wrestle.

315. G. The PLACE is expressed by — a. verbals in τηριο (nom. τηριο-ν) neut. — b. denominatives in ειο (nom. εἰο-ν) neut. — c. in ων (nom. ών) masc. — d. in ιᾶ (nom. ιᾶ) fem.

Thus — a. δικασ-τήριο-ν court of justice fr. δικάζω (δ) to judge, χρησ-τήριο-ν seat (or saying) of an oracle fr. χράω to give oracle. — b. ταμι-εἰο-ν treasury fr. ταμίης treasurer, μαντ-εἰο-ν prophetic seat (or saying) fr. μάντι-ς prophet. — c. γυναικ-ών women's apartment fr. γυνή (γυναικ) woman. — d. σκοπ-ιδ watch-station fr. σκοπέ-ς watchman. — e. τήριο-ν and εἰο-ν are often used without an idea of place.

316. H. Substantives expressing QUALITY (condition, office, working) are formed, chiefly from adjective-stems, by — a. τητ (nom. της) fem. — b. συνᾶ (nom. σύνῃ) fem. — c. ια (nom. ια) fem.

Thus — a. νεό-της (-τητ) youth from νέο-ς young. — b. σωφρο-σύνῃ (-συνᾶ) discreetness from σώφρων (σώφρων) discreet. — c. σωτηρ-ια salvation fr. σωτήρ savior, ἀθανασ-ια (35) immortality fr. ἀθάνατος immortal, εὖνοια good-will fr. εὖνους (εὐ-νοο) well-disposed; cf. 312 c.

317. I. DIMINUTIVES are formed from substantive-stems by — a. ιο (nom. ιο-ν) neut.; also αριο, ιδιο, υδριο, neut. — b. ισκο (nom. ισκο-ς) masc., ισκᾶ (nom. ισκή) fem. — c. ιδ (nom. ἰς) fem.

Thus — a. παιδ-ιο-ν, παιδ-αριο-ν, little child from παῖς (παιδ) child, νησ-ιδιο-ν, νησ-ὕδριο-ν, little island from νῆσο-ς island. — b. χιτών-ισκο-ς little tunic fr. χιτών tunic, παιδ-ισκή young girl fr. ἡ παῖς girl. — c. πύλ-ις (-ιδ) little gate fr. πύλη gate. — d. ιο-ν is often used without diminutive meaning, as ὄρ-ιο-ν (= ὄρο-ς) boundary.

318. J. PATRONYMICS (which express descent from a father or ancestor) are formed from proper names of persons by ἰδα (nom. ἰδῆ-ς) masc., and ἰδ (nom. ἰς) fem.

The ο of the 2d decl. is dropped before the suffix: thus Τανταλ-ίδῆ-ς (-ἰδα) son of Tantalus, Τανταλ-ίς (-ιδ) daughter of T., fr. Τάνταλος Tantalus, Κεκροπ-ίδῆ-ς, Κεκροπ-ίς, fr. Κέκροψ Cecrops, Πηλεΐδῆ-ς (for Πηλεῖ-ιδῆ-ς — in Hom. also Πηληϊάδῆ-ς, cf. 661) fr. Πηλεΐ-ς Peleus. But ι of the suffix is lost after stems in α and stems in ιο (which changes to ια): thus Βορέαδ-ῆ-ς, Βορέαδ-[ῆ]-ς fr. Βορέα-ς Boreas, Θεστιάδ-ῆ-ς, Θεστιάδ-ς, fr. Θεστίος Thestius. — a. Akin to patronymics are a few such words as ἀδελφ-ιδού-ς (-ιδεο) brother's or sister's son, θυγατρ-ιδῆ (-ιδέα) daughter's daughter, πελαργ-ιδεύ-ς young of the stork, fr. ἀδελφός, θυγάτηρ, πελαργός. — b. Poetic are patronymics in ἰον or ἰων (nom. ἰών): as Κρον-ἰών (= Κρον-ίδῆ-ς) son of Κρόνος Cronus.

319. K. Less frequent, or less definite in meaning, are the following suffixes: — a. ῆ (έα): συκ-ῆ (-έα) fig-tree from σύκο-ν fig, κυν-ῆ (dog-skin) helmet fr. κύων (κυν) dog. — b. λο, λα (λλα): εἰδ-ω-λο-ν image fr. εἶδ-ομαι (poet.) to appear, διδάσκ-α-λο-ς teacher fr. διδάσκ-ω to teach, στή-λη pillar fr. ἵστη-μι to set up. — c. νο, να: τέκ-νο-ν child from τίκτω (τεκ) to beget, βεῖρ, στέφ-α-νο-ς crown fr. στέφ-ω to crown, ἡδ-ο-νῆ pleasure fr. ἡδ-ομαι to be pleased. — d. πο, πα: δῶ-ρο-ν gift fr. δίδ-ω-μι to give, γαμ-β-ρός brother-in-law (by marriage) fr. γαμ-έ-ω to marry, ἔδ-ρα seat fr. ἕζομαι (ἔδ) to sit. — e. σα: δόξα (δοκ-σα) opinion, reputation, fr. δοκ-έ-ω to seem, think. — f. το, τα: ἑρπ-ε-τό-ν reptile fr. ἑρπ-ω to creep, θάν-α-το-ς death fr. θνήσκω (θαν) to die, ἀρ-ε-τή (fitness) virtue fr. εἶναι (Hm.) to fit. — g. τ (ιτ, ατ, ητ, ωτ, αντ, οντ): χάρι-ς (-ιτ) favor fr. χαίρω (χαρ) to be pleased, ἔρ-ως (-ωτ) love fr. ἐρά-ω to love, δράκ-ων (-οντ) serpent (keen-sighted) fr. δέρκ-ομαι (poet.) to see. — h. δ (ιδ, αδ): τυρανν-ίς (-ιδ) tyranny fr. τύραννο-ς tyrant, λαμπ-ίς (-αδ) torch fr. λάμπ-ω to shine. — i. ων, ον, μον, and (poetic) δον: κλύδ-ων surge fr. κλύζω (δ) to wash, εἰκ-ών (-ον) image fr. stem ικ, εικ to be like, ἡγε-μών (-μον) leader fr. ἡγέ-ομαι to lead.

Derivation of Adjectives.

For adjectives in -o-s, see 309 b: for those in -tō-s and -téō-s, see 265.

320. A. Adjectives which signify PERTAINING to something are formed from noun-stems by ω (nom. -ω-s).

Thus θαλάσσι-ω-s marine fr. θάλασσα sea, βασιλει-ω-s (for βασιλευ-ω-s) royal fr. βασιλεύς king, κεφαλαί-ω-s capital fr. κεφαλή head, αἰδοί-ω-s (for αἰδοσ-ω-s) venerable fr. αἰδώς respect, ἐκούσ-ω-s (for ἐκοντ-ω-s) voluntary fr. ἐκόν willing. Many GENTILE adjectives are made thus, as Μιλήσι-ω-s Milesian fr. Μίλητος Miletus. — a. The forms -ει-ω-s and -αί-ω-s are also used: ἀνδρ-ει-ω-s manly fr. ἀνὴρ (gen. ἀνδρ-ός) man, ἀνθρώπ-ει-ω-s human fr. ἄνθρωπος man. -αί-ω-s with ORDINALS forms such words as δευτερ-αί-ω-s on the second day: -αί-ω-s forms designations of EXTENT and VALUE, as πλεθρ-αί-ω-s measuring a πλῆθρο-ν plethrum (100 feet), δραχμ-αί-ω-s worth a δραχμή drachma (17½ cents). — b. From -ω-s added to τήρ (310 b) comes the frequent τήρι-ω-s: σω-τήρι-ω-s saving, salutary, fr. σώ-ζω to save.

321. B. Adjectives of similar meaning are formed from noun-stems by κο (nom. -κό-s).

Thus νεανι-κό-s youthful fr. νεανίας young man. But commonly ι is inserted: πολιτ-ικό-s civil fr. πολίτης citizen, βασιλ-ικό-s royal fr. βασιλεύς king, ῥητορ-ικῆ (scil. τέχνη the oratorical art) rhetoric fr. ῥήτωρ orator.

a. Many verbal adjectives, expressing FITNESS or ABILITY, are formed by κο (nom. -κό-s): τι (312 a) is then added to the verb-stem. Thus πεισ-τικό-s fitted for persuading fr. πείθ-ω to persuade, τακ-τικό-s skilled in marshalling fr. τάσσω (ταγ) to arrange.

322. C. Adjectives denoting the MATERIAL are formed from substantive-stems by — a. εο (nom. -εο-s, contracted οῦ-s, 81 c). — b. ινο (nom. -ινο-s).

Thus — a. (χρῦσ-εο-s) χρυσ-οῦ-s golden fr. χρυσός gold. — b. λίθ-ινο-s of stone fr. λίθος stone. — c. For -ινο-s there are other uses, as ἀνθρώπ-ινο-s human fr. ἄνθρωπος. In oxytones it often denotes TIME: ἐαρ-ινός vernal fr. ἔαρ spring.

323. D. Adjectives denoting FULLNESS or ABUNDANCE are formed from substantive-stems by εντ (nom. -εις, 121), often with inserted η or ο; but few of these occur in Attic prose, as χαρί-εις (-εντ) graceful, pleasing, fr. χάρις (χαριτ, 306 f) grace.

324. E. Adjectives expressing ACTIVITY are formed from verb-stems by μον (nom. -μων, 124 b): thus μνή-μων (-μον) remembering, mindful, fr. μι-μνήσκειν to remember. For μον instead of ματ in (possessive) compounds, see 330.

325. F. Many verbal adjectives formed by the suffix εσ (nom. -ης, 124 a), with PASSIVE or ACTIVE meaning, are used only in composition; see 331 c. Very few — as ψευδ-ής false fr. ψεύδ-ομαι to lie — are used separately.

326. G. Less frequent, or less definite in meaning, are the following suffixes: — a. λο: δει-λός fearful (timid) fr. st. δει, δει, to fear, δμ-α-λός level fr. δμός (epic) same. — b. μο: μάχ-ι-μος warlike fr. μάχη battle; also from verb-stems, with inserted σι (312 a): χρήσιμος useful fr. χράσμαι to use. — c. νο: δεινός fearful (to be feared) fr. στ. δει to fear, δρεινός (for ορεσ-νο-s, 16) mountainous fr. ὄρος (ορεσ) mountain. — d. ρο: λαμπρός brilliant fr. λάμπω to shine, φοβερός fearful (frightful, or afraid) fr. φοβέω to frighten. — e. σιο: ἄξιος (= αγ-σιο-s, weighing) worth, worthy, fr. ἄγω to weigh. — f. αλεο: δαρσ-αλέο-s (33 a) courageous fr. δάρσος courage. — g. αδ: φυγ-ας (-αδ) fugitive fr. φεύγω (φυγ) to flee. These are often used as substantives. Feminine adjectives in αδ, ιδ, are chiefly poetic. — h. τ (ητ, ωτ): ἀγνώ-s (α-γνώ-τ) unknown fr. ἀ- un- and γι-γνώσκω to know, πέν-ης (-ητ) poor fr. πέν-ομαι to be poor. — i. υ: ἡδ-ύ-s pleasant fr. ἡδ-ομαι to be pleased.

Derivation of Verbs.

327. The stems of most DENOMINATIVE VERBS end in α, ε, ο, ευ, ιδ, αδ, αν, υν. But these are not always suffixed to the noun-stem: α, ε, ο, usually belong to the noun-stem (unaltered, or with change of final vowel, 306 c); so, not seldom, does ευ; rarely so ιδ, αδ, αν, υν. In meaning, they are not clearly distinguished from each other.

Thus — a. τιμάω to honor fr. τιμή (τιμα) honor, ἀριστ-άω to breakfast fr. ἄριστο-ν breakfast. — b. φιλέω to love fr. φίλο-s dear, μαρτυρέω to testify fr. μάρτυς (μαρτυρ) witness. — c. δηλόω to manifest fr. δῆλο-s manifest, ζημιόω to punish fr. ζημία penalty. — d. βασιλεύω to reign fr. βασιλεύ-s king, ἀληθεύω to speak truth fr. ἀληθής (306 f) true. — e. ἐλπίζω (δ) to hope fr. ἐλπίς (δ) hope, ἐλληνίζω to speak Greek fr. Ἕλλην Greek, φιλιππίζω to favor Philip fr. Φίλιππο-s Philip. — f. δικάζω to judge fr. δίκη justice, ἐργάζομαι to work fr. ἔργο-ν work. — g. χαλεπαίνω to be angry fr. χαλεπός hard, angry: thus many verbs from words in ματ, as σημαίνω to signify fr. σῆμα(τ) sign. — h. ὀξύω to sharpen fr. ὀξύ-s sharp, δαρύνω to encourage fr. δάρσος courage. — i. There are still other denominatives, some of which keep the noun-stem unchanged, as δακρύω to weep fr. δάκρυ (poetic) tear, φυλάσσω (φυλακ) to watch fr. φύλαξ (φυλακ) watchman; some change it more or less, as καθαίρω (καθαρ) to purify fr. καθαρός pure, ἐλασσόω to lessen fr. ἐλάσσων (cf. 100) less, παλαίω to wrestle fr. πάλη (παλα) wrestling.

j. A few verbs in αω, ιαω, denote an AFFECTION OF THE BODY: ἐρυθρ-ιάω to redden fr. ἐρυθρός red; a few are DESIDERATIVE: θανατ-άω to desire death fr. θάνατος death. Other desideratives are formed in σειω: γελασειω to desire to laugh fr. γελάω to laugh.

Derivation of Adverbs.

328. For adverbs derived from adjectives, see 132: for adverbs in ω derived from prepositions, see 132 d: for correlative adverbs from pronoun-stems, see 144: for numeral adverbs, see 147. 150. Adverbs are also formed by the suffixes

a. δόν (oxytone), mostly poetic (only poetic δᾶ): σχε-δόν near, nearly, fr. ἔχ-ομαι (σεχ, σχε) to hold on by, to be close to, ταυρ-η-δόν bull-like fr. ταύρος bull, ἐν-δόν within fr. ἐν in. — b. δην (paroxytone): χύ-δην (pouringly) confusedly fr. χέω (χυ) to pour, σπορ-ά-δην scatteredly fr. σπείρω

(σπερ) to sow, scatter, συλ-λήβ-δην comprehensively fr. συλ-λαμβάνω (ληβ) to comprehend. — c. τί (oxytone): ὀνομασ-τί by name fr. ὀνομάζω (δ) to name, ἑλληνισ-τί in Greek fr. ἑλληνίζω (δ) to speak Greek. — d. ί or εί (oxytone), used with compounds: ἀ-κήρυκτ-ί without herald fr. ἀ-κήρυκτο-ς unheralded, παν-δη-εῖ with the whole people fr. πάν-δημο-ς including the whole people.

Composition of Words.

329. The union of one stem with another gives occasion for various euphonic changes.

These are, in general, the same as those occasioned by suffixes, see 306. Thus a vowel is often inserted, — most commonly o, — especially where consonants would otherwise be brought together: μητρ-ό-πολι-ς mother-city fr. μήτηρ (99) mother and πόλι-ς (103) city, καλλ-ί-φωνο-ς beautiful-voiced fr. (καλλο-ς same as) καλός beautiful and φωνή voice. — Final α of the 1st decl. often becomes ο: μηνο-ειδής moon-shaped fr. μήνη (poetic) moon and εἶδος appearance (cf. 331 c).

330. The last stem in a compound noun often undergoes some change of ending.

Thus final α usually becomes ο, as in καλλ-ί-φωνο-ς just given. To consonant-stems ο is often added: πρό-χειρο-ς (before the hand) at hand (112 ab). Final ματ becomes μον or μο or ματο: πολυ-πράγμων (-πραγμων) busy fr. πολύ-ς many and πράγ-μα(τ) affair, ἀν-ώνυμο-ς nameless fr. ἀν- and ὄνομα(τ) name (cf. 306 f). — a. Abstract substantives which do not end in ια, generally take it when used in the last part of an abstract compound: βουλ-ή counsel, πράξις (πράγ-σι-ς) action, but εὖ-βουλ-ια good counsel, εὖ-πραξ-ια good success; — only after a preposition can they remain unchanged: προ-βουλ-ή previous counsel, διὰ-πράξις transaction. — b. Internal change is seen in σώ-φρων (-φρον) sound-minded, discreet, fr. σῶ-ς (117 b) safe and poetic φρήν (φρεν) mind.

331. Many verbals are seldom or never used except as the last stem in a compound noun.

Thus — a. Many words denoting the agent, and many adjectives, formed by ο (nom. ο-ς): λογο-γράφο-ς speech-writer, ἄ-γραφο-ς unwritten, καρπο-φόρο-ς fruit-bearing, though -γραφ-ο-ς (writer or written) is never used by itself, and φορ-ός (bearing fr. φέρ-ω) only in late authors. — b. Some words denoting the agent, formed by α (nom. η-ς or α-ς): κωμ-άρχ-η-ς village-ruler fr. κώμη (306 b) village and -αρχ-η-ς (αρχ-α) fr. ἄρχ-ω to rule. — c. Many adjectives of passive or active meaning, formed by εο (nom. η-ς, 325): ἀ-βλαβής unharmed, also unharmed, fr. βλαβ-ης (-εο) fr. βλάπτω (βλαβ) to harm. But in many compound adjectives final εο of the stem belongs to an included substantive: δεκα-ετής (having) lasting ten years fr. δέκα ten and ἔτος (ετ-εο) year. Those in ῶδης are contracted from ο-ειδής: ἀνδρ-ῶδης (for ἀνδρ-ο-ειδής) having the appearance or character of a man, man-like, fr. ἀνήρ (99) man and εἶδος (Feideo) appearance.

332. The first part of a compound noun may be made directly from a verb-stem; but such compounds are not very numerous in Attic prose.

Thus μισό-δημος hating the people fr. μισέ-ω (306 c) to hate and δῆμος people, φθιν-όπωρο-ν late autumn fr. φθίν-ω to perish and όπώρα (330) autumn. — a. To the verb-stem they often add σι (before vowels ο), cf. 326 b: λυσι-τελής (paying charges) advantageous fr. λύ-ω to (loose) defray and τέλος (τελεσ) charge.

333. Indirect Compounds are those derived from words already compounded.

Thus from στρατ-ηγός army-leader, general, — which is formed DIRECTLY by uniting the stems of στρατός (306 b) army and άγός (poetic) leader, see 309 b. 306 d, — come several indirect compounds: the denom. nouns στρατηγία (316 c) generalship, στρατηγικός (321) pertaining to a general; the denom. verb στρατηγέ-ω (327 b) to be general; and the verbal στρατήγη-μα(τ) stratagem derived from στρατηγέ-ω.

a. All compound verbs which do not begin with prepositions, and many which do, are denominatives from compound nouns: thus στρατηγέ-ω fr. στρατ-ηγός just given, δημοκρατέ-ω to have popular government fr. (unused) δημο-κράτης (331 c) having popular government fr. δῆμος people and κράτος power, ἐναντιό-ομαι (203 b) to oppose fr. ἐν-αντίο-ς opposite.

334. ACCENT OF COMPOUND NOUNS. — a. Direct compounds of the 2d decl. have recessive accent.

Thus εὖ-ρυθμός having good rhythm fr. εὖ well and ρυ-θμός rhythm, ἐξ-όδος departure fr. ἐξ out of and όδός way. But — b. Objective compounds (335 a) in which the last stem is a verbal of transitive meaning with the suffix ο (309), are accented on the penult if that is short; if that is long, on the ultima: καρπο-φόρος (331 a) fruit-bearing, στρατ-ηγός (333) army-leader, general. But some such compounds — especially those ending in -αρχ-ο-ς (ruler) and -οχ-ο-ς (holder fr. ἐχ-ω) — follow the general rule: ἡνι-όχο-ς (rein-holder) charioteer fr. ἡνία rein, ἱππ-αρχ-ο-ς commander of horse fr. ἡ ἱππο-ς cavalry.

c. Other compound nouns are accented, in general, like simple nouns with the same suffixes.

Thus εὖ-μενής having good (kind) spirit fr. εὖ well and μένος spirit (cf. 307), ἐκλεκ-τός chosen out, an indirect compound (333) derived from ἐκ-λέγ-ω to choose out.

335. MEANING OF COMPOUND NOUNS. Among direct compounds we distinguish

a. OBJECTIVE COMPOUNDS, in which one part is like a dependent case, connected, either directly or by means of prepositions, with the meaning of the other part.

Thus στρατ-ηγός (333, like στρατὸν ἄγων) army-leader, ἀξίό-λογος (301, = ἄξιος λόγου) worthy of mention, χειρ-ο-ποίητος (= χερσὶ ποιητός) made with hands, μισό-δημος (332, = μισῶν τὸν δῆμον) hating the people, θεο-φιλής (331 c, = ὕπὸ τῶν θεῶν φιλούμενος) loved by the gods.

b. POSSESSIVE COMPOUNDS, in which the first part qualifies the second, while the whole depends on an implied idea of possession.

Thus ἰσό-μοιρο-ς (= ἴσην μοῖραν ἔχων) having equal part, καλλ-ί-φωνο-ς (329, = καλὴν φωνὴν ἔχων) having a beautiful voice, πολυ-πράγμων (330, = πολλὰ πράγματα ἔχων) having many affairs busy, εὖ-νους (376, = ἀγαθὸν νοῦν ἔχων) having a good mind well-disposed, ἀνδρ-ώδης (331 c, = ἀνδρὸς εἶδος ἔχων) having a man's appearance manlike.

c. DETERMINATIVE COMPOUNDS, in which the first part, like an adjective or adverb, qualifies (or determines) the second, but with no implied idea of possession.

Thus ἀκρό-πολις (= ἄκρα πόλις city-summit) citadel, μεσημβρία (for μεσημερία, = μέση ἡμέρα) mid-day, ψευδ-ο-μάρτυς (= ψευδὴς μάρτυς) a false witness, δμοδ-ουλο-ς (= δμοῦ δουλεύων together serving) fellow-servant, ὀψι-μαθής (= ὀψὲ μαθών) late-learned.

d. PREPOSITIONS may enter into compound nouns in each of the above relations: — da. objective: παρὰ-νομο-ς (aside from law) illegal. — db. possessive: ἐν-θεο-ς (having a god in him) inspired. — dc. determinative: ἐξ-οδο-ς (from-way, going out) departure.

336. INSEPARABLE PREFIXES. — a. ALPHA PRIVATIVE. The prefix ἀν- (before consonants ἀ-) with adjectives forms determ. compounds, with substantives mostly possessive compounds: ἀν-ελεύθερο-ς not free, ἄκων (for ἀ-έκων, orig. α-Γεκων) unwilling, ἄ-παις (having no children) childless. — b. From this must be distinguished ALPHA CONJUNCTIVE (ἀ- or ἀ-, = ἅμα together with), as in ἀ-κόλουθο-ς (having his way along with) attendant fr. κέλευθο-ς (poetic) way; — and ALPHA EUPHONIC, as in ἄ-σταχυ-ς (not Attic) = στάχυ-ς ear of corn.

c. The insep. δυσ- ILL (badly, difficultly) is the opposite of εὖ well, easily: δὺς-ελπίς (= κακὰς ἐλπίδας ἔχων) having ill hopes desponding, δυσ-δλωτο-ς hard to be taken.

PART FOURTH.

SYNTAX.

DEFINITIONS.

337. SYNTAX shows how words are combined in sentences.

A SENTENCE is SIMPLE when the essential parts of a sentence are found in it only once. (For compound sentences, see 493.)

The essential parts of a sentence are the SUBJECT, of which something is said, and the PREDICATE, which is said of the subject.

The subject of a sentence is a substantive (or pronoun) in the nominative case. The predicate of a sentence is a finite verb in the same number and person as the subject.

a. The only nominatives of the first person are ἐγώ, νώ, ἡμεῖς; of the second, σὺ, σφώ, ὑμεῖς; all other nominatives are of the third person.

b. These are sometimes called the grammatical, in distinction from the logical, subject and predicate. The latter include, beside the nominative and finite verb, all other words in the sentence which belong to these respectively. Thus in the sentence ἔθους δικαίου φαῦλος οὐ ψάβει λόγος a bad report touches not a just character, λόγος and ψάβει are the grammatical subject and predicate, φαῦλος λόγος and ἔθους δικαίου οὐ ψάβει the logical.

c. The INFINITIVE mode, though it is not the predicate of a sentence, has its subject. The subject of the infinitive is a substantive in the accusative case (535).

338. The verb, beside its subject, may have an OBJECT on which its action is exerted. The object of a verb is a substantive in an oblique case (accusative, genitive, or dative).

a. The object is DIRECT or INDIRECT, according as it is related immediately or remotely to the action of the verb. The verb is TRANSITIVE when its action passes over to a direct object; otherwise it is INTRANSITIVE.

b. The remote relations of an object to a verb are expressed to a great extent by means of PREPOSITIONS.

c. The INFINITIVE and PARTICIPLE may have objects, both direct and indirect, like the finite verbs to which they belong.

ATTRIBUTIVE, APPOSITIVE, AND PREDICATE-NOUN.

339. A substantive may be qualified by an adjective in the same case, number, and gender. by a substantive in the same case.

340. The ADJECTIVE may be an attributive or a predicate-adjective.

a. an ATTRIBUTIVE, when its connection with the substantive is taken for granted in the sentence, not brought about by it: thus ὁ ἀγαθὸς ἄνθρωπος ἡδονὰς αἰσχροῦς φεύγει the good man avoids shameful pleasures.

b. a PREDICATE-ADJECTIVE, when it is brought by the sentence into connection with the substantive: ὁ ἄνθρωπος ἀγαθὸς ἐστὶ (γίγνεται, φαίνεται, καλεῖται, νομίζεται) the man is (becomes, appears, is called, is considered as) good, τὰς ἡδονὰς αἰσχροῦς ἡγεῖται he thinks the pleasures shameful.

c. The adjective in the former case is purely adnominal, belonging exclusively to its substantive: in the latter case it is generally adverbial, being connected also with the verb. — Thus the Greek often uses a predicate-adjective where other languages use an adverb, or a preposition with its case: τριταῖοι ἀπῆλθον they went away on the third day, Λακεδαιμόνιοι ὕστεροι ἀφίκοντο the Lacedaemonians arrived afterward, ἐκόντες εἰλεσθε τὰ τῶν Ἀθηναίων willingly you chose the (side) of the Athenians, ὁρκίως σοι λέγω I speak to you under oath.

341. In like manner, the QUALIFYING SUBSTANTIVE may be an appositive or a predicate-substantive.

a. an APPOSITIVE: θαυμάζω Μιλτιάδην τὸν στρατηγόν I admire Miltiades the general.

b. a PREDICATE-SUBSTANTIVE: ποιοῦσι (καλοῦσι, καθιστᾶσι, νομίζουσι) Μιλτιάδην στρατηγόν they make (call, appoint, consider) Miltiades a general.

342. a. The substantive qualified is called the SUBJECT of the attributive, appositive, or predicate-noun. This must not be confounded with the subject of a sentence (337).

b. The attributive stands in the closest relation to its subject, forming with it one complex idea, like the parts of a compound word. The appositive, in general, is less closely related to its subject, being added to it as an explanation or description. The predicate-noun (adjective or substantive) is still less closely related to its subject, being brought into connection with it by the sentence. The predicate-noun is sometimes called simply a predicate.

343. Many verbs, from the nature of their meaning, are commonly connected with a predicate-noun. Such are verbs which signify to be, become, appear, be called, chosen, considered, and the like.

With these, a predicate-noun is put in the NOMINATIVE case, agreeing with the subject of the verb: ὁ ἄνθρωπος ἀγαθὸς ἐστὶ (γίγνεται, φαίνεται, καλεῖται, νομίζεται); see 385. — a. The verb εἰμί to be, when thus used, is called the COPULA, since it does little more than to couple the subject and the predicate-noun. For the frequent omission of the copula, see 358 a. — b. Yet all these verbs, even εἶμι to be, are often used without a predicate-noun, as complete predicates.

c. TRANSITIVE verbs, which correspond in sense to the foregoing, take a predicate-noun in the ACCUSATIVE case, agreeing with the object of the verb. Such are verbs which signify to make, call, appoint, consider, and the like: ποιοῦσι (καλοῦσι, καθιστᾶσι, νομίζουσι) Μιλτιάδην στρατηγόν; see 400.

d. The INFINITIVES and PARTICIPLES of the same verbs are also connected with predicate-nouns belonging to their subject or object.

344. PRONOUNS OF REFERENCE.

a. RELATIVE PRONOUN. A substantive may be qualified by a sentence. The sentence is then introduced by a relative pronoun, in the same number and gender as the substantive or ANTECEDENT.

Thus ἀνὴρ ὃν πάντες φιλοῦσι a man whom all love, = ἀνὴρ πᾶσι φίλος a man beloved by all. The substantive has the name antecedent because it commonly goes before the relative.

b. DEMONSTRATIVE PRONOUN OF REFERENCE. A substantive, once used, may be recalled or referred to by a demonstrative pronoun, in the same number and gender as the substantive or ANTECEDENT.

The functions of the substantive and adjective, described in the foregoing sections, may be sustained by other parts of speech or forms of expression: these are called

EQUIVALENTS OF THE SUBSTANTIVE AND ADJECTIVE.

345. The principal equivalents of the ADJECTIVE are

a. the article: as οἱ ἄνθρωποι the men.

b. the adjective-pronoun: τίνες ἄνθρωποι what men?

c. the participle: ἀθυμοῦντες ἄνθρωποι dispirited men.

d. The article is used only as an attributive. So, too, the adjective and participle are always attributive, when placed directly after the article. In like manner, other forms of expression, when they follow the article, have the force of attributives: especially

e. a substantive in the genitive: οἱ τῆς πόλεως ἄνθ. the men of the city.

f. an adverb (of time, place, etc.): οἱ νῦν ἄνθ. the men now (living).

g. a preposition with its case: οἱ ἐν τῇ πόλει ἄνθ. the men in the city.

h. Even without the article preceding it, the genitive is often used as an attributive: στέφανος χρυσοῦ crown of gold = golden crown; also as a predicate-substantive: ὁ στέφανος χρυσοῦ ἐστὶ the crown is of gold. A similar use of the adverb, and of the preposition with its case, is less frequent: ἡ ἡσσα οὐκ ἄλλο τι φέρει ἢ ἄντικρυς δουλεῖαν defeat brings nothing else than utter servitude, ἐν τούτῳ τῷ τρόπῳ ἦσαν οἱ Ἕλληνες the Greeks were in this condition.

For the use of a sentence as equivalent to the adjective, see 344 a.

346. The principal equivalents of the SUBSTANTIVE are

a. the adjective, or any of its equivalents, when used without a substantive.

b. the substantive-pronoun (personal or reflexive).

c. the infinitive, with or without the neuter article.

d. a sentence used as a subordinate part of another sentence.

Thus — a. πάντες ἐπήμεσαν all approved, τοῖς ἐν τῇ πόλει ἐχαλέπαινον I was angry with those in the city. — b. ἡμεῖς ὁμολογοῦμεν we agree, ἐκτείναν ἑαυτοὺς they killed themselves. — c. ἔδοξεν ἀπελθεῖν it was thought best to depart. — d. ἔλεγεν ὅτι ταῦτα ἐγένετο he said that these things took place.

e. Any word or phrase viewed merely as a thing may take the place of a substantive: τὸ γνῶθι σεαυτὸν καὶ τὸ σωφρόνει ἐστὶ ταὐτόν the "know thyself" and the "be wise" are the same thing.

f. A preposition with a numeral may take the place of a substantive: ἀπέθανον αὐτῶν περὶ ἑβδομήκοντα there died of them about seventy, διέφθειραν ἐς ὀκτακοσίους they destroyed to the number of eight hundred.

g. All these forms are said to be used SUBSTANTIVELY, or used as substantives. The forms c., d., e., are equivalent to substantives of the NEUTER gender.

INDETERMINATE SUBJECT.

347. The subject of a sentence may be indeterminate.

It is then thought of in a manner wholly vague and general, merely as that to which the predicate applies; and it is not expressed in words. Thus ὄψέ ἦν it was late, ἡμέρα ἐγένετο it became day, καλῶς ἔχει it is well, δεῖ μάχης (it needs) there is need of a battle. — The same construction is seen in passive verbs, especially in the perfect and pluperfect: παρεσκεύασται μοι (things have been prepared) preparation has been made by me. But it appears most frequently when the verbal in τέον (or τέα) is used with εἶμι to be (expressed or understood): οὐκ ἀδικητέον ἐστί (not any thing is to be unjustly done) injustice must not be done, τῷ νόμῳ πιστεύον (or πιστεύα) obedience must be rendered to the law.

348. These verbs which have the indeterminate subject are most properly called IMPERSONAL VERBS. That name, however, is applied also to the more frequent cases in which the subject of a verb is not a nominative, but an infinitive or a sentence (346 c, d): ἔξεστιν εὐδαιμονεῖν it is possible to be happy, δῆλον ἦν ὅτι ἐγγύς που ὁ βασιλεὺς ἦν it was plain that the king was somewhere near.

349. In like manner, the object of a verb may be indeterminate.

Thus ἀπήγγελλον περὶ τῆς στρατιᾶς they reported (whatever they had to report) concerning the army, βραδύς ἐστι λέγειν he is slow to speak.

350. The subject of an attributive is very often indeterminate.

The attributive then is NEUTER, and may be either singular or plural. The indeterminate subject may be expressed by such words as THING, AFFAIR, CONDITION, QUALITY, SPACE, TIME, and many more. Thus ἀγαθὰ (good things) goods, τὸ λεγόμενον (the thing said) the common saying, τὰ χρήσιμα (the useful things) that which is useful, τὰ τῆς πόλεως the (affairs) of the city, τὸ τυραννικόν the (condition or character) of tyrant, τὸ καλόν the (quality) beautiful, ἐπὶ πολὺ (over much space or time) to a great extent or for a long time, ἐν μέσῳ (in the midst) in public, ἀφ' οὗ (from what time) since, τὸ ἀπὸ τοῦδε (the time from this time) henceforth, τὸ ναυτικόν the (naval force) navy, τὸ βαρβαρικόν the (barbarian world) barbarians, τὸ κοινόν the commonwealth, τὰ Διονύσια the (festival) of Dionysus; cf. 407 b.

a. Neuter pronouns are very often thus used with indetermin. subject: other attributives, in this use, are generally preceded by a neuter article.

GENERAL RULES OF AGREEMENT.

FINITE VERB AND SUBJECT-NOMINATIVE.

351. a. The finite verb agrees with its subject-nominative in number and person. But — b. With a neuter plural nominative, the verb is singular. (Cf. 366.)

Thus — a. εὖ σὺ πάντα εἶπες καὶ ἐπηνέσασμεν ἡμεῖς thou saidst all things well and we approved. — b. τὰ πρῶγματα ταῦτα δεινὰ ἐστί these circumstances are fearful. — For exceptions in NUMBER, see 361–68. For OMISSION of the subject or the predicate, see 355. 358

ADJECTIVE AND SUBSTANTIVE.

352. An adjective agrees with its substantive in case, number, and gender.

Thus ἀνὴρ φιλότιμος ἐθέλει αἰσχρῶν κερδῶν ἀπέχεσθαι a man fond of honor is disposed to abstain from dishonorable gains. — This rule applies both to the attributive and the predicate-adjective. Similar rules may be given for the ARTICLE, ADJECTIVE-PRONOUN, and PARTICIPLE. — For exceptions in NUMBER and GENDER, see 361–78. — For OMISSION of the subject, see 359.

APPOSITIVE AND SUBSTANTIVE.

353. The appositive agrees in case with its subject.

Thus εἰς Πέλτας πόλιν οἰκουμένην to Peltæ an inhabited city. — A similar rule may be given for the PREDICATE-SUBSTANTIVE.

a. The appositive may be related to its subject as the part to the whole; this is called PARTITIVE APPPOSITION: ὁ στρατὸς ἱππεῖς καὶ πεζοὶ the army cavalry and infantry, οἱτοὶ ἄλλος ἄλλα λέγει these say, one one thing, another another. — b. To words denoting person, in the accusative or dative, the poets often add an appositive denoting the part (head, hand, heart, mind, shield, etc.) which is specially affected by the action: ποῖόν σε ἔπος φύγεν ἕρκος ὀδόντων what manner of saying has escaped (thee) the fence of thy teeth, ἀλλ' οὐκ Ἀγαμέμνονι ἠνδανε θυμῷ but it pleased not (Agamemnon, the heart) the heart of Agamemnon.

c. In Homer, a demonstrative (commonly ὁ δέ), used at the beginning of a sentence, is often explained by adding as an appositive the object referred to: οἱ δ' ἄντριοι ἔγχε' ἔειραν Τρῶες but they in opposition raised their spears, the Trojans, τὸ δ' ὑπέρπτατο χάλκεον ἔγχος but it flew over him, the brazen spear.

d. When a WORD and a SENTENCE are in apposition, the word may stand either in the nominative or the accusative. Some neuter words—as τεκμήριον evidence, κεφάλαιον chief point—are often used in this way; also attributives with neuter article (350), as τὸ μέγιστον the greatest thing, τὸ ἐναντίον the contrary; and neuter pronouns, as αὐτὸ τοῦτο this very thing, ταὐτὸ τοῦτο this same thing, δυσὶν ἄλλτερον one of two things, ἀμφοτέρων both, etc.

PRONOUN OF REFERENCE WITH ITS ANTECEDENT.

354. The relative agrees with its antecedent in number and gender.

Thus ἐνταῦθα ἣν κρήνη ἐφ' ἣ λέγεται Μαρσύας τὸν Σάτυρον θηρεύσαι here was a spring by which Marস্যas is said to have caught the Satyr, παράδεισος θηρίων πλήρης & Κύρος ἐθήρευε a park full of wild beasts which Cyrus used to hunt.—A similar rule may be given for the DEMONSTRATIVE OF REFERENCE.

a. If the relative is subject of a sentence, its verb takes the PERSON of the antecedent: ἡμεῖς οἱ τοῦτο λέγομεν we who say this:

For exceptions, see 361–73. For OMISSION of the antecedent, see 360. For ATTRACTION, INCORPORATION, and other peculiarities of relative sentences, see 551–63.

OMITTED SUBJECT, PREDICATE, AND OBJECT.

355. The subject of a FINITE VERB is often omitted.

Thus—a. when it is a pronoun of the first or second person: λέγω I say, ἀκούσατε hear ye. But the pronoun is not omitted if there is an emphasis upon it: & ἂν ἐγὼ λέγω ὑμεῖς ἀκούσατε whatever I may say do you hear. Compare 458.

b. when it is a pronoun of the third person, referring to a word expressed or implied in the context: Κύρος τὰς ναὺς μετεπέμψατο, ὅπως ὀπλίτας ἀποβιβάσειε, καὶ βιασόμενοι τοὺς πολεμίους παρέλθοιεν, εἰ φυλάττοιεν Cyrus sent for the ships, that he (Cyrus) might land heavy-armed men, and they (the army of Cyrus) having overpowered the enemy might effect a passage, if they (the enemy) should be keeping guard.

c. when it is a general idea of person: φασί, λέγουσι, they (men, people) say, ἐσάλπιγγε (one sounded the trumpet) the trumpet sounded, ἀστροπατρεῖ ἰὺ (properly, some divinity) lightens, ὃν οἱ θεοὶ φιλοῦσιν ἀποθνήσκει νέος (one) whom the gods love dies young.

d. when it is the indeterminate subject: ὥς αὐτῷ οὐ προὐχάει when (things did not advance for him) he had no success, & συμφέρι γένοιτο may (things) which are advantageous come to pass.

356. The OBJECT of a VERB is often omitted.

This occurs in cases which correspond to b., c., d., of the foregoing section: thus—b. ἐμπιπλὰς πάντων τὴν γνώμην ἀπέπεμπε (sc. αὐτοῦς, referring to πάντων) filling the mind of all he sent (them) away.—c. φιλοτιμία παροξύνει (sc. ἀνθρώπους) κινδυνεύειν ὑπὲρ εὐδοξίας emulation incites (men) to incur danger for fame, τίς μισεῖν δύναται ὑφ' οὗ τιμᾶται who can hate (one) by whom he is honored?—d. ὅστις ἔχει δοθήσεται αὐτῷ whoever has (something), to him shall be given, οἱ θεοὶ ὧν δεόμεθα κατεσκευάκασι the gods have provided (the things) which we require.

357. The SUBJECT of an APPOSITIVE OR PREDICATE-NOUN may be omitted when it is the same with the omitted subject or object of a verb: Θεμιστοκλῆς ἦκω παρὰ σέ (I) Themistocles am come to thee, ῥήτορές εστε (ye) are orators, τὰ κακῶς τρέφοντα χωρὶ ἀνδρείους ποιεῖ (sc. ἀνθρώπους) the places that furnish a poor support make (men) manly.

358. A VERB is often omitted.

Thus—a. the verb εἶμι to be, when used as a COPULA (343 a), especially the forms ἐστί and εἰσι: ἀγαθὸς ὁ ἀνὴρ the man (is) good, τί τοῦτο what (is) this? what of it? ἐν ὁδῷ ἤδη πάντες all (are) now on the way:— particularly with verbals in τέον or τέα (347): τῷ νόμῳ πειστέον (πειστέα) the law must be obeyed, lit. (something is, or things are) to be done in obedience to the law.

b. some common verbs of BEING, DOING, SAYING, GOING, etc. This omission is nearly confined to a few phrases: ἄλλο τι ἢ or ἄλλο τι (sc. ἐστί, is) any thing else (true, than what follows?), ἵνα τί (sc. γένηται) to what end, lit. that what (thing may come to pass?), δοκεῖς μοι οὐ προσέχειν καὶ ταῦτα (sc. ποιεῖς) σοφὸς ὢν (540 f) you seem to me not to observe, and that (you do) though you are wise, καίτοι καὶ τοῦτο (sc. λίξω) though this also (I will say), ἐς κόρακας (sc. ἔρρε, go) to destruction, lit. to the crows, as their prey.

c. any verb may be omitted when it is readily supplied from a verb in the context: σύ τε γὰρ Ἕλλην καὶ ἡμεῖς (sc. ἐσμεν Ἕλληνες) for both you are a Greek, and we (are Greeks). Infinitives and participles are often thus omitted: ὅτε πάσχοντες κακὸν οὐδὲν ὅτε μέλλοντες (sc. πάσχειν) neither suffering any evil nor being likely (to suffer any).

359. The SUBJECT of an ATTRIBUTIVE is very often omitted.

Thus—a. when it is expressed or implied in some word of the context: εἰ τῶν μυρίων ἐλπιδῶν μία τις (sc. ἐλπὶς) ὕμιν ἐστί if of ten thousand hopes you have any one (hope of being saved), τοῦτον ὀλίγας ἔπαισε (sc. πληγὰς) he struck this one a few (blows).

b. when it is a word in common use, and readily understood from the meaning of the attributive or the connection of the sentence. Thus, oftenest, ἀνὴρ or ἄνθρωπος man, γυνή woman; less often, masc. κόλπος gulf, οἶνος wine, fem. ἡμέρα day, γῆ land, χάρα country, ὁδός way, χερὶ hand, etc.: ὁ σοφὸς the wise (man), ἡ καλὴ the beautiful (woman), οἱ πολλοὶ the many, common people, οἱ Θηβαῖοι the Thebans, ἡ προτεραία the (day) before, ἡ αὔριον the morrow, ἡ ἐμᾶντοῦ my own (country), ἦγε τὴν ἐπὶ Μάγαρᾳ he was leading on the (way) toward Megara, ἡ δεξιὰ the right (hand), ῥητορικὴ (τέχνη, oratorical art) rhetoric, εἰκοστή (μερὶς) a twentieth (part), ἡ πεπωμένη the allotted (portion), destiny.

ba. Feminine adjectives without a subject are often used to express DIRECTION, MANNER, or CONDITION. These uses may have grown out of an original omission of ὁδός way: ἐξ ἐναντίας from an opposite direction, in front, μακρὰν a long way off, ἦκε τὴν ταχίστην he came (the quickest way) most quickly.

bb. With an attributive genitive, υἱὸς son is often omitted: Ἀλέξανδρος ὁ φιλιππου Alexander the (son) of Philip. So οἶκος house, or a word of similar meaning, in phrases such as εἰς Πλάτωνος to Plato's (house), ἐν Ἅιδου in (the abode of) Hades, ἐν Διονύσου in (the temple) of Dionysus.

c. when it is INDETERMINATE. The attributive is then NEUTER, and may be singular or plural. For examples, see 350.

d. In cases b. and c., the adjective is said to be used AS A SUBSTANTIVE: it may thus have another adjective joined with it as an attributive: πλείστοι πολέμιοι very many enemies, ἀναγκαῖον κακόν a necessary evil.

360. The ANTECEDENT of a RELATIVE pronoun is often omitted.

Thus — a. when it is expressed or implied in some word of the context: ναυμαχία παλαιτάτη (sc. τῶν ναυμαχιῶν) ὃν ἴσμεν a sea-fight the most ancient (of the sea-fights) that we know of. — b. when it is a word like ἄνθρωπος, ἀνὴρ, γυνή, etc.: ἔχομεν καὶ γῆν πολλὴν καὶ οἴτινες αὐτὴν ἐργάζονται we have both much land and (men) who will work it. — c. when it is indeterminate: ἀμελεῖς ὃν δεῖ ἐπιμελεῖσθαι you neglect (things) which you ought to care for. — In all such cases the relative sentence is analogous to an attributive with omitted subject (cf. 551).

PECULIARITIES IN THE USE OF NUMBER AND GENDER.

361. With two or more subjects connected by AND, the verb or predicate-adjective may be plural, even when the subjects are singular.

Thus — With two or more subjects connected by AND,

a. the finite verb (or predicate-adjective) is in the plural:

b. with two singular subjects, the dual may be used.

With subjects of different PERSONS,

c. the verb is in the first, if that is found among the subjects:

d. otherwise, it is in the second person.

With subjects of different GENDERS,

e. the predicate-adjective is masculine, if they denote persons:

f. it is neuter, if they denote things:

g. if they denote persons and things together, it takes the gender of the persons.

Often, however, — h. the predicate-word agrees with one of the subjects (the nearest, or the most important), being understood with the rest. Especially so, when the predicate stands before all the subjects, or directly after the first of them.

Thus — a. λήθη καὶ δυσκολία καὶ μανία εἰς τὴν διδνοῖαν ἐμπίπτουσι forgetfulness and peevishness and madness get into the mind. — b. ἡδονὴ καὶ λύπη ἐν τῇ πόλει βασιλεύσεται pleasure and pain will bear sway in the city. — c. σοφοὶ ἐγὼ τε καὶ σὺ ἡμεν both I and thou were wise. — d. καὶ σὺ καὶ οἱ ἀδελφοὶ παρῆστε both thou and thy brothers were present. — e. καὶ ἡ γυνὴ καὶ ὁ ἀνὴρ ἀγαθοὶ εἰσι both the woman and the man are good. — f. πόλεμος καὶ στάσις ὀλέθρια ταῖς πόλεσιν ἐστί war and faction are fatal to cities. — g. ἡ τύχη καὶ Φίλιππος ἦσαν τῶν ἔργων κύριοι fortune and Philip had control over the actions. — h. βασιλεὺς καὶ οἱ σὺν αὐτῷ εἰσπίπτει εἰς τὸ στρατόπεδον the king and those with him break in' o the camp, ἐπεψέ με Ἀριαῖος καὶ Ἀρτάοζος πιστοὶ ὄντες Κύρω Ariæus and Artæozus sent me, being faithful to Cyrus, ἐγὼ λέγω καὶ Σεύθης τὰ αὐτὰ I and Seuthes say the same things.

362. a. The ATTRIBUTIVE regularly agrees with the nearest subject: παντὶ καὶ λόγῳ καὶ μηχανῇ by every word and means. — b. The rules given in 361 a, b, for the predicate-adjective, apply also to the APPOSITIVE and PREDICATE-SUBSTANTIVE. — c. All the rules given in 361 for the predicate-adjective apply to the PRONOUN OF REFERENCE, whether RELATIVE OR DEMONSTRATIVE.

363. AGREEMENT WITH A PREDICATE-NOUN. Irregularities of number and gender sometimes result from agreement with a predicate-noun: thus τὸ χωρίον πρότερον Ἐννέα ὁδοὶ ἐκαλοῦντο (prop. ἐκαλεῖτο) the place was before called Nine Ways, ἡ τοῦ ρεύματος πηγή δὲν (prop. δ) ἱμερόν Ζεὺς ὠνόμασε the fountain of that stream which Zeus named Desire, αὕτη (prop. τοῦτο, with indeterminate subject) ἐστὶν ἔννοια this (view or conduct) is folly, ἥνπερ (prop. ὅπερ) καλοῦμεν μάθησιν ἀνάμνησίς ἐστι (that) which we call learning is recollecting.

364. The singular is sometimes used in a COLLECTIVE sense, expressing more than one: as ἐσθῆς clothing (clothes), πλίνθος brick (= bricks), ἡ ἵππος the horse (cavalry), ἡ ἀσπίς the heavy-armed. When a collective singular, denoting things, is used as a subject, the predicate-word 'verb or noun) is regularly singular. But

365. A COLLECTIVE SUBJECT denoting persons may have a predicate-word (verb or noun) in the plural.

Thus Ἀθηναίων τὸ πλῆθος οἰοῦνται the multitude of the Athenians suppose, τὸ στράτευμα ἐπορίζετο σίτον κόπτοντες τοὺς βοῦς the army provided itself food by slaughtering the oxen.

a. A pronoun of reference, referring to such a collective, may be in the plural: μελέτω σοι τοῦ πλῆθους καὶ κεχαρισμένως αὐτοῖς ἔρχε be careful of the multitude and govern in a way acceptable to them, τὸ Ἀρκαδικὸν δσπλιτικὸν (359 c, d) ὦν ἦρχε Κλεάνωρ the Arcadian heavy-armed force whom Cleānor led.

b. Such words as ἕκαστος each, τὶς any one, πᾶς τις every one, οὐδεὶς no one, may have the construction of collectives on account of the plural which they imply: καθ' ὅσον δύνανται ἕκαστος as far as each one is able, ἢν ἀδικεῖν τις ἐπιχειρῇ τούτοις Κύρος πολέμιος ἐσται if any one attempt to do injustice, to these Cyrus will be an enemy. In Δησαυροποῖδς ἀνὴρ, οὃς ἐπαινεῖ τὸ πλῆθος a money-making man, such as the multitude praise, the relative οὗς refers to a class of persons suggested by the singular antecedent. In ἀπᾶσεται πάντας, ὃ ἂν περιτυγχάνῃ he embraces all men, whatsoever one he may fall in with, the relative refers to each individual included in the plural antecedent.

366. A NEUTER PLURAL NOMINATIVE has the finite verb in the singular.

For examples, see 351. The neuter plural subject was viewed as a collective — as denoting a collection of things (cf. 364). But — a. If a neuter plural subject denote persons, it may have a verb in the plural (cf. 365): τὰ τέλη ἐπέσχοντο the authorities promised, τοσάδε ἔθνη ἐστράτευσον so many nations were making war. — b. Other exceptions to this rule are rare in Attic, but frequent in other dialects: as Hm. σπάρτα λύνονται the cables are loosed.

367. In the common use of ἔστιν οἱ to mean SOME, the subject of ἔστιν is first thought of indeterminately, but immediately afterwards specified by the relative sentence: ἔστιν οἱ νομίζουσι there is (a reality, viz. persons) who suppose. The same explanation applies to a few sentences like ἔστι τοῦτ᾽ αὖ διττὰ τὰ βίω there are these two different ways of living.

368. In speaking of two, the dual and plural are freely united or interchanged with each other.

Thus προσέτρεχον δύο νεανίσκω two young men were running up, ἐγέλασάντην ἄμφω βλέψαντες eis ἀλλήλους they both laughed out on looking at one another, μέθεσθέ μ' ἤδη, χαίρετον let me go now, fare ye well.

369. PLURAL FOR SINGULAR. The plural is sometimes used in Greek where we should expect the singular: thus

a. in PREDICATE-ADJECTIVES with indeterminate subject (impersonal construction, 348): πολεμητιὰ ἦν it was necessary to make war (things were to be done in war), πλωϊμώτερα ἐγένετο navigation became more advanced (things became more favorable to navigation). So, too, with an infinitive as subject: ἀδύνατόν ἐστιν ἀποφυγεῖν it is impossible to escape.

b. in ABSTRACT SUBSTANTIVES, to express repeated instances of a quality or various ways in which it is manifested: ἐμοὶ αἱ σοὶ εὐτυχίαι οὐκ ἀρέσκουσι to me thy (often repeated) good fortune is not agreeable, Hm. ἵπποσύνης ἐκέκαστο he was distinguished in (the arts of) horsemanship.

c. in the FIRST PERSON, especially when an author speaks of himself: τοῦτο πειρασόμεθα διηγήσασθαι this I (we) will endeavor to explain.

d. On the other hand, a NATION (especially if governed by a monarch) is sometimes designated by the singular with ὁ: ὁ Μακεδών, ὁ Πέρσης, for the Macedonians, the Persians.

370. MASCULINE FOR PERSON IN GENERAL. In speaking of persons, the masculine is used if sex is not thought of, or if the same expression is applied to both sexes: τῶν εὐτυχούντων πάντες εἰσὶ συγγενεῖς all (persons) are kinsfolk of the prosperous, οἱ τεκόντες the parents.

371. MASCULINE DUAL USED FOR FEMININE. This is rare in adjectives and participles, but frequent in some pronouns: τοίν, τοῦτοίν, are often used for ταῖν, ταῦταιν, and τώ, τοῦτω, almost always for τά, ταῦτά: τοῦτω τῷ τέχνᾳ these arts, δύο λείπεσθον μόνω μηχανᾷ only two means are left.

372. A predicate-adjective is sometimes neuter when the subject is masculine or feminine.

Thus σφαλερὸν ἡγεμὼν θρασὺς a daring leader is dangerous, prop. a dangerous thing (350. 359 c), essentially and always dangerous, καλὸν ἢ ἀλήθεια καὶ μόνιμον beautiful is truth and abiding, ταραχαὶ καὶ στάσεις δλέθρια ταῖς πόλεσι disturbances and factions are ruinous (things) to cities. — a. Similarly, a pronoun of reference may be neuter, when the antecedent is masc. or fem.: τυραννίδα θηρῶν ὃ χρήμασιν ἀλίσκεται to pursue despotic power (a thing) which is taken by means of money.

373. Sometimes a word in agreement conforms to the real gender or number of the subject, instead of the grammatical.

Thus, a PREDICATE-ADJECTIVE (or pred.-participle): τὰ μοχθηρὰ ἀνθρώπων τῶν ἐπιθυμιῶν ἀκρατεῖς εἰσι the miserable wretches are without control over their appetites. The construction here is said to be AD SENSUM (according to the sense). To this head belong also the constructions with COLLECTIVE subjects described in 365.

a. A construction ad sensum is seen in cases like Ἀθηναῖος ὃν πόλεως τῆς μεγίστης (where the subject of πόλεως is implied in Ἀθηναῖος) being (an Athenian) a man of Athens, a city the greatest; Θεμιστοκλῆς φεύγει εἰς Κέρκυραν ὃν αὐτῶν εὐεργέτης (where the antecedent of αὐτῶν is implied in Κέρκυραν) Themistocles flees to Corcyra, being a benefactor of (them) the Corcyraeans; οἰκία ἣ ὑμετέρα (= ὑμῶν) ἣν χρῆσθε (your house) the house of you, who use etc.

THE ARTICLE.

374. Ὁ AS A DEMONSTRATIVE. The word δ, ἡ, τό, (like Eng. the.) was at first a demonstrative pronoun, which afterwards, by gradual weakening of its force, became an article. In Homer it is usually a demonstrative; though in many cases it approaches nearly to its later use as an article, especially when placed before an attributive with omitted subject, as in οἱ ἄλλοι the others, τὰ ἐσόμενα (350) the things about to be, τὸ πρῖν formerly. [For δ, ἡ, τό, as a RELATIVE pronoun, see 682.]

375. Even in Attic prose, ὁ often retains its primitive power as a demonstrative. Thus

a. in connection with μέν and δέ; and especially in CONTRASTED expression, ὁ μέν — ὁ δέ, this — that, the one — the other, or with INDEFINITE meaning, one — another, some — some, part — part. So in the ADVERBIAL expressions τὸ μέν — τὸ δέ, or τὰ μέν — τὰ δέ, on the one hand — on the other, partly — partly, (in which sense we find also τοῦτο μέν — τοῦτο δέ.) Where these forms have an indefinite meaning, τις is occasionally added, as ὁ μέν τις, τὰ δέ τι, etc. — aa. In Demosthenes and later writers, the relative pronoun is sometimes found with a like use, but only in oblique cases, as πόλεις ἃς μὲν ἀναίρων, εἰς ἃς δὲ τοὺς φυγάδας κατὰγον destroying some cities, into others bringing back their exiles.

b. in καὶ τόν, καὶ τήν, before an infinitive: καὶ τὸν ἀποκρίνασθαι λέγεται and it is said that he answered. (In the nom. we have καὶ ὅς, ἡ, οἷ, αἱ: καὶ οἱ ἡρώτων and they were asking. Cf. ἡ δ' ὅς said he, ἡ δ' ἡ said she.) Likewise in τὸν καὶ τόν this one and that one, τὸ καὶ τό, τὰ καὶ τά. Further in πρὸ τοῦ (also written προτοῦ) before this (time): and in a few other cases of rare occurrence.

Ὁ as an Article.

376. Used as an article, ὁ is either restrictive or generic.

a. The RESTRICTIVE ARTICLE marks a particular object (or objects) as distinguished from others of the same class.

Thus ὁ ἄνθρωπος the (particular) man, distinguished from other men (ὁ ἄνθρωπος ὃν πάντες μισοῦσι the man whom all hate): οἱ ἀγαθοὶ ἄνδρες the (particular) good men, distinguished from others of like character: ἡ δι-καιοσύνη Κύρου the justice of Cyrus, distinguished from justice in other persons or relations.

377. The particular object is distinguished from others of the same class, a. AS BEFORE MENTIONED : δορύβου ἤκουσε καὶ ἤρετο τίς ὁ δόρυβος εἶη he heard a noise and asked what the noise was.

b. AS WELL KNOWN : οἱ (378) Τρῶες τὰ δέκα ἔτη ἀντείχον the Trojans held out during the ten years (the well known duration of the siege).

c. AS LIMITED BY WORDS CONNECTED WITH IT : τὸ Μηδίας τεῖχος the wall of Media, αἱ πόλεις ἃς ἐπολιορκούμεν the cities which we were besieging.

d. AS BELONGING TO A PERSON OR THING MENTIONED IN THE CONTEXT : Κύρος καταπηδήσας ἀπὸ τοῦ ἄρματος τὸν δώρακα ἐνέδν Cyrus leaping down from his chariot put on his breastplate. This is the usual form in Greek for an unemphatic POSSESSIVE pronoun.

e. AS CONNECTED WITH THE CIRCUMSTANCES of the case : πῖνε τοῦ οἶνου drink of the wine (here before you), ἀκήκοα τοῦ μέλους I have heard the song (just sung), ἐβούλετο τὴν μάχην ποιῆσαι he wished to engage in the (then expected) battle : — especially as NATURAL, USUAL, PROPER, NECESSARY, etc., under the circumstances : αἱ τιμαὶ μεγάλαι, ἂν ἀποκτήσῃ τις τύραννον if one kill a tyrant, the honors (usually following) are great, γένοιτό μοι τὰς χάριτας ἀποδοῦναι πατρὶ be it mine to return the proper thanks to a father.

f. AS A SPECIMEN OF ITS CLASS, selected at pleasure ; where ὁ often has the force of an unemphatic EACH : ἔδωκε τρία ἡμιδάρικα τοῦ μηνὸς τῷ στρατιώτῃ he gave three half-darics a month to each soldier (lit. the month to the soldier).

378. The GENERIC ARTICLE marks a whole class of objects as distinguished from other classes.

Thus ὁ ἄνθρωπος man as such, distinguished from other species or beings (ὁ ἄνθρωπος θνητός ἐστι man is mortal), οἱ ἀγαθοὶ ἄνδρες good men as a class, distinguished from men of different character, ἡ δικαιοσύνη justice in all its relations or manifestations, as distinguished from other qualities. In most cases it cannot be translated into English ; especially when applied to abstract nouns, as ἡ δικαιοσύνη justice, ἡ γεωργία husbandry, ἡ ρητορική rhetoric.

a. To this head belong the cases in which a single object forms a class by itself : ἡ γῆ the earth, ὁ ὠκεανός the ocean, ὁ ἥλιος the sun, ἡ σελήνη the moon, ὁ βορέας the north-wind, ὁ νότος the south-wind. These, however, often omit the article, like proper names.

379. The article is omitted, as unnecessary, in many cases where it could have been used with propriety.

a. So, oftenest, the generic article, as ἀνθρώπου ψυχῇ the soul of man ; especially with abstract nouns, as φόβος μνήμην ἐκπλήσσει fear drives out recollection. Also in COPULATIVE forms, as ψυχὴ καὶ σῶμα soul and body, οὔτε πατὴρ οὔτε μητὴρ φείδεται he spares neither father nor mother. For the divinity (in general) θεός is used, but ὁ θεός the (particular) god. Βασιλεὺς, used almost as a proper name for the king of Persia, may omit the article : cf. πρυτάνεις the prytānes (officers in Athens).

b. Proper names of PERSONS and PLACES seldom take the article, except to mark them as before mentioned or well known (377 a, b) : ὁ Πλάτων either (the before named) Plato, or the celebrated Plato; but οἱ Πλάτωνα (by 378) the Plato's, philosophers like Plato.

c. Similarly, the article is omitted in many common designations of PLACE and TIME, made by such words as πόλις city, ἀγορά forum, στρατόπεδον camp, — δεξιὰ, ἀριστερά, right, left (hand), δεξιόν, εὐώνυμον (κέρας), right, left (wing), μέσον centre, — ξάριν spring, ἑσπέρα evening, etc.; especially after prepositions or adverbs, as εἰς ἄστυ to town, κατὰ γῆν (θάλασσαν) by land (sea), ἕμα ἡμέρᾳ at day-break, νυκτός by night, ὅφ' ἔω just before day-light.

380. ARTICLE WITH ATTRIBUTIVES. The article, when it is required by a substantive with an attributive, is always placed before the attributive.

a. Usually, as in English, the article and the attributive precede the substantive: ὁ ἀγαθὸς ἀνὴρ the good man, ὁ ἐμὸς φίλος my friend (the particular one; but ἐμὸς φίλος a friend of mine), ἡ πρότερά (adj.) ὀλιγαρχία the earlier oligarchy (followed by another oligarchy), ἡ πρότερον (345 f) ὀλιγαρχία the earlier oligarchy (followed by a different form of government), ἡ καθ' ἡμέραν (345 g) τροφή the daily food. An attrib. participle may be separated by the subst. from other words depending on it: αἱ εἰρημέναι βλασφημίαι ὑπ' Αἰσχύλου, or even αἱ ὑπ' Αἰσχ. βλασφ. εἰρημέναι, the slanders spoken by Aeschines. But a predicate word depending on the attrib. participle, is put directly before it: τὸ Κοτύλαιον καλούμενον ὄρος the mountain called Cotylaeum.

b. Less often, the article and attributive follow the substantive, which then takes another article before it: ὁ ἀνὴρ ὁ ἀγαθὸς the good man (lit., the man, the good one), τὸ τεῖχος τὸ καινὸν the new wall. The substantive takes no article before it, when it would have none if the attributive were omitted: Ἀλέξανδρος ὁ μέγας (379 b) Alexander the Great, πῶς διαφέρει Διὸς τοῦ ἀκρατεστάτου how does he differ from (a wild beast) the most violent wild beast?

c. The attributive genitive (345 e) does not require the article of the subject to stand before it: thus we have ἡ οἰκία τοῦ πατρὸς the father's house, as well as ἡ τοῦ πατρὸς οἰκία or ἡ οἰκία ἡ τοῦ πατρὸς.

d. In general, any word or group of words, standing BETWEEN the article and its substantive, has the force of an attributive (345 d). Except, however, the particles μέν, δέ, γέ, τέ, γάρ, δέ, οὖν, — and, in Ionic, the pronoun τις. — The regular order of words, τὸν μὲν ἄνδρα, changes after a preposition to πρὸς μὲν τὸν ἄνδρα or πρὸς τὸν ἄνδρα μὲν.

381. ARTICLE WITH PREDICATE-NOUNS. a. The predicate-substantive is generally without the article.

Thus ἄνθρωπος εἰ θοῦ art (a) man, προδότης ἦν ὁ στρατηγός the general was a traitor. But if it is to be distinguished from other objects or classes, it takes the article: σὺ εἰ δ' ἀνὴρ θοῦ art the man, τὸν Δέξιππον ἀνακαλοῦντες τὸν προδότην calling Dexippus the (notorious) traitor.

b. The article, when it is required by a substantive with a predicate-adjective (or participle), is never placed before the predicate word.

The predicate word is thus distinguished from an attributive (380); it may precede both article and substantive, or follow both: thus ἀγαθὸς ὁ ἀνὴρ or ὁ ἀνὴρ ἀγαθός the man is good, τὸ σῶμα θνητὸν ἔπαυτες ἔχομεν we all have our body mortal (the body which we have is mortal), αὐτὸς ἀγαθὸς σὺν ἀγαθοῖς τοῖς παρ' ἐμοῖ good myself, with the men about me good (while my attendants are good), ἅμα τῷ ἡρὶ ἀρχομένῳ at the beginning of spring (when it was beginning), οἱ Ἀθηναῖοι παρ' ἐκόντων τῶν ξυμμάχων τὴν ἡγεμονίαν ἔλαβον the Athenians received the leadership from their allies acting willingly (these were willing to confer it), πόσον ἄγει τὸ στράτευμα how large is he leading the army (the army, which he leads, is how large)? ἐν ὁποῖα τῇ γῇ φυτεῖν οἶδα I know in what kind of soil one must plant (of what kind the soil is, in which one must plant).

382. The article is used in the predicate position (381 b)

a. with some adjectives of place, to signify a part of the subject: μέση ἡ χώρα the middle of the country, τὸ ὄρος ἔσχατον the extremity of the mountain; but ἡ μέση χώρα the middle country (between other countries), τὸ ἔσχατον ὄρος the extreme mountain. Similarly, ἡμισυς ὁ βίος half of the life.

b. with πᾶς and ὅλος: πάντες οἱ πολῖται all the citizens, less often οἱ πάντες πολῖται the whole body of citizens (cf. ἑκατὸν οἱ πάντες a hundred as the whole number, a hundred in all); in sing. πᾶς πολίτης every citizen, πᾶσα (ἡ) ἀλήθεια all (the) truth; ὅλη πόλις a whole city, ὅλη ἡ πόλις the city as a whole, less often ἡ ὅλη πόλις the whole city.

c. with intensive αὐτός (134): αὐτὸς ὁ ἀνὴρ or ὁ ἀνὴρ αὐτός the man himself. But ὁ αὐτὸς ἀνὴρ the same man, rarely (ὁ) ἀνὴρ ὁ αὐτός.

d. regularly with the demonstratives ὅδε, οὗτος, ἐκεῖνος; with ἕμφω, ἀμφότερος, both, ἑκάτερος each (of two); and with ἕκαστος each (of several), if its substantive takes the article. So with the genitive of personal pronouns (μοῦ, σοῦ, αὐτοῦ, ἡμῶν, etc.), when connected with a subst. which has the article (while the genitives of reflexive pronouns, ἑαυτοῦ, etc., follow the article): μετεπέμψατο Ἀστυάγης τὴν ἑαυτοῦ θυγατέρα καὶ τὸν παῖδα αὐτῆς Astyages sent for his daughter and her boy.

383. With some pronouns and numerals the article has special uses: thus — a. μὴ ἐρεῖς ὅτι τὰ δώδεκά ἐστι δις ἕξ will you say that twelve (the MERE NUMBER, without reference to things numbered) is twice six? — b. ἀπέθανον ἀμφὶ τοὺς μυρίους there fell about ten thousand (the nearest ROUND NUMBER). — c. τὰ δύο μέρη two parts (out of three, the PART distinguished from the understood whole). — d. οἱ πλείστοι (the most numerous part) the most, οἱ πλείους (the more numerous part) the majority, and with much the same meaning, οἱ πολλοί (the numerous part) the greater number (esp. the mass of a people, cf. οἱ ὀλίγοι the oligarchs): also τὸ πολὺ the greater part, main body. — e. ἕτερος (Lat. alter) one or other of two; ὁ ἕτερος the one, the other; οἱ ἕτεροι the one, the other (of two parties), may mean the enemy. — f. ἄλλος (Lat. alius) another; ὁ ἄλλος the other, the rest, often used for all except a part mentioned AFTERWARD: τῷ μὲν ἄλλῳ στρατῷ ἡσύχαζεν, ἑκατὸν δὲ πελταστὰς προέμπει with the rest of the army he kept quiet, but sends forward a hundred peltasts; often, also, with APPOSITIVE relation to its subst.: οἱ πολῖται καὶ οἱ ἄλλοι ξένοι the citizens and (the others, being foreigners) the foreigners beside.

THE CASES.

A. NOMINATIVE.

384. SUBJECT-NOMINATIVE. The subject of a finite verb is put in the nominative. [See 351 a.]

385. PREDICATE-NOMINATIVE. The predicate-noun, when it belongs to the subject of a finite verb, is put in the nominative.

This occurs especially with verbs which mean TO BE, BECOME, APPEAR, BE MADE, CHOSEN, CALLED, CONSIDERED, and the like (343); but also with many others: καθίσταται βασιλεύς (355 b) he becomes (established as) king, Ἀλέξανδρος θεὸς ἐνομίσετο Alexander was thought a god, οἱ φιλιππίζοντες κόλακες ἤκουον the partisans of Philip (heard) were called flatterers, ἦκεις μοι σωτὴρ thou art come for me as a savior.

386. The NOMINATIVE is often used FOR THE VOCATIVE: ὦ πόλις καὶ δῆμε O city and people; so in connection with οὗτος: ὁ Φαληρεὺς οὗτος Ἀπολλόδωρος you Phalerean Apollodorus there. In proper names, the use of nom. for voc. is chiefly poetic.

387. A NOMINATIVE INDEPENDENT is seen — a. in names and titles, as Κέρου Ἀνάβασις Expedition of Cyrus, Βιβλίου Πρώτου Book First. This nom. sometimes remains even in dependent construction: παρεγγύα ὁ Κῦρος σύνθημα Ζεὺς ξύμμαχος καὶ ἡγεμὼν Cyrus gave out as password "Zeus (our) ally and leader." — b. in exclamations: λῆρος nonsense! Ἡμ. νῆπιος fool!

B. VOCATIVE.

388. The person (or thing) addressed is put in the vocative.

In Attic prose ὦ is usually prefixed; but it is often wanting, espec. in animated address: μὴ δορυβεῖτε, ὦ ἄνδρες Ἀθηναῖοι make no noise, O men of Athens, ἀκούεις, Ἀσχλῆνη hearest thou, Aeschines?

C. ACCUSATIVE.

389. The accusative properly denotes the OBJECT of an action, that to, on, or over which it is directed.

390. The DIRECT OBJECT of a transitive verb is put in the accusative.

Thus ἠγάσθη αὐτὸν καὶ δίδωσιν αὐτῷ μυρίους δαρεικοὺς he admired him and gives him 10,000 darics, ἐξέτασιν ποιεῖται τῶν Ἑλλήνων he makes a review of the Greeks, εἶχον πάντες κράνη χαλκᾶ they all had brazen helmets. — For omission of the object, see 356; for omission of the verb, see 358.

a. Many Greek verbs are transitive and followed by an object-accusative, when the verbs commonly used to render them in English are intransitive and followed by a preposition. Thus δυνμι to swear by, εἰ (κακῶς) ποιῶ to do good (ill) to, μένω to wait for, φεύγω to flee from, λανθάνω to escape the notice of, φυλάττομαι to guard (oneself) against (active φυλάττω to guard), αἰδοῦμαι, αἰσχύνομαι to feel shame before, εἰκᾶ (μάχην, δίκην) he is victorious in (a battle, a suit).

b. Conversely, many Greek verbs are intransitive and followed by a genitive or dative, when the verbs commonly used for them in English are transitive. Thus with gen., ἄρχω to rule, ἅπτομαι to touch, ἀκούω to hear; with dat., πλησιάζω to approach, ἀρῆγω to assist, φθονῶ to envy.

c. In many cases the Greek itself varies, using the same verb at different times as transitive and intransitive. Thus with acc. or gen., αἰσθάνομαι to perceive, ἐνθυμούμαι to consider; with acc. or dat., ἐνοχλῶ to trouble, ἐπιστρατεύω to war against, and similar compounds of ἐπί; δεῖ μέ τινος poetic for δεῖ μοί τινος I have need of something.

d. Many intransitive verbs become transitive by being compounded with a preposition: thus βαίνω intrans. to go, but trans. διαβαίνω to go across, ἐκβαίνω to depart from (oftener with gen.), παραβαίνω to (pass beside) transgress, ὑπερβαίνω to pass over, to surpass, to transgress.

e. In rare cases an intransitive verb in connection with a verbal noun forms a transitive phrase with an object-accusative: ἐπιστήμονες ἦσαν τὰ προσηκόντα they were acquainted with their duties, τεθνάναι τῷ φόβῳ τοῦς Θεβαίους to be (dead with fear) mortally afraid of the Thebans.

391. The PARTICLES νῆ and μή are followed by the accusative. They are used in swearing, and the acc. perhaps depends on δυνμι (390 a) understood. νῆ is always affirmative; μή, unless ναί precedes it, is always connected with a negative expressed or understood: νῆ Δία by Zeus, ναί μή Δία yea by Zeus, οὐ μή Δία no by Zeus, μή τὸν — οὐ σύ γε not you, by the — (the name of the god suppressed with humorous effect). — a. The accusative is sometimes found in other exclamations: οὗτος, ὃ σέ τοι there ho! you, I mean.

392. Some verbs take an accusative from an idea of MAKING or EFFECTING, which is understood along with their proper sense. Thus πρεσβεύειν εἰρήνην (to act as ambassador [and so make] peace) to negotiate a peace, δρκια τέμνειν, Lat. foedus ferire, to (cut, i. e. slaughter victims, and thus) conclude a covenant.

393. Many verbs take a COGNATE-ACCUSATIVE.

In this, the meaning of the verb is either expressly repeated as a noun in the acc., or is to be understood in connection with the acc. of a neuter adjective or an appositive. In the former case, an attributive is commonly connected with it. Here belong

a. ACCUSATIVE OF KINDRED FORMATION: μάχην ἐμάχοντο they were fighting a battle, πομπὴν πέμπειν to conduct a procession, ὅς ἂν ἀρίστην βουλὴν βουλευσθῇ whoever may (counsel) give the best counsel, μεγάλην κρίσιν κρίνεται he is undergoing a great trial.

b. ACCUSATIVE OF KINDRED MEANING: πληγὴν τύπτεται βαρυτάτην he is struck a very heavy blow, πάσας νόσους κάμνει he is sick with all diseases, πόλεμον ἐστράτευσαν τὸν ἱερὸν καλούμενον they engaged in the so-called Sacred War, γραφὴν διώκειν to prosecute an impeachment, ἐστιᾶν γάμους to (entertain) give a wedding-feast.

c. NEUTER ADJECTIVE: μέγα ψεύδεται (he lies a great [lie]) he utters a great falsehood (where the subject of μέγα, left indeterminate, may be supplied from ψεύδεται, πάντα πείσομαι I shall obey in all things (render all acts of obedience), ταῦτα λυπούμαι καὶ ταῦτα χαίρω τοῖς πολλοῖς I have the same pains and the same pleasures with the multitude, σμικρὸν τι ἀπορῶ I am in some little perplexity, τί χρῆσθαι τοῦτ' what use shall I make of this?

d. QUALIFYING SUBSTANTIVE: ἀγωνίζονται πάλην they contend in (a contest, viz.) wrestling (where πάλην may be taken as the appositive of an understood ἀγῶνα), τοῦτον τὸν τρόπον πράξας having acted in this manner (of action), Ἡμ. πῦρ ὀφθαλμοῖσι δεδορκώς looking (a look of) fire with his eyes.

394. The ACCUSATIVE OF SPECIFICATION is used with attributives, appositives, and predicate-words.

The attributive, etc., is then represented as pertaining, not to its subject merely, but to the particular PART, PROPERTY, or SPHERE, specified by the acc.: thus κάμνω τὴν κεφαλὴν I have a pain in my head, τυφλὸς εἰ τὸν νοῦν you are blind in your mind, πληθὸς τι τὴν φύσιν ἐστὶν ἡ πόλις the city is in its nature a plural, παρθένος καλὴ τὸ εἶδος a maid beautiful in her form, ποταμὸς Κύδνος (appos.) ἄνομα εἶδος δύο πλεθρῶν a river, Cydnus by name, of two plethra in breadth, καὶ τὰ μικρὰ πειρώμαι ἀπὸ τῶν θεῶν δραῦσθαι even in little things I endeavor to begin with the gods, τὸ κατ' ἐμὲ οὐδὲν ἐλλείψει (in that which relates to me) on my side there shall be nothing wanting.

395. The accusative is used to denote EXTENT of time and space.

a. TIME: ἐνταῦθα Κύρος ἔμεινεν ἡμέρας πέντε there Cyrus remained five days, αἱ σπονδαὶ ἐνιαυτὸν ἔσονται the truce will be for a year, δουλεύουσι τὸν λοιπὸν βίον they are slaves all the rest of their life, — ἐβδόμην ἡμέραν ἐτετελευτήκει she had died (the seventh day, i. e.) six days before, ἐξήλθομεν ἔτος τοῦτ' τρίτον we went out (this, as third year) two years ago.

b. SPACE: Κύρος ἐξελαύνει σταθμοὺς τρεῖς, παρασάγγας ἑκοσι καὶ δύο Cyrus proceeds three days' marches, twenty-two parasangs, Μέγαρα ἀπέχει Συρακουσῶν οὔτε πλοῦν πολλὴν οὔτε ὁδὸν Megara is not far distant from Syracuse either by sea or land (no long voyage or journey).

396. OBJECT OF MOTION. The poets often use the accusative without a preposition to denote the object toward which motion is directed: τὸ κοῖλον Ἄργος βάς having gone to the hollow Argos, τοῦ κλέος οὐρανὸν ἵκει whose fame has reached to heaven, μνηστῆρας ἀφίκετο she came to the suitors.

397. ADVERBIAL ACCUSATIVE. The accusative is used in many words and phrases with the force of an adverb.

This use may be explained in most cases by the principles already given (393-5. cf. 353 d). Thus τόνδε (τοῦτον) τὸν τρόπον (393 d) in this manner, τὴν ταχίστην (359 ba) in the quickest way, ἀρχήν with negative (not as beginning) not at all, ἀκμήν (at the acme) just, in the act, (τὸ) τέλος (as the end) at last, προίκα and δωρεάν (as a free gift) gratis: χάριν (in favor of) for the sake of takes a genitive, as also δίκην (in the fashion of) like.

a. Many neuter adjectives are used in this way: μέγα, μεγάλα, greatly πολλόν, πολλά, much, τὸ πολλόν, τὰ πολλά, for the most part, πρότερον before, τὸ πρότερον the former time, πρῶτον (at) first, τὸ πρῶτον the first time, τὸ λοιπὸν for the rest, for the future (cf. 428), τυχὸν perhaps, τοσοῦτον so much, ὅσον as far as, τι somewhat (ἐγγύς τι pretty nearly), τί (δ τι) why, τοῦτο, ταῦτα, therefore. Cf. 132 a, b. 353 d. 375 a.

For accusative as subject of the infinitive, see 535.

For accusative absolute with a participle, see 544.

TWO ACCUSATIVES WITH ONE VERB.

398. Many transitive verbs may have a DOUBLE OBJECT, usually a person and a thing, both in the accusative.

Thus verbs of ASKING, TEACHING, CLOTHING, HIDING, DEPRIVING, and others: as αἰτῶ to request (Κύρον πλοῖα vessels of Cyrus), ἐρωτῶ to inquire; διδάσκω to teach (τὸν παῖδα τὴν μουσικὴν the boy music), πείθω to persuade; ἐνδύω or ἀμφιέννυμι to clothe, ἐκδύω to unclothe, strip (ἐμὲ τὴν ἐσθῆτα me of the dress); κρύπτω to hide; ἀφαιρούμαι, ἀποστερῶ, to deprive (τοὺς Ἕλληνας τὴν γῆν the Greeks of their land), συλῶ to despoil, πράττομαι (also πράττω or εἰσπράττω) to exact, ἀναμνησκω to remind (αὐτὸν κακὰ or κακῶν him of evils), etc. All these are verbs of CAUSAL meaning: — thus asking is (causing) urging to give or to answer, teaching is causing to learn, and so on; — and the personal object depends on the idea of causing, the non-personal on the transitive action caused.

a. The PASSIVE of these verbs retains the accusative of the thing: διδάσκομαι τὴν μουσικὴν I am taught (caused to learn) music, ἀφίηται τὸν ἵππον he has been deprived of (caused to lose) the horse.

399. Many transitive verbs may have, beside the OBJECT, a COGNATE-ACCUSATIVE.

Thus Μέλητος ἐγράψατό με τὴν γραφὴν ταύτην Melētus (charged me this charge) brought this impeachment against me, ἐμὲ δ πατὴρ τὴν τῶν παίδων παιδείαν ἔτρεφε my father reared me with the training of the boys, εἰ τίς τι ἀγαθὸν ἢ κακὸν ποιήσειεν αὐτόν if one should do him any good or evil, πολλὰ ἂν τις ἔχοι Σωκράτην ἐπαινέσαι one would be able to bestow many praises on Socrates, ἠδίκησαμεν τοῦτον οὐδέν we did this one no wrong. — a. Such verbs in the PASSIVE may retain the cognate-accusative: τὴν τάξιν λιπεῖν ἣν ἂν ταχθῇ ἐν τῷ πολέμῳ to leave the post which he may (be posted) receive in the war, οὐ βλάφονται (282) ἄξια λόγου (393 c) they will not suffer injuries worth mentioning.

400. PREDICATE-ACCUSATIVE. A predicate-noun, when it belongs to the object of a transitive verb, is put in the accusative.

This occurs especially with verbs which mean TO MAKE, SHOW, CHOOSE, CALL, CONSIDER, and the like (343 c): βασιλέα καθιστᾶσιν αὐτόν they establish him as king, Ἀλέξανδρον θεὸν ἐνόμισον they thought Alexander a god, παρέχω ἑμαυτὸν εὐπειθῇ I show myself obedient, ἔλαβε τοῦτο δῶρον he took this as a gift (but τοῦτο τὸ δῶρον this gift), τί τοῦτο ποιεῖς (as what are you doing this) what is this you are doing (cf. 565 c). — a. In the PASSIVE construction, both of these accusatives become nominatives (see 385): Ἀλέξανδρος θεὸς ἐνομίζετο; καθίσταται βασιλεὺς.

D. GENITIVE.

401. The genitive properly denotes — a. that to which something BELONGS: also — b. that FROM which something is SEPARATED. In the latter use it corresponds to the Latin ABLATIVE.

Genitive with Substantives.

402. One substantive may have another depending on it in the genitive.

The substantive may BELONG to the dependent genitive in a great variety of relations (expressed generally by the English of). The most important are given in the following scheme.

The genitive, depending on a substantive, may show

- | | |
|-------------------------|--------------------------|
| a. what it is part of: | Gen. Partitive. |
| b. what it consists of: | " of Constituent. |
| c. what name it has: | " of Designation. |

[In a., b., c., the two things are more or less the same; in d.-i., they are distinct.]

- | | |
|---|----------------------------|
| d. what owner it belongs to: | Gen. of Possession. |
| e. what it is connected with and pertains to, tho' not strictly in possession: | Gen. of Connection. |

[The following may be regarded as special varieties of e.]

- | | |
|--|-------------------------|
| f. the subject of its action or quality: | Gen. Subjective. |
| g. the object of its action: | " Objective. |
| h. the cause of its existence: | " of Cause. |
| i. its extent, duration, or value: | " of Measure. |

403. GENITIVE PARTITIVE (or Gen. of the Whole). The PART is oftenest expressed by a word of quantity or number, a pronoun, or a superlative; the WHOLE by a genitive plural: πολλοὶ τῶν ρητόρων many of the orators, πότερος τῶν ἀδελφῶν which of the two brothers, πάντων ἄριστος best of all men, τῶν Ἀθηναίων ὁ δῆμος the people (lower class) of the Athenians, δῆμου ἀνὴρ a man of the people, μικρὸν ὕπνου a little (portion of) sleep, μέσον ἡμέρας middle of the day, βέλτιστος ἑαυτοῦ (best of himself) in his best estate. Here belong — a. designations of PLACE, like Θῆβαι τῆς Βοιωτίας Thebes (of) in Boeotia, where the gen. requires the article; and — b. designations of DEGREE, like ἐπὶ μέγα δυνάμειος ἐχώρησαν they advanced to a great (degree) of power, ἐν τούτῳ παρασκευῆς ἦσαν in this (state) of preparation were they. — c. For πολὺ (350) τῆς χώρας we often have πολλὰ τῆς χώρας much of the country (where πολὺ conforms in gender to χώρας); and in like manner ὁ ἡμις (ὁ λοιπός, ὁ πλείστος) τοῦ χρόνου the half (the rest, the most) of the time.

404. GENITIVE OF CONSTITUENT (or Material): κρήνη ὕδατος a spring of water, βοῶν ἀγέλη a herd of cattle, ὁ τῶν Ἀθηναίων δῆμος the people (whole body) of the Athenians, ἁμαξαί σίτου wagons (wagon-loads) of corn, δύο κοτῶλαι οἶνου a pint of wine.

405. GENITIVE OF DESIGNATION (chiefly poetic): τὸ ὄρος τῆς Ἰστώνης the mountain of Istone, Ἡμ. Τροίης πολεῖθρον city of Troy.

406. GENITIVE OF POSSESSION: οἰκία πατρός a father's house, ὁ τοῦ βασιλέως θρόνος the king's throne, τὸ ἱερὸν τοῦ Ἀπόλλωνος the temple of Apollo. For the omission in εἰς Πλάτωνος to Plato's (house), and the like, see 359 bb.

407. GENITIVE OF CONNECTION: ἡ κρηπὶς τοῦ τεύχους the foundation of the wall, ἡ τοῦ πείθειν (533) τέχνη the art of persuading, ὥρα ἀρίστου time for breakfast. So especially — a. with words (like wife, brother, servant, friend, king, ally, soldier, etc.) which imply connection in FAMILY, SOCIETY, STATE, ARMY, etc. — b. after a NEUTER ARTICLE with indetermin. subj. (350): τὰ τῆς πόλεως the (affairs) of the city, τὰ τῆς τέχνης the (business) of the art, δεῖ φέρειν τὰ τῶν θεῶν we must bear the (ordering) of the gods, τὰ τῆς ψυχῆς (the belongings of the soul) sometimes nearly equal to ἡ ψυχὴ.

408. GENITIVE SUBJECTIVE: ὁ φόβος τῶν πολεμίων the fear of the enemy (which they feel), ἔπαινος τῶν πρεσβυτέρων praise of older persons (which they give), ἡ πορεία τοῦ βασιλέως the march of the king, ἡ λαμπρότης τοῦ στρατοῦ the brilliancy of the army, ἀσθένεια ψυχῆς weakness of soul, τὸ εὖρος τοῦ ποταμοῦ the breadth of the river.

409. GENITIVE OBJECTIVE: ὁ φόβος τῶν πολεμίων the fear of the enemy (felt toward them), ἔπαινος τῶν πρεσβυτέρων praise of older persons (given to them), ἐξέτασις τῶν Ἑλλήνων a review of the Greeks, ὁ βλεβρος τῶν στρατιωτῶν the destruction of the soldiers; — θεῶν εὐχαὶ prayers to the gods, ἀφορμὴ ἔργων occasion for actions, λύσις θανάτου release from death, κράτος τῆς θαλάσσης power over the sea, βία τῶν πολιτῶν (with violence toward) in spite of the citizens.

410. GENITIVE OF CAUSE: γραφὴ κλοπῆς an impeachment for theft, Ξενοφῶντος Ἀνάβασις Xenophon's Anabasis (by Xen. as author).

411. GENITIVE OF MEASURE (Extent, Duration, Value): ποταμὸς εὖρος πλέθρου a river of a hundred feet in breadth, τριῶν ἡμερῶν ὁδός three days' journey, μισθοὺς τεττάρων μηνῶν four months' pay, τριάκοντα ταλάντων οὐσία a property of thirty talents, χιλίων δραχμῶν δίκη a suit for a thousand drachmae.

412. The same substantive may have two GENITIVES depending on it in different relations: τῶν ἀνθρώπων δέος τοῦ θανάτου (f., g.) men's fear of death, ἵππου δρόμος ἡμέρας (f., i.) a day's run for a horse, Διονύσου πρεσβυτῶν χορός (e., b.) a Dionysiac chorus of old men.

Genitive with Verbs.

413. The genitive sometimes appears to be connected with a verb, when it really belongs (as gen. of connection) to a neuter pronoun or a dependent sentence: τοῦτο ὑμῶν μάλιστα θαυμάζομεν for this we most admire you (lit. this of you we most admire), ἀγνοοῦμεν ἀλλήλων ὃ τι λέγομεν we misunderstand each other's (what we say) language.

414. GENITIVE AS SUBJECT. The genitive (used partitively) is sometimes found as the subject of an intransitive verb.

Thus οὐ προσήκει μοι τῆς ἀρχῆς I have no part in the government (lit. to me belongs not of the government), ἔφασαν ἐπιμνησθῆναι σφῶν πρὸς Καρδούχους they said that (some) of their number had intercourse with the Carduchians. In such cases the gen. might be regarded as depending on an omitted form of εἶναι.

415. With verbs of incomplete predication (343), the genitive often takes the place of a PREDICATE-NOUN.

The subject or object of a verb is thus brought into various relations (402) with the gen. Hence we have the PREDICATE-GENITIVE

a. PARTITIVE: οἱ Θεσσαλοὶ τῶν Ἑλλήνων ἦσαν the Thessalians (were of) belonged to the Greeks, ἔστιν ἡ Πύλος τῆς Μεσσηνίδος γῆς Pylos belongs to the Messenian land. — b. OF CONSTITUENT: τὸ τεῖχος λίθου πεποιήται the wall is made of stone. — d. OF POSSESSION: ἡ οἰκία τοῦ στρατηγοῦ ἐγένετο the house became the general's, ἐαυτοῦ εἶναι to be one's own (man). — e. OF CONNECTION: τοῦτο τῆς ἡμετέρας ἀμελείας ἄν τις δείη one might regard this as (the fruit) of our neglect; — often with an idea of BIRTH OR ORIGIN: Δαρείου καὶ Παρυσάτιδος γίγνονται παῖδες δύο of Darius and Parysatis are born two sons, Θουκυδίδης οἰκίας (πόλεως) μεγάλης ἦν Thucydides was of a great house (city). — f. SUBJECTIVE: ὁ λόγος Δημοσθένους ἐστὶ the speech belongs to Demosthenes; — often with an idea of NATURE, HABIT, OR DUTY, the subject being an infinitive: πολίτου ἀγαθοῦ νομίζεται δαρβεῖν it is considered (the part) of a good citizen to be courageous. — g. OBJECTIVE: οὐ τῶν κακοῦργων οἰκτος ἀλλὰ τῆς δίκης compassion is not for the evil-doers, but for justice. — h. OF CAUSE: ἡ γραφὴ κλοπῆς ἦν the impeachment was for theft. — i. OF MEASURE (Extent, Duration, Value): ἐπὶ τὸν Εὐφράτην ποταμὸν ὄντα τὸ εὖρος τεττάρων πλέθρων to the river Euphrates being (of) four plethra in breadth, ἦν ἐτῶν ὡς τριάκοντα he was (of) about thirty years old. — j. A Predicate-Genitive OF CHARACTERISTIC is sometimes met with: ἔστι τοῦτου τοῦ τρόπου, τῆς αὐτῆς γνώμης, τῶν αὐτῶν λόγων, he is of this character, of the same opinion, he uses the same language.

GENITIVE AS OBJECT.

416. Many verbs which in Latin or English would take the accusative, have the genitive in Greek, because the action is regarded as BELONGING to the object, rather than as falling directly upon it. Many verbs vary in their construction. — The relations expressed by the gen. with verbs correspond for the most part to those of the gen. with substantives.

417. The genitive is used with verbs whose action affects the object only IN PART (cf. 403).

Such are verbs which signify to SHARE (have, take, or give, part of), to BEGIN (do the first of), to ENJOY (more or less of), to TOUCH or TAKE HOLD OF (by contact with some part of a thing), and, for a like reason, to AIM AT, to HIT, OR ATTAIN. Thus

a. VERBS OF SHARING: ἄς μετέχω to have part (τῆς τιμῆς of the honor), μεταλαμβάνω to take part, μεταδίδωμι to give part (τινὶ τῆς λείας of the booty to some one), κοινωνέω to participate. — b. OF BEGINNING: ἄς ἐρχεσθαι τῆς μάχης to begin the battle. — c. OF ENJOYING: ἄς ἀπολαύειν τῶν σιτίων to enjoy the provisions.

d. VERBS OF TOUCHING AND TAKING HOLD OF: ἄς ἅπτομαι, ψάω, to touch, ἔχομαι to hold on to, εἰς, to be close to, ἀντέχομαι, λαμβάνομαι, to take hold of; — similarly, ἄγει τῆς ἡλίας τὸν ἵππον he leads the horse (taking hold of) by the bridle, ἔλαβον τῆς ζώνης τὸν Ὀρόντην they seized Oronies by the girdle, κατεαγέναι τῆς κεφαλῆς to have one's head broken (by something touching or striking it). — e. VERBS OF AIMING, HITTING, ATTAINING: ας στοχάζομαι to aim at, ὀρέγομαι to reach after, ἐξ-(ἐφ-)ικνέομαι to arrive at, attain, τυγχάνω (poet. κυρέω) to hit upon, obtain.

f. Other verbs when their action affects the object only IN PART: ας τῶν ὑμετέρων ἐμοὶ δίδοτε give me (some) of your property, τῆς γῆς ἔτεμον they ravaged (part) of the land, πίνειν οἶνον to drink wine, but πίνειν οἶνου to drink some wine.

418. The genitive is used with verbs which signify fulness or the contrary (cf. 404).

VERBS OF PLENTY OR WANT: ας πίμπλημι, πληρῶω, to fill (ἔδατος τὴν κύλικα the cup with water), πίμπλαμαι, γέμω, (poet. πλήθω) to be full, πλουτέω to be rich, εὐπορέω to have abundance, — δέομαι (δεῖ μοι) to want, ἐλλείπω to fail of, ἀπορέω to suffer lack. — a. After a negative sentence, οὐδ' ὀλίγου δεῖ has the meaning, (nor does it want little) far from it; so too, οὐδὲ πολλοῦ δεῖ (nor does it want much, but rather every thing). The gen. ὀλίγου, μικροῦ, with omitted δεῖν (532), has the sense [wanting] little, almost: ὀλίγου πάντες nearly all. Cf. 149 a.

419. The genitive is used with many verbs which signify an action of the senses or the mind (cf. 407).

VERBS OF SENSATION OR MENTAL ACTION: ας ἀκούω, ἀκροάομαι, to hear, γεύομαι to taste (act. cause to taste), ὀσφραίνομαι to smell, (for verbs of touching, see 417 d;) αἰσθάνομαι to perceive, μνησκομαι to remember (act. re-mind), ἐπιλανθάνομαι to forget, μέλει μοι τινος I am concerned for something, μεταμέλει μοι τινος I repent of something, ἀμελέω to be careless of, ἐράω to love, ἐπιθυμέω to desire, πεινάω to hunger (χρημάτων for treasure), πειράομαι to make trial of; πυθάνομαι to be informed of (by inquiry), more comm. with the acc. — a. Many of these verbs vary in construction: those of hearing usually take the thing heard in the acc.: ἀκούειν τὸν λόγον to hear the discourse, but τοῦ διδασκάλου the teacher.

420. The genitive of cause (410) is used with verbs of favor or disfavor and verbs of judicial action.

a. VERBS OF FAVOR OR DISFAVOR: ας θαυμάζω σε τῆς σοφροσύνης I admire thee for thy discretion, οἰκτεῖρω to pity, φθονέω to envy (ἐμοὶ τῆς εὐτυχίας me [for] my good fortune), ἐπαινέω to praise, μέμφομαι to blame, εὐδαιμονίζω to congratulate, συγγιγνώσκω to forgive.

b. VERBS OF JUDICIAL ACTION: ας κλοπῆς γράφεσθαι to be impeached for theft, φόνον διώκειν to prosecute for murder; φεύγω to be defendant, ἀποφεύγω to be acquitted, ἁλίσκομαι to be convicted, ὀφλισκάνω to incur judgment, πολλῶν (423 a) μηδισμού θάνατον κατέγνωσαν against many they passed sentence of death for favoring the Persians; in Σφοδρίαν ὑπήγον θανάτου they brought Sphodrias to trial on a capital charge, θανάτου is gen. of measure. — c. Add VERBS OF CLAIMING OR DISPUTING: οὐκ ἀντιποιούμεθα βασιλεῖ τῆς ἀρχῆς we do not contend for the sovereignty against the king.

421. The genitive of value (411) is used with verbs of valuing, buying, selling.

Thus δ δούλος πέντε μνῶν τιμᾶται the slave is valued at five minae, πολλοῦ ἀνείσθαι to buy at a great price, ταλάντου ἀποδόσθαι to sell for a talent. — a. Sometimes with other verbs: πόσου διδάσκει for how much does he teach? μισθοῦ ἐργάζεσθαι to work for pay.

422. The genitive is used (as an ablative case) with verbs of separation and distinction.

a. VERBS OF SEPARATION, i. e. verbs which imply removing, restraining, releasing, ceasing, failing; also sparing (refraining from), yielding (receding from), and many others: ἡ νῆσος οὐ πολὺν διέχει τῆς ἡπείρου the island is not far distant from the mainland, εἰ θαλάττης ἐργοῖντο if they should be excluded from the sea, φόβου καθαρεύει he is clear from murder, ἐψεύσθη τῆς ἐλπίδος he was cheated of his expectation, τῶν σωμάτων ἀπειδήσαντες having been unsparing of their bodies, τῆς ὀργῆς ἀνέντες resigning their anger. — aa. Verbs of DEPRIVING sometimes take a gen. of separation (instead of the acc. 398): τῶν ἄλλων ἀφαιρούμενοι χρήματα taking away property from the others, πόσων ἀπεστέρησθε of how many things have you been bereft?

b. VERBS OF DISTINCTION, SUPERIORITY OR INFERIORITY: διαφέρει πᾶς πολὺ μαθὼν μὴ μαθόντος one who has learned differs altogether from one who has not, εὔνεσιν οὐδενὸς ἐλείπετο he was (left away from) second to no one in understanding; — espec. words derived from COMPARATIVE adjectives: τιμαῖς τούτων ἐπλεονεκτεῖτε (from πλέων) in honors ye had the advantage over these men, ἡττᾶσθαι (from ἡττων) τῶν ἐχθρῶν to be worsted by their enemies (and in like manner νικᾶσθαι τῶν ἐχθρῶν). — ba. Add VERBS OF RULING and LEADING: ἄρχω to govern (τοῦ δήμου the people), βασιλεύω to be king, τυραννέω to be despot, στρατηγέω to be general, κρατέω to be master, ἡγέομαι to have the lead. But the gen. with such verbs appears to be a gen. of connection (407. 416).

c. Other verbs sometimes take a gen. (of person) denoting the SOURCE: ταῦτα δέ σου τυχόντες but obtaining these things of you, μάθε δέ μου καὶ τὰς but learn of me also these things. — ca. This gen. in poetry may denote the AGENT, with passive participles and verbal adjectives: σφαγείς Αἰγίσθου slain by Aegisthus, φίλων ἄκλαντος unwept by friends.

423. The genitive is used with many COMPOUND VERBS on account of the preposition contained in them.

This occurs when the prep., used by itself in the same sense, would take the gen.: πρόκειται τῆς Ἀττικῆς ὄρη μεγάλη in front of Attica lie great mountains, ἐπιβάτης τοῦ τείχους having mounted the wall, ὑπερδικεῖν τοῦ λόγου to plead for the principle. — a. So espec. many compounds of κατὰ, with the sense of feeling or acting AGAINST: ἀς καταφρονέω to despise, καταγελᾶω to deride, καταψεύδομαι to belie, κατηγορέω to accuse, καταγιγνώσκω to convict, καταψηφίζω to condemn.

Genitive with Adjectives and Adverbs.

424. The genitive is used with adjectives which correspond, in derivation or meaning, to verbs that take the genitive.

Thus with ADJECTIVES — a. OF SHARING: μέτοχος σοφίας partaking in wisdom. — b. OF PLENTY OR WANT: μεστὸς κακῶν full of evils, κενὸς ἐπιστήμης void of knowledge; ὅσοι τούτων ἕλις (adv.) enough of this. Many compounds of alpha privative (386) take a gen. of the thing wanted: ἄδωρος χρημάτων taking no bribes of money. — c. OF SENSATION OR MENTAL ACTION: ἀπήκοος τῶν γονέων (hearkening) obedient to one's parents, τυφλὸς τῶν μελλόντων blind (not seeing) to the future, ἐπιμελὴς σμικρῶν attentive to little things, ἀπειρος γραμμάτων unversed in letters. — d. OF ACCOUNTABILITY (420 b): ἐνοχος δειλίας liable to a charge of cowardice, ἀποτελής φόρου subject to payment of tribute. — e. OF VALUE: ἄξιος (ἀνάξιος) ἐπαίνου worthy (unworthy) of praise, ἀνητὸς χρημάτων to be purchased for money. — f. OF SEPARATION: φυγὰς τῆς πατρίδος exiled from his fatherland, γυμνὸς τοῦ σώματος stripped of the body (might be referred to b.). — g. OF DISTINCTION: διάφορος τῶν ἄλλων different from the rest, ἄλλα τῶν δικαίων things other than the just. Hence, as the comparative expresses distinction, 425. The COMPARATIVE DEGREE takes the genitive.

Thus μείζων τοῦ ἀδελφοῦ (differing from his brother as greater) greater than his brother, ὅσπεροι ἀφίκοντο τῆς μάχης they came (later than) too late for the battle (similarly τῇ ὕστερα τῆς μάχης on the day after the battle), οὐδενὸς δεύτερος (149) second to no one, χεῖρον ἑαυτῶν λέγουσι they speak worse (than themselves) than they usually do, δόξα κρείττων τῶν φθονούντων a reputation (greater than the envious) superior to envy, παροικησὶς ἐπικινδυνότερα ἑτέρων a proximity more dangerous than (the proximity of) other men, for τῆς ἑτέρων παροικήσεως. — For the comparative followed by ἢ than, see 452.

a. The gen. is similarly used with multiplicatives (150): πολλαπλάσιοι δμῶν many times more numerous than you; — and sometimes with superlatives: μέγιστος τῶν ἄλλων (greatest in distinction from the rest, = μείζων τῶν ἄλλων), usually μέγιστος πάντων greatest of all. So μόνος τῶν ἄλλων = μόνος πάντων alone of all.

426. The genitive is also used — a. with adj. of TRANSITIVE ACTION, where the corresponding verbs would have the acc. (cf. 409): ὀψιμαθὴς τῆς ἀδικίας late in learning injustice; especially — b. with adj. of CAPACITY in ἰκός: διδασκαλικὸς γραμματικῆς fitted to be a teacher of grammar. — c. with adj. of POSSESSION, to denote the possessor (406): ἴδιος (οἰκεῖος) ἐμοῦ belonging to me alone, ἱερὸς τοῦ Ἀπόλλωνος sacred to Apollo. — d. with some adj. of CONNECTION (407): συγγενὴς (δμώνυμος) Σωκράτους akin to (name-sake of) Socrates, ἀκόλουθα ἀλλήλων consistent with one another. — e. with some adj. DERIVED FROM SUBSTANTIVES and following their construction: ὥρα γάμου ripe for marriage (cf. ὥρα γάμου age for marriage). — f. with some adj. of PLACE (cf. 427 ba), but seldom in Attic prose: Ἡμ. ἐναντίοι Ἀχαιῶν opposite to the Greeks.

427. a. The genitive is used with adverbs which come from adjectives that take the genitive. — b. The genitive is used with many adverbs not derived from adjectives, especially adverbs of PLACE.

Thus — a. ἀναξίως τῆς πόλεως in a manner unworthy of the city, διαφέροντως τῶν ἄλλων ἀνθρώπων differently from the rest of men. — b. The gen. is always used with ἄνευ (poet. ἄτερ) without, ἔνεκα (or εἵνεκα, poet.

οὐνεκα) on account of; it is commonly used with πλὴν except, ἔχρι, μέχρι, until, which are also conjunctions; and often with other adverbs — ba. of PLACE: as ποῦ γῆς where on earth, οἱ ἀσελγείας to what a pitch of profligacy, δίχα (χωρίς) apart from, μεταξὺ between, εὐθὺ straight towards, ἐγγύς (poet. ἔγγι) near, ἐντὸς (ἐκτός) on the inside (outside), εἰσω (ἐξω) to the inside (outside), and many in -θεν; — bb. of TIME: as πηνίκα τῆς ἡμέρας at what time of the day, ὀψὲ τῆς ὥρας late in the hour; — bc. of MANNER: πῶς ἔχεις τῆς γνώμης in what state of mind are you, ὥς ἔχει ποδῶν (in what state of feet he is) as fast as he can, κρύφα τῶν Ἀθηναίων in concealment from the Athenians. — These constructions are generally to be explained by 428, 403, or from the ablative use (422).

Genitive in Looser Relations.

428. The genitive is used to denote the TIME to which an action belongs.

Thus ἡμέρας by day (not all day long, cf. 395 a, but at some time in the course of the day), οὐχ ἤξουσιν δέκα ἐτῶν they will not come (any time in) for ten years, ἐκάστου ἔτους annually, τοῦ λοιποῦ (at any time) in the future, but τὸ λοιπὸν for the future (for all future time).

a. The genitive of PLACE is poetic: Ἦμ. Δέειν πεδίοιο to run on the plain (not over the whole surface, but somewhere in its extent); — also as a FROM-CASE: ῥισσθε βάθρων stand off from the steps. — In prose traces of this gen. are seen in such adverbs as ποῦ where (144), αὐτοῦ there, ὁμοῦ (in the same place) together; and such phrases as τῆς ὁδοῦ on the way, τοῦ πρόσω in advance.

429. The genitive of CAUSE is used in EXCLAMATIONS and in expressions of PURPOSE.

Thus — a. the gen. in EXCLAMATIONS shows the cause of the emotion: φεῦ τοῦ ἀνδρός alas for the man! τῆς τύχης my (evil) fortune! — b. the INFINITIVE with neuter article τοῦ shows the purpose of an action: τοῦ μὴ διαφεύγειν τὸν λαγὼν σκοποῦς καθίσταμεν that the hare may not escape we set watchers.

For the GENITIVE ABSOLUTE with a circumstantial participle, see 541.

E. DATIVE.

430. The dative denotes — a. that TO or FOR which something is done (the indirect object); but also — b. that WITH which or BY which something is done; and — c. that IN which something is done. Thus, beside its proper use to denote the indirect object, it has the uses of an associative or instrumental and a locative case. The dative of the indirect object is most commonly a person, or a thing regarded as a person.

431. DATIVE OF INFLUENCE. The dative is used to denote that TO which something is done (but not the direct object).

Thus — a. with TRANSITIVE VERBS; the direct object stands in the acc.,

the indirect in the dative: μισθὸν δίδοναι (ὑπισχνεῖσθαι, τάττειν) τοῖς στρατιώταις to give (promise, appoint) pay to the soldiers, βοήθειαν πέμπειν Βοιωτοῖς to send aid to the Boeotians, λέγειν (διηγεῖσθαι, ἀγγέλλειν, ἀνειδίξειν) τῷ βασιλεῖ τὰ πεπραγμένα to tell (relate, announce, cast up as a reproach) to the king what had been done. — aa. If the PASSIVE is used, the direct object of the action usually becomes the subject of the verb, while the indirect remains unchanged: μισθὸς ἐδόθη τοῖς στρατιώταις pay was given to the soldiers.

b. with INTRANSITIVE VERBS (cf. 390 b): εὔχεσθαι τοῖς θεοῖς to pray to the gods, πείθεσθαι τοῖς ἄρχουσι to obey those who rule, πρέπει (προσέκει) μοι λέγειν it becomes (belongs to) me to speak; — especially with verbs denoting DISPOSITION toward an object: χαλεπαίνειν τῇ πόλει to be angry at the city, φθονεῖν τοῖς πλουσίοις to envy the rich.

c. with many ADJECTIVES, espec. those denoting DISPOSITION toward an object: ὑποχὸς τοῖς νόμοις subject to the laws, ἐπικίνδυνος πᾶσι dangerous to all, δυσμενέστατος ἡμῖν most hostile to us.

d. sometimes with SUBSTANTIVES expressing ACTION: τὰ παρ' ἡμῶν δῶρα τοῖς θεοῖς the gifts from us to the gods, καταδούλωσις τῶν Ἑλλήνων τοῖς Ἀθηναίοις subjugation of the Greeks to the Athenians (where the direct obj. is in the gen. by 409).

432. DATIVE OF INTEREST. The dative is used to denote that FOR which something is, or is done.

It is connected, in this use, with verbs and adjectives, sometimes even with substantives. A thing or action may be regarded as subsisting FOR a person,

- a. when it tends to his advantage or disadvantage.
- b. when it belongs to him as possessor.
- c. when it is the result of his agency.
- d. when it interests his feelings (ethical interest).
- e. when it is related to him in some less definite way.

433. DATIVE OF ADVANTAGE OR DISADVANTAGE: Σόλων Ἀθηναίοις νόμους ἔθηκε Solon made laws for the Athenians, στεφανοῦσθαι τῷ θεῷ to be crowned in honor of the god, καιροὶ προεῖνται τῇ πόλει opportunities have been thrown away for (to the detriment of) the city, — σοφὸς ἑαυτῷ wise for himself, βλαβερὸς τῷ σώματι hurtful for the body, — τροφή τοῖς πολλοῖς sustenance for the most.

434. DATIVE OF THE POSSESSOR. This is used with εἶμι, γίγνομαι, and similar verbs: ὑπάρχει τοῖς παροῦσι τὰ τῶν ἀπόντων the things of the absent belong to those who are present (are FOR them, for their use and service), τῷ πατρὶ Πυριλάμπης ὄνομα (sc. ἐστὶ, the father has Pyrilampes as his name) the father's name is Pyrilampes. It is sometimes found in connection with substantives: Ἡδ. of αἶψι βόες their cattle.

435. DATIVE OF THE AGENT. This is common with VERBALS IN τέος (550); and sometimes occurs (instead of gen. with ἐπό, 471 a) with PASSIVE VERBS, chiefly in perfect and pluperfect: τὰ σοὶ πεπραγμένα the things done by thee, ἐπεὶδὴ παρεσκεύαστο τοῖς Κορινθίοις when preparation had been made by the Corinthians.

436. ETHICAL DATIVE, of personal pronouns: τοῦτ' ἐγὼ πάντ' μοι προσέχετε τὸν νοῦν to this attend carefully for me (I pray you), τί σοι μαθήσομαι (what shall I learn for you) what would you have me learn?

437. DATIVE OF INTEREST IN LOOSER RELATIONS: τιμῆς ἕκτις εἶναι τῇ πόλει to be worthy of honor (in his relation to) from the city, ὑπολαμβάνειν δεῖ τῷ τοιοῦτῳ ὅτι εὐθὺς ἐστὶ in the case of such a man one must suppose that he is simple, poet. ὁ ἐσθλὸς εὐγενὴς ἐμοὶ γ' ἀνὴρ in my view the good man is noble, Hm. τοῖσιν ἀνέστη (for them) among them he rose up; — often in connection with a PARTICIPLE: συνελόντι (or ὡς συνελόντι, sc. τινὶ) εἰπεῖν to say it briefly (lit. for one to say, having condensed it), γίγνεται τοῦτο ἐμοὶ βουλομένῳ this takes place according to my wish.

438. DATIVE OF ASSOCIATION AND LIKENESS. The dative is used to denote that WITH which something is, or is done.

Thus — a. with WORDS OF ASSOCIATION OR OPPOSITION: δμολογεῖν ἀλλήλοις to agree with one another, πλησιάζειν τῷ τόπῳ to approach the place, ἔπεσθαι τῷ ἡγεμόνι to follow the guide, ἀπαντᾶν τῷ Ξενοφῶντι to meet with Xenophon, διαλέγεσθαι τῷ διδασκάλῳ to converse with the teacher, — ἀκόλουθος τῇ φύσει consistent with nature, κοινωνία τοῖς ἀγαθοῖς participation with the good, — μάχεσθαι (ἐρίζειν, ἀμφισβητεῖν, διαφέρεσθαι) ἀλλήλοις to fight (quarrel, dispute, be at variance) with one another. — aa. Here belong the adverbs ἅμα at the same time (ἅμα τῇ ἡμέρᾳ at day-break), ὁμοῦ together, ἐφεξῆς next in order.

b. with WORDS OF LIKENESS OR UNLIKENESS, chiefly adjectives or words derived from adj. (in English, commonly followed by to): ὁμοῖος (ἀνόμοιος) like (unlike), ἴσος equal, ὁ αὐτός the same, παρὰπλήσιος similar, ὁμώνυμος ἐμοὶ of the same name with me; — εἶοικα I am like, ὁμοιοῦν ἑαυτὸν ἄλλῳ to make himself like to another; — often with abridged expression: ὁμοίαν ταῖς δούλαις εἶχε τὴν ἐσθῆτα (for ὁμοίαν τῇ τῶν δουλῶν ἐσθῇτι) she had her dress like (the dress of) the female slaves.

c. with other words, as DATIVE OF ACCOMPANIMENT, chiefly in military expressions: ἡμεῖς καὶ ἵπποις τοῖς δυνατάτοις καὶ ἀνδράσι πορευόμεθα let us go with horses the most powerful and with men, τοὺς ἱππείας ἔλαβεν αὐτοῖς τοὺς ὄπλους he took the horsemen with their arms (the arms themselves, arms and all).

439. DATIVE WITH COMPOUND VERBS. The dative is used with many compound verbs on account of the preposition contained in them.

So espec. with compounds of ἐν, σύν, ἐπί, — less often with compounds of πρός, παρά, περί, ὑπό: ἐπιστήμην ἐμποιεῖν τῇ ψυχῇ to produce knowledge in the soul, σύνγινωθί μοι forgive me (lit. judge with me, in my favor), ἐπικεῖσθαι τοῖς πολεμοῖσι to press upon (against) the enemy, περιπίπτειν τοῖς κακοῖς to (fall about) be involved in evils. The dative often depends rather on the general meaning of the compound. Many of these verbs vary in construction (cf. 390 c).

440. DATIVE OF INSTRUMENT, ETC. The dative is used to denote that BY which something is, or is done.

It thus expresses the MEANS OR INSTRUMENT by (use of) which, the MANNER by (way of) which, the CAUSE by (reason of) which, something is, or is done.

441. DATIVE OF MEANS OR INSTRUMENT: φαρμάκῳ ἀποθανεῖν to die by poison, ζημιῶσθαι θανάτῳ to be punished by death, ἐδέχοντο αὐτοὺς τῇ πόλει they received them (by) in the city, ὄραν τοῖς ὀφθαλμοῖς to see with the eyes, βάλλειν τινὰ λίθοις to throw at one with stones. — Hence the dative with χράσμαι to use (serve oneself): τούτων τισὶ φύλαξιν (341 b) ἐχρήτο he used some of these as guards.

442. DATIVE OF MANNER: δρόμῳ ἐπείγασθαι to hasten (by running) on a run, παντὶ τρόπῳ πειράσθαι to try (by) in every way, ἀτελεῖ τῇ νίκῃ ἀνέστησαν they retired with their victory incomplete. So βίᾳ by force, forcibly, σιγῇ silently, σπουδῇ hastily, earnestly, γένει by descent, φύσει by nature, ὀνόματι by name, τύχῃ ἀγαθῇ with good fortune; — and many forms with omitted subject (359 ba): ταύτῃ (ἐκείνῃ, ᾗ, πῇ) in this (that, which, what) way or manner, ιδίᾳ (δημοσίᾳ, κοινῇ) by individual (public, common) action or expense. Often with the idea of ACCORDING TO: τῇ ἐμῇ γνώμῃ according to my judgment, τῇ ἀληθείᾳ in truth, τῷ ὄντι in reality, ἐργῷ in act, in fact, λόγῳ in word, in profession, προφάσει in pretence.

443. The DATIVE OF RESPECT is the dat. of manner used to show in what particular point or respect something is true: ισχύει τῷ σώματι he is strong in body, ταῖς ψυχαῖς ἐβρωμενέστεροι firmer in their spirit, διαφέρειν (προέχειν, λείπεσθαι) πλήθει (μεγέθει, χρήμασι, φρονήσει) to be distinguished (superior, inferior) in number (size, property, sense).

444. The DATIVE OF DEGREE OF DIFFERENCE is the dat. of manner used (chiefly with the comparative) to show the degree by which one thing differs from another: τέτταρσι μυαῖς ἑλαττον less by four minae, τῇ κεφαλῇ μείζων (greater by the head) a head taller, πολλαῖς γενεαῖς ὕστερον τῶν Τρωϊκῶν many generations later than the Trojan war. So, very often, the dative of NEUTER ADJECTIVES: πολλῷ by much, πόσῳ by how much? μακρῷ ἄριστος best by far, τοσοῦτῳ ἥδιον ὥς ὅσῳ πλεῖον κέκτημαι I live more pleasantly (by that degree, by which) in proportion as I possess more.

445. DATIVE OF CAUSE: ἀγνοίᾳ ἐξαμαρτάνειν to err by reason of ignorance, φόβῳ ἀπῆλθον through fear they departed; — espec. with verbs of FEELING: χαίρειν τῷ ἔργῳ to delight in the work, ἐχθεσθαι τῇ ἀναβολῇ to be vexed at the delay, αἰσχύνεσθαι τοῖς αἰσχροῖς to be ashamed of what is shameful, ἀγαπᾶν τῇ σωτηρίᾳ to be contented with his safety, χαλεπῶς φέρειν τῷ πολέμῳ to be impatient of the war.

446. DATIVE OF TIME. The dative is used to denote the time IN (at) which something is, or is done.

This applies to words for DAY, NIGHT, MONTH, YEAR: τῇ αὐτῇ ἡμέρᾳ the same day, τῇδε τῇ νυκτί to-night, τῇ ὑστεραίᾳ on the following day, τῷ ἐπιόντι μηνί in the coming month, τετάρτῳ ἔτει (ἐνιαυτῷ) in the fourth year; — also to ἔρα: χειμῶνος ἔρα in time of winter; — further to FESTIVAL times: τοῖς Ὀλυμπίοις at the Olympic games. To other words ἐν is usually added: ἐν τούτῳ τῷ χρόνῳ (καιρῷ) at this time (occasion), ἐν τῷ παρόντι at the present time, ἐν τῷ τότε at that time.

a. The dative of PLACE, without a preposition, is poetic (rare in prose): Ἑλλάδι ναῶν dwelling in Hellas, Πυλίοισι ναῶν dwelling (in) among the Pylians, τόξ' ὤμοισιν ἔχων having the bow on his shoulders, ὄρεσι on the mountains, ἀγροῖσι in the country, ὁδοῖς on the way.

F. CASES WITH PREPOSITIONS.

447. The following prepositions are used with the Dative only: ἐν, σύν.

with the Accusative and Genitive: διά, κατά, ὑπέρ.

448. In expressing SITUATION by the help of prepositions,

The dative is used for being IN a situation; the accusative, for coming to it; the genitive, for passing FROM it.

The three cases thus express the ideas of REST, APPROACH, REMOVAL: μένει παρά τῷ βασιλεῖ he remains (by the side of) in the presence of the king, ἦκει παρ' αὐτόν he is come to his presence, ὄχεται παρ' αὐτοῦ he is gone from his presence. But— a. The genitive is thus used only with ἀπό, ἐξ, παρά, and sometimes κατά, πρὸς; with other prepositions it is used for BEING IN, and even for COMING TO (cf. 427 ba): τετάχθαι πρὸ τοῦ βασιλέως to be posted before the king, πλεῖν ἐπὶ Σάμου to sail (upon) toward Samos.

b. The preposition with its case often refers to a state, of rest or motion, which FOLLOWS (or PRECEDES) that of the connected verb: ἐν τῷ ποταμῷ ἔπεσε he fell (into, and was) in the river, παρῆσαν εἰς Σάρδεῖς they (came into, and) were present in Sardis, τοῖς ἐκ Πύλου ληφθεῖσι to those taken (in, and brought) from Pylus.

449. Originally, the prepositions were adverbs of place, and the cases used with them were the acc. (396), gen. (428 a), or dat. (446 a), of place. Several prepositions are still found as ADVERBS in poetry, espec. in Hm., as περί round about, and περί (cf. 63) exceedingly, σὺν δέ and therewith; — Hd. has ἐπὶ δέ and thereupon, μετὰ δέ and next, ἐν δέ or ἐν δὲ δὴ and among the number; also πρὸς δέ or καὶ πρὸς and besides, which occur even in Attic prose.

450. In Hm., the preposition of a compound verb often stands separately, like an adverb: ἐπὶ κνέφας ἦλθε for κνέφας ἐπῆλθε darkness came on, ὀλέσας ἄπο for ἀπολέσας having lost (634). This is called TMESIS (cutting): it is less frequent in Hd. and Attic poetry, very rare in Attic prose.

ADJECTIVES AND ADVERBS.

451. For attributive and predicate-adjective, see 340. For agreement of adjective and substantive, see 352. For omitted subject, and use of adjective as substantive, see 359. For peculiarities in number and gender, see 361–73. For use of adjective as adverb, see 132 a, b. For neuter adjective used as cognate-accusative, see 393 c: and cf. 397.

452. The COMPARATIVE DEGREE is followed by the genitive (425), or by ἢ than.

a. When ἢ is used, the objects compared are both in the same case: χρήματα περὶ πλείονος ποιεῖται ἢ φίλους (not ἢ φίλων) he considers money as of more value than friends; [yet not always: ἄνδρὸς δυνατωτέρου ἢ ἐγὼ νιδόν son of a man more powerful than I (am).] — b. ἢ is always used if the objects compared are two adjectives or adverbs; δοῦν are then put in the comparative: στρατηγοὶ πλείονες ἢ βελτίονες generals more numerous than good, συνομιώτερον ἢ σαφέστερον διαλεχθῆναι to discourse more briefly than clearly. — c. When a numeral follows πλέον (πλεῖν) more or ἐλαττον (μείον) less, the construction is sometimes irreg.: ἀποκτείνουσιν οὐ μείον (for μείονας ἢ) πεντακοσίους they kill not less than 500, ἐν πλείον (for πλείουσιν) ἢ διακοσίοις ἔτεσι in more than 200 years.

d. The compar. has a peculiar use before ἢ κατὰ with the acc., and ἢ (or ἢ ὥς, ἢ ὥστε) with the infin.: μείζω ἢ κατὰ δάκρυα κεκόνθασι they have suffered things (greater than according to) too great for tears, βελτίονες ἢ (or ἢ ὥστε) ἐπὶ δῶρων παρὰ τρέπεσθαι (better than) too good to be seduced by gifts. — e. Even the POSITIVE may have a similar meaning, when the infin. (espec. with ὥς or ὥστε) follows it: ὀλίγοι ἐσμέν ὥς ἐγκρατεῖς εἶναι αὐτῶν we are (too) few to have possession of them. So, even without the infin.: ἡ χώρα σμικρὰ ἔσται the country will be (too) small (for its inhabitants).

453. a. The compar. is sometimes followed by a prep. ἀντὶ, πρὸ, παρὰ, πρὸς, instead of ἢ: ἀρετώτερον ἀντὶ τούτου more eligible than this (lit. instead of this). — b. The object of the compar. is often omitted, and may be supplied from the connection; μή τι νέωτερον ἀπαγγέλλεις do you report any thing newer (than what we know already)? — c. Often the comparative means only MORE THAN is USUAL, NATURAL, or PROPER, and may sometimes be rendered by the positive with TOO, QUITE, VERY. In cases b. and c. the compar. is said to be used ABSOLUTELY.

454. The SUPERLATIVE DEGREE used in a partitive sense takes the genitive (403).

The partitive genitive is often to be understood when it is not expressed. But — a. The superlative is often used without any partitive sense to express a very high degree of the quality: thus ἀνὴρ σοφώτατος a very wise man.

455. The superlative is STRENGTHENED by various additions: thus ὡς μέγιστος the very greatest, ὅτι μάλιστα as much as possible, ὅτι ἐν βραχυτάτῳ in the shortest possible space, ἢ ῥᾶστα in the very easiest manner, ὅντος πάγου οἴου δεινोटάτου there being an extremely severe frost, ἤγε στρατιὰν ὅσην πλείστην ἐδύνατο he led as large an army as he could. Other forms are μέγιστος δὴ greatest indeed; — ἐν τοῖς μέγιστος greatest among the (great); — and even μάλιστα μέγιστος (lit. most greatest); — also οὐκ ἐλάχιστος not least = very great (an example of litotes).

456. The PARTICIPLES do not form a comparative and superlative, but take μᾶλλον, μάλιστα instead. This is the case also with many verbals in τός, and with some other adjectives. It is sometimes the case even with adjectives which usually form the comparative and superlative.

457. ADVERBS are used to qualify verbs, adjectives, or adverbs.

Thus πρέκοντως μᾶλλον ἡμφιεσμένην more becomingly drest, ἐμοὶ ἀληθῶς πολὺ κάλλιστόν ἐστιν οὕτως, ὅπως δύναμαι, λέγειν for me it really is much the best (thing) to speak in such manner as I can (speak), πρῶτον ἀφίκετο first he came (before other actions, but πρῶτος ἀφίκετο [340 c] he came first, before other comers). — The adverb is sometimes used, as an attributive or predicate-word, to qualify a substantive; see 345 f, h.

PRONOUNS.

458. The PERSONAL PRONOUNS are usually not expressed in the nominative, unless they are emphatic (355 a).

For the use of οὗ, οἱ, etc., see 133 a. For αὐτός, in the oblique cases, as a personal pronoun (or weak demonstrative), see 133 a. For αὐτός, in other uses, see 134. 382 c.

459. The REFLEXIVE PRONOUNS usually refer to the subject of the sentence.

Thus τὰ ἄριστα βουλευέσθε ὑμῖν αὐτοῖς take the best counsel for yourselves. — a. When connected with a dependent verb (finite, infinitive, or participle), they usually refer to the subject, not of the dependent, but of the principal verb; and are then called INDIRECT REFLEXIVES: τὰ ναυάγια, ὅσα πρὸς τῇ ἑαυτῶν (γῇ) ἦν, ἀνέλοντο they took up the wrecks, as many as were close to their own (land), ὁ τύραννος νομίζει τοὺς πολῖτας ὑπηρετεῖν ἑαυτῷ the tyrant thinks that the citizens are servants to him (lit. to himself).

b. The personal pronouns are often used instead of the reflexive, espec. the indirect reflexives: δοκῶ μοι I seem to myself, οὐκ οἶδεν ὅ τι χρήσεσθε αὐτῷ he knows not what you will do with him. The forms of οὗ (133 a) — though in Hm. freely used as personal pronouns (678) — are in Attic prose always used as indirect reflexives.

c. The reflexive of the 3d person is sometimes used for that of the 1st or 2d: δεῖ ἡμᾶς ἀνερεῖσθαι ἑαυτούς we must question ourselves. — d. The reflexive in the plural forms is often used for the RECIPROCAL (136): διελέγόμεθα ἡμῖν αὐτοῖς (for ἀλλήλοις) we were conversing (with ourselves) with one another. — e. The reflexive may be made EMPHATIC by a prefixed αὐτός agreeing with the subject of the verb: τὸν σοφὸν αὐτὸν αὐτῷ δεῖ σοφὸν εἶναι the wise man must be wise (himself) for himself.

460. Instead of a POSSESSIVE PRONOUN, it is common to find the genitive of a personal or a reflexive pronoun.

Thus ἔρχεται ὁ σὸς φίλος or ὁ φίλος σου (382 d) thy friend is coming. The possessive pronoun has a reflexive use, when the possessing person is subject of the sentence: ὁρᾷς τὸν σὸν (or τὸν σεαυτοῦ, 382 d) φίλον thou seest thy friend. For ὅς (137 a), the Attic prose always has αὐτοῦ, -ῆς (or, in reflexive use, ἑαυτοῦ, -ῆς); for σφέτερος (not reflexive), it has αὐτῶν. — For the ARTICLE used instead of an unemphatic possessive, see 377 d.

a. The possessive pronoun may have an adjective or appositive agreeing with the genitive implied in it: ἡ ὑμετέρα τῶν σοφιστῶν τέχνη the art of you (the) sophists. Thus, in the reflexive use, αὐτῶν is commonly added to ἡμέτερος, ὑμέτερος, σφέτερος: τὰ σφέτερα αὐτῶν (also τὰ ἑαυτῶν) εὖ τιθενται their own (affairs) they manage well; but ἐμὸς (and σὸς) αὐτοῦ, -ῆς are poetic.

b. A possessive pronoun is sometimes equivalent to an OBJECTIVE genitive: εὖνοια ἡ ἐμή may mean good-will to me (as well as, mine to another); so σὴν χάριν (as a favor to thee) for thy sake.

461. The ordinary DEMONSTRATIVE is οὗτος; ὅδε marks something near or present; ἐκεῖνος, something remote.

a. Sometimes they are used almost as adverbs of place: ἐκεῖναί νῆες ἐπιπλέουσι there (yonder) are ships sailing toward (us: “those ships” would be ἐκεῖναί αἱ νῆες, see 382 d.) — b. When something is referred to as already mentioned, or as now to be mentioned, οὗτος is commonly used in the former case, ὅδε in the latter: ἔλεξαν ταῦτα they said these things (before stated), but ἔλεξαν τάδε these things (which follow). And a similar distinction is made between τοσοῦτος and τοσόνδε, τοιοῦτος and τοιόνδε, etc. — c. Οὗτος sometimes REPEATS a subject or object with emphatic force: ὁ τὸ σπέρμα παρασχών, οὗτος τῶν φύντων αἴτιος the one who furnished the seed, HE is responsible for what grew (from it). — d. Οὗτος is sometimes used in ADDRESS: οὗτος, τί ποιεῖς you there (cf. a.), what are you doing? — For καὶ ταῦτα with omitted verb, see 358 b.

462. a. The simple RELATIVES (ὅς, ὅλος, ὅσος, etc.) are often used where the antecedent is indefinite; but — b. The INDEFINITE RELATIVES (ὅστις, ὁποῖος, etc.) are not used where the antecedent is definite and particular. Exceptions to b. are found in late writers.

For AGREEMENT of relative and antecedent, see 354. 360. For peculiarities of RELATIVE SENTENCES, see 551–63.

For INTERROGATIVES and INDEFINITE RELATIVES used in questions, see 565.

463. The INDEFINITE τις, τι often expresses indefiniteness as to QUALITY or QUANTITY: βλάξ τις (not some one who is dull, but one who has some dullness) a sort of a dolt, μέγα τι (not something large, but a thing) of some magnitude, τριάκοντά τινες (some thirty) about thirty, σχεδόν τι (at some degree of nearness) pretty near, σὲ δεῖ τινὰ φαίνεσθαι you must appear somebody (of some consequence), λέγειν τι to say something (worth while).

THE VOICES.

464. The ACTIVE VOICE represents the subject as acting.

For transitive and intransitive senses in the same voice, see 287-9. For intransitive verbs which become transitive in composition, see 390 d. — a. On the contrary, some transitive verbs become intransitive in composition: φέρω to bear, διαφέρω to differ. — b. A subject is often described by the active as doing what it only causes another to do (CAUSATIVE use): thus ὁ Κύρος κατέκαυσε τὰ βασίλεια Cyrus burnt the palace (i. e. caused it to be burnt).

465. The MIDDLE VOICE represents the subject as acting on itself, that is, as affected by its own action.

For future middle used in passive sense, see 282. — The middle has three uses, DIRECT, INDIRECT, and SUBJECTIVE, of which the second is most common, and the third least so. The same verb may have different uses of the voice: see διδάσκωμαι 466. 467 a.

466. In the DIRECT MIDDLE, the subject is also the direct object of the action.

Thus λούεσθαι to wash (oneself), τρέπεσθαι to turn (oneself), ἵστασθαι to set oneself, — διδάσκεσθαι to (teach oneself) learn, παύεσθαι to (stop oneself) cease, φαίνεσθαι to (show oneself) appear, πείθειν to persuade (cause one to believe), mid. (make oneself believe) trust, comply.

467. In the INDIRECT MIDDLE, the subject is also the indirect object of the action.

Thus, usually, like a dative of interest, FOR ONESELF: πορίζεσθαι to procure for oneself, σπᾶσθαι τὸ ξίφος to draw (for oneself) one's own sword, ἀγεσθαι γυναῖκα to take a wife (to one's own house), μεταπέμπομαι τινα I send after one (that he may come to me), the lawgiver τίθησι νόμους makes laws (for others), the people τίθεται νόμους makes laws for itself, — ἀμύνεσθαι κίνδυνον to ward off danger (for oneself, i. e.) from oneself, ἀποδίδωμαι ναῦν to sell a ship (give it from and for oneself, for value received). — a. Sometimes in CAUSATIVE use (464 b): διδάσκωμαι τὸν υἱόν I procure instruction for my son (make others teach him for me), παράσθεμαι δείπνον I have a meal served up to me (make others serve it for me), δανείζομαι I (make one lend to me) borrow, μισθοῦμαι I (make one let to me) hire, δικάζομαι I (make one judge for me) maintain a suit at law.

468. In the SUBJECTIVE MIDDLE, the subject is thought of as acting in his own sphere, with his own means and powers.

Thus παρέχειν to furnish in any way, mid. to afford from one's own property, ποιεῖσθαι πόλεμον to make war with one's own resources, λαμβάνεσθαι (417 d) to take hold of with one's own hand, σκοπεῖν to view, σκοπεῖσθαι to take one's own view, consider in his mind. — a. So, from intransitive verbs: βουλευώ to take counsel, mid. to take one's own counsel, form his plan, πολιτεύειν to be (act as) a citizen, mid. to perform one's civic duties, to conduct public affairs, πρεσβεύειν to be an ambassador, negotiator, mid. (of the state) to conduct its negotiations (by sending ambassadors).

469. The following verbs deserve special notice : αλπεῖν to take, mid. (467) choose ; ἄπτειν to fasten, mid. (fasten oneself to, 466) touch ; ἔχειν to hold, mid. hold on to, and hence be close to ; τιμωρεῖν τινα to be a helper or avenger to some one, τιμωρεῖσθαι τινα to avenge oneself on some one ; ἄρχω I begin (for others to continue), ἄρχομαι I begin (for myself to continue) ; the orator γράφει νόμον (writes) proposes a law, the plaintiff γράφεται τὸν ἀδικήσαντα brings his (writ) suit against the offender.

470. In DEPONENT VERBS (151 a), the middle voice has the same uses (though, in general, less clearly distinguished) : — direct, ὑποσχεῖσθαι to (hold oneself under) undertake, promise ; — indirect, δέχεσθαι to receive (to oneself), κτᾶσθαι to acquire (for oneself) ; — subjective, ἀγωνίζεσθαι to contend (with one's own powers), οἰεσθαι to think (in one's own mind). — For passive deponents, see 284.

471. The PASSIVE VOICE represents the subject as acted on, or suffering an action.

a. Hence the direct object of the active voice becomes the subject of the passive. The subject of the active (the AGENT) is variously expressed with the passive ; sometimes by the dative (435) ; usually by ὑπὸ with the gen. ; seldom (in Attic) by other prepositions, as ἐξ or πρὸς with the gen.

b. Many verbs form a passive voice, which in the active take their object in the genitive or dative (not the accusative) : καταφρονᾷ τινος I despise some one, καταφρονεῖται τις ὑπ' ἐμοῦ ; πιστεύουσι τῷ βασιλεῖ they trust the king, ὁ βασιλεὺς πιστεύεται ὑπ' αὐτῶν. — c. Neuter passive participles are formed from verbs wholly intransitive : τὰ στρατευόμενα the things done in making war, military operations, τὰ σοὶ πεπολιτευμένα thy political course or conduct.

For deponent verbs used in passive sense, see 285. For aorist passive used in middle sense, see 283.

THE TENSES.

472. The tenses represent the ACTION as continued, completed, or indefinite (153).

The indefinite tenses represent the action as simply BROUGHT TO PASS (i. e. brought into being, made to take place), without the idea of continuance or of completion.

473. The tenses of the indicative also express TIME, present, past, and future (154). Thus Action.	Time.	Tense.	Example.

continued	at the present time	Present	γράφω am writing
"	at a past	Imperfect	ἔγραφον was writing
bro't to pass	at a past	Aorist	ἔγραφα wrote
"	at a future	Future	γράψω shall write completed	at the present	Perfect	γέγραφα have written
"	at a past	Pluperfect	ἔγεγράφευ had written
"	at a future	Fut. Perf.	γεγράψομαι shall have [been written]

a. For action brought to pass at the present time (I write), and action continued at a future time (I shall be writing), the Greek has no special forms; it uses the present (γράφω) for the one, and the future (γράψω) for the other.

474. GENERAL TRUTHS are commonly expressed by the present; but sometimes by the perfect, future, or aorist.

Thus — a. by the PRESENT, as true now: ἡ ἀλήθεια ἐπικρατεῖ πάντων truth prevails over all things. — b. by the PERFECT or FUTURE, as what has been or will be true: ἀνὴρ ἐπεικὴς ἀπολέσας τι βᾶστα οἴσκει a reasonable man, if he has lost any thing, will bear it very easily. — c. by the AORIST, as having proved true in single past instances: τὰς τῶν φαύλων συνουσίας ὀλίγος χρόνος διέλυσε, the associations of the bad a little time (dissolved, i. e. usually) dissolves. This is called the GNOMIC AORIST (from its use in γινώμει maxims); it is treated as a principal tense (154 a). A like use of the aor. in SIMILES, or comparisons, is frequent in Hm., and is called by the same name: ἤριπεν, ὡς ὅτε τις ὄρυς ἤριπεν, τήντ' ὀβρεσι τέκτονες ἄνδρες ἐξέταμον he fell, as when some oak (fell) falls, which builders (chopped) chop off in the mountains.

475. The CONTINUED RESULT of a completed action is sometimes expressed by the present, but much oftener by the perfect.

Thus — a. by the PRESENT: ἀκούω I hear, also (have heard, and so) am informed, νικάω I conquer, also (have conquered) am victorious, φεύγω I flee, or (have fled) am in exile, ἀδικέω I do wrong, or (have done it) am a wrong-doer: always so used are ἔκω am come, οἶχομαι am gone.

b. by the PERFECT. In many verbs this is the prevailing use of the perf.: μέμνημαι (fr. μιμήσκω: I have recalled to mind and hence) remember, κέκλημαι (fr. καλέω: I have received a name and still bear it) am called, κέκτημαι (fr. κτάομαι: have acquired) possess, ἡμφίεσμαι (fr. ἀμφιέννυμι: have dressed myself) am dressed, πέποιθα (have put faith) have faith in, πέφυκα (have grown) am by nature, ἔστηκα (have set myself) stand, βέβηκα (have stepped) stand fast, also am gone, ὄλωκα (have suffered destruction) am ruined. So οἶδα know, ὅμοια am like, ἔωθα am accustomed, δέδοικα am afraid, κέκραγα cry, etc.; though it may be doubted whether some of these ever expressed completed action. — c. To the perfect thus used as a present, corresponds a PLUPERFECT used as an imperfect: ἐμνημήμην remembered; — and a FUTURE PERFECT used as a future: μεμνήσομαι shall remember.

476. The PRESENT and IMPERFECT, as continued tenses, are used

- a. for actions going on at the same time.
- b. for repeated or customary actions.
- c. for actions attempted merely, not accomplished.
- d. for continued states or conditions.

Thus — a. προϊόντες ἔκαον χιλὸν while advancing, they were burning fodder. — b. ὡς ἐγίνωσκεν, οὕτως ἔλεγε as he thought, so he spoke (habitually). — c. Κλέαρχος τοὺς στρατιώτας ἐβιάζετο ἵναί Clearchus (was forcing) tried to force his soldiers to march, δίδωμι I (am proposing to give) offer. — d. ισχύει he is strong, ἐνόσει he was sick. — e. In some verbs the imperfect is not always clearly distinguished from an aorist.

477. The Present is sometimes used for a past or future action.

Thus — a. often, in vivid narrative, for a PAST action (HISTORICAL PRESENT): οὐκ ἐδέξαντο ἀλλ' ἐγκλίνουσι they did not receive (the attack), but give way. — b. also for an action begun in the past and still continued: πάλαι σοι λέγω this long time I keep telling you. — c. for a FUTURE action viewed as immediate or certain: μικρὰ εἰπὼν ἤδη καταβαίνω after saying a few things I come down forthwith; cf. 275 a.

478. The Imperfect is used, in some verbs of OBLIGATION, to express that which ought to be, but is not: οὐκ ἔδει σε λέγειν you ought not to speak (i. e. you do speak, but were under prior obligation not to); so too ἔχρην it were proper, εἰκὸς ἦν it were fitting.

479. The Imperfect and Aorist are sometimes used with ἔν to denote a CUSTOMARY past action (that which took place, if occasion served, at various past times): ἠρώτων ἔν I (would be asking) was asking (occasionally), ἔλεξεν ἔν he (would say) used to say.

480. The AORIST represents the action simply as a past event.

Of its continuance in past time (expressed by the imperfect), and its relation to the present or some later past time (expressed by the perfect and pluperfect), the aorist has nothing to say. It is the tense most frequently used in narration.

481. The Aorist is often used where the perfect or pluperfect might be looked for.

Thus τῶν οἰκετῶν οὐδένᾳ κατέλιπεν, ἀλλ' ἅπαντας πέρακε of his servants he (left) has left no one, but has sold all, Δαρείως Κῦρον μεταπέμπεται (477 a) ἀπὸ τῆς ἀρχῆς ἧς αὐτὸν σατράπην ἐποίησε Darius sends for Cyrus from the government of which he (made) had made him satrap. In like manner, the imperfect is sometimes used for the pluperfect (was doing for had been doing).

482. When the present denotes a continued state, the aorist may denote its inception.

This is the INCEPTIVE AORIST: σιγᾶν to be silent, σιγήσαι to become silent, ισχύειν to be strong, ισχύσαι to grow strong, νοσεῖν to be sick, νοσήσαι to fall sick, ἐβασίλευε he was king, ἐβασίλευσε he became king, ἔρχειν to have dominion, ἄρξαι to attain dominion, ἔχειν to hold, possess, σχεῖν to take hold of, get possession of. In such verbs, however, the aor. may have its ordinary use: as ἐβασίλευσε he reigned.

For the GNOMIC aorist in general truths and in similes, see 474 c.

483. a. The FUTURE is used in the second person as a milder form for the imperative.

Thus οὕτως οὖν ποιήσετε καὶ πείθεσθέ μοι (thus then ye will do) do thus and obey me, οὐκ ἐπιορκήσεις thou (wilt) shalt not swear falsely; — with more urgency, in NEGATIVE QUESTIONS: οὐ περιμενεῖς will you not wait? — b. Hm. often uses ἔν or κέ with the fut. (or fut. perf.) indic.; to mark the event as contingent : ὁ δὲ κεν κεχολώσεται, ὃν κεν ἴκωμαι but he will be angry, to whom I may come (i. e. if I come to any one, he will be angry).

484. A PERIPHRASTIC FUTURE is formed by μέλλω with the infinitive.

The infinitive may be present, future, or (more rarely) aorist : μέλλω ὑμᾶς ἄγειν (ἄξειν, ἀγαγεῖν) εἰς Ἀσίαν I am about (I have it now in prospect or purpose) to lead you into Asia. Other tenses of μέλλω are used in the same way : ἐνθα ἔμελλον καταλύσειν where they were about to stop.

For PERFECT with present meaning, see 475 b : for PERFECT in general truths, see 474 b.

485. The FUTURE PERFECT is only formed in the middle (155 b), though usually with a passive meaning. In the active its place is supplied by using the perfect participle with the future of εἶμι to be : ἂν ταῦτ' εἰδῶμεν, τὰ δέοντα ἐσόμεθα ἐγνωνότες if we know these things, we shall have made the decision we ought.

486. The tenses OUT OF THE INDICATIVE express continued, completed, or indefinite ACTION, but not present, past, or future time.

The TIME of the action is sufficiently indicated by the connection or the circumstances. But — a. The AORIST PARTICIPLE represents an action as PRIOR to that of the principal verb on which the part. depends : συλλέξας στρατεύματα ἐπολιόρκει Μίλητον having collected an army he was besieging Miletus, παθόντα γνῶναι to know by suffering (having suffered) ; yet with some exceptions, where the principal verb is an aorist or future. — b. The AORIST OPTATIVE and INFINITIVE, used in dependent assertions (502), may represent the action as PRIOR to that of the principal verb : ἔλεξαν ὅτι πέμψει σφᾶς ὁ βασιλεὺς, they said that the king had sent them, Κύκλωες λέγονται ἐν Σικελίᾳ οἰκῆσαι the Cyclopes are said to have lived in Sicily.

c. The FUTURE OPTATIVE, INFINITIVE, and PARTICIPLE represent the action as POSTERIOR to that of the principal verb on which they depend : ὃ τι δὲ ποιῆσαι οὐ διεσήμηνε but what he would do he did not indicate, ἄδύνατα πράξειν ὑπισχνοῦνται they promise (that they will perform) to perform impossible things. For fut. part., cf. 540 d. The FUTURE PERFECT in the same modes represents the completed action as posterior to that of the principal verb.

THE MODES.

A. FINITE MODES IN SIMPLE SENTENCES.

487. The INDICATIVE represents the action of the verb as real ; the SUBJUNCTIVE and OPTATIVE, as possible ; the IMPERATIVE, as willed by the speaker.

The INDICATIVE expresses that which is, was, or will be.

It is used when the REALITY of the action is affirmed, denied, or questioned : "He went ; he did not stay ; will he return ?" Reality must be distinguished from certainly. Thus the sentence, "perhaps he will not return," asserts a future reality, "he will not return," but expresses it as uncertain. — For the indic. in hypothetical sentences (with or without ἂν), see 514a; in expressions of wishing, see 490. For the indic. (impf. or aor.) with ἂν, to denote customary action, see 479.

488. The SUBJUNCTIVE expresses that which may be. It represents the action as possible, with some present expectation of its being realized.

Hence it is used — a. in the first person, to express something demanded or requested: ἵσμεν (we may go, are to go) let us go, φέρε δὴ τὰς μαρτυρίας ὑμῖν ἀναγνῶ come now, let me read you the testimonies. — b. in the aorist, with μή, to express something prohibited or deprecated (492a): μὴ τοῦτο ποιήσῃς (you may not do, are not to do) do not do this. In the present this is confined to the first person.

c. in QUESTIONS as to what action may be required or looked for (SUBJUNCTIVE OF DELIBERATION), chiefly in the first person: τί φῶ what shall I say (not “what am I going to say” as a future fact, but “what am I to say,” “what would you have me say”), δέξεσθε ἡμᾶς ἢ ἀπίωμεν will you receive us, or are we to go away, Ἡμ. πῶς τις τοι πείθεται how is any one to obey you.

d. In Ἡμ., the subj. is sometimes used to denote FUTURE events, nearly like the fut. indic.; ἂν or κέ may then be added to it: οὐ γάρ πο τοιοῦς ἴδον ἀνέρας, οὐδὲ ἴδωμαι for never yet saw I such men, nor (may I hereafter) shall I see them. Ἡμ. also uses the subj. in similes like the present or gnomic aorist (474 c).

489. The OPTATIVE expresses that which might be. It represents the action as possible, but without present expectation of its being realized.

a. OPTATIVE OF WISHING. The optative is used without ἂν to express a wish (that something might be).

Thus οἱ θεοὶ ἀποτίσαιντο may the gods requite (would that they might do so). — b. A wish is often introduced by εἴθε, εἰ γάρ, and in poetry εἰ (Ἡμ. αἰ, αἴθε), ὥς: εἴθε σὺ φίλος ἡμῖν γένοις O that thou wouldst become a friend to us (i. e. “if thou wouldst do so,” I should rejoice).

490. A WISH VIEWED AS UNATTAINABLE (because inconsistent with a known reality) is expressed by a past tense of the indicative with εἴθε, εἰ γάρ (cf. 514); viz. by the imperfect, aorist, or pluperfect, according as the known reality would be expressed by a present, aorist, or perfect: εἰ γάρ ποσάτην δύναμιν εἶχον O that I had so much power (but I do not have it), εἴθε σοι συνεγενόμην O that I had been with thee (as I was not); — also by ᾤφελον (ought, 300 jk) with the present or aorist infinitive: ᾤφελε (or εἴθ' ᾤφеле, εἰ γάρ ᾤφеле) Κύρος ζῆν O that Cyrus were living.

491. POTENTIAL OPTATIVE. The optative is used with ἂν in assertions and questions.

Thus τοῦτο γένοιτ' ἂν this might take place, πολλὰς ἂν εὑροῖς μηχανὰς thou couldst find many contrivances, οὐκ ἂν ἀρνηθείην I would not deny it, ποῦ δῆτ' ἂν εἴεν οἱ ξένοι where, I pray, might the strangers be? — a. The ἂν is sometimes omitted in poetry (rarely in prose). — b. This construction is sometimes used as a less positive form for the indicative: οὐκ ἂν λέγοιμι I would not say (for “I will not say”), βουλόμην ἂν I should like (for “I wish"), ᾧρα ἂν εἴη it might be (for "it probably is") time to do something; —or for the imperative: λέγοις ἂν ὥς τάχιστα (you might speak, i. e.) speak at once.

c. The optative, in this use, might be regarded as a conclusion (516), depending on a condition which is left indeterminate (not expressed, nor indeed distinctly thought of): "this might take place" (if circumstances should favor), "you could find" (should you wish), "I would not deny it" (if I could), "where might the strangers be" (i. e. be found, if one should seek them), etc.

492. The IMPERATIVE expresses that which must be (by the will of the speaker). It represents the action as commanded, or, with negative words, as prohibited.

a. The aorist imperative is rarely used in prohibitions; the aorist subjunctive (488 b) takes its place: thus μὴ χαλέπαινε (not μὴ χαλεπαίνης) do not be offended, but μὴ χαλεπήνῃς (not μὴ χαλεπήνῃς) do not take offence.

B. FINITE MODES IN COMPOUND SENTENCES.

493. SUBORDINATION. A sentence may enter as a subordinate part into another sentence. The whole is then called a COMPOUND sentence; it consists of a principal, and a dependent or subordinate, sentence.

Thus οἱ δὲ ἀπεκρίναντο (principal sentence) ὅτι οὐκ ἐνταῦθα εἴη (dependent sentence) but they answered that he was not there; τὸν κακὸν δεῖ κολᾶειν (principal), ὅς ἂν ἀμείνων ᾖ (dependent) we must punish the bad man, that he may be better; εἰ θεοὶ τι δρῶσιν αἰσχρόν (dependent), οὐκ εἰσὶν θεοὶ (principal) if gods do any thing shameful, they are not gods. The names protasis and apodosis are often given to the dependent and the principal sentence; but an indirect sentence (501) is never called protasis. — a. On the other hand, connected sentences may be mutually independent, and are then said to be CO-ORDINATE: κοινὸν ἡ τύχη, καὶ τὸ μέλλον ἀόρατον fortune is fickle, and the future is unseen, τοῦτο ἐγὼ οὐτ' εἶρηκα οὐτε λέγοιμι in this I neither have said nor would say. — For different conjunctions used with co-ordinate and subordinate sentences, see 581.

494. A dependent sentence may have another sentence depending on it, to which it stands as principal. Thus in the compound sentence, ἠρώμην Ἀφοβὸν εἰ τινες παρῆσαν ὅτ' ἀπελάμβανε τὴν προίκα I asked Aphobus whether any persons were present when he received the dowry, ὅτ' ἀπελάμβανε τὴν προίκα depends on εἰ τινες παρῆσαν, and this again on ἠρώμην Ἀφοβὸν. — a. So too an INFINITIVE or PARTICIPLE may have a sentence depending on it: ὁλομαι αὐτὸν εἶναι ὥς ἔκυρὸν ἐστὶ τὸ ψήφισμα I suppose he will say that the decree is without force, δκνοῦντες μὴ ἀφαιρεθεῖεν Δεξιππῶ λέγουσι fearing that they might be deprived (of them) they speak to Dezippus.

495. A substantive which properly belongs to the dependent sentence is often transferred (usually with change of case) to the principal sentence, the object being to give it a more emphatic position. When it is thus brought in before its proper place, the arrangement is called PROLAPSIS (anticipation): καὶ μοι τὸν υἱὸν εἰπέ, εἰ μεμάθηκε τὴν τέχνην and tell me whether my son has learned his art (lit. tell me my son, whether he has learned), Hm. Τυδείδην οὐκ ἂν γνοίης ποτέρουσι μετέλῃ you could not tell to which party Tydides belonged.

Modes in Dependent Sentences. General Remarks.

496. The INDICATIVE in dependent sentences expresses a reality as CONCEIVED or ASSUMED, not asserted, by the speaker.

Thus in ἡγγέλθη ὅτι Μήγαρα ἀφίστηκε it was announced that Megara was in revolt, εἰ θεοὶ εἰσὶν, ἔστι καὶ ἔργα θεῶν if there are gods, there are also works of gods, ταῦτα ἐποιοῦν μέχρι σκότος ἐγένετο these things they were doing until darkness came on, — the (reported) “revolt of Megara” and the (supposed) “existence of gods” are not asserted, nor is it clear that they are believed, to be real; even the “coming on of darkness,” though clearly believed, is not asserted by the sentence. Indeed, it is sometimes implied that the reality which the speaker would assert, is directly contrary to that which he assumes; see 514.

497. The SUBJUNCTIVE expresses possibility with present expectation (488).

See 507. 515. 523 c. 503 b. — a. Yet it is often used in cases of PAST expectation, the idea of past time being lost sight of; see 508. 503 b.

498. The OPTATIVE often expresses possibility with past expectation.

See 507. 504 b. — The optative is used of past actions with an idea of INDEFINITE FREQUENCY; — an event which occurred often, being viewed as one that was liable to occur, one that was to be expected. Thus in CONDITIONAL and RELATIVE sentences, if the principal sentence has an indicative; see 517. 523 c.

499. The OPTATIVE often expresses mere possibility without expectation.

Thus in CONDITIONAL and RELATIVE sentences, if the principal sentence has an optative; see 516. 523 d; also 503 c.

500. The OPTATIVE is often used in place of the indicative in repeating PAST conceptions and expressions.

For examples, see 504 a. In all cases of this kind, the indic. may also be used; but the opt. shows more distinctly that the speaker is not responsible for the thought which he repeats, since he gives it only as what might be. The future opt. has ONLY this use. — a. The opt., similarly used in place of the subjunctive (517 a. 506), implies a past expectation (498).

I. Modes in Indirect Sentences.

501. The indirect sentence depends, like an object-accusative, on the principal verb.

Or, like a subject-nominative, if the principal verb is passive or intransitive. Indirect ASSERTIONS are introduced by ὅτι or ὡς that; indirect QUESTIONS by εἰ whether, πότερον . . ἢ whether . . or, and other interrogatives.

502. When the words or thoughts of another are stated in a dependent form, they are said to stand in ORATIO OBLIQUA.

In distinction from the oratio obliqua (indirect discourse), the original, independent form is called ORATIO RECTA (direct discourse). Thus, or. obl. οἱ δὲ ἀπεκρίναντο ὅτι οὐκ εἶδεῖν but they answered that they did not know, or. recta οὐκ ἴσμεν we do not know; or. obl. οὐκ ἔννοεῖ τί πείσεται he does not consider what he shall suffer, or. recta τί πείσομαι what shall I suffer? — a. A speaker may state his own words or thoughts, like those of another, in the oratio obliqua: ἠρώμην Ἀφοβὸν εἰ τινες παρήσαν I asked Aphobus whether any were present, or. recta ἄρα παρήσαν τινες were any present? τοῦτο γιγνώσκω ὅτι τόλμῃ δικαίᾳ καὶ θεῷ συλλαμβάνει this I perceive, that with righteous daring a divinity also co-operates.

b. In many cases the forms proper to the oratio obliqua do not differ from those of the or. recta: thus in the example last given, the direct sentence would be τόλμῃ δικαίᾳ καὶ θεῷ συλλαμβάνει. But — c. Where the proper forms would be different, we often find those of the or. recta used in dependent sentences, instead of those proper to the or. obliqua: οἱ δὲ εἶπον ὅτι ἱκανοὶ ἐσμεν but they said (that) "we are able," instead of ἱκανοὶ εἶεν or εἰσὶ they were able. — d. Sometimes the two are found together in the same connection: ἐπιδεικνὺς ὡς εὐηθὲς εἶη (or. obl.) ἡγεμόνα αἰτεῖν παρὰ τούτου ᾧ λυμαινόμεθα (or. recta) τὴν πράξιν showing that it was a foolish thing to ask a guide from this man (Cyrus) for whom we are ruining his enterprise.

e. An INFINITIVE OR PARTICIPLE is often used in the oratio obliqua, instead of a dependent sentence: thus ἔφασαν τοὺς μὲν ἡμαρτηκέναι, αὐτοὶ δὲ σώζειν τοὺς νόμους they said that those indeed had transgressed, but they themselves were upholding the laws, or. recta οἱ μὲν ἡμαρτήκασι, αὐτοὶ δὲ σώζουεν, etc.; Τισσαφέρνης Κύρον ἐπιστρατεύοντα πρῶτος ἡγγεῖλε Tissaphernes was the first to announce that Cyrus was carrying on war, or. recta Κῦρος ἐπιστρατεύει.

503. In general, indirect sentences have THE SAME MODES that would be used in the direct. This is regularly the case when the principal verb denotes present or future time; and often so, when it denotes past time.

Thus — a. INDICATIVE. When the indic. is used, the tense is the same as would be found in the direct sentence: λέγει ὡς οὐδὲν ἔστιν ἀδικώτερον φήμης he says that nothing is more unjust than fame, ἔδει Ἀφοβὸς ὅτι ἐξελεγχθήσεται Aphobus knew that he (will be) would be convicted, ἦκεν ἀγγέλλων τις ὡς Ἐλάτεια κατεῖληπται there came some one announcing that Elatea (has been) had been taken, ἠπόρουν τί ποτε λέγει ὁ θεός I was in doubt what the god (means) meant. But sometimes a present or perfect of the direct sentence is changed to an imperfect or pluperfect, when the principal verb denotes past time.

b. SUBJUNCTIVE (of deliberation, 488 c): βουλευόμεν πῶς σε ἀποδρῶ I am considering how I shall escape from you, οὐκ εἶχον ὃ τι γίνωνται they knew not what (they should become) would become of them. — c. OPTATIVE (potential opt. with ἂν, 491): οὐκ οἶδ' ὃ τι ἂν τις χρῆσταιτο τοῖς στρατιώ- ταῖς I know not what any one could do with the soldiers, εἶπεν ὅτι ὁ ἀνὴρ ἂν ἀλώσιμος εἴη he said that the man would be easy to capture.

504. But if the principal verb denotes PAST time, the indirect sentence may take the OPTATIVE, in place of an indicative or subjunctive in the direct.

Thus — a. in place of the INDICATIVE (500): ἐγνώσθη ὅτι οἱ βάρβαροι τὸν ἄνθρωπον ὑποέμψαιεν (direct ὑπέμψαν) it was understood that the barbarians had sent the man, διαβάλλει (477 a) τὸν Κύρον πρὸς τὸν ἀδελφόν, ὥς ἐπιβουλεύοι αὐτῷ he (accuses) accused Cyrus to his brother (saying) that he was plotting against him, ἔλεγεν ὅτι ἡ ὁδὸς ἔσοιτο πρὸς βασιλέα he said that the march would be against the king (direct ἡ ὁδὸς ἔσται), ἠρώτων εἰ ἀναπλεύσειεν ἔχων ἀργύριον I asked (him) whether he had sailed away with money (direct ἄρα ἀνέπλευσας, etc.), ἔλεγον ὅτι Κύρος μὲν τέθνηκεν (503 a), Ἀριαῖος δὲ πεφευγὼς εἶη they said that Cyrus was dead, and that Ariaeus had fled.

b. in place of the SUBJUNCTIVE (488 c): ἐβουλεύομην πῶς σε ἀποδράην I was considering how I should escape you (direct πῶς ἀποδρῶ, 503 b), ἐπηρουντο εἰ παραδοῖεν τὴν πόλιν they inquired whether they should give up the city (direct παραδῶμεν shall we give up?). — c. The form ἠγγόει ὃ τι λέγοι may mean, according to the connection, he knew not what he was saying (a.), or he knew not what he should say (b.).

505. The rule 504 applies also to sentences which depend on an INDIRECT infinitive (502 e) or sentence: εἰ τις πόλιν στρατεύσει, εἰμι he said that, if any city should make war, he would go against it, εἶπεν ὅτι ἄνδρα ἄγοι ὃν εἰρᾶει δέοι (direct ἄγω ὃν δεῖ) he said that he was bringing a man whom it was necessary to confine. Similarly ἔλεγον ὅτι πάντος ἕξια λέγοι, χειμῶν γὰρ εἴη (direct ἔστι) they said that he said things worthy of all (heed), for it was winter.

506. The rule applies also to various dependent sentences which—though not called indirect, nor depending on such (505)—contain the past words or thoughts of another: ἐκάκιζον αὐτόν, ὅτι οὐκ ἐπεξάγοι (for ἐπεξάγει) they abused him, because (as they said) he did not lead out against (the enemy), ἐθαύμαζεν, εἰ τις ἀργύριον πράττοιτο (for πράττεται) he thought it strange if any one demanded money, ἐβούλοντο εἰλθεῖν, εἰ τοῦτο γένοιτο (for εἰν τοῦτο γένηται) they wished to go, if this should happen.

II. Modes in Final Sentences.

507. Present or future purpose is expressed by the subjunctive; past purpose, by the optative.

Sentences expressing purpose are introduced by ἵνα, ὥς, ὅπως (and Hm. ὅρα), that, in order that, — μή, or ὅπως (ὥς, ἵνα) μή that not, lest: τὸν κακὸν δεῖ κολάζειν, ἵν' ἀμείνων ᾗ we must punish the bad man, that he may be better, τὴν γέφυραν λύσει, ὥς μὴ διαβῇτε he will destroy the bridge, that you may not cross, — καθέλκον τὰς τριήρεις, ὥς σώζονται they launched the triremes, that they might save themselves, ἐδόκει ἀπιέναι, μὴ ἐπίθεσις γένοιτο it was thought best to return, lest an attack should be made. — a. The principal sentence is omitted in some phrases such as ἵνα συντρέμω to be brief (sc. I say only this), ἵν' ἐκ τούτων ἀρξωμαι to begin with these things. —

b. With ὥς, ὅπως (and ὅφρα), ἄν (Hm. κέ) is sometimes used (cf. 483 b): ὥς ἄν μάθῃς, ἀκουσον hear that you may learn (as you will, if you hear).

For ὅπως with the future indicative, see 522 a. For the result expressed with ὥστε, see 531 b.

508. The subjunctive is often used with reference to a past purpose (497 a).

Thus ναὺς ἐπλήρουν, ὅπως ναυμαχίας ἀποπειράσῃσι they manned ships, that they (may try) might try a sea-fight, τὰ πλοῖα κατέκαυσεν, ἵνα μὴ Κύρος διαβῇ he burned the vessels, that Cyrus (may not) might not cross. In such cases, the time is lost sight of, while the idea of aim or expectation is made prominent.

509. A purpose viewed as UNATTAINABLE (because inconsistent with a known reality) is expressed by a past tense of the indicative (cf. 514): ζῶντι ἔδει βοηθεῖν πάντας, ὅπως δικαιοτάτα ἔζη they ought all to have aided him while living, that he might have lived most justly (but he did not live thus).

510. After verbs of FEARING the subjunctive and optative are used as in final sentences.

Present apprehension is expressed by the subj.; past apprehension by the opt., yet often by the subj. As fearing implies wish or aim that something may NOT be, the dependent sentence is introduced by μή, or, if it is negative, by μή οὐ: δέδοικα μὴ ἐπιλαθώμεθα I am afraid we may forget, ἐφοβείτο μὴ οὐ δύναίτο (or δύνηται) he feared that he might not be able. Other words of fearing are φροντίζω to think anxiously, φυλάττομαι to beware, ὑποπτεύω to suspect, ὁράω to see to it, σκοπέω to consider, κίνδυνός ἐστι there is danger, etc. — a. After words of fearing, the indic. is sometimes used, the thing feared being thought of as a reality; especially when it is a past or present event: φοβούμεθα μὴ ἀμφοτέρων ἡμαρτήκαμεν we fear that we have failed of both.

b. The word of fearing is sometimes not expressed (cf. 522 a): μὴ ἀγροικότερον ἢ τὸ ἀληθὲς εἰπεῖν (I am afraid) it is too rude a thing to say the truth. The use of οὐ μὴ with the subj. or fut. indic. may have arisen in this way: οὐ μὴ ἔλθῃ (no fear, danger, lest he come) he surely will not come, οὐδεὶς μὴποτε εὕρησει no one shall ever find. And so, perhaps, in the poetic οὐ μὴ λαλήσεις will you not (beware) that you do not prate, i. e. beware of prating.

III. Modes in Conditional Sentences.

511. In the dependent sentence (protasis) something is supposed as a condition, from which the principal sentence (apodosis) follows as a conclusion. The condition is introduced by the conjunction IF, Greek εἰ, or ἐάν (for εἰ ἄν, cf. Hm. εἰ κέ) contracted ἤν, ἄν (ᾶ). The conclusion often takes ἄν (ᾶ) to mark it as contingent (i. e. as only conditionally true). The whole compound sentence is called a HYPOTHETICAL PERIOD, and has the following principal forms. They depend on the nature of the CONDITION, which may be ASSUMED—

a. as real, but without judgment as to its reality (496).

b. as real, but with implied judgment that it is not real (496).

- c. as possible, with some present expectation of its being realized.
- d. as possible merely, without expectation of its being realized.
- e. as possible, with past expectation of its being realized.

512. SIMPLE SUPPOSITION (with undecided reality, 511 a):
 in the condition, εἰ with the indicative;
 in the conclusion, the indic. without ἄν, or the imper.

Thus εἰ τι ἔλαβον, ἔδωκα if I received anything, I gave it, εἰ τι ἔχω, δίδωμι if I have anything (now), I give it, εἰ τι ἔξω, δώσω if I shall have anything, I will give it, — εἰ τοῦτο πεποίηκας, ἐπαινεῖσθαι ἔξιος εἰ if thou hast done this, thou art worthy to be praised, εἰ τι κείσονται Μῆδοι, ἐς Πέρσας τὸ δεινὸν ἔξει if the Medes (shall) suffer anything, the danger will come to the Persians, σοὶ εἰ πρὶ ἄλλῃ δοκεῖ, λέγε καὶ διδάσκει if to thee it seems otherwise, speak and instruct (me). — a. When PAST tenses are used — as in ἐξῆν σοι ἀπέναι, εἰ μὴ ἡρεσκόν σοι οἱ νόμοι you were at liberty to depart, if the laws did not please you — care must be taken not to confound this form with the following (514): the first has no ἄν in the conclusion, while the second generally takes it.

513. The two following remarks are of much importance:

a. If the supposed event is a FUTURE one, it may be viewed as a (future) reality, and expressed by the indicative (see above); but very often it is viewed as a possibility (with, or without, expectation), and expressed by the SUBJUNCTIVE or OPTATIVE (515-16).

b. An UNLIMITED SUPPOSITION — in which IF has the force of if ever, whenever, in whatever case — is commonly viewed as a possibility, and expressed by the SUBJUNCTIVE or OPTATIVE (515 a. 517).

514. SUPPOSITION WITH CONTRARY REALITY (511 b): in the condition, εἰ with a past tense of the indic.;
 in the conclusion, a past tense of the indic. with ἄν.

The condition implies a contrary reality; and takes the imperfect, aorist, or pluperfect, according as the contrary reality would be expressed by the present (or imperfect), the aorist, or the perfect. The same is generally true of the conclusion also. Thus εἰ τι εἶχον, ἐδίδουν ἄν if I had anything, I would give it (but I have nothing, and do not give), εἰ τι ἔλαβον, ἔδωκα ἄν if I had received anything, I would have given it (but I received nothing, and did not give), — εἰ μὴ ὑμεῖς ἦλθετε, ἐπορευόμεθα ἄν πρὸς βασιλέα if you had not come, we should be marching against the king (but you came, and we are not marching), εἰ αὐτάρκη τὰ ψηφίσματα ἦν, Φίλιππος οὐκ ἄν ὑβρίσει τοσοῦτον χρόνον if your decrees were sufficient, Philip would not have insulted you so long (but they are insufficient, and he has insulted). — a. The indic. thus used in the conclusion is called the HYPOTHETICAL INDICATIVE; the accompanying ἄν is sometimes omitted: ἡσυχυόμην, εἰ ἐξηπατήθην I should be ashamed, if I had been deceived (but I was not deceived, and am not ashamed).

515. SUPPOSITION WITH PRESENT EXPECTATION (511 c):
 in the condition, εἰάν with the subjunctive;
 in the conclusion, the indicative (principal tenses), or the imperative.

Thus ἐάν τι ἔχω, δώσω (513 a) if I have anything (hereafter), I will give it, τοῦτο ποιήσει, ἐάν βούληται this he will do, if he (shall) wish, χρῶ αὐτοῖς, ἐάν δέη τι use them, if there (shall) be any need. — a. Often in UNLIMITED SUPPOSITIONS (513 b), commonly with present in conclusion: ἐάν τι ἔχω, δίδωμι if (ever, whenever, as often as) I have anything, I give it, οὐδὲν ἢ μάθησις, ἢν μὴ νοῦς παρῇ learning is naught if (whenever) judgment is not with it, εὐλαβοῦ τὰς διαβολάς, κὰν ψευδεῖς ᾧσι avoid evil imputations, even if (in cases when) they are false.

b. The AORIST SUBJ., in this use, may have the force of a FUTURE PERFECT: νέος ἂν πονήσῃ, γῆρας ἔξεις εὐθαλές if you toil (shall have toiled) while young, you will have a thriving old age. — c. Poetic (chiefly in Hm.) is the use of εἰ (without ἂν or κέ) with the subjunctive.

516. SUPPOSITION WITHOUT EXPECTATION (511 d):

in the condition, εἰ with the optative;
in the conclusion, the optative with ἂν.

Thus εἰ τι ἔχοιμι, δίδοιην ἂν (513 a) if I should have anything (hereafter), I would give it, εἰ τοὺτους μιμησάμεθα, ἔπαυτες ἂν ἀπολοίμεθα if we should imitate these, we should all perish, εἰ τις κεκτημένος εἴη πλοῦτον, χρῆτο δὲ αὐτῷ μὴ, ἂρ' ἂν εὐδαιμονοῖ if one should possess wealth, but should make no use of it, would he be happy? The opt. in the conclusion is the POTENTIAL OPTATIVE, cf. 491 c. — a. Poetic (chiefly in Hm.) is the omission of ἂν (or κέ) in the conclusion: Hm. also inserts κέ in the condition. A potential optative with ἂν, used for an indicative in the condition (512), is found even in Attic.

517. SUPPOSITION WITH PAST EXPECTATION (511 e):

in the condition, εἰ with the optative;
in the conclusion, a past tense of the indicative.

Thus in UNLIMITED SUPPOSITIONS (513 b) relating to the PAST: εἰ τι ἔχοιμι, ἐδίδουν if (ever, whenever, as often as) I had anything, I gave it, εἰ τις ἀντίποι, εὐθὺς τεθνήκει if (whenever) any one opposed, he was put to death at once. — a. A different opt. of past expectation (or of past conception) is found in suppositions where the conclusion depends on a verb of past time: ἐπορευόμην ἵνα, εἰ τι δέοιτο, ὠφελοῖην αὐτόν I was going in order that I might aid him, if he should have any need (present πορεύομαι ἵνα, ἐάν τι δέηται, ὠφελῶ, cf. 507), εἶπεν ὅτι Δέξιππον οὐκ ἐπαινοίη, εἰ τοῦτο πεποιηκὼς εἴη he said that he did not praise Dexippus, if he had done this (or. recta οὐκ ἐπαινω, εἰ τοῦτο πεποίηκε; cf. 505).

518. Hypothetical periods have various IRREGULARITIES.

MIXED FORMS are frequent, the conclusion being adapted, either to a different view of the expressed condition, or to a quite different condition which remains unexpressed: ἐάν οὕτω πράττητε (515), ἴσως ἂν μέγα τι κτήσασθε (516) if you will act thus, perhaps you might gain some great thing (as if the condition were εἰ πράττοιτε); εἰ ταῦτα οὕτως ἔχει, οὐκ ἂν δικαίως κολάζοιτο if these things are so, he would not justly be punished (sc. εἰ κολάζοιτο if he should be punished).

519. The condition may be expressed by a PARTICIPLE (540 e); the conclusion by an INFINITIVE or PARTICIPLE, which then take ἂν, if they stand — a. for a POTENTIAL OPTATIVE (491. 516): μάλιστα οἶμαι ἂν σοῦ πυθέσθαι I think that I should learn best from you (for μάλιστα ἂν πυθόμην), εἰμι τῶν ἡδέως ἂν ἐλεγξάντων, εἰ τις μὴ ἀληθὲς λέγοι I am of those who would gladly confute (a man), if one should say (anything) untrue (for οὐ ἂν ἐλεγξίαν). — b. for a HYPOTHETICAL INDICATIVE (514 a): Κύρος εἰ ἐβίωσεν, ἄριστος ἂν δοκεῖ ἄρχων γενέσθαι (537) it seems that Cyrus, if he had lived, would have proved a most excellent ruler (for ἂν ἐγένετο).

520. a. The condition or conclusion may be IMPLIED in other forms of expression: δι' ὑμᾶς αὐτοὺς πάλαι ἂν ἀπολώλετε by yourselves (i. e. if you had been left to yourselves) you would have perished long ago, ἐκτειραν αὐτούς, εἰ ἄλῳσιντο they pitied them, if they should be taken (for ἐφασαν οἰκτροὺς εἶσθαι said they would be objects of pity). — b. The condition may be OMITTED, as in ἐβουλόμην ἂν I should wish (εἰ ἐδυνάμην if I had the power, as I have not), βουλοίμην ἂν I should wish (εἰ δυνάμην if I should have the power, as possibly I might have); cf. 491 c. 514. — c. The CONCLUSION may be OMITTED; cf. 489 b. — d. A VERB may be OMITTED in condition or conclusion (cf. 358 c), espec. with εἰ μὴ unless or except, εἰ δὲ μὴ (sometimes εἰ δέ) if otherwise, if the contrary, ὥσπερ ἂν εἰ as if, εἰ δ' ἄγε (= εἰ δὲ βούλει, ἄγε) but if you wish, come on, etc.

IV. Modes in Relative Sentences.

521. In relative sentences, the modes appear with the same uses as in simple or principal sentences.

Relative sentences are introduced by relative pronouns and relative adverbs (143-4). The potential opt. with ἂν (491), the hypothetical indic. with ἂν (514 a), the subj. of deliberation (488 c), the opt. of wishing (489 a), — even the imper., and the subj. for imper. (488 a, b), — are found in relative sentences. — Further, a relative sentence may have an opt. used in place of the indic. by 505 (second example).

522. In relative sentences the FUTURE INDICATIVE often expresses PURPOSE.

Thus ἔδοξεν ἄνδρας ἐλέσθαι, οἱ τοὺς νόμους συγγράψουσι it was resolved to choose men (who shall compile) to compile the laws, οὐκ ἔστι μοι χρήματα, ἀπόθεν ἐκτίσω I have no money (whence I shall pay) with which to pay. In Hm. (rarely in Att.) such sentences may take the subj. and opt. — a. In particular, ὥπως how, that, in order that, is used with the fut. indic. after verbs denoting ATTENTION, CARE, EFFORT: σοὶ μελέτω ὥπως μὴ τίς σε ὄψεται let it be your care that no one shall see you. The principal verb is sometimes omitted: ὥπως παρέσει εἰς ἑσπέραν (sc. σκοπεῖ look to it) that thou be present at evening.

523. In relative sentences with UNLIMITED ANTECEDENT, the modes are used as in CONDITIONAL sentences.

The relative pronoun then signifies whatever person or thing; the relative adverb, whatever time, place, or manner. Thus used, ὅς or ὅστις has nearly the force of εἰ τις; ὅτε or ὁπότε, of εἰ ποτε; ὅθεν or ὁπόθεν, of εἰ ποθεν, etc. When a subjunctive follows, its ἂν is attached to the relative: ὅς ἂν, ὁπόθεν ἂν, etc.; and unites with ὅτε, ὁπότε, ἐπεὶ, ἐπειδή, to form ὅταν, ὁπότεν, ἐπὶν or ἐπὴν (Hd. ἐπεάν), ἐπειδάν. Sentences with such relatives are called HYPOTHETICAL RELATIVE SENTENCES; and the compound sentences to which they belong, correspond to almost all forms of the hypothetical period. Thus — a. (512) οὓς μὴ εὑρισκόν, κενοτάφιον αὐτοῖς ἐποίησαν (whomever, i. e.) if any they failed of finding, they made a cenotaph for them. — c. (515) ἐπειδὴν τοῦτο διαπράξωμαι, ἤξω when(ever) I (shall) have accomplished this, I will come, πείθονται οὓς ἂν ἡγῶνται βελτιστοὺς εἶναι they obey whatever persons they (may) think to be best. — d. (516) ἐκὼν ἂν θρέψαις ἄνδρα ὅστις ἐθέλοι σοι would gladly support a man who(ever) would be willing, etc. — e. (517) πάντας, ὅσους λάβοιεν ἐν τῇ θαλάσσῃ, διέφθειρον they were destroying all, as many as they might take on the sea, ὅτε ἔξω τοῦ δεινοῦ γένοιτο, πολλοὶ αὐτὸν ἀπέλειπον when (as often as) they were out of danger, many were (always) leaving him.

f. The omission of ἂν, where it would regularly stand, is not unknown to Attic prose (cf. 515 c. 516 a).

524. Words which mean UNTIL (593 e, f) take the subj. (with ἂν) to denote present expectation, the opt. to denote past expectation: μένομεν ἕως ἂν ἀνοιχθῇ we wait until it shall be opened, ἐμένομεν ἕως ἀνοιχθείη we waited until it should be opened, but ἐμένομεν ἕως ἀνεφύχθη (indic.) we waited until (the definite time when) it was opened. So also πρὶν before, which, however, takes the subj. and opt. only when the principal sentence is negative; cf. 531 c.

C. INFINITIVE.

525. The infinitive and participle are verbal nouns, a substantive and adjective derived from the stem of the verb (152 b). But they are unlike other verbals, being much more nearly related, both in form and construction, to the finite verb. Thus, in particular, — a. They are made from all verbs, and with different forms for the different voices and tenses. — b. Words expressing the object are connected with them in the same manner as with the finite verb (338 c). — c. They are qualified by adverbs (457), not by adjectives (339).

DEPENDENCE OF THE INFINITIVE.

526. The infinitive may be the SUBJECT of a verb.

Thus chiefly with INTRANSITIVE or PASSIVE verbs: χαλεπὸν οὕτω ποιεῖν (sc. ἐστὶ, 358 a) it is hard to do so, ἔδοξε προΐεσθαι it seemed best to proceed, λέγεται τὸν Κύρον δοῦναι it is said that Cyrus gave; — it may also be a predicate: τοῦτο μανθάνειν καλεῖται this is called learning.

527. The infinitive may be the OBJECT of a verb.

Thus — a. with verbs of THINKING, PERCEIVING, SAYING, SHOWING (cf. 502 e): ἀκούω (475 a) πάντας παρῆναι I have heard that all were present, ὁμωμόκατε δικάσειν ye have sworn to give judgment. When an infin. thus used has a relative sentence connected with it, this also sometimes takes the infin.: ἔφη δέ, ἐπειδὴ οὗ ἐκβῆναι τὴν ψυχὴν, πορεύεσθαι μετὰ πολλῶν he said that, when his spirit departed, he journeyed with many persons.

b. with many other verbs, espec. such as imply POWER or FITNESS, FEELING or PURPOSE, EFFORT or INFLUENCE, to produce or prevent an action: οὐ πέφυκας δουλεῦν θου art not made to be a slave, φοβοῦμαι λέγειν I am afraid to speak, τίς αὐτὸν κωλύσει δεῦρο βαδίζειν who will hinder him from marching hither?

528. a. The infin. may be the subject or object of an infin. or a participle: διαπεπραγμένος ἦκει παρὰ βασιλέως δοθῆναι οἱ σώζειν τοὺς Ἕλληνας he is come having obtained from the king that it should be granted him to save the Greeks, where σώζειν is the subject of δοθῆναι, and δοθῆναι the object of διαπεπραγμένος. — b. The infin. may stand in apposition (341 a) with a subject or object: αὕτη (363) μόνη ἐστὶ κακὴ πρῆξις, ἐπιστήμης στερηθῆναι this alone is evil fortune, to be deprived of knowledge.

529. The infinitive may be used (as an indirect object) to denote the PURPOSE.

Thus τὸ ἡμισυ κατέλιπε φυλάττειν τὸ στρατόπεδον he left half (the army) to guard the camp, καλῶς σοι πιεῖν ἐγγχείας pouring (the wine) handsomely for you to drink.

530. The infinitive may depend on a SUBSTANTIVE or ADJECTIVE.

Thus on a subst., commonly with an idea of WILL, POWER, OR FITNESS: οὐχ ὥρα καθέδδει it is not a (fit) time to be sleeping, ὄκνος ἀνίστασθαι unwillingness to rise up; — on an adjective: δεινὸς λέγειν skilful in speaking, λόγοι χρησιμώτατοι ἀκοῦσαι words most useful to hear, ὁ χρόνος βραχὺς ἐστὶ δηγήσασθαι the time is (too) short for relating; so ὅσος (so much as) enough to, ὅλος (such as) suited to, οἶδστε able to, take the infin. — a. The infin. with substantives may be compared to the gen. of connection (407), or the gen. objective (409); with adjectives, to the gen. in 424–6, but oftener to the dat. of manner (442), or of respect (443). — b. The infin. is found as a dat. of respect even with substantives: θαῦμα καὶ ἀκοῦσαι a wonder even to hear of. — c. In these constructions, the active is generally used, even where we might expect the passive: ἄξιος θαυμάζειν (worthy that one should admire him) = ἄξιος θαυμάζεσθαι worthy to be admired.

531. The infinitive is used with the conjunctions ἥ, ὥς, ὥστε, πρίν.

Thus — a. with ἥ (ἥ ὥς, ἥ ὥστε) after the compar. (or with ὥς, ὥστε after the pos.), 452 d, e. — b. with ὥστε (sometimes ὥς) to denote the RESULT: αὐτοῖς συνεκέκρατο ὥστε οἰκέως διακείσθαι he had mingled with them so as to be on familiar terms. (This use is hardly known to Hm., who uses the simple infin. instead.) But sometimes ὥστε (like ἐφ' ᾧ, ἐφ' ᾧ τε) with the infinitive means on CONDITION that, or for the PURPOSE of. — c. with πρίν (hardly Attic is πρίν ἥ) before, cf. 524: ἀποπέμπουσιν αὐτὸν πρίν ἀκοῦσαι they send him away before hearing him. (In Hm. πάρος has the same use.) Instead of πρίν alone, we often find πρότερον . . πρίν, πρόσθεν . . πρίν (and in Hm. πρίν . . πρίν, or πάρος . . πρίν).

532. The infin. is used (with or without ὥς) in various phrases of LOOSE GRAMMATICAL RELATION: ὥς εἰπεῖν or ὥς ἔπος εἰπεῖν so to speak, (ὥς) συνέλONTι εἰπεῖν (437), (ὥς) ἐμοὶ δοκεῖν as it seems to me, in my view, ὀλίγου (μικροῦ) δεῖν almost (418 a), ἐκὼν εἶναι willingly, τὸ νῦν εἶναι for the present, and the like.

533. The NEUTER ARTICLE prefixed to the infinitive gives it more distinctly the character and construction of a substantive.

Yet as regards the subject, predicate, and object of the infin., the article makes no difference. — For τοῦ with the infin. denoting PURPOSE, see 429 b. — a. The infin. with τό is sometimes used in loose constructions, as an acc. of effect : τίς ἀπελείφθη τό μή σοι ἀκολουθεῖν who was left behind so as not to follow you ; or an acc. of specification : ἀνέλπιστοί εἰσι τό ἐς τήν γῆν ἡμῶν ἐσβάλλειν they are hopeless as to invading our land ; or as a mere exclamation (387 b) : τῆς μωρίας (429 a), τό Δία νομίζειν the folly! to believe in Zeus!

534. The infinitive is seemingly independent, when it is used FOR THE IMPERATIVE ; it then takes subject and predicate in the nom. : Ἡμ. θαρσῶν ἐπὶ Τρώεσσι μάχεσθαι fight with courage against the Trojans. This use is rare in Attic prose.

SUBJECT AND PREDICATE WITH THE INFINITIVE.

535. a. The subject of the infinitive is put in the accusative. — b. A predicate-noun, belonging to the subject of the infinitive, is put in the accusative.

Thus — a. λέγουσι τὸν Κύρον δοῦναι they say that Cyrus gave, συνέβη μηδένα παρῆναι it chanced that no one was present. — b. τὸν ἄδικον ἄνδρα φημι ἄθλιον εἶναι I say that the unjust man is miserable.

536. The subject of the infinitive is very often OMITTED.

Thus — a. when it is an indefinite word : χαλεπὸν οὕτω ποιεῖν (sc. τινά) it is hard (for any one) to do thus, οὐχ ὥρα καθεύδειν it is not a time (for one) to be sleeping, τὰ τοιαῦτα ἔστι μετρήσαντα (540 b) εἶδέναι such things it is possible (for a man) to know by having measured them.

b. when it is the same as the subject of the principal verb : ὁμώμακατε δικάσειν you have sworn to give judgment (that you will give it), φοβοῦμαι λέγειν I am afraid to speak, πάν ποιοῦσιν ὥστε δίκην μὴ δίδναι they do everything in order not to suffer punishment (that they may not suffer). A PREDICATE-NOUN with the infin. is then put in the nominative : ἐγὼ μὲν οὐχ ὁμολογήσω ἄκλητος ἦκειν I shall not admit that I have come unbidden. Sometimes, however, the subject of the principal verb is repeated (either in nom. or acc.) along with the infin. : Ἡδ. οἱ Αἰγύπτιοι ἐνόμιζον ἑαυτοὺς πρώτους γενέσθαι ἀνθρώπων the Egyptians believed that they themselves were created first among men.

c. when it is the same as the object of the principal verb : τίς αὐτὸν κωλύσει δεῦρο βαδίζειν who will hinder him from marching hither? συμβουλεύω ὑμῖν γινῶναι ὑμᾶς αὐτοὺς I advise you to know yourselves. When the object is a genitive or dative, the PREDICATE-NOUN is put in the same case : Κύρου ἐδέοντο ὥς προθυμοτάτου γενέσθαι they besought Cyrus to show himself as favorable as possible ; — but not always : συμφέροι αὐτοῖς φίλους εἶναι it is advantageous for them to be friends.

d. sometimes in other cases, when it is readily supplied from the context : ἐδόκουν οἱ Ἕλληνες ἀτάκτοις σφίσι ἐπιτεσεῖσθαι (sc. βασιλέα) the Greeks thought that the king would fall upon them while in disorder.

537. PERSONAL CONSTRUCTION FOR IMPERSONAL. Instead of using an impersonal verb with the accusative and infinitive (348), the Greek often puts the subject of the infinitive in the nominative case, and joins it as a subject with the principal verb. This occurs with δοκεῖ it appears, ἀγγέλλεται it is reported, συμβαίνει it happens, δικάσιον (ἀναγκαῖον, ἐπι-ῥηδεόν) ἔστι it is just (necessary, fitting), and the like : λέγεται ὁ Κύρος δοῦναι (= λέγεται τὸν Κύρον δοῦναι, 535) Cyrus is said to have given, αὐτὸς μοι δοκῶ καταμενεῖν (I seem to myself about to remain) it seems to me that I myself shall remain, δίκαιος εἰ ἔγειν ἀνθρώπους (thou art just to lead) it is just that thou shouldst lead men.

For infinitive with ἄν, see 519.

D. PARTICIPLE.

For nature of the participle, see 525; for its agreement, see 352.

538. The participle may be an attributive or a predicate-participle.

Thus—a. ATTRIBUTIVE: πόλις οἰκουμένη an inhabited city (= πόλις ἡ οἰκεῖται a city which is inhabited); —always so after the article (345 d, and cf. 380 a): δ παρὼν καιρὸς the present occasion; —often with omitted subject (359): δ τυχὼν whoever happens, οἱ ἅριστοι δοκοῦντες εἶναι those who appear to be best, ἐπὶ πολλὰς ναῦς κεκτημένους against (men) possessing many ships. Used thus without a subject, it may often be translated by a substantive: οἱ λέγοντες the speakers, πόλις πολεμούντων a city of belligerents, τὰ δέοντα the duties; and sometimes (espec. in poetry) takes a genitive: τὰ συμφέροντα τῆς πόλεως (407) the advantages of the city, τὸ δοξάζον τῆς ψυχῆς the thinking (part) of the soul.

b. The PREDICATE-PARTICIPLE, like the predicate-adjective (340 b), is brought into connection with its subject by the sentence. It is called CIRCUMSTANTIAL, when it is loosely related to the principal verb, adding a circumstance connected with the action; and SUPPLEMENTARY, when it is closely related to the principal verb, supplying an essential part of the predicate. These subdivisions are not in all cases clearly distinguished, but run into each other.

539. The CIRCUMSTANTIAL PARTICIPLE is used for relations of time, means, manner, cause, end, condition, and concession.

These relations are often made more distinct by adverbs (joined either to the participle or to the principal verb), which may be called ADJUNCTS of the participle.

a. TIME. All participles mark the action (as continued, completed, prior, posterior, 486) in relation to the time of the principal verb: ταῦτα εἰπὼν ἀπῆει after saying these things he went away, ἔτι παῖς ὢν θαυμάζετο while yet a boy he was admired, ἀρχόμενος (beginning) at first, τελευτῶν (ending) at last, διαλειπὼν χρόνον after an interval of time. Adjuncts of time are τότε, ἐνταῦθα, ἤδη, εἰτα, ἐπειτα, then, afterward, οὕτως thus (used also for cause and concession), which follow the part.; and εὐθύς, αὐτίκα, εἰαίφνης, immediately, ἅμα at the same time, μεταξύ meanwhile, which commonly precede it.

540. b. MEANS OR MANNER: ληϊζόμενοι ζῶσι they live by plundering, ἀδικῶν ἐκτῆσατο he acquired by wrong-doing, —ὅτε χαίροντες ἂν ἀπαλλάξαίτε nor would you get off (rejoicing) with impunity, θάρρῶν boldly, λαθὼν (escaping notice) secretly, ἀνύσας (dispatching) quickly, ἔχων (holding on) continually, φερόμενος (borne along) with haste or violence.

c. CAUSE OR REASON: τῶν κερδῶν ἀπείχοντο αἰσχρὰ νομίζοντες εἶναι they abstained from the gains because they considered them to be shameful;

so τί μαθών or τί παθών (from having learned, or suffered, what) on account of what? As adjuncts, ἅτε (also οἷον, οἶα) gives 'the OBJECTIVE or actual cause (assigned by the writer or speaker); ὥς gives the SUBJECTIVE cause (the reason thought, felt, or uttered, by some other person): φεύγουσιν αὐτὸν ἅτε ἐχθρὸν ὄντα they avoid him because he (actually) is hostile, but ὥς ἐχθρὸν ὄντα because they think him to be hostile.

d. END OR PURPOSE, usually expressed by the future part.: παρελήλυθα συμβουλευέσων ὑμῖν I have come forward to advise you; often with ὥς as adjunct: συλλαμβάνει Κύρον ὥς ἀποκτενῶν he arrests Cyrus with the view of putting him to death.

e. CONDITION: τοῦτοις πολεμοῦσιν ἔμεινον ἔσται it will be better for these if they make war, οὐκ ἔστιν ἔρχειν μὴ δίδοντα μισθόν it is not possible (for one) to command (if not giving) without giving pay. Even an attributive participle may serve as an implied condition: ὁ μὴ δαρείς ἄνθρωπος οὐ παιδεύεται (571) the man who was not whipped (i. e. if he was not whipped) is not educated. — Ὡςπερ with the part. marks it as the condition of an implied conclusion: φεύγουσιν αὐτὸν ὥςπερ ἐχθρὸν ὄντα they avoid him as (they would do) if he was an enemy (though, perhaps, he neither is such, nor is thought to be so).

f. CONCESSION (591): δυσχεραίνοντες ἤγετε τὴν εἰρήνην though dissatisfied, you were observing the peace. As adjuncts, ὅμως yet belongs to the principal verb; καίπερ though (also καὶ even, οὐδέ not even) to the part.; Hm. separates καὶ . . περ, and often omits the καὶ: καὶ ἀχνύμενοι περ though sorrowing, κρατερός περ ὢν or simply κρατερός περ though (being) powerful.

541. The circumstantial participle is used with a GENITIVE ABSOLUTE.

The genitive absolute is so called as not depending on any word in the sentence. In this construction the circumstantial part. has all the uses just described (540): (a) τούτων λεχθέντων, ἀπῆλθον after these things had been said, they went away, (c.) οὐδὲν ποιούντων ὑμῶν, κακῶς ἔχει τὰ πράγματα because you are doing nothing, your affairs are in a bad condition, (e.) οὐκ ἂν ἦλθον, κελευσάντων μὴ ὑμῶν I should not have come, if you had not commanded it.

542. The subject of the participle may be omitted when it is easily understood: ἐντεῦθεν προϊόντων while they (the soldiers of Cyrus) were proceeding thence, ὕοντος (Zeus raining, cf. 355 c) while it was raining; so too, when it is indeterminate: οὕτως ἔχοντος or ἐχόντων (it being thus, things being thus) in this state of things. With ἐκὼν willing (orig. a participle) and ἄκων unwilling, the gen. of ὢν being can be omitted: ἐμοῦ ἄκοντος against my will.

543. The participle is sometimes used with gen. abs., when it might be put in agreement with a subject or object of the sentence: διαβιβηκότος Περικλέους, ἡγγέλθη αὐτῷ (for διαβιβηκότι Περικλεῖ ἡγγέλθη) when Pericles had crossed, word was brought to him. — a. Often, a part. with gen. abs. is connected by conjunctions to a circumstantial part. in agreement with a word of the sentence: τῷ τείχει προσέβαλον ὄντι ἀσθενεῖ καὶ ἀνθρώπων οὐκ ἐνόντων they attacked the wall because it was weak, and there were no men in it.

544. Instead of the genitive absolute the ACCUSATIVE is used, if the subject is an infinitive without the article.

i. e. in IMPERSONAL construction: οὐδεὶς, ἔξδν εἰρήνην ἔχειν, πόλεμον αἰρήσεται no one (it being permitted him) when he is permitted to keep peace, will choose war, προσταχθέν μοι ἔχειν (it being commanded me) when I was commanded to lead, ἀδύνατον ὃν σημῆναι it being impossible to give signals. — a. Even when the subject is a noun, the acc. abs. is sometimes found after ὥς and ὥσπερ (rarely without them): σιωπῇ ἔδειπνουν, ὥσπερ τοῦτο προστεταγμένον they were supping in silence, as (they would do, 540 e) if this had been enjoined, δόξαντα ταῦτα these things having been resolved on.

545. The SUPPLEMENTARY PARTICIPLE supplies an essential part of the predicate.

It may belong either to the SUBJECT or to the OBJECT of the principal verb. Thus (a. cf. 546 a.) εἰ τοῖς πλείοσιν ἀρέσκοντες ἔσμεν if we are (pleasing) acceptable to the majority, ἀδικούντα Φίλιππον ἐξήλεγγα I convicted Philip of wrong-doing; (b.) παύεσθε βουλευόμενοι cease consulting; (c.) ἡδέως ἀκούω Σωκράτους διαλεγομένου I gladly hear Socrates discoursing; (d.) μεταμέλει αὐτῷ ψευσαμένῳ he repents of having lied; (e.) ἐτυχον καθεύδοντες they happened to be sleeping.

546. The supplementary participle is used with a principal verb

a. of BEING, APPEARING, SHOWING: as εἶμι, ὑπάρχω to be (orig. to begin to be), ἔχω (to hold oneself, and hence) to be; φαίνομαι to appear, φανερός (δηλός) εἶμι to be manifest, ἔοικα I seem; δεικνυμι (δηλῶ, ἀποφαίνω) to show, ποιεῖω to represent, ἀγγέλλω to announce.

b. of BEGINNING, CONTINUING, CEASING: as ἄρχομαι to begin (469), διατελέω (διάγω) to continue, παύω to make cease, παύομαι (λήγω, ἐπέχω) to cease, κωλύω to hinder, δια-(ἐπι-)λείπω to leave off, intermit; also ἀπαγορεύω to give over, ἐλλείπω to fail.

c. OF PERCEPTION, KNOWLEDGE, REMEMBRANCE, and the contrary: as αἰσθάνομαι to perceive, νομίζω to consider, ὁράω to see, περιοράω to (overlook) allow, μαρθάνω to learn, πυνθάνομαι to inquire out, εὐρίσκω to find, λαμβάνω to catch, detect, ἀλίσκομαι (φωράομαι) to be detected, οἶδα (ἐπίσταμαι, γινώσκω) to know, ἀγνοῶ to be ignorant, μέμνημαι to remember, ἐπιλανθάνομαι to forget.

d. of ENDURANCE OF EMOTION: as φέρω to bear, ἀνέχομαι to support, καρτερέω to endure; χαίρω (ἡδομαι, τέρπομαι) to be pleased, ἀγαπάω to be content, ἀγανακτέω (ἄχθομαι, χαλεπῶς φέρω) to be vexed, αἰσχύνομαι to be ashamed; κάμνω to be weary.

e. of MANNER: the action of the part. takes place in the manner shown by the principal verb; — WELL or ILL, shown by εὖ (κακῶς) ποιεῖω; WRONG-LY, by ἀδικέω, ἁμαρτάνω; WITH SUPERIORITY or INFERIORITY, by νικῶ, ἡττάομαι; BY CHANCE, by τυγχάνω (poet. κυρέω); WITHOUT NOTICE, by λανθάνω; BEFOREHAND, by φθάνω; etc.

547. With many of these verbs an inf. may be used in the same sense; but often with a different meaning. Thus φαίνεται πλουτῶν he appears to be rich (and is so), φαίνεται πλουτεῖν he appears to be rich (but perhaps is not); αἰσχύνομαι λέγων I speak with shame, but λέγειν I am ashamed to speak (and so, do not speak); οἶδε (μαρθάνει) νικῶν he knows (learns) that he is victorious, but νικᾶν he knows (learns) how to be victorious; μέμνηται πράξας he remembers that he did, but πράττειν he is mindful to do.

For participle with ἄν, see 519.

VERBAL IN ΤΕΟΣ.

548. The verbal in τέος has the meaning of the passive (265); hence the object of the action is the subject of the verbal (471 a): ὠφελήτεια ἡ πόλις ἐστὶ the city must be aided, ἔφη τὴν πόλιν ὠφελήτειαν εἶναι he said that the city must be aided, πολλῶν ἐτι λεκτέων ὄντων there being many things yet to be said. — But the NEUTER VERBAL IN τέον (or τέα), used impersonally with ἐστὶ, has the meaning of δεῖ with the infinitive active: ὠφελήτέον ἐστὶ (= δεῖ ὠφελῆσαι) it is necessary to aid; hence

549. The neuter verbal in τέον, used impersonally with ἐστὶ, takes the same object as the active voice.

Thus τὴν πόλιν ὠφελήτεον (or ὠφελήτεια) ἐστὶ one must aid the city, ἔφη τὴν πόλιν ὠφελήτεον (τέα) εἶναι he said that one must aid the city, μεθεκτέον τοῦ πράγματος (sc. ἐστὶ, 358 a) one must take part in the affair, οὐς οὐ παραδοτέα τοῖς Ἀθηναίοις ἐστὶ whom one must not give up to the Athenians. — a. The verbal often has the sense and construction of the MIDDLE VOICE: ὡς πειστέον εἰη Κλεάρχῳ (466. 504) that one must obey Clearchus, ἅπτεον τοῦ πολέμου (469) one must take hold of the war.

550. The verbal in τέος takes a DATIVE of the AGENT.

This dative (435) denotes the subject of the action: ὠφελήτεια σοι ἡ πόλις ἐστὶ the city must be aided by you, ἅπτεον ἡμῖν τοῦ πολέμου we must take hold of the war; it is often OMITTED, espec. where it is an indefinite idea of person (τινί, ἀνθρώποις). — a. In the impersonal construction, it is sometimes put in the acc. (as subject of the implied infin.): οὐδενὶ τρῶ-πῳ ἐκόντας ἀδικήτεον by no means must (men) willingly (340 c) do wrong.

PECULIARITIES IN THE CONSTRUCTION OF RELATIVE SENTENCES.

ATTRACTION AND INCORPORATION.

551. A relative pronoun agrees with its antecedent in number and gender (354), but stands in any case required by the construction of its own sentence. Yet there is often an irregular agreement in case (attraction), as well as a peculiar arrangement (incorporation), which bring the relative sentence into closer connection with its antecedent. They occur only when there is a close connection in sense, the relative sentence qualifying its antecedent like an attributive.

552. The relative is often ATTRACTED to the case of its antecedent.

Thus from an ACCUSATIVE (required by the construction of its own sentence), it changes, by attraction, to a GENITIVE or DATIVE (the case of its antecedent): μῆμνησθε τοῦ ὅρκου οὐ δωμώκατε (instead of ὃν δωμώκατε) remember the oath which ye have sworn; τοῖς ἀγαθοῖς οἷς ἔχομεν ἄλλα κτησόμεθα (for ἃ ἔχομεν) by means of the advantages which we have we will acquire others. — a. Other varieties of attraction are nearly confined to instances of incorporation (553-7): ὃν (for τούτων οἷς) ἐντυγχάνω μάλιστα ἄγαμὰ σε of those whom I meet with I admire thee most.

553. The antecedent is often INCORPORATED in the relative sentence.

That is, it changes from its own sentence into that of the relative. The relative and antecedent must then agree in case; hence incorporation is often attended — a. by ATTRACTION (the relative taking the case of the antec.): πρὸς αἷς παρὰ Λυσάνδρου ἔλαβε ναυσὶ (for πρὸς ταῖς ναυσὶν ἃς ἔλαβε) in addition to the ships which he received from Lysander; — b. by INVERSE ATTRACTION (the antec. taking the case of the rel.): κατασκευάζει ἥς ἀρχεὶ χώρας (for τὴν χώραν ἥς ἀρχεὶ) he improves the district of which he is governor. — The antec. in the relative sentence loses its article.

554. The ANTECEDENT of a relative is often OMITTED.

This involves a kind of incorporation, the antec. being virtually contained in the rel. sentence. The latter is like an attributive with omitted subject; it has the use and construction of a subst. in the different cases; thus — NOM.: ἐγὼ καὶ ὧν ἐγὼ κρατῶ μενούμεν (for οὗτοι ὧν) I and (those, any, all) whom I command will stay. — ACC.: τίς μισεῖν δύναται ἂν ὑφ' οὗ εἶδειν ἀγαθὸς νομιζόμενος (for τοῦτον ὑφ' οὗ) who could hate (a man) by whom he knew that he was considered as good? — GEN.: ὧν ἔλαβε πᾶσι μετέδωκε (for τούτων ᾧ) she gave to all a share of (the things which) what she received. — DAT.: εὐχῶν σὺν οἷς μάλιστα φιλεῖς (for τούτοις οἷς) feast with (those, any) whom you most love. The last two examples are cases of attraction. Compare 360.

555. The foregoing peculiarities are not confined to ὅς, but apply also to other relatives, ὅσος, ὅσος, ἡλικός, ὅστις, etc.: εἰσφέρειτε ἀφ' ὅσων ἕκαστος ἔχει (for ἀπὸ τοσούτων ὅσα) contribute from that amount of property which each one has; — and even to RELATIVE ADVERBS: ἔξω ὑμῶς ἐνθα ἐγένετο I will take you (ἐκεῖσε to the place) where it occurred, ἕκκει δὲ ὁδὸν δόξεις φρονεῖν practise (that, indetermin.) from which you will appear to be wise.

556. A frequent case of omitted antec. is seen in ἔστιν οἱ (367, less often εἰσιν οἱ) inflected like a pronoun, meaning SOME: ἀναλαβὼν ἱλας ἔστιν ἃς ἔχοντες having taken some squadrons, ὅποτος ἔστιν ἐν οἷς εὐσπεκτοῦν ἐν (things). In questions, ἔστιν οἷτινες is used: ἔστιν οἷτινας ἀνθρώπων τεθαύμακας ἔστιν οἷτινες hast thou admired (some) any among men? Similar are ἔστιν ὅτε (there are [times] when) sometimes, ἔστιν οὐδ' ὅπου somewhere, ἔστιν ὅπως somehow, etc.

557. Attraction and incorporation appear also in such phrases as χαρίζεσθαι οἷς σοι ἀνδρὶ (or οἷς σύ, or with art. τῷ οἷς σύ, τῷ οἷος σύ; all for τοιοῦτόν οἷος σὺ εἶ) to gratify a man such as thou art; — βλάπτειν ὅτιν' οὐδ' ἀνθρώπων (for τινὰ ὅστις οὐδ' ἐστὶ any one whoever he is) to injure any person whatsoever; — περὶ Πολυγνώτου ἢ ἑλλου ὅτου βούλει (for τινὸς ὃν βούλει) concerning Polygnotus or any other whom you please; — a peculiar incorporation, in ὅσοι μῆνες (as many times as there are months) monthly, ὅσαι ἡμέραι (also ὁσημέραι) daily.

558. INVERSE ATTRACTION. The antecedent sometimes takes the case of the relative.

So, with incorporation, 553 b; but sometimes without: τὴν οὐσίαν ἣν κατέλειπεν οὐ πλείονος ἀξία ἦν (for ἡ οὐσία) the property which he left was of no more value; οὐδενὶ ὅτε οὐκ ἀποκρίνεται (for οὐδεὶς ἔστιν ὅτε) there is no one whom he does not answer he answers every one. — a. A somewhat similar idiom is seen in θαυμαστὴν ὄσῃν περὶ σὲ προθυμίαν ἔχει (for θαυμαστὸν ἔστιν ὄσῃν) it is wonderful how much (565 a) devotion he has for you, ὑπερφυῶς ὡς χαίρω (for ὑπερφυῆς ἔστιν ὡς) it is prodigious, the way in which I am prodigiously pleased.

OTHER PECULIARITIES. [Compare 521-4.]

559. The same relative may depend at once on two different verbs, which in their regular use require different cases.

Thus — a. in the same sentence: τείχος δ' τειχισάμενοι δικαστηρίῳ ἐχρῶντο (prop. ᾧ ἐχρῶντο) a fortress which having fortified they used as a place of judgment. — b. in two different sentences: Ἀριαῖος, ὃν ἠθέλομεν βασιλέα καθιστάναι, καὶ ἐδώκαμεν καὶ ἐλάβομεν πιστά (prop. ᾧ ἐδώκαμεν, ἀφ' οὗ ἐλάβομεν) Arigeus, whom we wished to make king, and (to whom) we gave, and (from whom) we received pledges. — c. In case b., the Greek rarely repeats the relative, but often uses a personal pronoun (commonly αὐτός) instead: οἱς οὐκ ἐχαρίζονθ' οἱ λέγοντες, οὐδ' ἐφίλουν αὐτοὺς whom the speakers did not try to please (476 c), and were not caressing them.

560. A verb which belongs to both sentences, antecedent and relative, is often omitted in one of them (358 c).

Thus ὃν οἱ πολλοί (sc. ἐκαινούσι), ἐκαινῶ καὶ ἐγὼ whom the many (praise), I also praise; — espec. after relative adverbs: ὡς ἐμοῦ ἰδόντος ὅπῃ ἂν ὑμεῖς (sc. ἵητε) as if I were going wherever you (may go). — a. So, a preposition, which belongs both to an antecedent and a following relative, appears only with the first: οἱ μὲν ἐπ' ἐξουσίας ὀπόσης ἡβούλοντο ἐπραττον (for ἐφ' ὀπόσης) they were acting with as much license as they wished (to act with).

561. Designations, which belong rather to the antecedent, are sometimes transferred to the relative sentence: εἰς Ἀρμενίαν ἧς Ὀρόντας ἦρχε πολλῆς καὶ εὐδαίμονος into Armenia, of which Orontas was governor, an extensive and prosperous country, οὗτοι ἐπεὶ εὐθέως ἦσθοντο ἀπεχώρησαν (for εὐθέως, ἐπεὶ) these immediately, when they perceived it, withdrew, πειρασόμεθα παρεῖναι ὅταν τάχιστα διαπραξώμεθα (for τάχιστα ὅταν) we will try to be present (most quickly, when) as soon as we shall have accomplished, ἡγαγον ὀπόσους πλείστους ἐδυνάμην I have brought (the largest number which) as many as I could. — For relative words used to strengthen the superlative, see 455.

562. A relative sometimes has the force of THAT, IN THAT, SEEING THAT, with a personal or demonstrative word: θαυμαστὸν ποιεῖς ὃς ἡμῖν οὐδὲν δίδως you are acting strangely (who) in that you give us nothing, ἀπέκλαον τὴν ἐμῆν τύχην, οἷον ἀνδρὸς ἐστερημένος εἶπεν I bewailed my own fortune, seeing that I had been deprived of such a man, εὐδαίμων ἐφαίνετο ὡς (= ὅτι οὕτως) γενναῖος ἐτελεύτα he seemed to me fortunate in that he died so nobly. — a. The relatives ὅλος, ὅσος, and ὡς, used in EXCLAMATIONS, may be translated by interrogatives: ὅσα πράγματα ἔχεις (oh! the amount of trouble which you have) how much trouble you have, ὡς ἡδὺς εἰ (the way in which you are pleasant) how pleasant you are.

563. NEUTER RELATIVES with indeterminate antecedent have various FREE CONSTRUCTIONS: thus χάριν ἔχειν ὧν ἐσώθη (ὧν by attraction for αὐτοῦ, 393 c) to be grateful (for what =) for this, that he was saved. So, with prepositions, ἀνθ' ὧν in return for (this) that; ἐξ ὧν in consequence of (this) that; poet. οὐνεκα, ὀθοῦνεκα (= οὐ ἔνεκα, ὅτου ἔνεκα) on account of (this) that, because; ἐφ' ᾧ, ἐφ' ᾧτε on (this) condition that (531 b); — and with ideas of TIME or PLACE: ἐξ οὗ (from the time when) since, ἀφ' οὗ since, ἐν ᾧ while, ἐς ᾧ till, μέχρι (ἄχρι) οὗ un'til, also to where; ἐξ οὗ since; μέχρι ὅσου as far as where; in Hd. μέχρι οὗ (like μέχρι) takes a gen. — a. A sentence with neuter rel. is sometimes loosely prefixed (like an accus. of specif., or an appositive) to another sentence: ἃ δ' εἶπεν, ὥς ἐγὼ ἀεὶ μεταβάλλομαι, κατανοήσατε but as to what he said, that I am always changing, consider; ὃ ἄρτι ἔλεγον, ζητητέον ἐστὶ (what) as I just said, we must inquire. After a relative sentence, we sometimes find a superfluous ὅτι or γάρ: ὥς ἤκουσά τινος, ὅτι Κλέανδρος μέλλει ἔξειν as I heard from some one, (that) Cleander is about to come.

INTERROGATIVE SENTENCES.

564. A QUESTION is DIRECT when the speaker himself asks it: τί βούλεσθε what do you want? — INDIRECT (or dependent) when he only describes it as being asked: ἤρετο τί (or ὃ τι) βούλουτο he asked what they wanted. For modes used in questions, see 487, 488 c. 491, 501-4.

565. Of correlative words (143-4), the INTERROGATIVES are used for direct and indirect questions; the INDEFINITE RELATIVES, for indirect only.

These words are used for INCIDENTAL questions, — those which relate to an incident of the action, its SUBJECT, OBJECT, TIME, PLACE, or MANNER. Thus τίς λέγει who is speaking? τί (διὰ τί, πόσα, ποῖα, πότε, ποῦ, πῶς) λέγει what (on what account, how many things, what sort of things, when, where, how) does he speak? ἥρῳμην τίς (τί, ποῖα, πῶς, also ὅστις, ὃ τι, ὅποια, ὅπως) λέγει I asked who (what, what sort of things, how, he) spoke. — a. The SIMPLE relatives (ὅς, οἷος, etc.) are sometimes used for indirect questions: φράζει ὅστις ἐστὶ, καὶ δὲ ἃ φεύγει he makes known who he is and on what account he is fleeing.

b. The interrogative word may depend, not on the principal verb of the sentence, but on a participle or other dependent word: τί ἰδὼν (τίνος ἐπιστήμων) λέγεις having seen what (as acquainted with what) do you speak? τὸν ἐκ ποίας πόλεως στρατηγὸν προσδοκῶ ταῦτα πράξειν (the general from what sort of city do I expect) from what sort of city must the general be whom I expect to do this? So the interrog. may stand in a dependent sentence: ἵνα τί γένηται (that what may happen) to what end? cf. 358 b. — c. The interrog. may be a PREDICATE-WORD: τίς δ' οὗτος ἔρχεται (being who, does that one come) who is that coming? poet. τί τόδ' αὐδᾶς (thou speakest this being what) what is this which thou art speaking?

d. Two interrogative words are sometimes found in the same sentence: τίνα σε χρὴ καλεῖν ὥς τίνος ἐπιστήμονα τέχνης what must we call you, as being acquainted with what art? Hm. τίς πόθεν εἰς ἀνδρῶν who (and) from whom among men art thou?

566. Questions as to the EXISTENCE of an act or state are introduced by various particles.

These may be called ESSENTIAL questions. When DIRECT, — a. they are often expressed WITHOUT interrogative particles: Ἕλληνες ὄντες βαρἄρα οἱ βαροῖς δουλεύσομεν being Greeks shall we become slaves to barbarians? — where only the connection or meaning shows them to be questions. But commonly — b. they are INTRODUCED by ἄρα or ἦ (often with other particles, ἄρά γε, ἦ γάρ, ἦ που, etc.; Hm. ἦ ρα, never ἄρα). Instead of these, οὐ (or ἄρα οὐ) is used to show that an AFFIRMATIVE answer is expected; μή (or ἄρα μή, or μὴν for μὴ οὐν) to show that a NEGATIVE answer is expected. Thus ἄρα (ἦ) φοβεῖ are you afraid (ay or no)? οὐ (ἄρα οὐ) φοβεῖ are you not afraid (i. e. you are afraid, are you not)? μὴ (ἄρα μὴ, μὴν) φοβεῖ you are not afraid, are you? — For ἔλλο τι ἦ or ἔλλο τι, implying affirmation of what follows, see 358 b.

567. INDIRECT QUESTIONS of this kind are introduced by εἰ (also by ἄρα, and in Hm. ἦ or ἡέ): σκοπεῖτε εἰ δικαίως χρήσομαι τῷ λόγῳ observe whether I shall conduct the discourse rightly. The εἰ is properly conditional: “observe (so that) if I shall conduct aright (you may know it).” Even where the principal verb has no sense of “questioning,” an idea like to know, to learn by trial or inquiry (εἰσόμενος, πειρασόμενος, πεισόμενος) is sometimes implied before εἰ: Hm. λαβὲ γούνων αἰ κεν ἐθέλῃσιν ἀρῆξαι embrace his knees (that you may find) whether he will be pleased to aid.

568. DISJUNCTIVE QUESTIONS of this kind are introduced by πότερον . . ἦ: thus πότερον δέδρακεν ἦ οὐ; πότερον ἔκων ἦ ἐκῶν has he done it or (has he) not? unwillingly or willingly? If the questions are INDIRECT, we find also εἰ (εἴτε) . . ἦ, and εἴτε . . εἴτε. Hm. has likewise ἦ (ἡέ) . . ἦ (ἡέ), espec. for indirect disjunctive questions.

NEGATIVE SENTENCES.

569. Mere negation is expressed by οὐ; negation willed, aimed at, or assumed, by μή. The same difference appears also in their compounds. Hence

570. The SUBJUNCTIVE and IMPERATIVE have μή; the INDICATIVE and OPTATIVE, only when they express wish, purpose, or condition.

Observe that purpose and condition may be expressed by RELATIVE sentences (521-3). But — a. The subj. used (in Hm.) for the fut. indic. has οὐ (488 d). — b. The indic. in an indirect question after εἰ (567) sometimes takes μή: ἡρώτων εἰ μὴδὲν φροντίζει (for εἰ οὐδὲν) they asked him whether he had no concern. (For οὐ and μή as interrogative particles, see 566 b. For μή and μὴ οὐ in expressions of fearing, see 510.)

571. The INFINITIVE usually has μή; the PARTICIPLE, only when it expresses condition (540 e).

As to the infin., some exceptions are only apparent: ὑμᾶς ἀξιοῦσιν οὐ ξυμπαχεῖν ἀλλὰ ξυναδικεῖν they demand that you should be, not allies with them, but partners in wrong-doing (where οὐ belongs to ἀξιοῦσι). Yet — a. In ORATIO OBLIQUA, the infin. may have οὐ: δμολογῶ οὐ κατὰ τοῦτους ῥήτωρ εἶναι I confess that I am not an orator after their sort.

572. Words of negative meaning often take the infin. with μή, where μή is not to be translated into English; such are words of HINDRANCE, DENIAL, FORBIDDING, RENOUNCING, OMISSION, EXEMPTION, etc.: κωλύμεθα μη μαθεῖν we are hindered from learning (so as not to learn), ἡρνοῦντο μη πεπτωκέναι they denied that they had fallen (asserting that they had not fallen). To the infin. in this connection τὸ is often added (533 a): ἡμῶν ἐμποδῶν εἰσι τὸ μη ἤδη εἶναι ἐνταῦθα they are in the way of our being already there.

573. The infin. takes μη οὐ (instead of μή), if the word on which it depends has a negative: οὐχ ὄσιν σοὶ ἐστι μη οὐ βοηθεῖν δικαιοσύνην it is not right for you not to assist justice (but ὄσιν μη βοηθεῖν ἀδικίᾳ it is right not to assist injustice). So in the constructions of 572: οὐ καλυόμεθα μη οὐ μαθεῖν we are not hindered from learning, οὐκ ἡρνοῦντο μη οὐ πεπτωκέναι they did not deny that they had fallen, poet. μη παρῆς τὸ μη οὐ φράσαι do not forbear to make it known. The negative which requires μη οὐ, may be merely implied in a question.

574. The participle with preceding article may have conditional force (540 e), and therefore take μή: οἱ μη εἰδότες (= οἱ ἂν μη εἰδῶσι) all or any who may not know (if such there are). Even with nouns, there is a similar use of μή: τὸ μη ἀγαθόν (= ὃ ἂν μη ἀγαθὸν ᾖ) the not good, i. e. what-ever is not good, δ μη ἱατρός the non-physician, whoever is not a physician.

575. Μὴ for οὐ is sometimes found with dependent words, because the words on which they depend have μή, or would have it if negative: ὑπέσχετο εἰρήνην ποιήσειν μῆτε δμήρους δοῦς (μη on account of ποιήσειν, 571) he promised to make peace without either giving hostages, etc., ἐάν τι αἰσθρῶς σεαυτὸν μη εἰδὼτα (μη on acc. of ἐάν αἰσθρῶς, 570) if you perceive yourself to be ignorant of anything.

576. Οὐ for μη is seen in some phrases of frequent occurrence, such as οὐ φημι (to say no) to deny, οὐ πολλοὶ (not many) few, οὐχ ἥσσον (not less) more, etc.; these sometimes retain οὐ, when the foregoing rules require μή: ἐάν τε οὐ φῆτε ἐάν τε φῆτε whether you deny it or affirm it.

577. When a negative is followed by a compound negative of the same kind, the negation is repeated and strengthened.

In English only one negative can be used: οὐ μέντοι οὐδ' ἀπέκλινε yet he did not even turn aside, μήποτε ἀσεβὲς μὴδὲν μῆτε ποιήσῃτε μῆτε βουλευσῃτε never either do or plan anything impious. — a. When a negative is followed by a simple negative of the same kind, each has its separate force: οὐ δι' ἐνδεῖαν οὐκ ἐπέδωκας not on account of want (did you not give) did you fail to give; and the two often balance each other, making an AFFIRMATIVE: οὐδεὶς ἀδικῶν τλῆν οὐκ ἀποδώσει no one that does injustice will not pay the penalty, i. e. every one will pay.

578. NEGATIVE EXPRESSIONS which call for special notice are

a. οὐδέ (or μηδέ) orig. but not; more commonly and not, also not, (nor either, neither) — not even: it must not be confounded with οὔτε . . . οὔτε (or μήτε . . . μήτε) neither . . . nor.

b. οὐκέτι (μηκέτι) no longer, must not be confounded with οὕτως (μήπως) not yet; nor these with οὕτως (μήπως) in no manner.

c. οὐδέν (μηδέν) or οὔτι (μήτι) nothing, often as emphatic negatives not at all (397 a).

d. οὐχ ὅτι (μη ὅτι) — probably for οὐ λέγω (μη λέγε) ὅτι do not say that, as if it were all — and hence not only; followed by ἀλλὰ καὶ but also, or ἀλλ' οὐδέ but neither. Similarly used is οὐχ ὅπως (μη ὅπως).

e. μόνον οὐ only not, and hence all but, almost; also δοῖον οὐ almost (in reference to time).

f. οὐ μὴν ἀλλὰ, οὐ μέντοι ἀλλὰ, orig. not (so) however, but — and hence, nevertheless, notwithstanding.

PARTICLES.

579. A particle is said to be PRAEPOSITIVE, when it is always put first in its own sentence; POSTPOSITIVE, when it is always put after one or more words of the sentence. Postpositive are all enclitics (65 d. 635), as γέ, πέρ, τοί, τέ, νύν (and Epic δήν, ῥά, νύ, κέ); also γούν, δή, μὴν, μέν, δέ, αὖ, μέντοι, ἄρα, οὖν, τοίνυν, γάρ, ἔν.

For INTERROGATIVE PARTICLES, see 566–8. For NEGATIVE PARTICLES, see 569–78.

580. INTENSIVE PARTICLES add emphasis to particular words, or give additional force to the whole sentence.

a. γέ even, at least, adds emphasis to the preceding word (especially to pronouns), but follows an article or preposition if any such belongs to the emphatic word.

b. γούν at least, contracted from γέ οὖν, and stronger than γέ.

c. πέρ very, just, even, frequent in Hm.; in Attic, used to strengthen relatives (145), and in εἴπερ (ἐάνπερ) even if, καίπερ though.

d. δή now, indeed, in particular, adds emphasis to the preceding word, especially to imperatives and superlatives; it gives definiteness to demonstratives, relatives, and other pronouns and particles. Often it refers to something BEFORE spoken or thought of, and sometimes has the sense of ἤδη already. The poetic δή γάρ and δή τότε may stand first in the sentence (cf. 579).

e. δήπου (δή που) probably, methinks, often with a shade of irony.

f. δήτα (a stronger δή) surely, in truth, nearly confined to Attic.

g. ἤθεν truly, forsooth, mostly of a seeming or pretended truth.

h. δαί (from δή) only Attic; in τί δαί, πῶς δαί, what now, how now.

i. δήν Epic, has nearly the sense of δήπου (rare in Hm.).

j. ῆ really, truly (not to be confounded with ῆ interrog. 566 b, and ῆ or, than, 584); ῆ μὴν (Hm. ῆ μέν) is used espec. in oaths.

k. τοί surely, doubtless, you know; οὔτοι surely not.

l. ῆτοι (from ῆ and τοί) verily, only Epic. Cf. 584.

m. μὴν (Hm. μὴν, μέν, μάν) in truth, cf. 585 e; even the Attic has μὲν in μὲν οὖν, μὲν δή.

581. The CONJUNCTIONS are particles used to connect one sentence with another.

The copulative, disjunctive, adversative, and inferential conjunctions (also the causal γάρ) connect co-ordinate sentences. The other conjunctions stand with subordinate sentences, and connect them with the principal sentences on which they depend. A sentence introduced by a relative (or indefinite relative) is always subordinate; and all indeclinable relatives are reckoned as conjunctions.

582. Occasionally a sentence appears without a conjunction, or other expression, to mark it as connected with what goes before. This form of construction is called ASYNDETON (i. e. unconnected): it is most common in explanatory sentences (which only bring out what is signified in the preceding sentence). Sometimes it is preferred as a livelier and more striking mode of expression.

583. COPULATIVE CONJUNCTIONS are καί and τέ, and.

The poets use also ἡδέ or (only Epic) ἰδέ and. — a. For BOTH . . AND, we have καί . . καί, or τέ . . καί, or τέ . . τέ, (and Hm. ἡμὲν . . ἡδέ as well . . as also.) — b. In the Epic, τέ is often attached to other particles, as καί, μέν, δέ, γάρ, ἀλλὰ, and to relatives (ὅστε, οἷστε, etc.), where it cannot be translated. The words ὅστε, οἷστε, which arose in this way, are common to all writers. — c. Καί often means ALSO and EVEN; so in καί δέ, where δέ means but or and; — ἀλλὰ καί but also (578 d); καί δὴ καί and in particular also; ὁμοίως καί in like manner as; ἕλλως τε καί (both in other relations and) especially. — d. NEGATIVE SENTENCES are coupled by οὔτε (μήτε) and οὐδέ (μηδέ), for which see 578 a.

584. DISJUNCTIVE CONJUNCTIONS are ἢ and εἴτε.

ἢ or, than, must not be confounded with ἦ (566 b. 580 j). For EITHER . . OR, we have ἢ . . ἢ, and (with emphasis on the first member) ἦτοι . . ἦ. For WHETHER . . OR (in alternative supposition), εἴτε . . εἴτε; sometimes the first εἴτε is omitted, or ἢ is used for the second. With the subj., εἴτε becomes εἴντε (ἦντε, ἔντε). For εἴτε interrog., see 568.

585. ADVERSATIVE CONJUNCTIONS are δέ and ἀλλὰ.

a. δέ but, marks a SLIGHT contrast with what precedes, and often (espec. in Hm.) is best translated by and. — aa. CONTRASTED members are commonly introduced by μέν . . δέ indeed . . but, on the one hand . . on the other; cf. 375 a. Μέν is in many cases hardly to be translated. The contrast to it may be introduced by other particles than δέ (as ἀλλὰ, ἀτάρ, etc.), or expressed in other ways, or even omitted altogether. — ab. After a subordinate sentence, conditional or relative, the principal sentence is sometimes introduced by δέ; this is rare in Att., but frequent in Hm.: ἔως (properly ὅς) δ ταῦθ' ὤρμαινε, ἦλθε δ' Ἀθήνη while he was revolving these things, then came Athena.

b. ἀλλὰ but, yet, marks a STRONGER contrast than δέ. — ba. ἀλλ' ἢ (seldom ἀλλὰ), after negative expressions, may mean other than, except. — For οὐ μὴν ἀλλὰ, see 578 f.

c. αὖ (Hm. also αἶτε) again, on the other hand, on the contrary.

d. ἀτάρ (Hm. also αὐτάρ) but, however.

e. μὴν (Hm. also μέν, μάν) yet, however; cf. 580 m.

f. μέντοι (from μέν = μὴν and τοί) yet, however.

g. καίτοι (not in Hm.; from καί and τοί) and yet, though.

586. INFERENTIAL CONJUNCTIONS are ἄρα and οὖν.

a. ἄρα (Hm. ἄρα, ἔρ, ῥά) a weak accordingly, therefore, marks that which follows naturally from preceding circumstances or a previous course of thought. It may often be translated by so, then, of course. For ἄρα interrog., see 566 b.

b. οὖν (Hd. ὄν) therefore, consequently, stronger than ἄρα; hence — ba. οὐκ οὖν not therefore: in questions, generally written οὐκοῦν, — while οὐκοῦν, without question, has no negative force, but means therefore.

c. νύν (Hm. νύν, νύ), a weakened form of οὖν, like English now, used for then, therefore. It is sometimes written νῦν.

- d. τοίνυν (from τοί and νύν) therefore, then.
 e. τοιγαροῦν, τοιγάρτοι (poet. τοίγαρ) then, therefore.
 f. ὥστε so that, denotes result; cf. 531 b.

587. DECLARATIVE CONJUNCTIONS are ὅτι and ὥς, that. (Cf. 501.)

ὅτι (Hm. also ὅ) means both that and because. ὅτι μή, after a negative sentence, means except. For ὥς, see 592 a.

588. CAUSAL CONJUNCTIONS are ὅτι because, γάρ for.

a. γάρ introduces the reason for a preceding thought, but sometimes for a following one, and often, for a thought which is not expressed, but only IMPLIED in the connection, espec. when καὶ γάρ, ἀλλὰ γάρ, ἀλλ' οὐ γάρ, and οὐ γάρ ἀλλὰ, are used.

b. ὅτε and ἐπεὶ since, cf. 593 a, d.

c. διότι and poet. οὖνεκα, ὁθόνεκα (563) because; — rarely declar.

589. FINAL CONJUNCTIONS are ἵνα, ὥς, ὅπως, and μή (507).

590. CONDITIONAL CONJUNCTIONS are εἰ, ἐάν, ἰφ.

Ἐάν (for εἰ ἂν) is contracted to ἦν or ἄν (ā), and is used with the subj. For uses of εἰ, see 511. 501. 489 b. 490. Εἰ μή (if not, unless) sometimes means except; εἰ μή εἰ except if; ἐπερ if indeed, as true as. — a. For the contingent ἂν (ā), see 516. 491. 515. 514. 523. 479. 483 b. 488 d. 519. Hm. has also κέ (κέν, 629) with the same uses.

591. CONCESSIVE CONJUNCTIONS are εἰ καὶ and καὶ εἰ.

They signify if even, even if, although, and mark a condition as something which may be conceded without impairing the conclusion. With the subjunctive, they become ἐάν καί, καὶ ἐάν, κἂν. The conclusion is often introduced by the adversative δμως nevertheless, notwithstanding. For καίπερ with the participle, see 540 f.

592. COMPARATIVE CONJUNCTIONS are relative adverbs of manner.

Thus — a. ὥς as: ὥς βούλει as thou wilt. It often signifies as being (espec. in appearance, supposition, or profession). With words of number and measure, it may mean ABOUT: ὥς δέκα about ten. For its use with the superl., see 455; in wishing, see 489 b; in exclam., see 562 a. It has also a TEMPORAL use (as, as soon as, when); a CAUSAL (inasmuch as, seeing that), espec. with the part. (540 c); a CONSECUTIVE (so that), espec. with the infin. (531); a DECLARATIVE (587); and a FINAL (507).

b. ὥςπερ (145) even as, just as, a stronger ὥς, but only used as a comparative conjunction.

c. ὅπως (indef. rel., 144) as, that; cf. 507. 565.

d. ὥστε (in Hm. compar., as), in Att. consecutive, so that (531 b).

e. ἄτε as, chiefly with the part. (540 c) in causal use; so also οἶα.

f. ἥ, ὅπη, as, cf. 594 d.

g. ἥτε Epic, as, like as.

593. TEMPORAL CONJUNCTIONS are mostly relative adverbs of time (cf. 523).

a. ὅτε, ὁπότε, when; in Hm. also εὖτε. Sometimes causal, 588.

b. ἣνικα, ὁπνικα, at which time, when, more precise than ὅτε.

c. ἥμος Epic, when, only with the indic.

- d. ἐπει after, when; strengthened ἐπειδή. Often causal, 588.
 e. ἔστε, ἕως, until, as long as. So in Hm. ὅσσα (507), and εἰς ὃ κε or μέχρι, ἕχρι, until; cf. 427 b. [εἰς ὅτε κε.]
 g. πρὶν before (that), ere, see 531 c. The sense sooner, earlier (not relative) is common in Hm.; in Att., only after the article.

594. LOCAL CONJUNCTIONS are relative adverbs of place.

Often too they denote time, or situation (state, condition, circumstances). — a. οὐ, ὅπου, where. — b. ὅθεν, ἀπόθεν, whence. — c. οὐ, ὅποι, whither. — d. ἧ, ὅπῃ, which way, where; also compar., as. — e. ἐνθα where, ἐνθεν whence, (also used as demonst., there, thence,) more precise than οὐ, ὅθεν. — f. ἵνα where; usu. final, that (507). — g. The conjunction may refer to a state of rest or motion which follows (or precedes) that of its verb (cf. 448 b): ἐκ τῆς πόλεως οὐ κατέφυγε from the city where he fled (where he was, after fleeing thither).

FIGURES OF SYNTAX.

595. a. ELLIPSIS is the omission of words which are requisite to a full logical expression of the thought. It is called (b.) BRACHYLOGY, when a word that should be repeated is used only once; (c.) ZEUGMA, when two subjects or objects are made to depend on a verb which is appropriate to but one of them; (d.) APOSIOPESIS, when a sentence is broken off abruptly and left incomplete. (e.) PLEONASM is the use of words which are not required for the full logical expression of the thought; for an example, see 461 c. The last two (d. and e.) are figures of rhetoric rather than of syntax. An instance of zeugma is Hd. ἑσθῆτα φορέουσι τῇ Σκυθικῇ ὁμοίην, γλῶσσαν δὲ ἰδίην they wear a dress similar to the Scythian, but (have, ἔχουσι) a peculiar language. For many instances of ellipsis and brachylogy, see 355–60. 520. 559–60.

f. HYPERBATON is a marked departure from the usual and natural order of words: ὃ πρὸς σὲ γονάτων by thy knees (I entreat) thee. — g. ANACOLUTHON (inconsistency) arises when the speaker, having begun a sentence with one form of construction, continues it as if he had used a different one: μετὰ ταῦτα ἡ ἔξνοδος ἦν, οἱ Ἀργεῖοι μὲν ὀργῇ χωροῦντες after this came the meeting, the Argives advancing with passion (Ἀργεῖοι instead of Ἀργείων, as if ἑντῆλθεν they came together had been used).

APPENDIX.—A. DIALECTS.

NOTE. The dialects chiefly regarded here are those of Homer and Herodotus — the Old and New Ionic (see 2 a, b). For ABBREVIATIONS, see page 2. Words marked as Ionic belong to Homer and Herodotus both, unless referred by an added Hm. or Hd. to only one of them.

601. A diphthong ων is found in Hd. in the reflexive pronouns (679), cf. 625 a; also in θαῦμα (att. θαῦμα) wonder and words derived from it; but some editors write θῶμα etc.

602. A smooth breathing is sometimes found in other dialects where the Attic has the rough: ἄμαξα Hm. (att. ἔμαξα) wagon, ἥλιος Hm. (att. ἥλιος) sun, ὄρος Hd. (att. ὄρος) boundary (607), ἱρήξ ion. (att. ἱέραξ) hawk (614 a). — a. So, too, a SMOOTH MUTE, where the Attic has the rough: ion. αἶψις again, οὐκί not, (att. αἶψις, οὐχί.) In Hd. ἐνθαῦτα there, κιθών tunic (att. ἐνταῦθα, χιτών) there is a TRANSFER of aspiration.

603. The Digamma (13) is unknown to the New Ionic, as it is to the Attic. But in the Old Ionic of Homer, though it is not written in the text, there is reason to believe that it was pronounced in many words. (For its effects in Hm., see 624 d. 632 a, c.) Thus it was heard, more or less constantly, at the beginning of: ἄγνυμι to break, ἄλις in numbers, ἀλίσκομαι to be taken, ἄναξ lord (ἀνάσσω to be lord), ἀνδάνω to please, ἄραιός slender, ἄστυ city, ἔαρ (ver) spring, ἔδνον bride-gift, ἔθνος people, εἰκοσι (dor. ἑκατι, Lat. viginti), εἰκω to yield, εἰλω to press, ἐκνός father-in-law, ἐκόν willing (ἐκῆτι by will of), ἐλπομαι to hope, the pronoun-stem ἐ (ἐὼ sui), ἔπος word (εἶπον said), ἔργον work (ἐρδω to do), ἐργω to shut in or out, ἐρῶ to go to harm, ἐρύω to draw, ἑσθής dress (εἶμα f. ἑσ-μα, Lat. vestis), ἑσπερος (vesper) evening, ἑτης clansman, ἡδύς pleasant, ἰάχω to cry, root ιδ (ιδεῖν videre, οἶδα know), root ικ (ἴκελος, εἰκελος, like, ἔοικα am like, seem), ἴλιος Troy, ἴσος equal, οἶκος house, οἶνος (vinum) wine, ὄς, ῆ, δν suus, -a, -um.

a. In a few words ε was at times prefixed to the initial digamma: thus ἐέ him, ἐλκοσι twenty, ἔση fem. of ἴσος equal.

604. Different Vowels from those seen in Attic prose are often found in other dialects. Thus

605. The Ionic (Old and New) has η for Attic α: ion. νεηνίης (att. νεᾷ-νίας) young man, δώρηξ (att. δώραξ) breastplate; also in diphthongs, γενεῇ (att. γενεᾷ) to race, νηὺς (att. ναῦς) ship. — But not so, when α is the result of a contraction (18–28) or of an omitted ν (30): ion. and att. τίμα (for τίμα-ε) honor thou, νικά (f. νικά-ει) he is victor, μέλας (f. μελαν-ς) black. — a. Conversely, Hd. in a few instances has α for η: μεσαμβρίη (att. μεσημβρία) mid-day, south.

606. The Doric, on the other hand, has α for Attic η: dor. δᾶμος (att. δήμος) people, μήτηρ (att. μήτηρ, Lat. māter) mother, Ἀθᾶνᾶ or Ἀθᾶναίᾶ (att. Ἀθηνᾶ, Hm. Ἀθῆνη or Ἀθηναίη) the goddess Athēna; so νικά (att. νίκη) to victory. — But not so, when η is a lengthened ε (15): dor. and att. τίθημι (stem θε) to put, λιμήν (gen. λιμέν-ος, 88) harbor. — a. The Attic dramatists in lyric passages use the Doric α for η (1 a).

607. The Ionic often has ει, ου, for Attic ε, ο: ξείνος (att. ξένος) stranger, guest, εἵρεκα (so Hm. and later Attic, Hd. εἵρεκεν, for εἵρεκα) on account of, νοῦσος (att. νόσος) disease, οὐνομα (att. ὄνομα) name, Hm. ὑπεῖρ = ὑπέρ over. — Hm. sometimes has oi, ai, for o, ā: πνοή (att. πνοή) poetic breath, αἰεῖ (also in Hd.) and αἰέν for att. αἰ αἰways, παραί = παρά by, ὑπαί = ὑπό under.

608. The Ionic has ηῖ for Attic ει in words in εἶον, εἶος: μαντήιον (att. μαντεῖον) oracle, βασιλῆϊος (att. βασιλείος) royal. — Hd. has ητη for εἰά: βασιλητη (att. βασιλεία) kingdom.

609. Hd. often has ε for Attic α, η, ει, esp. before vowels: ἔρσην (att. ἄρσην) male, μνέ-α (for μνα-α, att. μνά) mina, μέμνεο (for μεμνη-ο, att. μέμνησο) remember, ἔσσων (att. ἥσσων) inferior, μέζων (att. μείζων) greater, ἐπιτήδεος (att. ἐπιτήδειος) convenient.

610. The Doric sometimes has ω for Attic ου: dor. Μῶσα (att. Μοῦσα, Aeolic Μοῖσα) Muse. So ὦν (used also by Hd.) for att. οὖν therefore.

611. An interchange of ευ and ου (similar to that of ει and οι, 14 a) is seen in Hm. εἰλήλουθα (stem ελῦθ, lengthened to ελευθ, 213) for att. ἐλήλυθα have come (613). Cf. att. σπουδή haste derived from σπεύδ-ω to hasten.

For interchange of αο, αω, with εω, see 638. 641.

612. The lengthened form of ᾱ is in the Doric always ᾱ (cf. 606): τιμᾶω (att. τιμήσω) fut. of τιμά-ω to honor. In the Ionic (Old and New) it is η, even after ε, ι, and ρ (cf. 605): γενεή (att. γενεά) race, ἱητρός (att. ἰατρός) physician, περήσομαι (att. πειράσομαι) shall try.

613. Hm. lengthens a short vowel in many words which would otherwise be excluded from his verse, or could only come in by crasis (39) or elision (40). This occurs chiefly under the rhythmic accent (in arsis, 745), and most frequently in the first syllable of a word. Thus, where otherwise three short syllables would stand in succession: ἡγορέη (for ἄγορη) manliness from ἄνθρωπ man, εἰαρινός vernal fr. ἔαρ spring, οὐλόμενος (for ὀλόμενος) fatal, οὖρεος, οὖρεα (also ὕρεος, ὕρεα) fr. ὄρος (Hd. ὄδρος) mountain, ὕψιπέτρελος high-leaved fr. πέταλον leaf, τιθήμενος (for τιθέμενος) pulling, δυσάων (for δυσάειω) fr. δυσάης ill-blowing. Also, where one short syllable would stand between two long ones: ἡγνοίησε (for ἡγνόησε) knew not: — or two long syllables between two short ones: εἰλήλουθα (for εληλουθα, att. ἐλήλυθα) have come.

As to contraction of vowels (17-)

614. The Ionic (Old and New) has UNCONTRACTED forms in very many cases where the Attic contracts: νόος (att. νοῦς) mind, τείχεα (att. τεῖχη) walls, φιλέη (att. φιλή) may love, ἀέκων (att. ἄκων) unwilling, ἀοιδή (att. φῖδη) song. — a. In a few words, however, the Ionic contracts where the Attic does not: ion. ἱρός (also ἱερός as in att.) sacred, βῶσομαι (att. βοήσομαι) shall cry.

615. The Ionic (especially the New Ionic) contracts εο, εου into ευ (instead of ου): (ποιέ-ομεν) ποιεῦμεν (att. ποιοῦμεν) we do, (ποιέ-ουσι) ποιεῖσι (att. ποιοῦσι) they do. This contraction is also found in the Doric.

616. Other Doric contractions are — αε or αη to η; αει or αη to η; αο or αω to ᾱ.

617. Synizēsis. In poetry it is often apparent, from the measure of the verse, that two vowels which could not form a diphthong, were yet so far blended in pronouncing as to pass for one (long) syllable. Thus in Hm. βέα as one syll.; θυρών, χρυσέοις, πόλιας, ὄγδοον, as two syll. each; etc. The vowels thus united may belong to different words: Hm. ἐπεῖ οὐκ, δὴ αὐτε, μὴ ἀλλά, as two syll.; ἡ εἰσόκε, Soph. ἐγώ εἰμι, as three syll.

618. Syncope (24) is seen in Hm. τίπτε (for τίποτε) wherefore. And in some second aorists; see 721 c, d.

619. A consonant doubled is often seen in Hm., where in Attic it would be single, — espec. a SEMIVOWEL: ἐλλαβε (att. ἐλαβε) took, φιλομειδής fond of smiles, ἐβ-ννητος well-sprung, ὀπισσω backward; — less often a MUTE: ὄ-προς as, ὄ-τι that, ἐ-δδεις feared. — a. On the other hand, ρ is sometimes SINGLE in Hm., where in Attic it would be doubled (33): ἔ-ρεα δίδ, ὠκὺ-ροος swift-flowing. With Ἀχιλλεύς, Ὀδυσσεύς, he uses also Ἀχιλεὺς, Ὀδυσεὺς.

620. Consonant with Consonant in Hm. At the END OF A STEM, — a. κ, χ, τ, δ, θ may stand before μ (cf. 28 a): ἵκ-μενος favoring, ἀκ-αχμέος (defective perf. part.) sharpened, ἴδ-μεν ion. (att. ἴσμεν) we know, κε-κορυμμένος equipped. — b. σ may stand before σ (cf. 31 a): τείχεσ-σι to walls, ἐσ-σί (att. εἰ) thou art. — c. τ, δ, θ, before σ, may become σ (cf. 29): ποσ-σί (for ποδ-σι, att. ποσὶ) to feet.

621. In a few epic words, μ before λ or ρ is strengthened by an inserted β: μέ-μβλω-κα (stem μολ, μλο, 215) have come, ἔ-μβρο-τος (cf. Lat. mor-s) immortal. Initial μ falls away before the inserted β: βλώ-σκω to come, βρο-τός mortal.

622. Metathesis is frequent in Hm.: καρτερός (as in att.) and κρατερός powerful, ἔ-δρακ-ον (from δέρκ-ομαι, 211) saw, ἔρξαι and βέξαι to do.

623. An original τ is often retained in the Doric, where the Attic changes it to σ (35): δίδωτι (att. δίδωσι) gives, λύνοντι (att. λύουσι) they loose, τύ (att. σύ) thou.

624. Hiatus is frequent in Hm. Thus a final short vowel is allowed to make hiatus, — a. when it is a close vowel (ι, υ) and seldom or never elided: παιδὶ ὕπασσεν. — b. when it belongs to the first short syllable of the third foot: μήτηρ δ' ἀμφεποτάτο ὀδύρομένη φίλα τέκνα. — c. when it is followed by a pause in the sense: ἀλλ' ἄνα, εἰ μέμονας but up! if thou art eager. It must be observed, however, that

d. The hiatus is only apparent, if the second word began with digamma (603): κατὰ οἶκον (= κατὰ Φοῖκον). — For hiatus after a long vowel or diphthong, see 631.

625. Crisis is rare in Hm.; in Hd. it is not frequent. It is most used in Attic poetry. In cases where a short initial vowel is swallowed up by a final long vowel or diphthong, the two words are sometimes written thus: μὴ γῶ (for μὴ ἐγῶ), ποῦ 'στι (for ποῦ ἐστι). — a. In crisis of the article (39 c), Hm. has ὥριστος (for ὁ ἄριστος), οὗτός (f. ὁ αὐτός), with coronis in place of the rough breathing: Hd. has ὠνήρ (for ὁ ἀνήρ), τῶληθές (f. τὸ ἀλ.), ὠνθρωποι (for οἱ ἄνθ.; but τᾶληθός, τανθρώπου, for τοῦ ἀλ., τοῦ ἀνθ.), οὗτός, οὗτοί, τῶντοῦ (cf. 601, f. ὁ αὐτός, οἱ αὐτοί, τοῦ αὐτοῦ), οὔτερος, τοῦτερον (f. ὁ ἕτερος, τὸ ἕτερον).

626. Elision is less frequent in Hd. than in Attic prose. It is most used in poetry, even in Epic poetry, being applied not only to short vowels, but to the diphthongs αι and οι in the verb-endings μαι, σαι, ται, σθαι, and in the words μοί, τοί.

627. In Hd. a smooth mute, when brought before the rough breathing by elision or otherwise, remains unchanged (cf. 42): ἀπ' οὐ (att. ἀφ' οὐ), κατήμι (att. καθήμι), τοῦτερον (39 c), οὐκ οὕτως (44).

628. Apocope (only found in poetry) is the omission of a final short vowel before an initial consonant. Hm. has it in ἄρ, ἄν, κάτ, πάρ (for ἄρα, ἀνί, κατά, παρά, — rarely in ἀπ, ὕπ, for ἀπό, ὑπό), used as separate words or in composition. The ν of ἐν is subject to the rules in 30 : ἀμ πεδῖον (for ἀνὰ πεδῖον), ἀλ-λύω (f. ἀνα-λύω.) The τ of κάτ, before a single consonant, is assimilated ; before two consonants, it is dropped : κατ ῥόον, κάκ κορυφῇν, κατ γόνυ, καδ δέ, καδ-δύσαι, κατ φάλαρα (26 a), κατ-θανεῖν, κά-κτανε (for κατ[έ]κτανε, 687). Some of these forms are exceptions to 26 a. 46.

629. N movable is not used in Hd. He even drops the ν of some adverbs in θεν : πρόσθε before, ἐπισθε, ὑπιθε, behind, ὑπερθε above, ἐνερθε below. — Hm. has ν movable in ἐγώ(ν) and the plural datives (678) ἡμῖ(ν), ὑμῖ(ν), σφί(ν) : — in forms with the case-ending φι (or φιν, 639) : — in most adverbs of place in θεν, as ἀνευθε(ν) away from, without, παροιθε(ν) before (in place or time) : — in νόσφι(ν) apart, and the enclitic particles κέ(ν) = att. ἐν, and νύ(ν) now.

630. A movable s is found, though used with little reference to euphony, in the words : ἀμφὶ about, Hm. also ἀμφίς ; ἐντικρυς right opposite, Hm. only ἐντικρύ ; ἀτρέμα and ἀτρέμας quietly, mostly poetic ; ἄχρι, μέχρι, until, Hm. also ἄχρῖς, μέχρῖς ; εὐθύ (Hd. ἰθύ) straight towards, εὐθὺς (Hd. ἰθύς) straightway, but in Hm. only ἰθύς straight towards ; Hm. μεσ(σ)ηγῶ and μεσσηγύς between ; πολλάκις often, Hm. also πολλάκι.

631. Quantity in Hm. A long vowel or diphthong at the end of a word makes a short syllable, when the next word begins with a vowel : εἰ δὴ ὁμοῦ (—υ—), καὶ μοι ὁμοσσον (—υ—υ—). [A like shortening in the middle of a word is rare : οἶος (—υ—), βέβληαι οὐδ' (—υ—υ—).] — But the long vowel or diphthong remains long — a. when the rhythmic accent falls upon it (in arsis, 745) : ἐν μεγάλῳ ἄδύτω (—υ—υ—υ—υ—). — b. when the next word began with digamma : ἐκατὸν καὶ εἴκοσι (—υ—υ—υ—υ—). — c. when it is followed by a pause in the sense. — d. Even syllables short by nature are sometimes made long in arsis, or before a pause.

632. a. One of the consonants which make a syllable long by position may be the (unwritten) digamma : τοῖόν οἱ πῦρ = τοῖόν Φοι πῦρ (—υ—υ—). — b. In Hm. a syllable with short vowel before a mute and liquid, is usually long : τέκνον, τί κλάεις (—υ—υ—υ—). — c. Even before a simple liquid in the next word, a final short vowel often makes a long syllable : καλὴν τε μεγάλην τε (—υ—υ—υ—υ—υ—). So too before a digamma : ἀπὸ ξο = ἀπὸ Φέο (—υ—υ—υ—). So also before δ in the stem δει (737 g) and in δὴν long. In such cases the liquid or digamma was perhaps doubled in pronouncing : δει and δὴν seem to have begun with δF.

633. The quantity of a, i, u, varies in many words : they often become long under the rhythmic accent (in arsis, 745) when otherwise they would be short : ἴμεν or ῑμεν let us go, Ἄρες, Ἄρες, Βροτόλοιγε (—υ—υ—υ—υ—υ—).

634. Accent. All oxytone prepositions of two syllables (except ἀμφί, ἀντί, ἀνά, διὰ) suffer ANASTROPHE (63) in poetry, when placed (without elision) after their cases, as φίλων ἄπο (for ἀπὸ φίλων) ; and (in Hm.) when placed after verbs to which they belong in composition, as ὀλέσας ἄπο (for ἀπολέσας). But not so, if δέ is interposed : ἦλθε δ' ἐπὶ (for ἐπῆλθε δέ). — a. Anastrophe appears in ion. μέτα for μέτ-εστι, πάρα for πάρεστι, ἐνὶ for ἐνεστι : ἐνὶ is used even in Attic prose. Hm. has also πάρα, ἐνὶ, for πάρεισι, ἐνεῖσι ; ἐπὶ for ἐπεστι ; and ἐνα as interjection up! arise!

635. Enclitics never used in Attic prose are : the pronouns μῖν (Doric νῖν, σφί(ν)), σφέ, σφωῖέ, σφωῖν, σφέων, σφέας ; the verb-forms ἔσσι and εἰς art ; and the particles κέ(ν), δήν, ῥά (for ἄρα) ; — of which all but νῖν are found in Hm. — together with the dialectic forms of the enclitics named in 65.

636. FIRST DECLENSION. In all cases of the singular (75 a). — a. The Ionic has η for Attic ā (605): χώρα, χώρας, χώρα, χώρην, νηνίης, νηνίη, etc. Hm. (perhaps also Hd.) has η for ā in ἀληθείη truth, and similar abstracts in ειη, οη; Hm. has it in κνίσση fat-smoke, Σκύλλη Scylla. He retains ā in Θεά goddess and some proper names. — b. The Doric has ā for Attic η (606): τιμᾶ, τιμᾶς, τιμᾷ, τιμᾶν, πολίτᾶς, πολίτᾶ, etc.

637. In the nom. sing. masc. of some words, Hm. has τᾶ for της: ἵππота horseman, μητίετα (with accent thrown back) counsellor. Similarly εὐρύοπα far-sounding.

638. In the gen. sing. masc., Hm. has — a. ᾶο (77 cb) the original form: Ἀτρείδᾶο. — b. εω (14 b) the Ionic form, as one syll. (617): Ἀτρείδεω. — c. ω (18 c) used after vowels: Ἑρμείω (nom. Ἑρμείας, att. Ἑρμῆς). — d. The Doric has ᾶ (616): Ἀτρείδᾶ.

639. For the gen. dat. sing., Hm. has a termination η-φι (629): ἐξ εὐνῆφι out of bed, βίηφι (less correctly βίρηφι) with violence; irreg. ἐπ' ἐσχαρόφι (for εσχαρη-φι) on the hearth.

640. In the acc. sing. masc. of some words, Hd. (most editions) has εα for ην (cf. 108): δεσπότεα master.

641. In the gen. plur., Hm. has — a. ᾶων (76 b) the original form: πυλάων of gates. — b. ῶν (14 b) the Ionic form, usually one syll. in Hm.: πυλέων. — c. ων (18 c), mostly after vowels: παρειων of cheeks. — d. The Doric has ᾶν (616): δεᾶν of goddesses.

642. In the dat. plur., Hm. has — a. the Ionic ησι: πύλησι. — b. the shortened ης, esp. before vowels: πύλης. — c. rarely αις: δεαῖς. — d. The original form αισι (43) is frequent in Attic poetry.

643. SECOND DECLENSION. In the gen. sing., Hm. has — the common ου; and — the epic οιο, in which ο of the stem is combined with an early ending ιο: ἵπποιο of a horse.

644. For the gen. dat. (sing. and plur.), Hm. has a termination ο-φι (629): Ἰλίοφι of Troy, Δεδοφι with the gods.

645. In the gen. dat. dual, Hm. has οιν for οιν; ἵπποιιν.

646. In the dat. plur., Hm. has — the Ionic and poetic οισι: ἵπποισι; and — the shortened οις, espec. before vowels.

647. The declension with ω (82), outside of the Attic dialect, is nearly confined to proper names. Hm. has a gen. sing. in ω-ο (80 a): Πετεῶ-ο from Πετεῶ-ς. For νεῶς, λεῶς, κάλως, λαγῶς, Hm. has νηός, λαός, κάλος, λαγῶς; Hd. has νηός, λαός (ληός?), κάλος, λαγός. For Ἄθως, Κῶς, γάλως, Hm. has Ἀθῶς, Κῶς, γαλῶς. For ἔως morning both Hm. and Hd. have ἥως (666 p).

648. THIRD DECLENSION. In nom. sing., Hd. δδών for δδούς tooth.

649. In the gen. sing., ως (103 a. 104 b) is unknown to Hm. and Hd.

650. In the acc. sing. of proper names in ω (105), Hd. has οὖν: Ἰοὖν from ἰώ. — 651. From barytones in ις and υς with lingual stems (97 a), Hm. often has the acc. sing. in α: γλαυκῶπιδα (and γλαυκῶπιν) fr. γλαυκῶπις bright-eyed, κόρυθα and κόρυιν fr. κόρυς helmet.

652. In the voc. sing. of some proper names in ας (stem αντ), Hm. has ᾶ: Πουλυδέμᾶ (607) O Polydēmas.

653. In the gen. dat. dual, Hm. has οιν for οιν: ποδοῖν for ποδοῖν.

654. In the gen. dat. plur. (rarely sing.), Hm. has a case-ending φι (629): ἀπὸ ναῦ-φι from the ships, παρ' ὄχρεσφι (665 a) by the chariot, irreg. ὑπὸ κράτεσφι (666 u) under the head.

655. In the dat. plur., Hm. has σι and (epic) εσσι: πᾶσι (for πάντ-σι) and πάντ-εσσι to all; (rarely εσι: αἴ-εσι to goats.) The ε of εσσι is sometimes omitted after a vowel: νέκυ-σσι to corpses, πελέκε-σσι to axes. Stems in εσ show three forms of the dat. plur.: βελέ-εσσι (84), βέλεσ-σι and βέλε-σι (31 a. 620 b) from βέλος missile. For ποσ-σί (= ποδ-σι), see 620 c.

656. Contraction. Hm. sometimes contracts ε-ος to εως (rarely ους); α-ι, ε-ι, ι-ι, υ-ι, to α, ει, ι, υι; ω-ι, ω-α, to ω, ω; ε-ες to εις; ι-ας, υ-ας, to ις, υς. In the neut. plur. he contracts α-α to ᾶ. Hd. contracts ι-ι to ι; ι-ας, υ-ας, to ις, υς. Stems in οι (nom. ῶ) and in οσ (nom. ῶς) always contract in Hm. and Hd.

657. From syncopating stems in ερ, Hm. often has full forms in the gen. dat. sing., and syncopated forms in other cases: θυγατέρος, θυγατέρι, θυγάτρα, θυγάτρεις, θυγατρῶν, etc. From ἀνῆρ he has ἄνερρος, ἄνερεις, etc., as well as ἀνδρός, ἄνδρες, etc.

658. In the stems in εσ, Hm. sometimes lengthens the first ε: σπέιος = σπέος cave, gen. σπέιους; and sometimes contracts εε: dat. σπῆ-ι, pl. σπῆ-εσσι (also irreg. σπεσσί). Thus in compounds of κλέος fame (nom. pl. κλεῖα for κλεεα): ἀκλήεις (with ε lengthened, for ακλεεις), εὐκλείας, ἀγακλή-ος (with εε contracted, for ευκλεεας, αγακλεεος). So in Ἡρακλέης (101 d), gen. Ἡρακλήος, dat. Ἡρακλήϊ, acc. Ἡρακλήα, voc. Ἡράκλεις. In Hd. Περικλῆς, Περικλέος, Περικλέϊ, Περικλέα, Πέρικλες, with ε for εε.

659. In stems in ασ (except γῆρας old age), Hd. changes α before case-endings to ε (609): κέρας horn and τέρας prodigy he declines as stems in ασ: κέρεϊ, τέρεα. Similarly declined are Hm. οὔδας ground, floor, κῶας fleece, κτέρας possession, pl. funeral honors, and poet. βρέτας infant. From κρέας flesh, Hm. and Hd. have κρέα, κρεῶν (Hm. κρειῶν). For stem in οσ, see 666 p.

660. In stems in ι, Hm. changes ι to ε before ι and σι of the dative: πόλις, πόλιος, πόλει or πόλει, πόλι, plur. πόλιες, πολίων, πόλεισι or πολίεσσι, πόλιας (also πόλεις). Hd. (best editions) retains ι in all the cases: πόλις, πόλιος, πόλι, πόλι, plur. πόλιες, πολίων, πόλιςι, πόλις. For contractions, see 666. From πόλις itself Hm. has a peculiar form with η: πόλη-ος, -ι, -ες, -ας.

661. In stems in ευ, Hm. lengthens ε to η wherever υ falls away: βασιλεύς, βασιλεῦ, βασιλεῦσι, but βασιλῆος, ἡῖ, ἡα, ἡες, ἡων, ἡεσσι, ἡας. But in proper names he often retains ε: Πηλεῦς, Πηλῆος, ἡῖ, ἡα, or Πηλέος, εῖ; Τυδέα or Τυδῆ.

IRREGULAR DECLENSION is frequent in Hm. Thus

668. ADJECTIVES of the Vowel-Declension. In the fem. sing., ion. η for ᾱ, see 636 a. Hm. δία, fem. of διός (for διῖος) divine, with ᾱ. — For ἱεὺς propitious (117), Hm. ἱλᾶος (also in att. poets); for πλέως full, Hm. πλείος, πλείη, πλείον, Hd. πλέος, η, ον. Hm. has σῶς safe (only in this form), but for σῶος he has σόος, σότη, σόνον, comp. σαώτερος. With ζῶς, ἡ, όν, living, he has n. s. ζῶς, a. ζῶν.

669. Adjectives of the Consonant-Declension. Adj's in -εις, -εις (cf. 323) are sometimes contracted: Hm. τιμῆς fr. τιμῆεις honorable, λωτέοντα for λωτόεντα filled with lotus. — For feminine εἶα, εἶᾱς, etc., of adj's in ύς (119), Hd. has εἶᾱ, εἶης, εἶη, εἶᾱν, etc. (609). Hm. commonly has εἶᾱ, εἶης, etc., but ώκέα for ώκεῖα quick, βαθείης and βαθέης, βαθειᾶν and βαθέην deep. In ἑήλυσ female, ἡδύς pleasant, πολύς (for πολύς) much, many, he sometimes uses the masc. form as fem.: so, also, in adj's in εις. In the acc. sing. he has εὐρέα for εὐρύν wide.

670. Feminine Adjectives of unusual formation, found in Hm.: χαλκοβάρεια heavy with brass (masc. χαλκοβαρής), ἡριγένεια early-born (ἡριγενής not in Hm.); also (only plural) δαμειαί crowded, ταρφειαί frequent (masc. δαμέες, ταρφέες). Not formed from the stem of the masc. are: δοῦρις (δ) impetuous (m. δοῦρο-ς), πείρα fat, rich (m. πίων), πρέσβα and πρέσβειρα honored (m. πρέσβυ-ς, 112 w), πρόφρασσα (for προφραδια fr. φράζω) favorable (m. πρόφρων fr. φρήν). Adj's only used in the fem. are: πότνια (in voc. also πότνᾱ) revered, λάχεια (perhaps ἐλάχεια) small, εὐπατέρεια of noble father, δβριμοπάτρη of mighty father, αντιάνεira match for men, βωτιάνεira nourishing men, κυδιάνειρα making men glorious, πουλυβότειρα much-nourishing, λοχέαιρα arrow-showering, ἱπποδάσεια thick with horse-hair, καλιγύναικα a. s. rich in fair women; fem. δάλεια rich has a neut. pl. δάλεια.

671. Irregular Adjectives. For πολύς much, many, Hm. and Hd. have πολλός, ἡ, όν, reg. like ἀγαθός (also neut. πολλόν for πολύ as adverb). But Hm. has also the common forms πολύς, πολύ, πολύν, as well as πουλύς, πουλύ, πολύν (607): further, from stem πολυ he makes πολέος, πολέες, πολέων, πολέ(ε)σι or πολέσι, πολέας. — Hm. ἐρίηρο-ς trusty (only nom. and acc.) makes pl. ἐρίηρ-ες, -ας.

672. Comparison of Adjectives. The poets sometimes have ώτερος, ώτατος, after a long syllable: Hm. διζυρώτερος more wretched. — In Hm. ἴθυσ straight makes ἰθύντατα; φαινός shining, φαινότερος, but φάντατος (cf. 726); ἀχαρίς unpleasing, ἀχαρίστερος (for αχαριτ-τερος). — a. The force of τερος is nearly lost in δηλύτερος feminine, ἀγρότερος wild (living in the country), ὄρεστερος living in the mountains, θεώτερος belonging to the gods, δεξιτερός Lat. dexter, which differ little from δηλὺς, ἄγριος, ὄρειος, θεῖος, δεξιός.

673. Comparison by ἰων and *ιστος is more common in poetry than in prose: thus (the starred forms are not in Hm.) βαθύς deep, βαθίων*, βάθιστος; βραδύς slow, βράσσων (f. βραδίων*), βάρδιστος (f. βράδιστος*); βραχύς short, βράχιστος*; γλυκύς sweet, γλυκίων; plur. ἐλεγχέες infamous, ἐλέγχιστος; κυδρός glorious, κυδίων*, κύνιστος; μᾶκρός long, μάσσων, μήκιστος; οἰκτρὸς pitiable, οἰκτιστος; παχύς thick, πάσσων (f. παχίων*), πάχιστος; φίλος dear, φιλίων, φιλιστος*; ώκός quick, ώκιστος. The ι of ἰων is short in Epic and Doric poetry.

674. Irregular Comparison (130). Forms peculiar to the dialects: — a. ἀγαθός: Hm. comp. ἀρείων, λῶτων, λῶτερος; sup. κάρτιστος = κράτιστος; also φέρτερος, φέρτατος and φέριστος. Poet. (not in Hm.) βέλτερος, βέλτατος. Hd. has κρέσσω for κρείσσω (as μέζω for μείζω greater, 609). — b. κακός: Hm. has comp. κακώτερος; χερείων, χερειότερος, χειρότερος; also the defective d. s. χέρηϊ, a. s. χέρηα, n. p. χέρηες, neut. χέρηα or χέρεια. Hd. ἔσσω for ἥσσω (609); Hm. ἥκιστος. — c. ὀλίγος: Hm. ὀλίγων. — d. πολύς: Hm. πλέες, πλέας, for πλείους, as. Hd. contracts eo to eu in πλεῦν, πλεῦνες, etc. — e. ῥάδιος, Hm. ῥηΐδιος (also in Hd.); adv. ῥηΐδιως, often ρεῖα, ρέα: comp. and sup. ῥηΐτερος, ῥηΐτατος and ῥήσιςτος. — f. κερδαλέος gainful, artful (κέρδος gain): Hm. κερδίων, κέρδιστος. — g. κηδεῖος poet. dear (κῆδος care): Hm. κῆδιστος. — h. βιγυλός Hes. chilling (βίγος cold): Hm. βιγίων, βίγιστος, more, most dreadful. — i. ὕψηλος high (ὕψος height): poet. (not in Hm.) ὕψιων, ὕψιστος.

675. Defective Comparison. Hm. sometimes forms a comp. or sup. from a SUBSTANTIVE: βασιλεύτερος, τατός (fr. βασιλεὺς king), κουρότερος (fr. κούρος youth), κύντερος (fr. κύων dog). — Other defectives in Hm. are, ὀπλότερος younger, ὀπλότατος; ἀφάρτερος (ἄφαρ forthwith); — and several expressing PLACE: ὕπερτερος (ὑπέρ above), ὕπερτατος or ὕπατος; ἐνέρτερος (trag. νέρτερος, cf. ἐνέροι inferi, ἐνερ-θεν below); παρότερος (πάροι-θεν before); ὀπίστατος (ὀπισ-θεν behind); ἐπασσύτερος (ἔσσω nearer); μυχολότατος (ἐν μυχῷ in a recess); νέατος last in place (νέος new). — The ending seen in ὑπ-ατος, νέ-ατος, appears also in μέσστατος (μέσος middle, 619), and πύματος last. Hm. has ὕστατος = ὑστατος last, and in the same sense δεύτατος (δεύτερος second). — A strengthened sup. is Hm. πρώτιστος = πᾶμπρωτος first of all.

676. Adverbs from Adjectives. The formation seen in τάχα (132 c) appears in Hm. κάρτα mightily (fr. κρατύς), λίγα shrilly (λιγύς), σάφα clearly (σαφής), ὤκα quickly (ώκός). — For εὖ well before two consonants or a double cons., Hm. has εὖ: εὖ γνοίην, εὖζωνος; but not always before a mute and liquid: εὖπλεκτος or εὐπλεκτος. It comes from the defective adj. εὖς or ῥῥς, a. s. εὖν or ῥῥν, also g. s. ῥῥος, and g. p. ῥῥων neut.

677. Comparison of Adverbs. Hm. ἐκάς far, ἐκαστέρω, τάτω; τῆλε or τηλοῦ far off, τηλοτάτω; προ-τέρω further, but πρότερον (132 b) earlier; ἄγχι or ἀγχοῦ near, ἄσσω (for αγχιον, 36 a) also ἄσσοτέρω, ἄγχιστα (ἀγχο-τάτω Hd.).

678. PRONOUNS. Personal. Hm. has the following forms: those of the third person are often (459 b) reflexive. Forms not in () belong also to Hd.

S. N.	ἐγώ (ἐγών)	σύ (σύνη)
G.	ἐμέο, ἐμεῦ, μεῦ (ἐμείο, ἐμέθεν)	σέο, σεῦ (r. τεοῖο) (σεῖο, σέθεν)	(ἐό) εἶ (εἶο, ἐθεν)
D.	ἐμοί, μοί	σοί, τοί (τεῖν)	οἱ (ἐοῖ)
A.	ἐμέ, μέ	σέ	ἐ (ἐέ), μίν
Dual	(νῶι, νώ) (νῶιν)	(σφῶι, σφῶ) (σφῶιν, σφῶν)	(σφωέ) (σφωίν)
P. N.	ἡμεῖς (ἄμμες)	ὑμεῖς (ὑμμες)
G.	ἡμεῶν (ἡμειῶν)	ὑμεῶν (ὑμειῶν)	σφέων (σφεῖων)
D.	ἡμῖν (ἄμμι)	ὑμῖν (ὑμμι)	σφίσι, σφί
A.	ἡμέας (ἄμμε)	ὑμέας (ὑμμε)	σφέας (σφεῖας), σφέ

a. For enclitics, see 635; for ν movable, 629; for εἶ, ἐέ, 603 a. The forms σοί and τοί differ in use as ἐμοί and μοί (133 c). For μίν the Dor. and Trag. have νίν: both are used in all genders, and νίν is sometimes plural. Hm. has also ἡμᾶς and σφᾶς, each once. In Hd. σφέ is found as acc. sing. (so too in Trag.); σφίσι (not σφί) is reflexive; he has also n. p. σφεῖς and neut. σφέα: the forms ἡμέες, ὑμέες, σφέες are incorrect.

679. Reflexive. Hm. has only uncompounded forms even in the sing.: ἐμέ αὐτόν, οἱ αὐτῷ, not ἐμαυτόν, ἐαυτῷ. For αὐ, Hd. has αὐ (601) with ε always before it: ἐμεαυτοῦ, σεαυτόν, ἐαυτῇ, ἐαυτοῖσι, etc.

680. Possessive. Hm. has the Attic forms; but also ἐός = ὅς (sometimes used for reflexive my, thy), τεός (Doric) thy; ἄμός our, ὑμός your, σφός their; also νῶντερος, σφῶντερος, belonging to us (you) two.

681. Demonstrative. In Hm. the article is usually a demonstrative, and has the peculiar forms: g. s. τοῖο, g. d. d. τοῖν, n. p. τοί, ταί, g. fem. τᾶων, d. τοῖσι, τῇσι or τῆς. For τοῖςδε he has τοῖςδε(σ)σι. When used as demonstrative, δ, ἡ, οἱ, αἱ are by some written with an accent, δ, ἡ, οἱ, αἱ. — Hd. has d. p. τοῖσι, τῇσι; τοῖσιδε, τῇσιδε. — For ἐκεῖνος, the poets have κεῖνος, with corresponding adverbs of place κεῖθι (= ἐκεῖθι), κεῖθεν, κείσε.

682. Relative. Hm. has also δ for ὅς, δου for οὗ, ἕης for ἥς: the nom. sing. he sometimes uses as demonstrative. — Hd. has ὅς, ἡ, οἱ, αἱ; but for all other forms of the relative he uses the article τό, τοῦ, τῆς, etc., except after certain prepositions: παρ' ὧ, ἐξ οὗ. The use of the article (τ-forms) for the relative is often found in Hm., and sometimes even in Trag.

683. Interrogative and Indefinite. Ionic are g. s. τέο, τεῦ, d. τέφ, g. p. τέων, (d. τέοισι Hd.) from τίς and τίς; so δτεν, δτεφ, δτεων, δτέοισι, from δστις; also ἄσσα for ἅτινα (but Hm. ἄσσα for τινά). Peculiar to Hm. are n. s. ὅτις, a. s. δτινα (also n. p. neut.), a. p. δτινας; and forms with ττ (619), δ ττι, δττεο, δττεν. — a. Mostly comic is δείνα so and so, g. δείνος, d. δείνι, a. δείνα, n. p. δείνες, g. δέλων, a. δείνας: it is of all genders, and is sometimes indeclinable.

684. Correlative Pronouns and Adverbs. In Hm. τόσος, τοῖος, τηλίκος are in common use. He often has σσ (619) in pronouns of quantity, as τόσσος, ὅσσος (once δσσάτιος); and ππ in the indef. relatives, as ὅπποῖος, ὅππως. He uses πόθι = πού, ποθί = πού, ὀππόθι = ὅπου, ὅθι (for οὗ), τόθι there; ὅπου, ὀππόπου (for ποῖ, ὅποι); ἥμος, τῆμος, = ὅτε, τότε; ἥχι = ἥ, both only in local sense; and ὥς (common, rarely τῶς) = οὕτως. He often uses att. ἕως as long as, τέως so long (sometimes to be sounded ἥς, τῆς, 14 b), sometimes written εἰως, τείως; also, in the same sense, ὅφρα, τόφρα.

a. Hd. has κ for π : κόσος, κότερος, δκοῖος, κοῦ, κοτέ, ὅκως, etc. For ἐνθαῦτα, ἐνθεῦτεν, see 602 a.

685. NUMERALS. Hm. has — for 1, a peculiar fem. ἴα, ἰῆς, ἰῆ, ἴαν, with dat. masc. ἰψ: for 2, δύο and δύω, both indeclinable; also δοιοί, αἱ, ἡ, declined in dual and plural: 4, τέσσαρες and (rare) πίσυρες: 12, δώδεκα and δυώδεκα, δυσκαίδεκα: 20, εἴκοσι and λείκοσι: 30, τριήκοντα: 80, ὀγδώκοντα: 90, ἐνενήκοντα and ἐννήκοντα: 200, 300, 500, δικήκοσιοι, τριηκόσιοι, πεντηκόσιοι: 9,000, 10,000, ἐννεάχιλοι, δεκάχιλοι: μύριοι 10,000 is unknown to Hm. He has, for 3d, τρίτατος: 4th, τέττατος: 7th, ἑβδόματος: 8th, ὀγδόματος: 9th, ἐνάτος: 12th, δωδέκατος: 20th, ἑικοστός; together with the Attic form of each. Adverbs, δίχα and διχθᾶ, τρίχα and τριχθᾶ, τετραχθᾶ; also τριπλῆ, τετραπλῆ.

686. Hd. has — for 2, δύο, δυοῖν (?), with plur. δύων, δυοῖσι; also δύο indecl.: 4, τέσσερες (so 14, τεσσερεςκαίδεκα indecl., and 40, τεσσερεάκοντα); further, δωδέκα (δωδέκατος), τριήκοντα (τριηκοστός), ὀγδώκοντα, δικήκοσιοι (δικηκοῖσιοςτός), τριηκόσιοι; for ἐνάτος he has ἐνάτος, and so εἰνακόσιοι, εἰνακισχίλιοι. Add διζός, τριζός, for δισσός, τρισσός; διπλήσιος, τριπλήσιος, etc., for -πλάσιος.

687. VERB-ELEMENTS. In Hm., the Augment, both syllabic and temporal, is often OMITTED: λύε, ἔλαυνε, ἔχε, for ἔλυε, ἔλαυνε, εἶχε. So also in lyric poets, and the lyric parts of tragic poetry; but seldom, if ever, in the tragic dialogue. — In Hd. the temporal augment is often omitted; the syllabic, only in the pluperfect.

688. In Hm., initial λ is sometimes DOUBLED after the augment (619): ἐλλίσσεται (λίσσομαι to pray). Similarly, μ is doubled in ἐμμαθε learned, ν in ἐννεον were swimming, σ in the verbs σεύω to drive and σειώ to shake, and δ in the stem δει: ἐδδεῖσε feared. — η for ϵ , in βούλομαι etc. (198 a), is confined to Attic prose.

689. The pluperfect receives a temporal augment (contrary to 200) in Hm. ἡλήλατο = ἐλήλατο fr. ἐλαύνω (ελα) to drive, ἡρήρεστο fr. ἐρεῖδ-ω to prop, ὠρώρει = ὀρώρει fr. ὕρ-νυμι to rouse.

690. To verbs beginning with a vowel which have ϵ as augment, add Hm. εἶλω (ελ) to press, ἐρύω to draw. He has ἐφνοχόει fr. οἰνοχοέω to pour wine, ἡνδανον and ἐνδανον fr. ἀνδάνω to please. — In Hd., ἔγνυμι, ἔλκω, ἔπομαι, ἔχω, are augmented as in Attic; ἀνδάνω has ἡνδανον (ἐάνδανον?), 2 aor. ἔαδον: the rest usually (perhaps always) reject ϵ , and take either the temporal augment (so ἄλίσκομαι, ὀράω) or none at all (so ἀνοίγω, ἔαω, ἐργάζομαι, ὠθέω, ὠνέομαι).

691. The Reduplication is regularly retained in Hm.; yet we find δέχεται (for δεδέχεται, perf. 3 pl. of δέχομαι to receive); εἰμαι, ἔσται (orig. Feσμαι, Feσται, fr. ἐννυμι to clothe); ἐρχεται, ἐρχατο or ἐέρχατο (fr. ἐργω or ἐέργω to shew): — cf. perf. οἶδα in all dialects. In 2 pf. ἄνωγα, α is not made long. So in Hd. an initial vowel in some words remains short in the perfect.

692. Hm. has ρε-ρυπωμένος soiled (for ῥρυπ-); but on the other hand, ἔμμορε fr. μείρομαι to share, ἔσσυμαι fr. σεύω to drive (cf. 688). In δεῖ-δοικα δεῖ-δια, fear (737 g), δεῖ-δεγμαι greet (740 cz), the redupl. is irregularly lengthened. — After the Attic reduplication, Hm. sometimes retains the short vowel: ἀλ-άλημαι wander fr. ἀλάομαι. Hd. has irreg. ἀρ-αίρηκα fr. αἰρέω to take. — Like ἔοικα, ἐφκιν (208), are Hm. ἔολπα hope, ἐάλπειν, fr. ἔλπω to cause to hope; ἔοργα, ἐώργειν, fr. ἔρδω (εργ) to work, do. For εἴ-ωθα am wont, Hm. has also (Hd. only) ἔ-ωθα (orig. ε-σFωθα, 300 fn).

693. When the Stem is lengthened, α always becomes η in Ionic (605: yet not so in forms of $\acute{\epsilon}\alpha\omega$ to permit and stem $\pi\alpha$ to get); — in Doric it always becomes $\bar{\alpha}$.

694. Among the Changes of Stem, there is one chiefly epic, which forms verbs of the fifth class: — Certain stems, which in other forms show a final α , assume $\nu\alpha$ instead of it in the present. This is attended in most instances by a change of vowel and by inflection according to the μ -form. Thus $\sigma\kappa\iota\delta\text{-}\nu\eta\text{-}\mu\iota$ ($\sigma\kappa\epsilon\delta\alpha$) to scatter, att. $\sigma\kappa\epsilon\delta\acute{\alpha}\text{-}\nu\eta\text{-}\mu\iota$. — α . Some verbs of the fifth class are formed in $\alpha\iota\nu\omega$, $\epsilon\iota\nu\omega$ (for $\alpha\nu\text{-}\iota\text{-}\omega$, $\epsilon\nu\text{-}\iota\text{-}\omega$, 229): $\epsilon\rho\iota\delta\text{-}\alpha\iota\nu\omega$ to contend, $\acute{\alpha}\lambda\epsilon\text{-}\epsilon\iota\nu\omega$ to avoid; — and in $\alpha\nu\acute{\alpha}\text{-}\omega$: $\iota\sigma\chi\text{-}\alpha\nu\acute{\alpha}\text{-}\omega$ to hold.

695. Passive-Sign. For ϵ lengthened in the subjunctive, see 727.

696. Tense-Sign. In Hm., σ is often doubled after a short vowel: $\acute{\alpha}\nu\sigma\text{-}\sigma\omega$ for $\acute{\alpha}\nu\sigma\omega$ fut. of $\acute{\alpha}\nu\lambda\omega$ to achieve, $\epsilon\gamma\acute{\epsilon}\lambda\alpha\sigma\sigma\alpha$ for $\epsilon\gamma\acute{\epsilon}\lambda\alpha\sigma\alpha$ aor. of $\gamma\epsilon\lambda\acute{\alpha}\omega$ to laugh. — Some liquid verbs have σ as tense-sign: Hm. $\upsilon\rho\sigma\omega$, $\acute{\omega}\rho\sigma\alpha$ ($\delta\rho\text{-}\nu\mu\iota$ to rouse), $\acute{\epsilon}\kappa\upsilon\rho\sigma\alpha$ ($\kappa\upsilon\rho\omega$ to hit on), $\acute{\epsilon}\kappa\epsilon\rho\sigma\alpha$ ($\kappa\epsilon\iota\rho\omega$ to shear), $\acute{\epsilon}\kappa\epsilon\lambda\sigma\alpha$ landed; which are found also in Attic poetry. — Hm. $\acute{\omega}\phi\epsilon\lambda\lambda\alpha$ (aor. of $\acute{\delta}\phi\acute{\epsilon}\lambda\text{-}\lambda\omega$ to increase) is for $\acute{\omega}\phi\epsilon\lambda\text{-}\sigma\alpha$ by assimilation of σ .

697. Mode-Signs. In the subjunctive, Hm. often has σ , ϵ (instead of ω , η ; but the sing. and 3 plur. of the active voice — and of the aor. pass. — have only ω , η). This is frequent in the first aorist system: as $\delta\epsilon\iota\mu\sigma\mu\epsilon\nu$ for $\delta\epsilon\iota\mu\text{-}\omega\mu\epsilon\nu$ ($\delta\acute{\epsilon}\mu\omega$ to build), $\acute{\epsilon}\phi\acute{\alpha}\psi\epsilon\alpha\iota$ for ($\epsilon\phi\acute{\alpha}\psi\text{-}\eta\alpha\iota$) $\acute{\epsilon}\phi\acute{\alpha}\psi\eta$ ($\acute{\epsilon}\phi\acute{\alpha}\psi\tau\omicron\mu\alpha\iota$ to touch upon), — forms which are often liable to be confounded with the future indicative. It is frequent also in aorists of the μ -form (730) and in the 2 aor. pass. (727), with lengthening of the preceding vowel.

698. In Hm. ι of the opt. is sometimes absorbed by a preceding ν or ι (20): $\lambda\epsilon\lambda\upsilon\tau\omicron$ (i. e. $\lambda\epsilon\lambda\upsilon\text{-}\iota\tau\omicron$, att. $\lambda\epsilon\lambda\upsilon\mu\acute{\epsilon}\nu\alpha$ $\epsilon\iota\eta$), $\delta\alpha\iota\nu\delta\alpha\tau\omicron$ (i. e. $\delta\alpha\iota\nu\upsilon\text{-}\iota\text{-}\alpha\tau\omicron$, att. $\delta\alpha\iota\nu\acute{\omicron}\nu\iota\tau\omicron$) would feast, cf. 735 l.

699. Connecting Vowels. In the first aorist system, Hm. sometimes has σ , ϵ : $\acute{\iota}\xi\omicron\nu$ they came ($\acute{\iota}\kappa\omega$), $\acute{\epsilon}\beta\acute{\eta}\sigma\epsilon\tau\omicron$ went ($\beta\alpha\iota\nu\omega$), $\acute{\epsilon}\delta\upsilon\sigma\epsilon\tau\omicron$ went under ($\delta\upsilon\omega$); so in the impv. $\text{-}\beta\acute{\eta}\sigma\epsilon\sigma\epsilon$, $\delta\upsilon\sigma\epsilon\sigma\epsilon$, $\upsilon\rho\sigma\epsilon\sigma\epsilon$, $\upsilon\rho\sigma\epsilon\nu$ rise ($\delta\rho\nu\mu\iota$), $\acute{\alpha}\xi\epsilon\tau\epsilon$ lead ($\acute{\epsilon}\gamma\omega$), $\acute{\alpha}\lambda\epsilon\sigma\epsilon$ bring ($\phi\acute{\epsilon}\rho\omega$), $\lambda\acute{\epsilon}\xi\epsilon\sigma\epsilon$ lie.

700. In the pluperfect active, the Ionic has: 1 sing. $\epsilon\alpha$ (for $\epsilon\iota\text{-}\nu$, cf. 47 b); 2 sing. $\epsilon\alpha\text{-}\varsigma$ (for $\epsilon\iota\text{-}\varsigma$); 3 sing. $\epsilon\epsilon$ (for $\epsilon\iota$); 3 pl. only $\epsilon\text{-}\sigma\alpha\nu$. But (except in $\acute{\eta}\delta\epsilon\epsilon = \acute{\eta}\delta\eta$ knew) Hm. contracts $\epsilon\epsilon$ ($\epsilon\epsilon\nu$) of the 3 sing. to $\epsilon\iota$ or $\epsilon\iota\nu$. Thus $\pi\epsilon\pi\omicron\iota\theta\text{-}\epsilon\alpha$ I trusted, $\acute{\epsilon}\tau\epsilon\theta\acute{\eta}\eta\text{-}\epsilon\alpha\text{-}\varsigma$ thou wonderedst, $\acute{\epsilon}\sigma\tau\acute{\eta}\kappa\epsilon\iota(\nu)$ he stood. The older Attic η in the plup. (255 a) is a contraction of $\epsilon\alpha$, $\epsilon\epsilon$.

701. For $\acute{\epsilon}\nu$ in the 2 aor. inf. act. Hm. often has $\acute{\epsilon}\epsilon\iota\text{-}\nu$: $\acute{\iota}\delta\text{-}\acute{\epsilon}\epsilon\iota\text{-}\nu$ to see.

702. Endings of the Indicative. The Doric has the earlier forms, $\tau\iota$ for $\sigma\iota$, $\nu\tau\iota$ for (ν) $\sigma\iota$, $\mu\epsilon\varsigma$ for $\mu\epsilon\nu$, — $\tau\acute{\alpha}\nu$ for $\tau\eta\nu$, $\sigma\theta\acute{\alpha}\nu$ for $\sigma\theta\eta\nu$, $\mu\acute{\alpha}\nu$ for $\mu\eta\nu$ (606). Thus $\tau\iota\theta\eta\tau\iota$, $\lambda\upsilon\omicron\nu\tau\iota$, $\lambda\upsilon\sigma\omega\nu\tau\iota$, $\lambda\epsilon\lambda\upsilon\kappa\alpha\nu\tau\iota$, $\lambda\upsilon\sigma\omicron\mu\epsilon\varsigma$, $\acute{\epsilon}\lambda\upsilon\delta\acute{\omicron}\mu\acute{\alpha}\nu$, $\acute{\epsilon}\lambda\epsilon\text{-}\lambda\upsilon\sigma\theta\acute{\alpha}\nu$, for $\tau\iota\theta\eta\sigma\iota$, $\lambda\upsilon\omicron\nu\sigma\iota$, $\lambda\upsilon\sigma\omega\sigma\iota$, $\lambda\epsilon\lambda\upsilon\kappa\acute{\alpha}\sigma\iota$, $\lambda\upsilon\sigma\omicron\mu\epsilon\nu$, $\acute{\epsilon}\lambda\upsilon\delta\acute{\omicron}\mu\eta\nu$, $\acute{\epsilon}\lambda\epsilon\lambda\upsilon\sigma\theta\eta\nu$.

703. Hm. sometimes has $\tau\omicron\nu$ for $\tau\eta\nu$ and $\sigma\theta\omicron\nu$ for $\sigma\theta\eta\nu$. He often has ν for $\sigma\alpha\nu$ in the aor. pass. and in $\mu\iota$ -forms: $\lambda\upsilon\theta\epsilon\text{-}\nu$ (orig. $\epsilon\lambda\upsilon\theta\epsilon\text{-}\nu\tau$) for $\acute{\epsilon}\lambda\upsilon\theta\eta\text{-}\sigma\alpha\nu$, $\acute{\epsilon}\sigma\tau\alpha\text{-}\nu$ (orig. $\acute{\epsilon}\sigma\tau\alpha\text{-}\nu\tau$) for $\acute{\epsilon}\sigma\tau\eta\text{-}\sigma\alpha\nu$.

704. The poets often have $\mu\epsilon\sigma\theta\alpha$ for $\mu\epsilon\theta\alpha$: $\lambda\upsilon\delta\text{-}\mu\epsilon\sigma\theta\alpha$ for $\lambda\upsilon\delta\text{-}\mu\epsilon\theta\alpha$.

705. The Ionic often has $\alpha\tau\alpha\iota$, $\alpha\tau\omicron$, for $\nu\tau\alpha\iota$, $\nu\tau\omicron$; chiefly in the pf. plup. mid., but also in the pr. impf. of $\mu\iota$ -forms: Hm. $\beta\epsilon\beta\lambda\acute{\eta}\text{-}\alpha\tau\alpha\iota$ ($\beta\acute{\alpha}\lambda\lambda\omega$ to throw), $\kappa\epsilon\iota\text{-}\alpha\tau\omicron$ ($\kappa\acute{\epsilon}\iota\mu\alpha\iota$ to lie). In Hd., a preceding α or η becomes ϵ (609): $\omicron\iota\kappa\acute{\epsilon}\text{-}\alpha\tau\alpha\iota$ (for $\phi\kappa\eta\text{-}\nu\tau\alpha\iota$, $\omicron\iota\kappa\acute{\epsilon}\omega$ to inhabit), $\acute{\epsilon}\delta\upsilon\nu\acute{\epsilon}\text{-}\alpha\tau\omicron$ (for $\acute{\epsilon}\delta\upsilon\nu\alpha\text{-}\nu\tau\omicron$, $\delta\upsilon\nu\alpha\mu\alpha\iota$ to be able). After connecting vowels, $\alpha\tau\alpha\iota$, $\alpha\tau\omicron$ are not used: such forms as $\kappa\eta\delta\text{-}\acute{\epsilon}\text{-}\alpha\tau\alpha\iota$ (for $\kappa\acute{\eta}\delta\text{-}\omicron\text{-}\nu\tau\alpha\iota$ they care), $\acute{\epsilon}\gamma\epsilon\nu\text{-}\acute{\epsilon}\text{-}\alpha\tau\omicron$ (for $\acute{\epsilon}\gamma\acute{\epsilon}\nu\text{-}\omicron\text{-}\nu\tau\omicron$ they became), in most editions of Hd., are prob. incorrect.

706. Endings of the other Modes. In the opt., Hm. and Hd. always have ατο for ντο: γενοί-ατο for γένοι-ντο; though in the subj. they always have νται: γένω-νται. In the subj. 2 sing., Hm. often has σθα for ς: ἐθέλ-σθα (ἐθέλω to wish); rarely so in the opt.: κλαίσισθα (κλαίω to weep).

707. In the impv., τῶσαν, σθῶσαν are unknown to Hm. and the Attic drama.

708. In the inf., for ν or ναι Hm. often has μεναι or μεν, with accent always on the preceding syllable: πέμπειν or πεμπέμεναι or πεμπέμεν to send. He never uses μεν after a long syllable or ναι after a short one: hence δαμήμεναι or δαμῆναι (never δαμημεν) aor. pass. to be subdued, ἐστᾶμεναι or ἐστᾶμεν (never ἐστάναι) to stand. Yet ἵεναι occurs in Hm., as well as ἵμεναι, ἵμεν to go.

709. In the participle of the perf. act., Hm. sometimes lengthens οτ after a vowel to ωτ: τεθνηῶτος = τεθνηότος gen. of τεθνήσκει dead.

710. Endings Omitted or Altered. Hm. often retains μι, σι in the subjunctive: ἐθέλω-μι, ἐθέλῃ-σι, for ἐθέλω, ἐθέλῃ, may wish.

711. In Hm., αι and ο (for σαι and σο) after a vowel usually remain uncontracted: hence forms like λύσε-αι for λύσῃ or λύσει, λύσῃ-αι for λύσῃ, ἐλύε-ο for ἐλύνου, ἐλύσα-ο for ἐλύσω. He contracts ε-αι to ει only in ᾔψει will see. Hd. contracts η-αι to η and sometimes ε-ο to ευ: subj. 2 sg. βούλῃ, impv. βούλε-ο or βούλευ wish. — Hm. sometimes drops σ of σαι and σο in the pf. plup.: μέμνη-αι rememberest, also contracted μέμνη. So in Hd., impv. μέμνε-ο, with ε for η (609).

712. Accent. Hm. has some cases of recessive accent in the inf. of the 2 aor. mid. and the inf. and part. of the perf. mid. (248 a, b): ἀγέρεσθαι (ἀγείρω to gather), ἔρεσθαι (εἰρωμαι to ask), ἐχθεσθαι (ἐχθάνομαι to be odious), ἔγρεσθαι (ἐγείρω to wake); ἀλάλησθαι, ἀλαλήμενος (ἀλάομαι to wander), ἀκάχησθαι, ἀκαχήμενος (ἄχυνμαι to sorrow), ἐσσύμενος (σεύω to drive).

TENSE-SYSTEMS. Present System of Contract Verbs.

IN HOMER — 713. Verbs in αω are commonly contracted: but when α in the stem is followed by a long syllable, the contract vowel ω, ā is often changed (by Epic duplication) to ωω, āā, or (after a long syllable, 613) to ωω, āā. Thus

δρώω , fr. δράω , δρῶ to see ;	δρᾶσθε , fr. δράεσθε , δρᾶσθε ;
δρώωσι , “ δράουσι , δρῶσι ;	μενοινῶω , “ μενοινᾶω , μενοινῶ to long ;
δρώοντα , “ δράοντα , δρῶντα ;	ἡβῶωσα , “ ἡβάουσα , ἡβῶσα g' young ;
δρόφωμι , “ δράοιμι , δρῶμι ;	μνᾶσθαι , “ μνάεσθαι , μνᾶσθαι to woo ;
δρᾶα , “ δράει , δρᾶ ;	(the syll. before μνα is long, 49 b.)

The accent is the same as in the uncontracted form. ωω becomes ω when the latter syllable will not be made short by it: thus ἡβῶοντες, ἡβῶοιμι. — a. Irreg. are μνωόμενος (μναόμενος), γελῶντες (γελᾶντες laughing), ναιετάωσα (ναιετάουσα inhabited), χρεῶμενος (χραδόμενος using), δρῆαι (δρά-εαι scst), μενοινῆραι (μενοινᾶ-η may long). ἔῶω to permit has only the duplication of α, but often lengthens ε before ω to ει: ἔῶω, εἰῶσι.

b. αω in the impf. act. is sometimes changed to εο: ἤντεον (ἀντάω to encounter). Before την of the 3 dual, αι, εε are sometimes contracted to η: προσανθήτην (προσανθάω to address), ἀπειλήτην (ἀπειλέω to threaten). So, too, before μεναι in the inf.: πεινήμεναι (πεινάω to hunger), φορήμεναι and more irreg. φορήναι (φορέω to bear).

714. Verbs in -εω are commonly uncontracted, but sometimes εε, εει go into ει; εο, εου, into ευ (615): τελέει, τελέουσι, τελέεται, τελέομενος, or τελεῖ, τελεῖσι, τελεῖται, τελεόμενος. In the 2 sing. mid., ἐ-ε-αι, ἐ-ε-ο may become εἶαι, εἶο (18 d), or εἶαι, εἶο (24): μυθεῖται or μυθεῖαι (for μυθέ-ε-αι gag-est). Final ε of the stem is sometimes lengthened to εῖ (607): ἐτελεέτο (from τελέω to complete).

715. Verbs in ow are contracted as in Attic. But one o in o-o (o-ou, o-oi) is sometimes changed to ω: ἀρώσι (for ἀρό-ουσι plough), δηῖδυν (for δηῖδ-οιεν might slay), ὑπνώοντας (for ὑπνό-οντας sleeping).

IN HERODOTUS — 716. Verbs in aw change a to ε before ο, οῦ, ω: τιμέ-ονται, τιμε-όμενος, τιμέ-ουσι, τιμέ-ω, τιμε-όμεθα; but ε-ω, used for α-ο, α-ου, is of doubtful correctness. — With all other vowels — including οι in the opt., and ου (from ε-ο) in the 2 sing. — a is contracted as in Attic: τιμῶν, (ἐ)τιμῶ, τιμᾶ, τιμᾶσθε; but never into η; χρᾶσθαι (not χρῆσθαι) to use.

717. Verbs in ew are usually uncontracted. But sometimes εο, εου go into ευ: ποιεῖμεν, ποιεῖσι (ποιέω to do); so, even when ε is for α (see 716): ἀνιεύνται (ἀνιδῶ to vex). Frequent are δεῖ it needs, inf. δεῖν. Forms like φιλεῖαι (?), φιλέο (φιλεῖν), ἐφιλέο, are used for φιλέ-ε-αι, (ἐ)φιλέ-ε-ο.

718. Verbs in ow are contracted as in Attic, but sometimes have ευ for ου; δικαῖω (for ο-ω) to deem just, δικαιοῖ, δικαιοῦτε, δικαιοῦσι.

For DORIC contractions, see 615-16.

719. Future System. The fut. in έω (chiefly from liquid verbs) and in άω (see 252 d, e) is inflected like the present in έω and άω (713-17). — Hm. makes the fut. without tense-sign in βείομαι or βέομαι (25 a) shall live connected with βίδω, δήω shall find conn. with 2 aor. pass. ἐ-δά-ην learned, κείω or κέω (25 a) shall lie from κείμε. He omits σ after υ in the fut. of ἐρύω to draw, ἐξ-άνυ-ω to despatch, τανύ-ω to stretch.

720. First Aorist System. Hm. makes the 1 aor. without tense-sign in ἐχενα = ἐχεα (25) from χέω to pour, ἐκηα (less correctly written ἐκεια) for att. ἔκαυσα fr. καίω to burn, ἔσσενα fr. σέω to drive, ἡλενάμην and ἡλέαμην fr. ἀλέομαι, ἀλέομαι (25) to avoid.

721. Second Aorist System. Hm. has in the 2 aor. : — a. Stems which suffer TRANSPOSITION, usually with interchange of vowel: ἔδρακον (δέρκομαι to see), ἔπραθον (πέρω to destroy). — b. Stems REDUPLICATED: ἐπέφραδ-ον (φράζω to tell), πέπιθ-ον (πείθω to persuade), τεταρπ-όμην (τέρπω to delight), πεφιδ-όμην (φείδομαι to spare), etc.; ἤραρ-ον (st. αρ, pr. ἀραρίσκω to fit), ὤρορ-ον (ὕρνωμι to rouse). — c. Stems SYNCOPATED: ἐγρ-όμην awoke (ἐγείρω, st. εγερ), ἀγρ-όμενοι assembled (inf. ἀγέρ-εσθαι, fr. ἀγείρω), ἐπλ-όμην (πέλ-ομαι to be). — d. Stems REDUPLICATED AND SYNCOPATED: ἐκεκλ-όμην (κέλ-ομαι to command), ἔλαλκ-ον (st. αλεκ, pr. ἀλέξω to ward off). Not used in pres. are πέφρ-ον (st. φεν) killed, ἔτετμ-ον (st. τεμ) found, τεταγ-όν (st. ταγ) taking hold of. — e. Stems which repeat the final consonant with connective α: ἡρύκ-ακ-ον (ἐρύκω to hold back), ἡνύπ-απ-ον (also ἐνένιπ-ον, fr. ἐνύπ-τω to chide).

722. First Perfect System. In Hm. only vowel-stems (or such as become so by transposition) form a first perfect; and even these often have a second perfect form: πεφύ-ασι (att. πεφύκ-ασι, φύ-ω to make grow), κεκμη-ώς (att. κεκμηκ-ώς, κάμ-νω to be weary).

723. Second Perfect System. In Hm., the fem. part. sometimes has ä, when other forms of the 2 perf. lengthen it to η (257 b, c): as τεθάλ-υῖα (τέθηλα bloom, 2 pf. of θάλλω). — The aspiration of a smooth or middle mute in the 2 pf. is unknown to Hm.

724. In Hm. some forms of ἄνωγα order, γέγωνα cry, μέμηκα bleat, have the inflection of the pr. impf.: ἐμέμηκ-ον were bleating, γέγων-ε (= ἐγγεγώνει) he cried (but pf. γέγωνε cries), ἀνώγει (= ἀνωγε) orders, ἀνωγ-ον (= ἡνώγεα) I ordered, ἀνωγ-ε (= ἡνώγει, ἀνώγει) he ordered, ἡνωγ-ον or ἀνωγ-ον they ordered; in γεγώνευν (615) they cried, γεγωνεῖν to cry, the stem is γεγώνε (217): cf. ἡνώγε-ον Il. η 394?

725. Perfect Middle System. The Ionic endings αται, ατο of the 3 pl. (705) are seen in Hm. τετεύχ-αται, ατο (sing. τέτυγμαί, pr. τεύχω to make), ἐρηρέδ-αται, ατο (sing. ἐρήρεισμαι, pr. ἐρείδ-ω to prop) — the vowel-change in each being necessary for the verse — and, with inserted δ, ἀκ-ηχέ-δ-αται (part. ἀκ-ηχέ-μενος pained), ἐλ-ηλέ-δ-ατο (for ἐλ-ηλα-δ-ατο, ἐλαύνω to drive). But in ἐρράδ-αται, ατο (aor. impv. ράσσετε sprinkle) δ belongs to the stem (ραδ). So in Hd. ἐσκευάδ-αται, ατο (σκενάζω to furnish) and like forms from verbs in ζω. The mutes π, β, κ, γ, are aspirated before αται, ατο (261 a); but Hd. has ἀπ-ί-κ-αται (ατο), att. ἀφιγμένοι εἰσί (ἦσαν) have (had) come.

726. Passive Systems. Hm. adds ν before θ to some vowel-stems: ἰδρύ-ν-θην (ἰδρύ-ω to seat), ἀμ-πνύ-ν-θην revived (st. πνυ, πνέω to breathe). In φαάνθην (φαείνω to shine, = φαίνω) φαεν becomes φααν (cf. 713). — The 1 fut. pass. is not found in Hm.; the 2 fut. only in δαήσομαι (2 aor. p. ἐδάην learned), μίγησομαι (μίγνυμι to mix): generally, the future middle is used instead.

727. In the aor. subj., Hd. contracts only εη and εη: λυθέω, λυθῆς, λυθῆ, etc. — In the 2 aor. subj., Hm. often lengthens the passive-sign ε to ει (in the 3 sing., also to η): δαμ-εἰ-ετε (for ἐ-ητε, ἦτε, 697) fr. δάμ-νημι to overcome, τραπ-εἰ-ομεν (for ἐ-ωμεν, ὤμεν) fr. τέρπ-ω to delight, φαν-ή-η (for φαν-έ-η, φανῆ) fr. φαίνω.

728. MI-FORM. Endings. As to ν for σαν, see 703; αται, ατο, for νται, ντο, see 705; μεναι, μεν, for ναι, see 708. Hm. sometimes retains θι in the pres. impv.: δίδωθι (or δίδου) give, δμνυθι swear.

729. Connecting Vowels. In the sing. of the pres. act., Hm. sometimes has a conn. vowel: διδοῖς (cf. δηλοῖς for δηλό-εις) and διδοῖσθα (267 i) for δίδως, διδοῖ (and δίδωσι), τιθεῖ (and τίθῃσι), ἴεις (with irreg. accent) for ἴης, ἴει (and ἴησι). In Hd. ἴει, τιθεῖς, τιθεῖ, διδοῖς, διδοῖ, ἰστᾶ are perhaps always used in place of the Attic forms. Hd. has also impf. ἴστα (fr. ἰστα-ε) for ἴστη. — a. In the 3 plur. of the pres. act., Hm. and (probably) Hd. always have τιθεῖσι, διδοῦσι, ῥηγνῦσι, etc., without α, but with peculiar accent: but two presents insert α, ἑᾶσι (or εἰσί) they are, ἰᾶσι they go. The forms ἰστέ-ασι, ἑστέ-ασι (in Hd.) for ἰστᾶσι, ἑστᾶσι, are doubtful. — b. The opt. has a conn. vowel ο in Hm. μαρνοίμεθα (where the stem-vowel α gives place to ο) fr. μάρναμαι to fight, and Hd. δεοίμην (for δέιμην) fr. τίθημι.

730. Contraction. In Hm. the subj. of the 2 aor. act. often remains uncontracted. The stem-vowel is then usually lengthened, and the mode-vowel shortened (cf. 727): στή-ετον for (στα-ητον) στήτον, δει-ης or δή-ης for (δε-ης) δῆς, δώ-ησι for (δο-η) δῶ. Similarly δει-ομαι (for δε-ομαι) δῶμαι in the 2 aor. mid. η, lengthened from α, sometimes changes to ει: στεί-ομεν (instead of στή-ομεν) for στῶμεν.

a. In Hd., only αω and εω of the subj. remain uncontracted: αω he changes to εω: στέ-ωμεν for (στα-ωμεν) στῶμεν, — a change found also in Homer.

731. Lengthening. The stem-vowel is sometimes made long in Hm., where it would not be so in Attic (cf. 270): thus in pr. inf. τιθήμεναι, διδοῦναι, ἀῆναι to blow, pr. ind. mid. δίζημαι to seek, part. τιθήμενος, 2 aor. mid. πλῆτο approached.

732. Enumeration of μ -forms (UN-ATTIC FORMS). Those not referred to other dialects or authors are to be understood as HOMERIC. The stems are arranged under each heading in the order of their final letters, the VOWEL-STEMS first, and then the CONSONANT-STEMS.

733. Verbs in μ of the Eighth Class. For dialectic μ -forms of $\tau\eta\mu$, $\tau\acute{\iota}\theta\mu$, $\delta\acute{\iota}\delta\omega\mu$, $\iota\sigma\tau\eta\mu$, see 728-31: in impf. 1 sing., Hm. has $\tau\epsilon\iota\nu$ (for $\tau\eta\nu$), Hd. $\epsilon\tau\acute{\iota}\theta\epsilon$ -a (for $\epsilon\tau\acute{\iota}\theta\eta\nu$) with irreg. conn. vowel α (47 b). Further, Hm. has $\beta\acute{\iota}\beta\eta\mu$ ($\beta\alpha$), = $\beta\alpha\lambda\nu\omega$ go, but only in pres. part. $\beta\acute{\iota}\beta\acute{\alpha}\varsigma$.

734. Verbs in μ of the First Class.

- b. $\epsilon\rho\alpha$ -μαι love, = $\epsilon\rho\alpha$ -ω 300 ep.

Hm. opt. once $\iota\epsilon$ - $\iota\eta$; pr. inf., see 708: fu. $\epsilon\acute{\iota}\sigma\sigma\omega\mu\alpha\iota$, ao. (ϵ) $\epsilon\acute{\iota}\sigma\delta\acute{\alpha}\mu\eta\nu$.
- k. $\kappa\epsilon\acute{\iota}$ -μαι lie: Hm. ind. 3 pl. $\kappa\epsilon\acute{\iota}\alpha\tau\alpha\iota$, $\alpha\tau\omicron$ (705), or $\kappa\acute{\epsilon}\alpha\tau\alpha\iota$, $\alpha\tau\omicron$ (25 a), also $\kappa\epsilon\acute{\iota}$ -ο-νται; subj. $\kappa\eta\tau\alpha\iota$; iterative (738) $\kappa\acute{\epsilon}\sigma\kappa\epsilon\tau\omicron$: fu. $\kappa\epsilon\acute{\omega}$, $\kappa\acute{\epsilon}\omega$ (719). Hd. has $\kappa\epsilon\epsilon$ for $\kappa\epsilon\iota$, but only where ϵ might be conn. vowel: $\kappa\acute{\epsilon}\epsilon\tau\alpha\iota$, $\kappa\acute{\epsilon}\epsilon\sigma\theta\alpha\iota$ (but $\kappa\epsilon\acute{\iota}\mu\alpha\iota$, $\kappa\epsilon\acute{\iota}\mu\epsilon\nu\omicron\varsigma$): ind. 3 pl. $\kappa\acute{\epsilon}\alpha\tau\alpha\iota$, $\epsilon\kappa\acute{\epsilon}\alpha\tau\omicron$.
- l. $\delta\upsilon\omicron$ -μαι censure, $\delta\upsilon\omicron\sigma\alpha\iota$, etc.: also 2 pl. $\delta\upsilon\nu$ -εσθε, ao. $\delta\omega\omicron$ -ατο, fr. st. $\omicron\nu$.

- r. $\phi\acute{\epsilon}\rho$ -ω bear: pr. impv. 2 pl. $\phi\acute{\epsilon}\rho$ -τε.
- σ. $\epsilon\acute{\iota}\mu\acute{\iota}$ ($\epsilon\sigma$) am: Hm. pr. ind. 2 sg. $\epsilon\sigma\acute{\iota}$, $\epsilon\acute{\iota}\varsigma$, 1 pl. $\epsilon\acute{\iota}\mu\acute{\epsilon}\nu$, 3 pl. $\epsilon\acute{\alpha}\sigma\iota$ not encl.; impf. $\eta\alpha$, $\epsilon\sigma$, $\epsilon\omicron\nu$, 2 sg. $\epsilon\eta\sigma\theta\alpha$, 3 sg. $\eta\epsilon\nu$, $\epsilon\eta\nu$, $\eta\eta\nu$, 3 pl. $\epsilon\sigma\alpha\nu$; iterative $\epsilon\sigma\kappa\omicron\nu$; subj. $\epsilon\omega$, $-\epsilon\acute{\omega}$, 3 sg. $\epsilon\eta$, $\epsilon\eta\sigma\iota$, $\eta\sigma\iota$, 3 pl. $\epsilon\omega\sigma\iota$; opt. $\epsilon\omicron\iota\varsigma$, $\epsilon\acute{\omega}\iota$; impv. $\epsilon\sigma$ -σο; inf. $\epsilon\acute{\mu}\mu\epsilon\nu\alpha\iota$ or $\epsilon\acute{\mu}\mu\epsilon\nu\alpha\iota$); part. $\acute{\epsilon}\omega\nu$ ($\epsilon\omicron\omega\nu$). Fu. $\epsilon\sigma$ (σ)ομαι, 3 sg. $\epsilon\sigma$ (σ)εται, $\epsilon\sigma\sigma\epsilon\acute{\iota}\tau\alpha\iota$ (252 g). Some of these forms have a conn. vowel; so $\epsilon\acute{\alpha}\sigma\iota$ for $\epsilon(\sigma)$ -α-(ν)σι, $\eta\alpha$ for $\eta(\sigma)$ -α-(ν). $\epsilon\alpha$, $\epsilon\sigma\alpha\nu$ omit the augment; $\eta\epsilon\nu$ is for $\eta(\sigma)$ -ε-ν; $\epsilon\eta\nu$, $\eta\eta\nu$ come from $\eta\nu$ by doubling the E-sound; $\epsilon\omicron\nu$, for $\epsilon(\sigma)$ -ο-ν, has the reg. conn. vowel \omicron ; so also opt. $\epsilon\omicron\iota\varsigma$, $\epsilon\acute{\omega}\iota$. - h. ἀνω-α (691) order, 724: μι-forms, 1 plur. *ἀνωγμεν, impv. ἀνωχθι, and with middle endings ἀνώχθω, ἀνωχθε.

- n. εγερ (ἐγείρω wake), 2 pf. ἐγρήγορα am awake, 3 pl. ἐγρήγορθαι very irreg.: impv. ἐγρήγορθε, inf. ἐγρήγορθαι, with middle endings.

738. PECULIAR TENSES. The Iterative Imperfect and Aorist mark a past action as repeated or usual: λύεσκε, λύσασκε, he was loosing (loosed) repeatedly. They are confined to the indicative, act. and mid., and are commonly unaugmented (always so in Hd., who uses only the iter. imperfect). The iterative sign σκ takes the conn. vowels and endings of the impf., making σκ-ο-ν, σκ-ε-ς, σκ-ε, etc., in the active, — σκ-δ-μην, σκ-ε-ο, σκ-ε-το, etc., in the middle. These terminations are applied to the tense-system of the impf. or aor. in two ways: — a. DIRECTLY, in tenses of the μι-form: ἔφα-σκον (ἐφην said), στά-σκε (ἔστη stood), ἔσκον (ἦν was), κέ-σκετο (for κει-σκετο, ἐκείμεν lay), ῥήγνυ-σκε (ἐρρήγνυ was breaking): — b. commonly WITH A CONNECTIVE, ε for the impf. and 2 aor., α for the 1 aor. (rarely the impf.): φύγ-ε-σκε, φύγ-ε-σκε (φεύγω flee), καλέ-ε-σκε (καλέω call; but ὤθε-σκε from ὠθέω push), ναιετάσσκον (for ναιετα-ε-σκον 713, from ναιετάω inhabit); ὠσ-α-σκε (ὠθέω push), κρύπτ-α-σκε (κρύπτω hide).

739. Formation in θ (chiefly poetic). Several verbs annex θ to the stem, usually with a connective α or ε, making a new pres. impf. or 2 aor., but with little or no change of meaning. Thus Hm. has φλεγέω fr. φλέγω burn, (ἐ)έργαθον fr. (ἐ)έργω shut off, ἐκίαθον fr. ἐκιον (aor.) went, ἔσχεθον (inf. σχεθέειν) fr. ἔχω hold, ἡγερέθονται, οντο fr. ἀγείρω gather, ἡερέθονται, οντο float(ed) in air fr. ἀείρω lift up, φθινύθω fr. φθίνω perish: so in Attic poets, ἀμυνθώ fr. ἀμύνω ward off, διωκάθω fr. διώκω pursue, εἰκάθω fr. εἶκω yield.

740. SPECIAL FORMATION OF VERBS (UN-ATTIC-FORMS). Alphabetical List. Forms not referred to other dialects or authors, and not marked with a star (*), are to be understood as HOMERIC (occurring in the Iliad or Odyssey); so, even after the sign =; but not after the words for (f.) or see, or cf. But where a first person singular is given, it is, in general, only implied that some form or forms of that tense-system are actually met with. Of the verbs included in this list, a large part appear also in that of 300; and in all such cases the student should compare the forms given in that list.

APPENDIX.—B. METRES.

NOTE.—It belongs to more extended works to describe the great variety of metres used in lyric poetry and in the lyric parts (choruses) of tragedy and comedy. For compositions not lyrical, the metres used are comparatively few; and of these, the more important will be described here.

741. Feet. The most important feet of two and three syllables are

Trochee	— ∪	λείπε	Dactyl	— ∪ ∪	λείπομεν
Iambus	∪ —	λιπεῖν	Anapaest	∪ ∪ —	λιπέτω
Tribrach	∪ ∪ ∪	λείπον	Spondee	— —	λείπων

742. Verses are named TROCHAIC, IAMBIC, DACTYLIC, ANAPAESTIC, etc., according to the principal (or fundamental) foot used in them. — a. They are further distinguished as MONOMETER, DIMETER, TRIMETER, etc., according to the number of their feet. In trochaic, iambic, and anapaestic verses, each “meter” consists of two feet: thus an anapaestic dimeter consists of four feet; an iambic trimeter, of six; a trochaic tetrameter, of eight. In other kinds of verse each foot is reckoned as a “meter”: thus a dactylic hexameter consists of six feet. — b. In many kinds of verse, the closing foot is incomplete (i. e. has less than its full number of syllables). Such verses are called CATALECTIC; while verses which close with a complete foot are called ACATALECTIC.

743. Resolution and Contraction. Many kinds of verse allow the use of two short syllables in place of a long one, which is then said to be RESOLVED; or, conversely, the use of a long syllable in place of two short ones, which are then said to be CONTRACTED. Thus a tribrach is used by resolution for a trochee or iambus; and a spondee is used by contraction for a dactyl or an anapaest.

744. Caesura. When a pause in the sense, however slight, occurs within the verse, it produces a caesura (i. e. a cutting or dividing of the verse). This division very often takes place in the middle of a foot, and in that case may be designated as a foot-caesura. Thus in the dactylic hexameter (with spondees used by contraction for the second, fourth, and sixth dactyls), ἄντρα σέθεν, τοῦ νῶϊ, θεοῦ ὧς, τερόμεθ' αὐδῇ (— ∪ — | — ∪ ∪ | ∪ — — | — ∪ ∪ — —) before thee, by whose voice, as if it were a god's, we two are delighted, caesuras occur after σέθεν, νῶϊ, and ὧς; and the first two of these are, at the same time, foot-caesuras.

745. Accent, Arsis and Thesis. The written accent was not regarded in versification. But in pronouncing verse, a special stress of voice (rhythmic accent) was laid upon a part of each foot. This part is called ARSIS, the rest (or unaccented part) of the foot being called THESIS. Thus in the dactylic hexameter ἄντρα σέθεν, τοῦ νῶϊ, θεοῦ ὧς, τερόμεθ' αὐδῇ (— ∪ ∪ — | — ∪ ∪ — — | — ∪ ∪ — —) the syllables which have the rhythmic accent are ἄν-, -θεν, νῶ-, -οῦ, τερ-, αὐ- (only half of which have the written accent): each of these six is the arsis of its own foot, while the remaining syllable or syllables of each foot compose the thesis. — a. In “meters” of two feet (742 a), the first has a stronger accent than the second. — b. When a long arsis is resolved into two short syllables (743), the first of them receives the rhythmic accent: thus a tribrach (υ υ υ) in trochaic verse, where it stands for ˘ ˘, is accented on the first short (˘ ˘ ˘); while in iambic verse, where it stands for ˘ ˘, it is accented on the middle short (˘ ˘ ˘).

746. Syllaba Anceps. At the end of a verse, a long syllable was freely used in place of a short one, and a short syllable in place of a long one. The reason is that each verse was followed by a brief metrical pause; and the time of the final syllable, whether long or short, together with the time of the pause, could never be less than the time of a long syllable. The same cause explains the seeming hiatus often found between the last syllable of one verse and the first syllable of the next: the two syllables were in fact separated by the metrical pause. — a. Yet we sometimes find a SYSTEM of lines (forming, in strictness, only a single long verse), in which the syllaba anceps and the hiatus are allowed only in the closing line. It is only in such systems that a verse (or, more properly, a line) can end in the middle of a word.

747. Trochaic Verse. Each "meter" (742 a) consists properly of two trochees; but a spondee may be used in place of the second trochee. Hence a monometer, dimeter, etc., may have spondees for the even feet, 2d, 4th, 6th, etc. A tribrach may be used by resolution (743) in place of a trochee, and an anapaest in place of a spondee. A dactyl is sometimes found in place of a trochee, but only in proper names. The rhythmic accent (745) falls on the first syllable of each foot. Thus a, b. trochaic dimeter; b, catalectic:

a. ἡ Διδὺς φεύγοντες ὄμβρον.	˘ υ — —	˘ υ — υ
δημόσια γὰρ ἴνα ταφῶμεν.	˘ υ υ υ υ	˘ υ υ — υ ἀλλότρια τοῖσιν σοφίζει.	˘ υ υ υ —	˘ υ — υ (746)
b. τὴν δεὺν προσέειπατε.	˘ υ — υ	˘ υ — (746)

c. tetrameter catalectic (= dimeter and dim. catal.):

πολλὰ μὲν γὰρ ἐκ θαλάσσης, πολλὰ δ' ἐκ χέρσου κακὰ.	˘ υ — υ	˘ υ — —	˘ υ —
πᾶσα γὰρ γένοιτ' ἂν Ἑλλὰς βασιλείῃς δῆκοος.	˘ υ — υ	˘ υ — —	˘ υ υ υ — ˘ υ —
νῦν γὰρ ἡμῖν ἀρπάσαι πάρεστιν ἀγαθοῦ δαίμονος.	˘ υ — —	˘ υ υ —	˘ υ υ — — ˘ υ —

d. The following remarks apply to iambic (748) and anapaestic (753) as well as trochaic verse: — e. The CATALECTIC TETRAMETER is much used in comedy: the most common caesura (744) is at the end of the fourth foot. — f. The DIMETER is often found in systems (746 a), where a succession of complete dimeters (with, here and there, a monometer) is closed by a dimeter catalectic.

748. Iambic Verse. Each "meter" (742 a) consists properly of two iambi; but a spondee may be used in place of the first iambus. Hence a monometer, dimeter, etc., may have spondees for the odd feet, 1st, 3d, 5th, etc. A tribrach may be used by resolution (743) in place of an iambus, and a dactyl in place of a spondee. An anapaest also may be used in place of an iambus; but in serious poetry this is nearly confined to the first foot of the verse. In catalectic verses the last complete foot is always an iambus. — The rhythmic accent (745) is on the second syllable of each foot, but on the third syllable of an anapaest. — Thus

752. The ELEGIAC PENTAMETER (wrongly so called) is a hexameter which wants the thesis (745) of the third and sixth feet. The first two feet may be dactyls or spondees at pleasure. The third is a single long syllable (arsis), with a caesura after it. The fourth and fifth feet are always dactyls, and the sixth foot is like the third. This verse appears only as the second line in the much used ELEGIAC DISTICH (two-line stanza), the first line of each distich being the ordinary hexameter.

753. Anapaestic Verse. Each "meter" consists properly of two anapaests; but a spondee or a dactyl may be used in place of either anapaest. The rhythmic accent (745) falls on the final long syllable of the anapaest or spondee, and on the first short of the dactyl. Thus a, b. anapaestic dimeter; b, catalectic (paroemiac):

- | | | |
|--------------------------------------|-----------|-------------|
| a. σκιρτᾷ δ' ἀνέμων πνεύματα πάντων. | - 1 1 1 - | - 1 1 1 - |

| b. καὶ μὴν τόδε κύριον ἦμαρ. | - 1 1 1 - | 1 1 1 1 |
| πάντα γὰρ ἤδη τετέλεσται. | - 1 1 - - | 1 1 1 1 |

c. tetrameter catalectic:

- πρόσχετε τὸν νοῦν τοῖς ἀθανάτοις ἡμῶν, τοῖς αἰὲν ἐούσιν.
 - 1 1 - - - 1 1 1 1 - - 1 - - 1 1 1 1
 τοῖς αἰθερίοις, τοῖσιν ἀγῆρως, τοῖς ἔφθιτα μηδομένοισιν.
 - 1 1 1 1 - 1 1 - - - 1 1 1 1 - 1 1 1 1

754. ANAPAESTIC SYSTEMS (746 a) are composed of any number of complete dimeters (and, here and there, a monometer), with a catalectic dimeter (paroemiac) always added as a close (747 f). They are much used in tragedy and comedy, — more than any other kind of verse, after the iambic trimeter. They are of two kinds, stricter and freer systems. The former, which are much the most common, have these peculiarities: — a. They avoid a succession of four short syllables: a dactyl must not be followed by an anapaest. — b. In the complete dimeter, they have a regular caesura, generally at the end of the second foot, but sometimes within the third. — c. In the paroemiac, they admit the dactyl only as the first foot, and almost always have an anapaest for the third.

755. The CATALECTIC TETRAMETER is much used in comedy: it is made up of a dimeter and paroemiac, which are subject to the remarks a., b., c., of the last section.
